A VACATION SUGGESTION FOR THE CHILDREN.

School has closed. Vacation time has come again. No more studying to do for three long months—but here is a lesson which may be learned without books and without study—the all important lesson of saving money. If you want to try to learn it, call at The Plainfield Trust Company and ask for a then instead of spending ALL your money having a good time put some of it in this little bank and see if you can save enough before school opens to start a bank account in your own name.

FIBRE SAVINGS BANK,

EARLY CLOSING MOVEMENT MIXED

Some Merchants Vote to Close Saturday Afternoons, But Clerks Prefer Thursday.

LATTER START PETITION

Clergs Are Said to Favor Thursday, Rather Than Saturday, and Will Make Wishes Known to Employers in a Day Or Two.

Although the merchants had a meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A., at which by a small majority it was voted to close a half day on Saturdays during August, situations have arisen this morning which probably will change the plans made there. When the clerks in several of the larger stores learned this morning that a half holiday had been decided upon, they immediately started a petition to be presented to their employers asking for a full day on Thursday, as was suggested at the meeting last night, in preference to the Saturday half day.

As a result the merchants are again in doubt about the whole matter this morning. There is a strong sentiment in favor of Thursday closing among both merchants and clerks. At last night's meeting there was a long deliberation during which twenty-one of Plainfield's leading business men expressed their views on Saturday or mid-week closing. The conclusion was reached by a vote of 11 to 8, with many not voting, to close Saturdays at noon, after a resolution had been introduced by Hyman Adelberg to close all day Thursday and an amendment had been added by Lemuel B. Wolston, of the firm of Woolston & Buckle.

The proposition evoked considerable discussion from merchants of every class and many reasons for and against Saturday closing were presented by the various speakers. The meeting, an informal one, was called for the purpose of arriving at a definite stand in the matter, and petitions circulated by those active in the movement contained the names of every leading merchant in the city.

Miss Katherine Ball, representing the College Club, and an ardent worker in behalf of Saturday half-holidays, was present at the meeting and offered her reason for advocating the plan. Miss Ball presented documents endorsing the movement signed by a large number of storekeepers and also many communications she had received commending the idea. In order to facilitate Friday night shopping, Miss Ball has secured promises from a majority of the local factories and other business houses, who now pay their help off on Saturdays, to change their pay day to Friday. This will supply the workers with their weekly funds for Friday night shopping, the stores being open on the latter until 10:30 o'clock.

Although the closing proposition was adopted last night, it was stated after the meeting that the produce merchants and haberdashers would not adhere to the recommendation, inasmuch as they did not have a representative number present. Those in attendance withheld their vote, not being certain that the absentees would abide by the decision reached by the merchants approving the plan. The provision merchants and haberdashers expressed themselves as not being willing to close unless the ieda was generally adopted by the men in their particular line.

Several of the leading clothing merchants, yesterday, interviewed their clerks on the subject and in this way arrived at a conclusion which governed their voting last night. Heated discussions were participated in by the more interested business men and at times, William Jeffery, who had been elected chairman of the meeting, had considerable difficulty in preserving order. Merchants who have fostered the Saturday closing proposition in other years clung to the old custom last night, declaring that they had found by experience that it could be made a success and a source of profit to both the employer and the employe. Tepper Brothers, who have given their clerks Thursdays off during the month of August for several years, contended, through their representative, that to withdraw this privilege and substitute Saturday afternoon, would be taking a step backwards. Local church excursions to the shore were the main argument presented for mid-week closing while the various activities arranged for Saturday afternoons served as a basis for weekend closing arguments.

The firms that voted in favor of Saturday afternoon closing are: Woolston & Buckle, H. A. Bonn, Powelson & Jones, the Woolworth Company, Kresge, M. C. VanArsdale, E. E. Force, Samuel Rothberg, Dawed Brothers, Shirley & Johnson and James C. Hansen.

TRADE CONDITIONS ARE MUCH IMPROVED

Outlook at Saurer Plant is Brightest in its History.

Trade conditions at the Saurer plant of the International Motor Company have been constantly improving for several months past, and the outlook at present is the brightest in the history of the local concern. For a number of weeks the plant has been turning out a truck a day and if this can be done during what is considered a dull season, it is the confident belief that just as soon as other trade conditions improve even greater business will result.

The company is now employing between two and three hundred men and it is predicted that within the next six or eight months this force may be doubled. One encouraging feature is the fact that the concern is about to put a new motor on the market, one that is far more practical, less complicated and not quite so expensive as some others. This motor is destined, it is said, to stimulate trade to a large extent and result in a big demand for this style motor.

During the past few months there has been a reorganization going on in the International Motor Company and it is now claimed that the concern is in a position to do big business. The Saurer plant is said to be one of the most complete and up-to-date in the country and is able to turn out a large number of trucks a day. There has been a gradual increase of the force recently and this, it is said, is likely to continue as additional orders are received from time to time.

ALLEGE CONTEMPT IN STEIGMAN CASE

Former Employe Said to Have Disregarded Summons to Testify.

Contempt proceedings may be started by the United States District Court against Miss Bessie Schwartz, a New Brunswick girl, as the result of her loyalty to David and Louis Stiegman, who were yesterday sentenced to long terms in the Essex County Penitentiary for conspiracy. Miss Schwartz is alleged to have disregarded a summons to appear in court during the four-day trial.

She was regarded as an important government witness inasmuch as she had been in the employ of the accused brothers during the period the conspiracy is said to have been carried on. Although she was thrown out of a position when the Steigmans filed their petition in bankruptcy Miss Schwartz is said to have asserted that she would under no conditions testify against them. This has brought her name before the Federal Courts and it is said that the charge will be pressed against her.

REV. GABRIEL REID MAGUIRE AND FAMILY GO ABROAD

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church and family left today on the S. S. Lusitania of the Cunard Line, for Dublin, Ireland, where they will visit the mother of Mr. Maguire. While in the old country, Mr. Maguire will preach on different occasions from the pulpit once occupied by the famous preacher Spurgeon. The party will return home on the Baltic, leaving Liverpool July 16.

Among the other local pastors who start their vacations during the month of July, are Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and Rev. F. L. Greene, of Hope chapel. The latter will leave next week for Upper New York State, where he will camp out.

BORO WANTS TO BUILD NEW SCHOOL

Important Questions Will Be Presented at Tonight's Election.

Several matters relative to the public school system of North Plainfield will be presented at the election to be held in the Somerset School, tonight, all the propositions being of a financial nature. Among these propositions to be voted upon will be that of purchasing a lot on Harrison avenue and the erection thereon a new school building, together with alterations in the Somerset School building and the issuing of bonds. Women will be permitted to vote at this meeting.

The budget as presented by the Board of Education, include the following items: Current expenses, $23,900; repairs, $1,000; manual training, $168; the issuing of bonds to the extent of $9,000, the proceeds of which are to be used to pay off promisory notes on the new toilets at the Somerset street building; $11,000, for the remodeling and repairing of the Somerset School building; $2,500, for the purchase of the plot on Harrison avenue; $27,500, for the erection of the new school on Harrison avenue. he ballot will also have a space for the authorizing of the Board of Education to raise or borrow money needed to carry on the work designated by the voters. The election will be on an aggregate sum of $75,000.

CAPTAINCY MATTER STILL UNDECIDED

Police Board Meets but There is "Nothing for Publication" it is Said.

No action as yet has been taken by the councilmanic police board as to filling the vacancy of captain in the department, caused by the resignation of Christian Frederickson The board had a meeting last night, but all the members were non-committal today when questioned as to what was done at the session. While it is believed that the captaincy matter was discussed, it was impossible to get any of the members to even admit that much.

There is said to be a difference of opinion among the members as to who should get the apointment and following a long conference, last night, it is reported, the members found it impossible to come to any conclusion. Some of the members favor Sergeant Maurice Higgins for the post, while others are of the opinion that Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn is entitled to the promotion.

It is the belief that so long as the police board members cannot agree the matter will not be presented to the Common Council by Mayor Percy H. Stewart, who makes appointments of this kind. Some of the members, it is said, favor allowing the matter to go before the Council and settel it by a vote of that body, but whether this will be done remains to be seen.

ALUMNI AASOCIATION GIVE DANCE TO LEAL SENIORS

The annual dance of the Leal's School Alumni Association to the members of the senior class was held in the Park Club, last night, and proved to be a very successful affair. About two hundred young people were present, including a large number of the alumni of the school and also many of the parents of the students The people were received by John Leal, who was assisted by several of the boys.

The decorations were simple and attractive. The hall and stage were decorated with palms and ferns and American flags were draped about the walls. A class banner and a large Yale pennant also added to the decorations. Dancing was enjoyed until an early hour and excellent music was furnished by Mueller's orchestra, of Brooklyn. Refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the dance was as follows; Augustus VanDeventer, Frederick Harrington, Stewart Faber and Fred Krom.

OFFENDERS LET GO.

Walter Farling and William Blunk were arraigned in the city court this morning before Judge DeMeza, on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred against them by Patrolman Martin Welsh. The men were accused of assaulting Edward Manning, while the latter was under the influence of liquor Saturday night. Farling explained to the court that he struck Manning in self-defense and both were let go with a warning to keep the peace.

POLITICAL POT IS WARMING UP

Party Leaders Are Discussing Possible Nominees for City Offices.

STEWART FOR SENATOR

Mayor, It is Said, Will Not Seek Renomination—Leighton Calkins and W. R. Codington Talked of as His Successor.

Much interest has been manifested during the past week or ten days relative to the probable councilmanic candidates at the primaries to be held September 22. The terms of four ward Councilmen expire on January 1: Abiel D. Edgar, of the First Ward; Cornelius vanHerwerden, of the Second Ward; Leighton Calkins, of the Third Ward, and Francis J. Blatz, of the Fourth Ward, all Republicans.

From present indications, Mr. Edgar and Mr. Blatz will seek renominations, as they are now serving their first term. Mr. Calkins, who is also serving his first term, may be induced to make another run, although there has been considerable sentiment expressed for him as a candidate for the nomination for Mayor. Mr. Edgar, however, has made no statement one way or the other, and what attitude he will take regarding the matter is not known at present. Whether Mr. vanHerwerden will be a candidate for nomination this fall is not known, as he has not committed himself. Mr. Edgar was nominated as a Progressive party man two years ago, and the question as to the position which the followers of that party would take this fall should he be a candidate, has been raised on several occasions.

Several possible candidates for the nomination of Mayor have been discussed in the ranks of the G. O. P., among them being Mr. Calkins and former Judge William R. Codington, of Westervelt avenue, who was a candidate of that party two years ago. Mr. Codington was defeated by Mayor Stewart, the candidate of the Democratic party. G. W. V. Moy was the candidate of the Progressive party at that time.

Democratic candidates for local offices have been few and far between thus far, no one in the party having taken any definite step to bring out candidates for councilmanic or mayorality honors. Mayor Percy H. Stewart, who is serving his first term in that office, it is said, will seek the nomination for State Senator this fall.

What attitude the Progressive party will take relative to the local election is still an open question, although it is very probable that they will follow their action of last year in endorsing the best men, in their opinion, of the other two parties, with the possible exception of the candidates for Mayor.

ELKS' SHIRTWAIST DANCE PLANNED FOR THE MEMBERS

Plans have been completed for the shirtwaist dance and reception to be held for the members of the Elks' Club in their clubhouse on Wacthung avenue, Tuesday night, June 30. It is proposed to make this event the best of the kind ever conducted by the local organization. It will be for members only.

The entire clubhouse will be thrown open for the occasion, refreshments being served on the roof garden. Special music will be furnished for the dancing in the spacious assembly hall and this will be one of the principal features of the social evening.

EXCURSION DATES.

Arrangements have been completed by the majority of the Sunday-schools of the city for their annual excursions to Asbury Park. The dates announced thus far include the following: Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, Holy Cross Episcopal, Seventh Day Baptist, New Market Baptist and Dunellen Presbyterian, Thursday, July 2; First Baptist and Temple Baptist, Thursday, July 9; Congregational, July 16; Knights of Columbus, August 6; Hope Chapel, August 9.

PUBLIC OPENING OF K. D.'S PLAYGROUND

T. J. Mumford's Generous Gift to Be Inspected Friday Afternoon.

The City Union of The King's Daughters is preparing for the public opening of its spacious playgrounds in the rear of The Day Nursery on Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, when the grounds and the Nursery will be open for public inspection. The tract of land which Mr. Mumford has so generously given to the King's Daughters, has been equipped with sandboxes, swings, also tents to be used as protection for the children on warm summer days and it makes an ideal place for the children who go to the Nursery every day.

The land has been cleared off and put in first-class condition and is particularly well adapted for the purpose to which it will be put. Representatives from all the cirlces of the King's Daughters will be present at the opening on Friday to receive visitors and escort them about. A cordial invitation is extended to the public and it is hoped that everyone interested will try and be present. Friends and supporters of this work are reminded that funds are needed to carry on this summer work and contributions are asked for. The Daily Press will receive such contributions and acknowledge the same. Thus far about $45 has been sent to this office, and it is hoped that the good work will continue.

KIELY BACK FROM POLICE CONVENTION

Local Dept. Head Scorns the Manner in Which Burns' Case Was Treated.

Chief P. S. Kiely, of the local police department, returned last night from the International Police Chiefs' Convention, held last week at Grand Rapids, Mich. The local department head reports a most interesting trip and has nothing but praise for the manner in which he was treated by the people of that city, and the members of the organization. During the week, Chief Kiely was elected one of the vice-presidents of the association to succeed the late Chief Tenney, of Elizabeth.

Queried concerning the ousting of William J. Burns as an honorary member of the association, which has been the cause of considerable comment during the past week, Chief Kiely stated this morning that the matter was never brought before the members of the conference. He declared that anything that was done to get Burns out of the association was done in executive session. Chief Kiely stated, however, that the detective of international reputation, had been dropped from the roster and requested to take the police chiefs' insignia from his stationary. This action was only taken, however, as the result of the abolition of the practice of placing certain notables on the honorary roster. Burns happened to be the best known of the many dropped and his name was therefore the subject of much discussion.

Heretofore, the chiefs who are active members have had the privilege of entering the names of the Mayor of their home town and other notables on the honorary roster, but it was decided last week to do away with this custom. As a result Burns was eliminated.

Chief Kiely gathered considerable knowledge of the manner in which other departments are run from the chiefs with whom he became intimate, a feature which will be of considerable value to him in conducting the local department. He paid particular atention to information given out by head of departments in towns of Plainfield's size and standing and has several new features to try out as a result.

DOG OWNERS BEWARE.

Chief Kiely, of the local police department, has ordered his men to make a canvass of houses on their respective beats to ascertain whether or not dog owners have secured licenses for their canines as required by law. All of those found guilty of negligence in this respect will be summoned to court.

ADAM BLAIR HURT IN PHILADELPHIA

Local Horseman Thrown From Rig When "Green" Horse Bolts.

While driving a "green" horse through a crowded street in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon, Adam C. Blair, the local liveryman, was thrown from a two-wheeled gig against an iron telephone pole, sustaining painful injuries that will confine him to his bed for some time. Mr. Blair went to the Quaker City for the purpose of trying out the animal which had recently been brought from the west and undertook to drive him on a crowded thoroughfare.

The equine, recently broken to harness, and unused to automobiles and other eastern vehicles, was frightened by a passing car and bolted to one side of the street. The gig hit the curbing with terrific impact sending the driver over the dashboard. Mr. Blair hit the iron pole and his body fell back into the street, the wheels of the vehicle passing over him.

An examination of his injuries revealed a broken rib and a number of severe bruises. He was brought to his home on Park avenue, last night, and is reported as resting comfortably today. The injuries while of a painful nature, are not considered serious, and his complete recovery is expected.

Mr. Blair is a well-known horseman and has gained a country-wide reputation as the result of his fine entries in a number of eastern track meets. He is an experienced driver and one who has handled horses of every type and temperament.

SECOND NIGHT CLUB ENTERTAINED MANY

Dance and Reception in Columbus Club Was a Delightful Affair.

The dance and reception given in the Columbus Auditorium, last night under the auspices of the Second Night Club, proved to be one of the most enjoyable social events of the summer season, a large number of guests being entertained by a delightful program. The committee in charge provided a varied program of vocal and instrumental music which was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of guests.

Dancing was the principal feature of the evening with excellent terpsichore music furnished by Ed. Brown's tango orchestra, of New York city. Many took advantage of the opportunity to participatte in the modern dance numbers and the large floor was crowded during the evening. Refreshments were served by the Kandy Shope.

The bowling alleys and pool tables furnished enjoyment for many of the guests and several interesting matches were indulged in during the evening. The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion with palms and cut flowers.

The different committees in charge of the dance were as follows. Financial committee, H. J. Pasch, T. J. Meany, Frank Burke, W. H. Browne, Frank Briscoe, Joseph Murray; singing committee, Ed. J. Harding, Thos. Connolly; shadowgraph committtee, Thomas C. Harding, C. Regan, F. V. Donnelly; floor committee, M. T. Moynihan, "Doc" Doyle D. J. McAffee, G. A. Bailey, H. J. Traynor, Vincent Meaney, J. P. Lynch, J. G. Carty, John Kyle.

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

An oratorical contest will be held next Monday evening at the First Baptist church, when the Misses Marjory Cubberly and Hazel Selby, Robert Butler, Horace Bunker, Howard Parry and Randolph will compete. A silver medal is to be awarded. A few musical numbers will be interspersed between the diversity of intellectual efforts of the speakers. A silver offering will be received.

RECEIVING BIDS.

The county Board of Freeholders are now receiving bids on the erection of an "Engineer's Cottage," which is to be built at the Bonnie Burn Tuberculosis farm, located at New Providence. The bids will be closed at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

CARTER FAVORITE FOR 'MET' TITLE

Nassau Club Youngster Returns Low Card in the Qualifying Rounds.

FORTY-TWO ENTRANTS

Plainfield Country Club Links the Mecca for Junior Brassie Wielders From all Parts of the State—Pairings for the Tourney.

Forty-two junior golfers, representing every club of importance in the Metropolitan district, teed off in the annual junior golf championship of the Metroloplitan Association on the links of the Plainfield Country Club in the qualifying round of competition, this morning. A large gallery of enthusiasts witnessed the playing of the young contenders for the title, none of whom were over nineteen years of age, and the performances of several were the subject for much favorable comment.

Phillip Carter, of the Nassau Country Club, winner of the championship last year, was the brilliant factor in the morning play, returning a card of 38-39, 77. Matched against Hilton he displayed rare form and as the result of his playing this morning is the popular favorite for the title again this year. He is taking part in his final tourney, as he will be over the age limit next year. Carter has a large number of friends in this city and his work this morning was loudly applauded.

Plainfield has four boy golfers entered in the tournament, all of whom made a creditable showing in the same event last year. Leonard Church, Curtis Dall, John Stevenson and Kenneth McKenzie are the local entrants. L. R. Schneider, another Plainfielder, withdrew his name.

The best card, credited to Phillip Carter, follows:

Out—

4 3 4 3 4 5 7 4 4—38

'Plains & Fanwood.

A strawberry festival is in progress this afternoon, and will continue this evening, weather permitting, on the lawn of Mrs. Fred Creesy, on Martine avenue. It is being held under the auspices of All Saints' Guild of the Episcopal church and the proceeds of the affair will go in the church treasury.

The young people of the B. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church, will hold a strawberry festival on the lawn of the church this evening between the hours of 8 and 10.

The members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, will hold a social at the home of Miss Catherine Cuthbertson, in Westfield, this evening.

Mrs. Henry Judd and her daughter, Cinthia, are spending the summer with Mrs. Judd's brother, Ten-Eyck Beardsley, of the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wade, of Stanberry avenue, are entertaining their son, Harry Wade, who has been in the West for the past year.

Samuel Nutman, the Park avenue tailor, has moved to Plainfield after a year's residence here.

W. A. Batterson, former supervisor of the Scotch Plains Memorial Parish House, has returned to his home in New York after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hand, of Park avenue. Mr. Batterson went with the local Boy Scouts as scoutmaster on the hike of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reeder, of the borough, have been entertaining their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Reeder, of Jersey City.

For some unkonwn reason Fanwood township seems to have a great attraction for poultry and dog farms. The latest to come is K. A. Abbe, who has opened a dog farm for the breeding of English and French bulldogs, Schipperskis, Spaniels, Pekinese and Welsh terriers. There are now five poultry farms and three dog farms in the township and borough.

The Plainfield-Union Water Company is installing a twelve-inch water main on Terrill road to replace the old three-inch one. The small pipe was laid some seven years ago by the few residents of that thoroughfare, but with the recent building in that section the line has been tapped so often that the residents at the end of the line are without water half the time.

It is highly possible that a delegation of borough citizens will appear before the Council at its next meeting and petition for the placing of a traffic post at the intersection of Martine and North avenues, commonly known as the postoffice corner. All vehicles traveling between Westfield, Scotch Plains and Plainfield cross at that point which is between two hills and the numerous accidents and many near ones show that something should be done.

The officers of the Epworth League of the Methodist church that were recently elected and installed for the ensuing year are: John Wade, president; Miss Mamie Clark, first vice-president; Miss Matilda Kuehn, second vice-president; Miss Mattie Hull, third vice-president; Miss Daisy Wade, fourth vice-president; Clifford Cuthbertson, secretary, and Miss Florence Wade, pianist.

A meeting of the borough Board of Health was held in the Fanwood firehouse last evening, for the purpose of electing a secretary. It was voted that Dr. Ray Munger should act in that capacity to take the place of S. W. McAneny, who resigned. The matter of appointing a special plumbing inspector, which was discussed at the last meeting, was again brought up and resulted in the appointment of William Addis, of Plainfield. Mr. Addis has agreed to take the position for a fee of two dollars for each inspection. Mr. Addis also sent a copy of the new plumbing ordinance recently adopted by Plainfield and it was proposed to pass it to second reading at the next meeting of the Board. The question of the disposal of the surface water was raised and it was voted to call the attention of Augustus Sheelen, as chairman of the street committee, to the matter. The sewer question was again touched on, but it was decided that nothing could be done until Plainfield had established a line and extended it to the town line at Terrill road. The Board will meet again on Monday, July 6.

The Elizabeth Town Gas Company has just finished the erection of a mammoth gas tank at the town line between Westfield and Fanwood in what is known as the Graceland section. It is entirely of steel and is one of the largest in the State. It is intended to supply Westfield, Cranford and Garwood.

President Wilson agrees with Attorney General McReynolds that the Massachusetts legislature must be brought to realize that unless the legislature takes appropriate action at its present session to permit the peaceable dissolution of the New Haven system the case must be taken to court. The president let his callers know unmistakably that he considered a suit in equity the only resource left to the government if the legislature failed to act.

SUPREME COURT HITS RAILROADS

Intermountain Case Is Decided Against Them.

OTHER GRAVE DECISIONS.

Power to Fix Rates Shifted to United States Board—Highest Tribunal Says Commerce Commission Has Absolute Control.

Washington, June 23.—The supreme court in its last day of the present term handed down several decisions of great importance to the railroads and the business interests of the country.

The "intermountain" or "long and short haul" case was decided against the railroads, the interstate commerce commission being upheld and the commerce court reversed.

The Southern Pacific railroad won the "oil land case," the court holding valid the railroad's right to disputed titles in the case of private suitors.

The high court decided that oil pipe lines are common carriers.

The interstate commerce commission was upheld and the commerce court reversed by the supreme court's decision in the intermountain rate case, commonly called the "long and short haul" case. The railroads lose.

Spokane and other intermountain cities have been in a long fight against sixteen railroads for reduced freight rates.

Radical rate reduction on westbound freight to western inland cities, ordered by the interstate commerce commission and suspended by the commerce court, were approved by the high court.

Chief Justice White delivered the opinion in the case. His concluding words were:

"It results that the commerce court enjoining the order of the commission was wrong and its decree to that end must therefore be reserved and the case remanded to the proper district court with directions to dismiss the bill for want of equity."

Oil Pipe Line Case.

Washington, June 23.—The supreme court held that oil pipe lines are common carriers and subject to regulation by the interstate commerce commission.

The Uncle Sam company was excepted. It was held that the pipes of that company are used to convey its own product from its wells to the refineries.

Chief Justice White dissented, holding that that company also was a common carrier.

The commerce court had held that the commission had the power to regulate pipe lines.

A dissenting opinion to the general opinion that oil pipe lines are common carriers was read by Justice McKenna. He said the statute could not be made "utilitarian." He said the decision took the property of the pipe line companies without due process. He declared that the power of congress over commerce was subject to constitutional limitations.

"When the owner of private property subjects it to public use he subjects himself to public regulation," said Justice McKenna.

But the dedication to public use was voluntary, he said.

Justice Holmes said the Standard Oil practically used the pipe lines as a means of dictating prices of oil which the trust buys from independents.

Railroad Wins.

Washington, June 23.—The supreme court in an opinion by Justice Van Devanter confirmed the title of the Southern Pacific Railroad company and its subsidiary, the Kern Trading and Oil company, to valuable oil lands in Fresno county, Cal. The value of the lands directly involved is estimated to be at least $20,000,000. Claimants in the brief fix the value of lands at $500,000,000. Maxwell Evarts, counsel for the railroad, estimates the value at $20,000,000.

The case turned on the statute making the grant to the railroad. The act provided that no mineral lands should pass by it. The court held that "oil" lands were "mineral" lands within the meaning of the act. But it held that the United States was the only party who could have attacked the patents; that its officers charged with the duty of ascertaining whether the lands were mineral before issuing patents held it to be nonmineral.

MAY EVICT BELVA LOCKWOOD

Was Only Woman Who Was Ever Candidate For President.

Washington, June 23.—Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood, who has the distinction of being the only woman who was ever a candidate for president of the United States, was cited to show cause why she should not surrender possession of the premises which she has occupied for many years as her home and office. It is stated in the petition that notice was served on Mrs. Lockwood on May 19 to vacate the premises on or before June 19, but that she still maintains possession.

The suffrage organizations recently announced a campaign for money to save Mrs. Lockwood's home, but so far they have raised very little actual cash.

CHEAPER AND BETTER GAS.

Users of artificial gas throughout the United States for illumination, heating and cooking will await with interest new tentative regulations expected soon to become effective in the District of Columbia, where tests of the heating value of gas will supercede the old candlepower tests and lead to a reduction in the cost of the manufacture and the price of the fuel. Other cities naturally will be effected by the new regulations, once they are shown to be successful in Washington.

Authorities declare that 80 per cent. of the gas consumed in American cities, Washington among them, is used for purposes of heating and cooking rather than for illumination. It is therefore apparent that a test which will indicate the value of gas as a heating agent is an economical proposition. Moreover, the very great majority of burners used in illumination nowadays are of the mantle type which has practically displaced the old open-flame burner. The illumination produced by the mantle burner depends upon the heating value of gas and not upon its candlepower. The mantle burner is eight times as efficient as the old-style open-flame and consumes one-fourth the gas.

All this goes to show that the candlepower test is in fact obsolete. The Washington authorities have made another discovery also. They have found that gas high in heat units is cheaper to manufacture than that which must measure up to certain candlepower requirements. Gas high in candlepower requires the use of considerable oil for enrichment and a company furnishing it generally provides a mixture of water and coal gas, the former forming a large percentage of the mixture.

We are told that gas high in heating value can be made entirely of coal gas with little or no oil enrichment and, as the price of oil is high, the cost of manufacturing coal gas with a satisfactory heating value (proven to be better than gas with high candlepower) is less than the cost of the mixed gas. This, declare the Washington authorities, should enable the gas manufacturers to not only manufacture gas more to be desired at a smaller cost, but also enable them to sell it to consumers at a lower rate, a principle which holds good not only in Washington, but all over the country.

HELPING THE NEWSPAPERS.

That the newspapers are recognized as of inestimable value in helping all charitable and humane work is becoming more and more evident. No one needing aid fails to ask the newspapers to help get it, and whether their claims have merit or not, they seem to think that everything of the kind should be freely given. The constant demands upon the space in the papers frequently makes it difficult to attend properly to the regular presentation of news in the smaller cities, and yet when the same people are asked to help the newspaper they often give up reluctantly, or not at all.

The state legislative committee of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, through George M. McCarthy, its chairman, recognizes the help given by the newspapers. He quotes the report of another state, as being one which might well be used as a pattern by the New Jersey society. The Colorado Humane Society says: "Make friends and helpers of the newspapers. They can and will do more to aid you and the work you are trying to do than any other agency if you give them an invitation and a chance. In this state of Colorado, the protection of children and animals owes more to the consistent, intelligent sympathy and aid of newspaper men than to any other thing outside of the people actually engaged in the work. The way to get them to help is to give them news. That is what newspapers live on. They don't care much for essays and sermons or arguments or statistics or sentiment, but any time and all the time they want news, and if you give that to them they will be for you, strong."

That sums up the situation in a nutshell. If the people who have a bit of information important enough to impart to acquaintances, would take the trouble to call up the newspapers and tell them about it, they would be doing slight service for the aid given at other times to help along some worthy cause, for which, of course, no real remuneration is expected.

It is natural that the members of the Park Avenue Baptist church should urge Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire to remain in Plainfield. The call to the largest Baptist congregation in Boston, and one of the most important in the United States, has made them realize more than ever what a splendid man they have as a pastor, and they do not want him to go. But Mr. Maguire, whom we understand will accept the call, will be given a field for work in the Boston church ten times as great as that here. Mr. Maguire has made hundreds of friends in this city by his splendid preaching and his pleasant manner, and they will all express regret to see him go. With the members of his congregation we wish him continued success in the new field he has chosen.

Everyone knows J. Rufus Wallingford. His escapades have been heralded far and wide in the magazines, and from the stories published about him a successful play has been staged. Folowing the custom of giving its readers only the best serial stories, the Daily Press has secured the exclusive rights in Plainfield for a Wallingford yarn. The story will run for several weeks, and George Randolph Chester has never written more interestingly about his favorite fiction character, than he does in "Wallingford in His Prime," the opening chapters of which will be found in tomorrow night's Daily Press. If you are going away for the summer be sure to have the paper mailed to you, so that you can keep in touch with Plainfield affairs, and at the same time learn about the fascinating adventures of the most popular fiction character of recent years.

THE FIRE-CRACKER'S PLEA

I don't know how 'twill be this year,
But last, say, do you know,
Our business with the thumbs and eyes
Was surely awful slow?

The boys that used to come in swarms
And buy us packs and packs
Last year came in with wilted air
And bought torpedo sacks.

The pistol and the cap, of course,
Had something of a fling:
But boys don't care a rap about
That little iron thing.

Now where's there any loyalty
Without a lot of noise?
Or where's there any records made
Without some thumbless boys?

In Seventy-Six that you've forgot
They made the world look 'round—
They even melted tea-pots up
To make a little sound.

Do have the old catastrophes
You had in former years —
I'm sure the boys will give you thanks
For hurts that bring the tears!

Burn down some houses, score the girls,
And have some runaways!
You will get all you ought to get
From men of future days!

Annoy the poor distracted sick—
Just celebrate with zest!
You'll long remember, if you do
These things that I suggest!

The year of one and four should be
A banner one. If 'Tis,
We'll crack and whack, we'll bing and bang,
You'll cry and fret! Gee Whizz!

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:—

I want to congratulate you on your contributed editorial for Saturday, June 20. For a man not known—at least to the undersigned—as a Marxian student, Mr. Boardman shows an uncommon understanding of the historic mission of labor. It is a lucid and scientific argument of the righteousness of the means it uses to attain whatever amelioration it can. Although sometimes guilty of violent acts—natural reaction against ruthless oppression—labor is always right.

A slave attempting to gain his liberty is not to be judged by the means he uses. All means are legitimate to him. He can never be wrong. And labor is the one big economic slave of an insane system of society.

In conclusion, considering the article strictly as an interpretation of the Sherman Act, it has the merit of tearing into shreds the asinine sophistries of the New York Times.

DUNELLEN POLICE ACTIVE THESE DAYS

Three Victims of Drink Increase Boro's Fund Thru Fines.

The lid is off in Dunellen. Three arrests for drunkenness within twenty-four hours gave Recorder David S. Campbell one of the busiest weekends he has had in some time and incidentally increased the borough funds to the extent of $6, two $3 fines being imposed on the unfortunates who fell into Chief Marshal Owen Mohan's drag-net.

William Wilson, the legless offender who has been banished from nearly every town in Central New Jersey because of his liking for the "cup that cheers," was picked up in Dunellen late Saturday night and today finds himself without a welcome in that municipality. He was carrying more cargo than was good for him when he tried to alight from a moving trolley car. Finding himself unceremoniously landed in the wilds of the neighboring hamlet, Wilson proceeded to stir things up in the vicinity of the borough hall when Mohan happened along and placed the nippers on him. Arraigned before the recorder he was sentenced to the New Brunswick jail for ten days but the sentence was later suspended on the condition that he "beat" a hasty retreat from that village.

John Crefford, a Westfielder, was found sleeping off a good time in front of Councilman E. M. Jones' house and taken into custody. He paid a fine of $3.

Thomas Dowed was the third victim and it cost him $3 to get away from the grasp of the Dunellen minions of the law.

REPORT FILED TODAY.

Washington, June 23.—A report in the impeachment case of Judge Speer of Atlanta, was filed in the House today by the Special Sub-Committee of the House which investigated the Judge's official conduct. The report charges the judge with arbitrary conduct injudicious temperment, comments severely upon the Judge's attitude in certain cases, claiming that he approached tyranny and oppression and then drops the case without a word of recommendation.

TO OPEN CITY MARKET.

The City Market, on North avenue, which has been closed for the past year, will be re-opened in the near future. From reliable sources, it is understood that a company composed of Elizabeth and Newark capitalists will take over the management of the place, making extensive interior alteration to the building.

INVESTIGATION HALTED.

Chicago, June 23.—States Attorney Hoynes' scheme for the investigation of the suspension of the Lorimer-Munday string of State banks was brought to a halt today by the refusal of James J. Brady, State Auditor, to turn over to Hoyne a copy of the report of the Bank Examiner Daniel V. Harkin.

WAITING FOR DECISION.

New York, June 23—A member of one of the Rock Island committees says that no important steps will now be taken toward bringing about a re-adjustment of the Rock Island system until the Illinois commission renders a decision on the plan that has been agreed to by the two committees.

$15,000 FIRE AT LONG BRANCH

Thornton and Siegel Cottages Damaged—Old Hotel Destroyed.

Long Branch, N. J., June 23.—The partly remodeled building that was the Mansion house when it stood in Ocean avenue, burned at its new site in Chelsea avenue. It was owned by Isaac Kamarass and was unoccupied.

The cottages of Mrs. James Thornton and Isador Seigel of New York, which adjoined the old hotel building and which were not yet occupied for the summer, were badly damaged. The loss is about $15,000. It is suspected the old hotel was set afire.

BRIEF STATE ITEMS.

Bernard Eron, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eron of Passaic, died as the result of a dare he had taken to eat a green apple.

The Convalescent home in Summit closed its doors because its managers could not raise $7,000 with which to maintain it for the coming year.

Raymond Berg, who graduated from the Dover high school received a gold medal for not having been absent or tardy in the twelve years he has been attending school.

Siegfeld Glass walked out of the United States district court in Newark after Judge Haight told him that his bail bonds on New York property would not be acceptable. Now the police are searching for him and with a warrant.

August Schriber, the aged Low Hollow hermit, who has spent fifty years in seclusion near Scott's mountain, is a prisoner in the Warren county jail at Belvidere until a commission passes on his sanity. Schriber's indisposition dates from the time he was wounded by a shot from a hunter's gun.

ANOTHER SUBWAY CRASH.

New York, June 23.—One man was killed and seven others injured when a crane weighing several tons crashed down into the subway excavation in Fourth avenue, Brooklyn, between Seventy-Sixth and Seventy-Seventh street this morning.

LANDIS RESIGNS.

Washington, June 22—John H. Landis, Republican Superintendent of the United States Mint at Philadelphia, resigned today, his resignation to take effect immediately on the appointment of his successor.

HERE AND THERE

Recent happenings have led members of the local branch of the S. P. C. A. to the belief that some people have an entirely wrong impression as to the requirements of an agent for the society. The following taken from Dumb Animals, the society's organ, might have been intended to set forth the requirements needed in a first-class agent:

"You must be keen, courteous, bright, talented, polite, industrious, truthful, appreciative, firm, neat, respected, resourceful, untiring, genial, trustworthy and well educated.

"You have to combine in your personality the characteristics of a Sherlock Holmes, a Lord Chesterfield, a Thomas A. Edison, a Christopher Columbus, a Samuel Pepys, a David Belasco, an Annie Besant, an Anna Eva Fay, a Bob Fitzsimmons, a Socrates, a Plato and a George Washington.

"You have got to have the mind of a detective, the heart of a deep sea diver, the courage of an African lion hunter, the hide of a rhinoceros, the disposition of an angel, the patience of a cemetery monument, the constancy of a lighthouse and the reticence of a Sphinx."

And then there will be people who will accuse an agent of stupidity, dishonesty and graft.

WILL ASK REFUND.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 23.—Intermountain shippers will ask the I. C. C. to order refunds approximating $10,000,000 on account of overcharges, as a result of the United States Supreme Court decision on the long and short haul clause. The claim is based on the fact that the Inter-mountain charges are class rates. The traffic bureau of the Commercial Club which filed the original suit estimates a saving of $5,000,000 a year to Intermountain shippers.

LAST MEETING.

The Owaissa Camp Fire Girls will meet for the last time this summer tonight at the home of Mrs. George Meade, of East Front street. All members are urged to be present.

AMBASSADOR NAON.

Argentine Minister Has New Plan to Save Mediation.

Efforts to patch up the mediation program are being made. The A, B, C mediators met with the American delegates. Modified proposals for settlement of the Mexican imbroglio were submitted by the A, B, C group. Selection of a provisional president—the snag in the proceedings—was temporarily put aside. Consequently the outlook was more hopeful than at any time for more than a week. Ambassador Naon's new plan was based on his own ideas, coupled with suggestions he gleaned in Washington from President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

ANARCHISTS EGGED IN TARRYTOWN RIOT

Mob Drives Them Out of the Village.

Tarrytown, N. Y., June 23.—Leonard Abbott, Alexander Berkman, Arthur Carron, Reba Edelsohn, Helen Goldblat, Mary Yuster and George Plunkitt led a company of sixty agitators, including all those recently released from the White Plains jail, to Tarrytown. They tried to hold a meeting in Croton avenue without a permit, and Chief of Police Bowles, unable to cope with the crowd, appealed to Division Superintendent Palmer of the Aqueduct police. Palmer summoned his men from Valhalla, but they arrived too late to stop the uprising.

Reba Edelsohn, Abbott, Berkman, Helen Goldblat and Carron in turn tried to speak. The crowd of townspeople showered them with sand, sod and eggs. Carron was hit in the mouth with a piece of sod. Two of the eggs struck Abbott. The hair of Reba Edelsohn and Helen Goldblat fell down over their shoulders. There were fist fights here and there. Automobile owners tooted their horns to add to the din. The police were helpless and sighed with relief when the meeting was declared off at 10 o'clock.

The word got around that Berkman was armed. The police stood him up on the steps of a store and searched him. The crowd surged in and clubs were used freely. In the fight Detective Goldstein was robbed of his revolver.

TELEGRAPH COMPANIES WIN.

Supreme Court Upsets South Carolina "Mental Anguish" Law.

Washington, June 23.—Construing a South Carolina law giving persons power to collect damages from telegraph companies for "mental anguish" caused by delay in the delivery of death messages, the supreme court reversed a $750 verdict obtained against the Western Union company by Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of this city for delay of a message announcing the illness of Mrs. Brown's sister.

SWITCHMAN'S CASE UPHELD.

Judgment For $1,000 Against Southern Railway Sustained.

Washington, June 23.—A judgment for $1,000 against the Southern railway from Tennessee courts to D. E Crockett, a switchman injured in 1910, was affirmed by the supreme court.

The court holds that the automatic coupler law extends to locomotive drawbars as well as to freight cars.

CARRANZA JOINS PEACE PARLEYS

Agrees to Plan For Conference With Huerta.

MEDIATION HOPES RISE.

Big Battle at Zacatecas Is Delayed. Villa May Starve Out the Federals. Stronghold Is the Key to the Capital City.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 23.—A tentative arrangement was made between the A, B, C mediators and the American and Mexican delegates under which agents appointed by General Carranza, the supreme chief of the Constitutionalists, will enter into peace negotiations with the commissioners of President Wilson and General Huerta. While these negotiations are in progress the mediation conference will be declared to be in recess and the mediators will depart from Niagara Falls, leaving the American, Huerta and Carranza delegates to seek a solution of the problem confronting them.

It is anybody's guess as to how long the peace negotiations will be continued under the new arrangement. Estimates range from two weeks to two months. A man concerned in the negotiations, but not intimately informed as to the plan to be agreed upon, asked one of the conferees whether he would be justified in sending for his dog. "Yes, send for him, and also for your fishing tackle and your gun," was the answer. The shooting season in Canada will not open until autumn.

Through this arrangement, which the American and Mexican delegates expect to perfect formally tomorrow, the effort to end Mexico's troubles by mediation has been saved from immediate failure. The arrangement embodies the plan of action discussed at the White House on Friday night between President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and Dr. Naon, the Argentine minister, a member of the board of mediators.

Big Battle Postponed.

Torreon, June 23.—The general assault on Zacatecas, reported in dispatches from Saltillo early to have been begun by General Villa, has been delayed for several days, according to dispatches received at the Constitutionalist military headquarters here, where rebel officers asserted that they were in direct communication with Villa.

Villa has planned a quick march from Canitas, beyond which point the railroad tracks are torn up, to Zacatecas and to open the attack at once. Upon his arrival at Canitas, however, he found the roads to the south in such a condition that passage of his heavy artillery was impossible.

Villa's putting the ability of his army to an open test before Zacatecas is declared here to be his most daring exploit. The city is defended by General Barron with not less than 15,000 men, who are intrenched in hundreds of abandoned mine workings on the slopes of La Bufa. If the rebel chief can infuse the dash and daring necessary to La Bufa's capture into his men, San Luis Potosi would then be the only obstacle in a march to Mexico City. The fortifications of San Luis Potosi are weak compared to those at Zacatecas.

Ma/ Starve Federals Out.

It is stated here that Villa's forces have Zacatecas entirely surrounded and that re-enforcements from Huerta cannot possibly relieve the city. If this proves to be so Villa may not make a real attempt to storm La Bufa hill. If the certainty of heavy loss to the rebels develops Villa is expected to hold his army in front of the city and try to starve Barron's federals into submission.

Some of the most stubborn battles in Mexico's history have been fought at La Bufa's natural fortress. During the war of intervention the French stormed the hill, and Benito Juarez barely escaped capture. The following day Juarez's forces, led by General Miguel Miramon, stormed the rocky heights and recaptured the position from the French and their imperialist Mexican allies.

DIVER LOSES HIS LIFE.

Another Victim Added to Death List of Empress of Ireland.

Rimouski, Que., June 23.—To the 1,032 victims of the Empress of Ireland disaster another was added in the person of a New York diver named Cosaboom, who was smothered to death while trying to salve bodies from the hull of the sunken liner.

Cosaboom, who had brought up the first two bodies recovered from the vessel's hull, went down again in a heavy sea. When thirty minutes elapsed and he did not come up two other divers descended. They found his body on the river bed. It is believed he slipped off the wreck and that his air valve closed, suffocating him to death.

Haiti's President Takes Field.

Washington, June 23.—The state department was notified that President Zamor of Haiti has taken the field against the revolutionists. In his absence the government will be in the hands of a military commission.

BAPTIST MISSION WOMEN UNITE

New Circle Formed After Old Bodies Are Disbanded.

RECALL THE EARLY DAYS

Interesting Sketches of Home and Foreign Societies Presented—List of Officers from Organization to Date.

The members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies held a notable meeting, last week, when it was voted to disband. They then formed a new missionary circle including all the missionary organizations of the church except the Temple Builders. Brief remarks were made by Mrs. J. A. Powlison for the foreign society and Mrs. Charles Smith for the home society.

The foreign society was organized April 12, 1873. With no electric lights, no telephones, no macadam streets and roads and no automobiles, missionary work was more difficult in those days. Bad roads delayed the organization of the society a whole month. A meeting was arranged for March and Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, who was then pastor, was to preside over and direct it, but being called to the country to see a sick member, the muddy roads prevented him keeping his appointment.

The first president of the society, Mrs. William C. Butler, a most energetic and efficient worker, led the society for twenty-one years, until her death in 1894. Mrs. B. J. Shreve has been the society's only secretary. For forty-one years and three months. Mrs. Shreve has kept the minutes of the society and year by year her anniversary reports have been told with freshness and vigor. Two collectors, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs Alexander Thorn, have faithfully performed their duties during the years and still continue to hold this important office in the new circle and it may be their lot to reach the jubilee in the service. The first money raised by the society was sent to Miss Field for the support of one of her Bible women in China. Steadily the society has caused the Gospel light to shine into more and more of the darkened homes in far off heathendom. The presidents of the society have been Mrs. William C. Butler, Miss Linda Butler, Mrs. Reuben Knox, Mrs. J. A. Chambliss and Mrs. Martin I Cooley.

The home mission society was organized five years after the foreign body, March 25, 1878. Mrs. J. N. Crouse, the president of the Women's Baptist Home Mission Society, a woman of wealth, culture, deep piety and religious zeal, came to Plainfield to organize an auxiliary society. Her personality, pleasing appearance and forceful presentation won the hearts of the minister and his family. The first officers were: President, Mrs. E. J. Chaffer; vice-presidents, Mrs. Herman White, and Mrs. Joseph Stockbridge; secretary, Miss Libbie Heyniger; treasurer, Mrs. Annie Rhees.

There were nineteen collectors chosen and the society began vigorous work. In addition to the regular work, valuable barrels of clothing were sent to missionary families on the frontier. So earnest was the society it ordered members to pay a fine of five cents when absent from a meeting. It was a striking coincidence that the presidents number the same as the foreign society, but the term of office has not been parallel. The presidents have been Mrs. E. J. Chaffer, 1878-1879; Mrs. Herman White, 1879-1880; Mrs. Robert Lowry, 1880-1882; Mrs. Herman White, 1882-1883; Mrs. William J. Yerkes, 1883-1905; Mrs. Reuben Knox, 1906-1914.

Immigration and neighboring Latin countries furnish a vast increasing field of work. The Park Avenue Baptists united with the First Baptist church in forming the societies. Now the Park Avenue has a union home and foreign society as has also the Temple Baptist church, which is a branch of the First Baptist. In 1874 the young girls of the First Baptist church, organized a missionary society. They assumed the support of two Burmese girls in Miss Haswell's school in Burma.

HOME OUTPUT IS RAPIDLY INCREASING

Business Man Finds Department of Commerce Publications Interesting.

Washington, June 23.—Of great practical value to the American business man seeking information regarding foreign markets for the goods which he handles or the sources of imported raw materials and of goods competing with domestic products are publications presenting details with respect to every important article exported from, or imported into the United States, prepared by the Department of Commerce.

It is shown that coffee is now supplied almost exclusively by Brazil, Central America, and other trophical countries of the Western hemisphere, that sugar, formerly imported in large quantities from Java and the sugar beet countries of Europe, is now chiefly supplied by Cuba, the Philippines and the domestic product including Hawaii and Porto Rico, and that champagne shows constantly diminishing importations as a result of the rapidly expanding home output. American factories consume great quantities of imported materials, last year's imports including $50,000,000 worth of fibre, india rubber and hides. These are mere examples of the more than 500 different classes of articles whose sources are shown in Table 3 of Commerce and Navigation of the United States, and which include such widely varied items as asbestos, beads, camphor, human hair, ivory, kapok, rattan, toys, mushrooms and zinc.

While the iron and steel industry exports goods to every important country with sales over $300,000,000 in value per annum, and the automobile industry is making each year a new high record, the cotton manufacturing industry exports less than $60,000 000 worth of its products each year, mostly to the non-manufacturing countries of Asia and America.

Athletic and sporting goods, breakfast goods, aeroplanes, motion picture films, cement, chewing gum, confectionery, and teeth are typical items chosen at random from the report, which also shows that the United States exports large quantities of dynamoes to England, telephones to Canada, optical instruments to Germany and France, stoves and ranges to Kongo and other tropical countries and ice to Canada.

The aggregate value of articles imported is shown to have increased from $1,712,000,000 in 1909 to $1,813,000,000 in 1913; while the value of articles exported has increased from $1,638,000 000 to $2,429,000,000 in the same period.

BEING ILL-NATURED IS DEUCEDLY COMMON, DON'T CHA KNOW

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

As an aftermath of the "ball game" on Parker Field Saturday afternoon a famine has been reported in the liniment market. All local druggists have been doing a rushing business in this line during the last two days and if the pressure continues the supply will soon be exhausted. All of the twenty players who took part in the combat are sporting more sore spots and many have acquired some pet limbs as a result.

Someone has started a report in circulation hereabouts that the Plainfield cops are preparing a challenge for the doctors' nine. If the pill dispensers treat the bluecoats in the same way as they did the lawyers Plainfield will be without police protection for a few days at least. The lawyers are in bad enough straits at the present time, but without the bluecoats to drum up trade for them the legal lights would soon become lost in the shuffle.

A Plainfield High School athlete comes to the front with the announcement that major sports have been a failure in P. H. S. during the past season. On the other hand the promoters of the minor branches of athletics have had a wonderful season and are planning an even wider campaign next year. Wonder if that new gym will have any noticeable effect on scholastic sportdom?

Many there were who watched with interest little Wren Townley's advent into independent baseball on the Saurer lot Saturday afternoon and the plucky boroughite certainly made a lasting impression in his debut in fast circles. A brilliant future is predicted for this youngster who has three more years of high school life coming to him.

Whaddayamean Sunday School League constitutions? Who said "Hub" Stine won't play league baseball this year even if he hasn't been to Sunday school every week-end for the prescribed century?

If you want to see some genuine inter-city baseball rivalry just take a trip to Parker Field Thursday afternoon and take a peak at the Elizabeth-Plainfield cops' battle. factions have their loyal supporters and the contest promises to be a battle royal.

Plainfield again came to the fore in metropolitan athletic circles Saturday afternoon. Taking a second prize in a junior "met" championship is no mean accomplishment. Congratulations Runyon, do it again.

Nothing like putting baseball on ice for another season. As a means of preserving the baseball knowledge already drummed into the heads of the North Plainfield High School players by Coach Tommy Mullin, the athletic association has ordered individual silver baseballs for the players.

Park Avenue Baptist ball tossers are responsible for the statement that "One-Arm" Cunningham was a speedy twirler and had all kinds of "stuff" on the ball Saturday afterncon. And yet the Parks won by a count of 13 to 3. The churchboys are certainly a sympathetic bunch of athletes.

Pretty hard to lose a contest that extends over the supper period by a couple of errors. That's what happened to the First Baptist boys Saturday when the Hope Chapel crew assisted the opposition in keeping the win column unblemished. For a team that made such a strong bid for the pennant last season, the Baptists are a disappointment.

Westfield appears to be sweeping everything before it in the Central New Jersey baseball world this season. The Mt. Ararat performers have been a nemesis for a number of speedy combinations.

Why the necessity of picking a first and second all star interscholastic team when real competition has so effectively decided this? North Plainfield, as a team, outclassed Plainfield, and therefore can be taken as a unit for the all star choice. Plainfield naturally rules a second choice and inasmuch as Leals has been eliminated in the critics' selection it might be well to leave first and second all star pickings as they now stand. And, furthermore, local fans are not particularly anxious to witness any further scholastic baseball contests this season. Let them rest in peace.

July 4 promises to be a big day for local athletes with the monster Parker Field attraction now a certainty. The awards offered for the competitors are both handsome and remunerative and we look forward to some good performances on the part of Queen City youngsters.

BIG YEAR FOR THE BOROUGHITES IN THE COURT AND DIAMOND SPORT

Baseball and Basketball Championships for North Plainfield High School—Tommy Mullin and Paul R. Collier the Victorious Coaches.

By Hyman Abrams
Basketball Captain 1914-15.

North Plainfield High School ended up the most successfull year of its history, winning the interscholastic championship in both baseball and basketball. The season of basketball ended with twenty-two wins and five defeats including the city championship. The success is due to the coaching which was done by Paul R. Collier. The borough turned out one of the fastest teams that ever represented the High School, the next year will have the same quintet, substitutes Conroy, Newkirk and Townley, filling the vacancies left by Burner, Dunning and Love. Newkirk will replace Burner at guard and Conroy and Townley will replace Love and Dunning respectively. Van Mater will be taken from forward and put at centre, to replace Dunning. The reports of the season under the managership of Van Mater were the most successful ever returned to the Athletic Association.

The baseball season was also a banner one. Under the personal supervision of Tommy Mullin, the boroughites were victorious in eleven out of twenty games played and tied one. North Plainfield also annexed the city championship after playing four games. The High School will lose by graduation two stars, Burner and Dunning. The boroughites ended up the season with four men batting over .300 and the rest right close to that mark. The season was a financial success due to the managership of Charles Beckmen The teams have been awarded medals in basketball and baseball.

Summing up the sports played by the boroughites they have come out ahead in all brands which they have taken part in. The success is attributed to the excellent coaching departments.

ROD AND REEL

A fishing party composed of Charles Giebler, Cliff House, John Scribner, Jesse Moffet, Edward Bayer, George Smith, Al DeCamp and several others lef this city yesterday morning for Sandy Hook and returned with a big catch last night. They found the fish biting good and bagged 180 fluke and a Japanese crab. The latter was somewhat of a curio to the local anglers, measuring five feet from claw to claw.

According to reports received at this office today, weakfish are running fine at Sewaren. R. O. Acker, keeper of the boathouse at that place, who is well known to local anglers, has turned in several creditable hauls made by his patrons. Mr. Acker annually offers a prize of five dollars in gold for the first weakfish brought on his dock alive and the award has inspired much friendly rivalry. Mrs. Bickford, of Watchung avenue, this city, getting her first taste of salt water fishing Saturday afternoon, had the honor of hooking the prize fin, landing a beauty on the deck alive. Mr. Bickford has won the prize three times during the last eight year's and his wife's performance holds up the family reputation. She was presented with the money immediately upon making the catch.

Market fishermen, as well as the hook-and-line fishermen, are worrying over the scarcity of weakfish and bluefish in the adjacent waters, and their fears are shared by the fishermen and anglers all along the Jersey Coast. The weakfish are at least three weeks overdue for the net men and ten days behind for the rod and line fishing. Scattered reports show that here and there a few weakfish are being caught on bait, but there has not been enough weakfish caught along the Atlantic coast to feed the guests of a summer hotel. Each year there has been a noticeable falling off in the fishing, which caused the anglers of the State to appeal to the Legislature for a conservation measure, which never met with success no matter how often the attempt has been made. Dealers in shedder crabs and other baits have been hard hit, as their stock died for want of use. Boat-owners and guides have also suffered financial loss, and a conservative estimate of the combined loss, due to the shortage of weakfish and bluefish, reaches $200,000 so far this season for New Jersey only.

The fish should bite in Raritan Bay almost any day. One of the nets pulled in ninety bushels of weakfish and bluefish Friday evening. It was the best haul made this summer.

The tide will be right for fishing from the Long Branch pier this week as the flood will be high during the evening hours. The fish bite best there on the flood tide, from 4 o'clock until 9 o'clock. It will be high tide tonight at 7:35; tomorrow night at 8:18, and Thursday night at 9:02.

BRUGGY'S HOME RUN WINS GAME IN THE ELEVENTH

Frank Bruggy, who is now playing with the Lawrence team of the New England League, won the game from Finchburg, yesterday, with a home run, after dropping a fly ball that almost lost the contest. Bruggy is well known in these parts, as he has played on the Plainfield team and also has caught for Bound Brook.

He is now doing the backstop work for Lawrence, and in yesterday's game he placed the ball over the left field fence in the eleventh inning for a circuit trip. When he hit he had two strikes on him and there were two down with nobody on the bases. Bruggy played left field on the local team two years ago.

ORGANIZED BASEBALL ON HARRY JENNINGS' TRAIL

It has recently developed that Captain Al. Leeds, shortstop of this year's Rutgers baseball team, was approached by Federal League agents just before the Stevens game the last of his college career. Leads was not the first Rutgers man to be approached by the Feds, as Pitcher Harry Jennings had previously been offered the tempting sum of $350 per month.

Both men turned the offers down. Leeds, who was graduated this June, has accepted a position with the Atlantic Coast Line, of Georgia. Jennings is now toiling in the deep bushes of Massachusetts. The pitcher has a bright prospect in the baseball world if he chooses to take the national game for an occupation. The former Plainfield twirler has turned down offers from the Cincinnati National League Club, Trenton of the Tri-State League, and another minor league offer, so that he may finish his two years more of college.

SWIMMERS' CORNER

Another schoolboy has placed to his credit national aquatic honors. A. Wales, of the Brookline (Mass.) High School, a lad of sixteen, won the A. A. U. championship in plunging for distance a few days ago in Boston. Our youngsters are certainly making history these days. Wales was totally unknown six months ago, yet his sensational development now gives great hope that he will soon be good enough to attach successfully the record mark of eighty feet established by F. W. Willis, of Philadelphia.

Commodore Alfred Brown, the professional long distance swimming champion of America, will be handled by John Wieland, of Dover, in his coming attempt to cross the English Channel. Wieland has accompanied most of the candidates for the great feat, and is said to know more than any man living about the classic course. He is himself a swimmer of remarkable calibre and holds several world's records for endurance. Brown will train under his care for a couple of weeks before undertaking the big swim.

Incidentally two more Americans have signified their intention of trying the channel crossing; Samuel Finkelman, of New York, and Henry F. Sullivan, of Boston. Finkelman has a good reputation locally as a stayer, yet he has never attempted a journey as long as the one in sight, but Sullivan tried the channel last season and made such a good showing that many believe he has it in him to accomplish the gruelling trip if conditions are at all favorable. In his late attempt he had to battle against wind, storm, heavy seas and very cold water for over ten hours, reaching within five miles of the goal in that time. Then, however, the captain of the piloting craft refused to continue in such foul weather and Sullivan was forced to abandon the test. He seems to have every qualification to succeed.

Russell Dean, of the Brookline G. A. A., failed in his attack on the world's 150-yard back stroke record of one minute 53 2-5 seconds, but he swam within a second of it, and there can be no doubt that he is a real find at his specialty. Dean is not only a youngster in his teens, but a green recruit to the swimming game, and it is easy to realize what a brilliant future is before him as he develops strength, form and racing knowledge. A pupil of Matthew Dean, who has recently been turning out youthful prodigies by the half dozen, he will have the best of handling, and it should not be long before he wipes out every world's back stroke standard on the list.

The all-round champion swimming team of the Illinois A. C., of Chicago, has been put in strict training by Coach Bachrach in anticipation of the international water carnival of July 3-4, in San Francisco. It is interesting to learn in connection with this meet that many westerners expect to see McGillivray recapture, over the long courses to obtain the laurels he lost last winter indoors to his teammate Hebner. They believe McGillivray's stroke better suited to outdoor work. Judging, however, by Hebner's sensational times it looks as if the former holder would have considerable difficulty in resuming leadership over the present champion.

ELIZABETH COPS TO HAVE STRONG TEAM

Coming Here to Tame the Plainfielders With Their Best Lineup.

Extra sessions of practise work are being indulged in this week by the Plainfield policemen, who will play their first home game of the season on Parker Field, Thursday afternoon with the Elizabeth bluecoats as their opponents. The Plainfielders are counting on having Joe Hayle and Martin Flatley in fine fettle for the engagement and Connie McCarthy has been kept busy since the Perth Amboy contest, acting as a bombardment wall for these hurlers.

The Plainfielders are greatly encouraged over their performance of last Thursday when they put the copers of that place to rout, and expect to do the Betsytown aggregation up on the local lot. The Elizabeth team comes to Plainfield with a great reputation behind it and are confident of humiliating the Queen City youths inasmuch as they have squelched several other fast police nines of the State. The visitors will come here in automobiles and will be accompanied by a large delegation of admirers

LOCAL TRACK PROMOTER AS CHANGEABLE AS THE WEATHER

John Gates, the local athletic promoter, has decided to enter his team in the Parker Field Fourth of July meet independently instead of under the name of a local club.

He has several out of town men and will enter the following runners, Jean Blanchard, Harry Gorden, Jack Hedgman, Ralph Granger, of Dartmouth, James Burell and John Davis, of Newark. He will also enter a relay team.

RANDOLPH HITTING .231 FOR PERTH AMBOY CLUB

Cliff Randolph the local ball player who is now with the Perth Amboy team of the Atlantic League, has a batting average of 231. He has figured in eight games and has hit safely seven times out of twenty-six trips to the plate, one of which was a circuit clout.

The league is being led in the batting department by a teammate of Randolph's who has taken part in eleven games and has an average of .558. Randolph formerly pitched for Plainfield and other teams of this vicinity.

LOCAL BALLPLAYER ON FIRST BASE FOR BOSTON

Jack Martin, Plainfield's representative in the big league, seems to be the popular utility player of the Boston Nationals. Early in the season he played on third base and then was benched when Charlie Deal recuperated from injuries. Jack has been in the game at that station off and on all year and now his manager is sending him into the game for a "try" at all of the positions. Saturday he played second base after the regular man had been ordered to the clubhouse and yesterday he was sent to cover the initial sack in the last part of the game. He had one put out, one error and figured in a double play. He did not have a chance to show his ability at the bat. Gowdy, whom Martin replaced, hit for two doubles and scored one on his team's three runs. Boston lost the game 4 to 3.

GAME WANTED.

The All-Stars would like to arrange a game for Sunday, June 28, with such teams as the Primrose A. C., Olympics or any other out of town team on their grounds. Half expenses required. Address V. Mullin, 183 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

SIMON AGAIN WINS RACE ON THE VAILSBURG TRACK

A large delegation of riders of the Queen City Wheelmen Club, took a trip to Sewaren, Sunday afternoon, and on the way about half of the party stopped off at Vailsburg to see the bike races and two of the local boys entered.

Eddie and Willie Simon competed in the two-mile novice and the former acme in second to Eric Patex, the fast German rider. The local riders witnessed some fast races by professional racers and returned home in the evening.

NONPARIELS WILL COMPETE.

The Nonpariel Club, of this city, will enter a team in the local athletic meet at Parker Field on July 4th and Manager James E. McCrea has a good set of runners to compete under the colors of his organization. Those who will run for this club are William Daniels Robert Green, Thomas Babbitt and James McCrea and they will enter all of the running events. No out of town men will compete for this team.

LOCAL BATTERY LOST.

Performing in the points for the Trenton team on the Ridgewood grounds, Sunday afternoon, Warry McLaughlin and "Nibs" Hand, of this city, were defeated by the Bushwick nine by a score of 7 to 5. McLaughlin allowed eleven hits, fanned six and walked five. He was the leading hitter of the game with a single and a three bagger to his credit. Hand got a single.

DUNELLEN TO HAVE BIG TIME JULY 4

Civic Celebration Will Be Monster Affair With Many Phases.

Final arrangements for the annual Fourth of July celebration of Dunellen, were made at a meeting of the civic committee in charge of the event, last night, and indications at present point to an affair that will even eclipse last year's success. Athletics, street demonstrations and fireworks will constitute the day's program and all of the local civic and social organizations have pledged their support to the enterprise.

Featuring the occasion will be a big street parade in the morning the line of march being as follows: Washington avenue tto New Market road, to Centre street to Prospect avenue to Grove street to Madison avenue to North avenue to Jackson avenue to Front street to Lincoln avenue to First street. The order of march will be as follows: Police, Council, Dutch Arms Band, Board of Trade, Boy Scouts, Grand Army, Holy Name Society, P. O. S. of A., Friendship Council, Independent Order of Foresters, Fire Department, Slavish Society, and floats.

A communication was received last night from J. E. Tetlow, offering to replace the short flag pole at Washington Park with a sixty-foot one, providing the committee would furnish the cement to be used in its construction. This will be done and the flag raising ceremony will probably be conducted on the Fourth.

The matter of renting a merry-go-around for the week of July 4 was also discussed and the committee was given power to act in the matter.

CLAN MACKENZIE PICNIC AT WESTFIELD

Clan Mackenzie, Order Scottish Clans, at its meeting, last night, decided to hold its picnic and Scottish games at Westfield on July 4, and the members will be accompanied by the members of Craigalea Lodge, Daughters of Scotia. It will be an all-day outing. The picnic grounds are located on Grove street, near the old camp site.

William J. Campbell was initiated into the clan, last night, and the members decided to go to Newark, Saturday and participate in a patriotic gathering of clans. There will be a parade to be followed with exercises at Krueger's Auditorium.

COMMISSIONERS BUSY STUDYING LATEST DECREE

Washington, June 23.—It was learned unofficially that the Interstate Commerce Commission is not expected to announce the decision in the five per cent. rate case today. Members of the commission are busy studying the decree of the Supreme Court of yesterday in the Inter-Mountain ratte case wherein it was held legal for the commission to make blanket rates. It is believed that under that decree the commission has power to grant the railroad a horizontal increase in rates should such a step be warranted.

Judge and Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield, of East Second street, are sojourning at Keansburg, where they have leased a cottage for the summer.

EGGS TAKE A FALL BUT NOT IN PRICE

William Heath Does Some Scrambling on Front St. This Afternoon.

There was considerable excitement for a few minutes this afternoon when William Heath, playing the traditional role of "Humpty Dumpty," and a crate of fresh eggs, emerged from a buggy at Park avenue and Front street. A spirited horse which Heath, who hails from Scotch Plains, was driving along the main street, shied at a small automobile, becoming unmanageable.

The animal took the light vehicle in a zig-zag fashion down the thoroughfare, the result being a collision with a heavy ice wagon. This put an end to further progress and pitched Heath to the road bed. A crate of eggs which he was taking to market in the buggy, preceded him to the pavement and Heath landed with teriffic force on the consignment of shelled beauties.

Heath's weight sent him crashing through the thirty-six dozen shells and 432 eggs started roiling in all directions along the avenue. When he emerged from the mess Heath was covered from head to foot with scrambled eggs and presented the appearance of a human omelet. Leaving the horse and vehicle standing in the middle of the road the victim beat a hasty retreat to a nearby hotel carrying with him a supply of yokes and whites in his pockets and trouser cuffs.

In the collision the wagon was badly damaged and Heath narrowly escaped serious injury. In falling from the vehicle he landed in the path of two heavy horses which had been used in drawing the ice wagon but had presence of mind enough to roll out of their way.

RECOGNITION OF VILLA CONSIDERED

Mediation Plans in the Meantime Are at a Standstill.

Clifton Hotel, Niagara Falls, Ont., June 23—The apparent recognition by the administration of Villa over Carranza, in the invitation to the rebel warrior to send representatives to Niagara Falls without an armistic and the proposed recess of the A B C mediators was considered here today either to mark the end of mediation or to forecast its new beginning on an entirely different line. Pending the arrival of the rebel delegates, mediation was mainly at a standstill. It was deemed unlikely that the mediators would hold further formal sessions until the Huerta and Carranza delegates have had a chance to get together.

Belief was strong in some quarters that mediation was near its end. The A B C envoys will not admit the rebel delegates, who are coming at the invitation of the United States, unless they agree to an armistice.

Villa, who is sending the delegates to Washington and thence to Niagara Falls, has not agreed to an armistice. Should the Huerta and Villa delegates fail to arrange a recess of hostilities, then of course the mediators would not have to receive the rebels, as there would be no cause for the resumption of the formal sessions.

Meanwhile the mediators contemplated an indefinite recess during which they would leave Niagara Falls. Details of the plan were expected to be perfected today.

CHIEF MARSHAL MOHAN SOUNDS WARNING NOTE

Chief Marshal Mohan, of Dunellen, has decided that any person who in the future yells "fire" in the neighborhood of any public gathering in the borough, when there is no occasion for it, will be summarily dealt with. The marshal has discovered the boy who almost caused a panic in the First Presbyterian church, last Tuesday night, during the closing exercises of the public school, and had a heart-to-heart talk with him. Similar excuses of thoughtlessness will not go in the future, says Mr. Mohan.

WHO FOUND THE POLE?

Wahsington, June 23.—The question of who discovered the North Pole was put up to Congress today by Representative Charles A. Smith, of Buffalo, N. Y. Representative Smith offered a resolution in which he declared the question of the priority of Dr. Cook and Admiral Peary in the matter has never been officially determined; and asks that the Secretary of the Navy shall report the findings of his department in the matter.

APPROVE BONDS.

The State Board of Public Utilities Commissioners has granted the application of the Bound Brook Water Company for the approval of a mortgage of $50,000 given by it to the New Brunswick Trust Company. The State Board also approved an issue of $50,000 in bonds by the same company, the proceeds to be used for the extension and improvements to its plants.

WILLIAM L. SAUNDERS ON STATE COMMITTEE

During a meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce held in Newark last night, William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, was placed on the executive committee which was announced at the close of the session. Frank A. Vanderlip, and former Governor Woodruff, of Connecticut were speakers.

The report of the trustees was unanimously indorsed and it creates a department to combat such forces as oppose that which is best for the industries of the people of this State. Together with the borough man on the committee are thirteen others, representing each Congressional District.

CLOSING RECITAL FOR PUPILS OF MISS DAY

As a closing to the season's work, Miss Irene Day entertained her piano pupils at her studio in the Babcock building yesterday. A social hour of games and musical selections was held. The prizes for regularity in lessons were won by Miss Edna Day and Harold McKay, first, and Miss Helen Day and Miss Anna Zink, second.

For the best improvement in work Miss Dora Whitford was first and Le Roy Walters, second. Miss Pierce won the four months' best practice record prize. For the yearly practice record the following were named: Evelyn Dice, Lillian Johnson, Ruth Noble, Anna Zink, Helen Day and Miss Pierce. Ruth Noble and Lillian Johnson won the best rendition of the competition solos.

German Valley. and Chester

There are many cases of measles among the children of German Valley.

John Nunn has purchased the Ader property in Railroad avenue, German Valley.

Those recently graduated from the German Valley High School were Lillian W. Down, Ella H. Fisher, Esther A. Pfeiffer, Gladys M. Stephens, Beatrice V. Smith and Hilda B. Ward. Harry A. Coursen has been retained as principal for the coming year.

Miss Lizzie Keller, of Whippany, and Miss Edna M. Keller, of Troy Hills, are spending the summer with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Keller, of Chester.

The Chester carnival committee has started arrangements for next year's carnival.

Mrs. David N. Smith, of Chester, is on a visit to Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Sawtelle, of Binghamton, N. Y.

Mrs. William Amerman, of Morristown, is with Mr. and Mrs. William Barker, of Chester.

Mr. and Mrs. George Femley, of Plainfield, were week-end guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Seals, at Farmersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gray came from Newark Friday by auto and were over-Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Flomerfelt, at Lower Valley.

Samuel H. Sliker has been appointed administrator of the estate of Charity Hoffman, of Lebanon Township. Her personal property will be sold at public sale.

Miss Ethel Flomerfelt, formerly of Newark, has resigned her position with the Taylor-Wharton Steel and Iron Company at High Bridge.

Miss Jennie Potter, of Nebraska, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Exton, near High Bridge.

Rev. Howard Ferbank, pastor of the Annandale Reformed church, will deliver an address Thursday on "Kentucky Work Then and Now" at the June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the High Bridge Reformed Society.

TO MODIFY DANCE.

Albany, June 23—In an attempt to eliminate or modify the modern steps of the tango, hesitation and similar dances, the New York Society of Teachers of Dancing has been incorporated with the secrtary of State. The incorporators are Miss Flora Voorhees, Roderick C. Grant, T. George Dodworth and Louis H. Chalif, all of New York city. They declare the objects of the society to be the "improvement and standarization of all ballroom dances."

THE DAILY PRESS IN DUNELLEN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by Edward Pennock, druggist and newsdealer.

WHAT ONE CAN DO ON JULY 4

Details of City Ordinance Covering Independence Day Celebration.

With the approach of July 4, many inquiries have been made as to how far one might go in the discharge of fireworks on that day, as there are many contrary opinions concerning the local ordinances covering this matter: Councilman Francis J. Blatz, last year introduced an ordinance, the provision of which are noted below.

Section one of this ordinance prohibits the fire or discharge of any cannon, toy pistol, revolver, or firearm, except those pistols used in the discharge of caps.

Fireworks which may be used within the city limits provided are covered by section three as follows:

Sec. 3. No person or corporation shall within the limits of the City of Plainfield fire or discharge any fire cracker, torpedo, or fire works of any description except that Roman Candles, not over fifteen balls, Mines not over fifteen inches in length, Triangles not over twelve inches, Colored fires, fire crackers not over two and one-half inches in length and not over one-half inch in diameter, and torpedoes not over three-quarters of an inch in diameter, may be set off and discharged upon private property on the fourtth day of July in any year, unless said day happens to be Sunday, and in such event, then on the fifth day of July, between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning and 12 o'clock midnight but at no other time.

According to section two of this ordinance, no fireworks of any description can be used without a permit of the Mayor. Section four provides that balloons or other toy containing a lighted torch or other burning material shall be strictly prohibited. Section five provides that no fire works except those specified in section three shall be exposed for sale except as the Mayor shall grant a permit for the use of fireworks not therein specified. Section six provides severe penalties for those who violates the provisions of the ordinance.

Editor Plainfield Daily News:—

Will you permit this means of correcting an absuritdy which appears in the anti-suffrage column of the 20th inst. as it takes from the meaning all the sense.

In the sentence stating that American suffragists "threaten to ruin the careers of all public men who fail to adopt Woman Suffrage," the word policemen is used.

NEEDLEWORK

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

A very effective and easy way to fill a large space is with the use of French knots. These may be placed closely together to form a solid mass, or scattered loosely over the surface. The conventional figures, illustrated on this between-meals-mat, may be outlines and then filled in with French knots. There are 6 of these motifs in pattern 14288, each 10 by 7½ inches. They may be arranged in any way desired and are suitable for use on between-meals-mats, pillows, runners and parasols. Darning stitch, which is still easier to do and quite as effective, may be substituted for the French knots, or, if desired, Kensington stitch may be used.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price, 15 cents.

HAND EMBROIDERY WOMAN'S GREATEST ACCOMPLISHMENT

Those who would embroider should have several corks of various sizes in their workbags; they are useful for many purposes.

A pretty idea is to crochet with silk over several corks, attach them to baby ribbon of different lengths, stick the hook, the scissors, the piercer and the needles in them.

Following are a few "Donts" which the wouldbe fancy worker in general may find helpful:

First—Don't forget to sit up straight; hold the work up; never bend down to it; and

Don't allow light to shine in the eyes when sewing, reading or embroidering.

Don't work for hours at a time on fine embroidery; it is nerve-trying as well as nerve-tiring.

Don't work roughly or try to hurry.

Don't be impatient over embroidery, it never pays; be like our faithful friend, the tortoise—"slow, but sure."

Don't use sewing needles for embroidery, but buy the proper kind, which come in all sizes for the purpose.

Don't knot the cotton or silk; that causes lumps and makes poor, amateurish work; start and finish with a buttonhole stitch or two.

Don't work unless your hands are perfectly dry and clean; soiled work of any kind is an abomination, even if it will wash.

The beginner will find a storehouse of information contained in the lesson sheets given with the Imperial Embroidery Outfit, by the Daily Press. This is the new Embroidery Transfer Pattern Outfit, which is being advertised elsewhere and distributed to our readers practically free.

Every one who does embroidery should avail themselves of this great offer.

THE DAILY PRESS IN LINCOLN will be found on sale or delivered to any address every afternoon by E. Purvis newsdealer.

STRAWBERRIES IN ICES.

DINNER MENU.
Cream of Asparagus Soup.
Roast Shoulder of Veal.
Riced Potatoes.
Scalloped Tomatoes.
Lettuce Salad.
Strawberry Parfait.
Coffee.

STRAWBERRIES served in the form of ices are nice desserts for summer entertainments or provide a delicious finish for dinner or tea.

Strawberry Parfait.—Take a quart of rich cream, whip to a froth, add half a pint of strawberry juice and a cupful of sugar. Turn carefully into an ice cream mold, put on the lid tightly, pack in salt and ice and let freeze three hours.

With Gelatin and Cream.

Strawberry Bavarian Cream.—Take half a box of gelatin, cover with a teacupful of cold water and let it soak for twenty minutes. Mash a quart of ripe strawberries and press through a sieve. Add a cupful of sugar to the juice. Stir the gelatin over boiling water until dissolved, strain it into the strawberry juice, set on ice and stir until it thickens. Add a pint of whipped cream, mix gently, pour into a mold and set in a cool place to harden.

Handsomely Decorated.

Strawberry Mousse.—Take two cupfuls of heavy cream, three-quarters of a cupful of powdered sugar, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, a cupful of strawberry juice and sifted pulp and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Add lemon juice and sugar to the strawberries. Beat the cream, whipping the strawberry juice in slowly. When all is in, turn into a mold wet in cold water, set cover in place, seal with a strip of cloth smeared on with lard and bury in equal quantities of ice and salt for four hours. Unmold and serve with chilled whipped cream, and garnish with whole berries. If the berries are very tart add more sugar.

Dried Cake an Ingredient.

Strawberry Macaroon Ice.—To one and a half cupfuls of fresh strawberry juice add half a cupful of cold water, the juice of a lemon and a little salt and sugar to taste. Turn into an oblong mold. Dilute half a pint of heavy cream with a third of a cupful of milk and beat until stiff. Add a third of a cupful of powdered sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of macaroons, dried and pounded, half a teaspoonful of vanilla and a few grains of salt. Pour on to the strawberry mixture to overflow the mold, cover with buttered paper, then with the tin cover. Pack in equal parts of ice and salt and let stand three hours.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Butterfly Who Loved Seeing the Sun.

Off It Flew Into the Warm Sun's Rays.

DADDY had seen a little boy that day who had told him how he collected cocoons and chrysalides and watched them grow into beautiful butterflies.

"How would you like to hear about a butterfly who was delighted to see the sun?" asked daddy.

"We would love to hear the story," quickly responded Evelyn.

"But, daddy," said Jack, "don't butterflies always love the sun?"

"I presume they do. Certainly they always seem to love it, but this butterfly was unusually pleased. He was seeing the sun for the first time.

"I saw a little boy today named Robert who has a collection of cocoons. He keeps them on little twigs in a great big box punched full of holes.

"Then he waits to see them come out. After they have come out he never kills them or tries to keep them, for he thinks that is dreadfully cruel. He knows well that they love to see the sun and be out in the fresh air among the flowers, and he wouldn't deprive them of all that pleasure for anything.

"But one day about a week ago out from a cocoon came the most beautiful pale blue butterfly Robert had ever seen.

"He at once took it out of the box, and off it flew into the warm sun's rays and lighted upon a small bush which was covered with plum blossoms.

"And Robert said that it was so much more fun to see these lovely butterflies happy over their entrance into the world than to see them cruelly cooped up or without any life.

"Before long the insect had spied some other butterflies and had evidently made them as enthusiastic as it was, for a large number of butterflies hovered around the plum bush, and it seemed to be the leader of them all. The butterfly was so happy with the plum blossoms, the birds singing and the warm sun pouring down on the nodding flowers that it had to have some little companions to share its happiness with.

"Robert said he could not understand how any boy would rather see a butterfly die than to see it alive and enjoying life.

"The butterfly acted as if it thought, 'Well, this may be my first party, but it certainly won't be my last.'

"The other butterflies acted just as if they thought the same way about it, as they had only been out in the world for a very short time.

"But you can just imagine how fine it is for the butterflies to wake up and to have all the parties they can have in the different sweet buds and flowers. And the flowers bob about as if they liked parties too."

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

This is an excellent model for wash materials, linen, duck, cotton eponge, ratine or one of the new striped or checked novelties. In making up a wash skirt of this description one must be careful to see that the material is properly shrunken, otherwise the skirt will have entirely lost its lines after the first washing.

Black and white striped ratine and various checked designs are perhaps a bit more popular than plain white, but anyone who makes a practice of wearing pure white through the summer, especially when the skirts are made up in these rough finished cottons will appreciate the coolness and economy of the fad. Both mixtures and plain white are wide averaging 42 inches; in price this ranges about 75 cents and up.

This skirt (8327) is a three-gored model with suggestions of fullness at the top, laid in soft plaits; there is a stitched belt of the material which may be used or not as preferred. For size 24, 2⅝ yards of 42-inch material is needed. Pattern comes in five sizes, 22 to 30.

Be sure to give the right size, passing the tape tightly around the smallest part of the waist and loosely around the widest part of the hips, for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful— all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

RIVER MURDER STILL REMAINS A MYSTERY

Police Unable to Identify Girl's Body.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 23.—After a diligent search the river drags have failed to recover the remaining portions of the woman's body found in the Mohawk below this city on Saturday morning by fishermen.

The lower portion of the torso is still unidentified, and the police discredit all clews. The officers are busy trying to solve the mystery, but so far nothing of importance has developed. The pieces of apparel, the sack, oilcloth and ropes with which the lower portion of the body was wrapped, have failed to offer a solution.

No other portions of the body have been found, although it seems certain that they are in the river near where the discovery was made.

A number of reports of missing girls have been traced down, and in each case the missing were found. The police are as much puzzled as ever.

In addition to the dragging, it was reported that the authorities might employ divers to assist in the task of finding the other parts of the body. There was also some talk of offering a reward in the case.

Similarly unfruitful as has been the grappling for the missing parts was the hunt for a store in which red oilcloth like the peculiarly figured piece wrapped around the body is on sale.

The police have one other clew which so far, however, has not developed into anything tangible. A party of barge canal engineers reported that they saw a disheveled man loitering in the bushes on the river bank near Shear's Ferry on the night of May 30. This was about a mile below the point where the torso was found.

ANNUAL SESSION OF ENGINEERING SOCIETY

President Hibben Delivers Address of Welcome to Engineers and Professors.

Princeton, June 23—The Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education opened its twenty-second annual session on the Princeton University campus this afternoon. President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton, delivered an address of welcome to an audience that included well-known engineers and professors of engineering from all parts of the country. Dean Gardner C. Anthony, of Tufts College, responded for the society.

The hours today were taken up largely with reports of the officers and standing committees. In the late afternoon President and Mrs. Hibben tendered a reception to the visitors at "Prospect," the Princeton University mansion. Tonight an informal smoker will be given at the Nassau Club.

Governor James F. Fielder will open tomorrow's meetings with an address. Numerous addresses will be given during the day including one on "The Financial Department of a School or University," by T. H. B. McKnight, treasurer of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh. Other speakers for tomorrow are Dr. C. R. Mann, University of Chicago; Prof. L. M. Passano, Massachusetts Institue of Technology, and Dean W. F. Magie, of Princeton.

BORO WILL ERECT A NEW SCHOOL

Voters Authorized Expenditure of $2,500 for Lot and $27,000 for Building.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

Many Attend District School Meeting—Four Propositions Are Carried by Large Majorities—Women Among the Voters.

Considerable interest was manifested in the special district school meeting held in the North Plainfield High School, last night, seventy-three ballots being cast at the election for the four propositions. All of them were carried by overwhelming majorities, including the endorsement of the voters for the purchase of a lot for the erection of the new graded school on Harrison avenue. Much discussion arose during the evening regarding the feasibility of purchasing a piece of ground so far out, but following satisfactory explanations as to why the particular section was selected by the Board of Education the project received fifty-seven votes out of a possible seventy-three.

The special school tax amounting to $27,085 was also passed. This is divided as follows: For current expenses, $23,900; for repairs, $1,500, and for manual training, $1,685. But one vote was cast opposing the above proposition.

Seventy votes were cast in favor of authorizing the Board of Education to purchase and cancel $9,000 worth of promissory notes of the District of North Plainfield, now outstanding and unpaid, issued October 1, 1913. For the purpose of securing money needed to cancel these notes the Board has been authorized to issue eighteen bonds of the district in the denomination of $500 each. Eight bonds will be for twelve years and ten bonds for thirteen years.

The district voters gave the board authority to expend not more than $11,000 to remodel and repair the Somerset School building and to purchase furniture and other necessary equipment. For this purpose twenty-two bonds of the district will be issued in the denomination of $500 each. Twelve of these bonds will be for fourteen years and ten for fifteen years.

The lot on Harrison avenue will not exceed in cost $2,500 and the board will erect a school house, the cost of building and furnishing not to exceed $27,500. Sixty bonds of the District will be issued to meet this expense in the denomination of $500 each. Twelve of the bonds will be for sixteen years, twelve for seventeen years, twelve for eighteen years, twelve for nineteen years and twelve for twenty years.

Women were prominent among the voters at the election last night and a number of feminine ballots were cast. Dr. Justus H. Cooley, president of the North Plainfield Board of Education, presided at the meeting, and the tellers were Allen B. Laing and A. C. Pleydell.

GOVERNOR, IT IS SAID, FAILED TO GET PAPERS

William de LaR. Anderson, chairman of the North Plainfield Township Committee, went to Trenton, yesterday, to call on Governor Fielder regarding the matter in dispute in which certain acts of the Somerset County Board of Taxation have been questioned, and greatly to his surprise as well as that of the Governor, he was informed by the latter that the State executive had not received the papers in the case which Mr. Anderson said he had forwarded to Trenton.

Inquiry revealed the fact that someone had signed for the papers when they reached Trenton, but who that person was it was impossible to ascertain, yesterday. The Governor, however, told Mr. Anderson that a prompt and thorough investigation would be made with a view to ascertaining who received the papers and why they did not reach his as intended.

The papers, according to Mr. Anderson, review the acts of the Board of Taxation in the matter of the assessment of the Mt. St. Mary College property, it being the aim of the Township Committee to have the county Board impeached, alleging violation of the law.

STONNINGTON TO CELEBRATE.

Many Plainfielders will be interested in the approaching celebration to be held at Stonnington, Conn., August 10, in honor of the founding of the place in 1614 when Captain Adrian Block settled there, and a number are planning to go to Stonnington on that day.

MAKES APPLICATION FOR STATE'S PARDON

James Springs Wants Long Sentence in State's Prison Set Aside.

James Springs, colored, who was sentenced on February 21, 1912, for murderously assaulting Michael Weber, of West Third street, and to serve a term of from seven and a half to fifteen years in State Prison at hard labor, has made application to the State Board of Pardons for a release. His application was referred to Chief Kiely, of the local police force, with a request for a recommendation in the matter. Chief Kiely has been asked to furnish the man's record previous to this offense and opinion on the matter. He formerly served time in Rahway Reformatory for forgery.

Springs assaulted the West Third street butcher while the latter was returning to his home, February 14, 1912. The crime was committed late on Saturday night, Weber having been known to carry large sums of money from his place of business after closing. He was arraigned before and sentenced by the late Judge Edward S. Atwater in the Union County Court.

In imposing the sentence the court stated that the term would give Springs an opportunity to pay the costs of court and also pay back to Weber every penny he took from him on the night he committed the assault. Weber has since died. It is said that the prisoner is suffering from tuberculosis and the action in his behalf has been taken by relatives.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT SEEKS CO-OPERATION

Housekeepers Asked to Buy From Those Who Protect Foodstuff.

The Board of Health is now actively engaged in an effort to protect food products from contamination, and with a view to enforcing the State law covering the production, storage, sale and distribution of food, inspection has been made of all stores, markets, bakeries, fruit stands, etc. The work will be continued vigorously and if necessary offenders will be taken into court for prosecution.

The Board seeks the co-operation of housekeepers, who can materially aid the health department in this work by refusing to buy from those who are not complying strictly with the law. The health officer in commenting on this work, says:

"As a means of preventing sickness, the matter of protecting our food supplies from contamination from the filthy fly and the street dirt and dust, cannot be too strongly emphasized. It is definitely known that some of our most serious diseases, such as tuberculosis, typhoid fever and dysentery are transmitted by flies and it is probable that many more diseases are spread in the same manner. The street dust is laden with countless germs and if it is allowed to settle on the food you eat, it may mean sickness and an economic loss. 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure'."

The provisions of the law as regards the protection of foodstuffs are as follows:

Rule 1.—Fruits, vegetables, meats and other food products shall not be displayed or exposed on the sidewalk, or outside of places of business, unless such foods are securely covered by cases of glass, wood or metal, or unless they are enclosed in tight barrels, bags or boxes. Provided, however, that this rule shall not apply to fruits or vegetables which must necessarily be peeled before use, but such foods, when displayed outdoors, must be supported on platforms at least eighteen inches above the surface of the sidewalk or ground.

Rule 2.—Prepared foodstuffs, such as bakers' goods, confectionery, shelled nuts, etc.; dried fruits, such as dates, figs, peaches, prunes, apricots, etc.; cereal products, such as tapioca, breakfast foods, etc.; pickled products, such as pickles, chili sauce, etc.; fruit products, such as apple butter, jellies, jams, etc.; meat products, such as dried, salted or smoked fish, veal loaf, pickled pigs' feet, chipped beef, boiled ham, mincemeat or other foods prepared for eating, or subject to the attacks of worms or flies, shall not be displayed for sale unless protected from flies, dust and dirt and all other foreign and injurious contamination by suitable coverings of glass, wood or metal.

POLICE INSTRUCTED TO ENFORCE THE LAW

Chief Kiely is Planning for a "Safe and Sane" Fourth of July.

Chief Kiley, of the local police force, today issued his annual warning to American patriots regarding the observance of Fourth of July in this city and those who disregard the regulations will be hailed before the city judge and dealt with as the law provides. The local department head is planning to make this the "sanest and safest" Independence Day in the history of the city and juvenile celebrants will have to go outside of the city's limits in order to give full vent to their patriotism.

An ordinance tried out for the first time last year will be in force this year and each member of the local police force has been supplied with copies of the regulations with instructions to see that they are complied with to the letter. The law prohibits the discharge of fire crackers, torpedoes, or fireworks of any description except that Roman candles, not over fifteen balls, Mines not over fifteen inches in length, triangles not over twelve inches, colored fires, firecrackers, not over two and one-half inches in length and not over one-half inch in diameter; and torpedoes not over three-quarters of an inch in diameter, may be set off and discharged on private property.

The demonstrations will be restricted to the hours intervening between six o'clock in the morning and 12 o'clock midnight. The penalty for violation of these regulations is a fine of $20 and dealers selling any of the articles upon which there is a ban will be subject to a fine of $100 for each offense.

C. R. R. FERRYBOAT IN A RIVER CRASH

Two Persons Injured When Red Bank Collides in Fog With Taurus.

With 1,200 passengers aboard, the Red Bank, a ferryboat belonging to the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which connected with the 6:55 train from Plainfield this morning, collided with the fishing steamer Taurus of the Iron Steamboat Company, in the Hudson River, at 7:45. Meeting the Plainfield train at the Jersey City docks at 7:44 the boat ran into one of the thickest fogs that New York has known for some time en rute to the Liberty street landing.

Two persons on the Red Bank were injured, but before they could be treated they had disappeared in the crowd.

The Taurus with Captain W. D. Allen in command was proceeding slowly down the North river under slow bell and keeping a sharp watch out for other river craft. He said the fog was so thick that he could not see the bow of his ship. When opposite the foot of Liberty street the Red Bank loomed out of the fog and side-swiped the Taurus.

Captain Allen having in mind the recent Empress of Ireland disaster endeavored to hold the bow of his ship against the ferry boat. With the noise of the clash the screams of the passengers rose over the noise of the other river craft.

The Red Bank put into the Liberty street slip and landed her badly scared passengers who quickly disappeared. The Taurus with her bows stove in continued on her awy to Pier 1. The Taurus carried no passengers.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE WILL ACT ON BUS ORDINANCE

Councilman R. A. Claybrook, chairman of the public affairs committee, has extended an invitation to the Board of Trade, though its president, William Jeffrey, to have a representation at the meeting to be held in the city building on North avenue tomorrow night for the discussion of the proposed auto bus ordinance.

When seen this morning by a Dialy Press reporter, Mr. Jeffrey stated that he would accept the opportunity to have a voice in the matter providing he could obtain certain information regarding the proposition that has not been made clear in previous reports. The Board of Trade, as a body, is opposed to any action which will restrict the streets on which the vehicles plying between here and South Plainfield should be run and it is understood that the delegation at tomorrow night's session will protest against the adoption of such an ordinance.

FINALS REACHED IN JUNIOR MEET

Phillip Carter and Vincent Hilton Will Meet This Afternoon.

CARTER STILL FAVORED

Apawamis Youth Looked Upon as Master of Hilton Who Proved a Sensation on the Links This Morning—Local Boys do Well.

Some unusual golfing on the part of Vincent Hilton, of Hackensack, one of the entrants in the Metropolitan junior tournament, featured the morning competition at the Plainfield Country Club today. The Hackensack youth displayed rare form throughout his match with J. W. Stafford, a clubmate, and Edward Nash, of Apawamis, and through his good work raised himself to the final round which he will play this afternoon with Phillip Carter, last year's champion. Although Carter still rules a favorite, experts who witnessed the work of Hilton this morning, predict a hard fight for the title. During the morning competition he was master of the situation at all times and his work brought forth much favorable comment on all sides. With Nash as his opponent he was forced to extend himself to the limit in returning a card of 2 up and 1 to play, but demonstrated his ability to come to the fore in a pinch.

At the end of the thirteenth hole Nash and Hilton were battling on even terms, but on the fourteenth hole the former lost his ball in a rut. The fifteenth was halved and Hilton took the sixteenth. The seventeenth was halved.

Phillip Carter, of Nassau, the ruling favorite, defeated Osborn Lawes, of Upper Montclair, 5 up and 4 to play. Carter displayed his same cunning that has been characteristic of his playing in the other matches and apparently has not extended himself to the limit up to the present time.

In the first round of match play, yesterday afternoon, Maxwell and Carter were, unfortunately, drawn against each other. It must be said that Maxwell's putting gave Carter a jolt. They were square on the fourth and at the turn Carter was but 1 up. Maxwell lost the tenth, but squared

ARGUMENT HEARD ON QUESTION OF ALIMONY

Vice-Chancellor Stevens Reserves Decision in Application for Allowance.

Newark, June 24.—Final argument on the question of a temporary alimony allowance for Mrs. Frances Sparks Hood was heard before Vice-Chancellor Stevens here, today, and after considerable time was taken up by counsel for both sides, decision reserved. The question of permanent alimony will not be decided until after the suit to determine the ownership of the Hood property on Stelle avenue is determined, which may not be for two or three months.

Chauncey G. Parker, of counsel for Mr. Hood argued against the allowance of temporary alimony, inasmuch as she has been able to provide for herself during her separation from Mr. Hood. Robert H. McCarter, of counsel for Mrs. Hood ridiculed the contentions of opposing counsel. He brought out the point that as the property is now left Mrs. Hood is obliged to live there, she cannot even rent it and derive any income and that she is rightfully entitled to temporary alimony. Both Mrs. Hood and her mother were in court. Mr. Hood was not present.

SYNDICATE DISSOLVED.

New York, June 24—The syndicate which was organized by Kuhn-Loeb and Company, for the purpose of underwriting the $30,000,000 of stock of the Western Union Telegraph Company, sold by the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, has been dissolved by limitation. A large amount of the $16,000,000 which was taken by the syndicate has already been disposed of so that participants receive only a small amount of their subscriptions.

REUNION OF SISTERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edgar, of Boston, reached Plainfield, yesterday, in their automobile, meeting Mrs. Edgar's sisters, Mrs. H. S. Potter, of El Paso, Texas, and Mrs. Dayton, of New Haven, who happened to be visiting here. Mrs. Edgar was formerly Miss Kate Potter. Mrs. Edgar and Mrs. Dayton will remain here for a few days. Mr. Edgar is a road engineer and travels extensively.

PEACE DISTURBER MADE DEFENDANT

Newarker Who Woke up Dunellen Will Have to Appear in Supreme Court.

Suit has been started by Joseph Fleese, of Dunellen, in the New Jersey Supreme Court, against James F. McMurray, of Goble street, Newark, to recover damages for injuries sustained when he was hit by an automobile driven by the defendant in Dunellen, June 16. The complaint has been filed by Robert Newton Crane, counsel for Fleese, and alleges that the accident was due to negligence on the part of the Newark man in operating the car. Fleese demands $1,000 damages.

The incident in question occurred Tuesday evening of last week when McMurray drove his automobile into Dunellen while in an alleged intoxicated condition. The machine was caught in the car tracks near the Taylor Hotel and the owner and two friends were thrown to the ground, sustaining only slight injuries. While trying to right the overturned machine the occupants attracted no little amount of attention from the village populace and protests were lodged against McMurray taking the wheel again, it being alleged that he was in no condition to drive a car.

He protested against his would-be benefactors interfering and while they had turned their backs, it is said, leaped into the car and threw in the clutch. The vehicle started off suddenly knocking down and painfully injuring Mr. and Mrs. Fleese, who were standing on the curb waiting for a trolley car. McMurray was later arrested and is now out on bonds of $500 to appear before the Middlesex County Grand Jury. He spent Tuesday night in the Dunellen lockup after the fracas that aroused the entire village.

RENDERED BLIND IN FALL FROM FACTORY

Carl Ulmer, of West Third St., Has Small Chances of Recovery from Accident.

While working on a high tension electric wire running over the top of the Johns Manville plant Manville, last Friday afternoon, Carl Ulmer, of West Third street and Monroe avenue, was knocked from the platform on which he was working to the ground sixteen feet below, sustaining injuries that are likely to prove fatal. The victim landed on his head and was removed in an unconscious condition to the Somerset Hospital in Somerville, where he was found to be suffering from concussion of the brain and internal hurts.

He has been confined to that institution since the accident and slight hopes have been entertained for his recovery. Since regaining consciousness he has been blind in both eyes and the affliction is considered to be a permanent one.

Ulmer is well known in this city where he has lived all his life. He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ulmer, of East Second street, and married Miss Florence Utzinger, of North Plainfield, two years ago. He has been employed at the plant near Finderne as an electrician for some time, having been formerly an employe of Allen B. Laing in this city.

MRS. JOHN MORROW, AGED 65, PASSES AWAY

Mrs. John Morrow, aged sixty-five years, died this morning at the home of her son-in-law, Dr. C. A. Gesswein, 102 Central avenue, following an illness of about a year. She came from her home in Hamilton, Ohio, last February, thinking that the change would prove beneficial. Complications developed and recently there was a turn for the worse.

Mrs. Morrow was born in the central part of Pennsylvania, and after her marriage removed to Hamilton, where she spent the greater part of her life. She was a member of the Presbyterian church of Hamilton and a devoted Christian. She is survived by her husband and several grown children including Mrs. C. A. Gesswein.

The remains will be taken to Hamilton tomorrow, and the funeral and burial will be in that city on Saturday.

OPERATION SUCCESSFUL.

Miss Florence Harrison, daughter of J. W. Harrison, of New street, underwent an operation a few days ago at her home. Miss Harrison is now doing nicely.

ALLEGED BIGAMIST'S WIFE A LOCAL GIRL

James P. Riley Married Miss Abbie Louise Miller, of North Avenue.

James P. Riley, an alleged bigamist, was arraigned before Judge Mahon in the Elizabeth police court yesterday and held in $1,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. According to the charge lodged against him, Riley married Miss Abbie Louise Miller, of 211 North avenue, in this city, while he was the husband of Ada Hobson, of 138 Spruce street, Paterson.

He was arrested by Detective Sergeant Ward, of Elizabeth, and in default of bonds will be committed to the Union county jail until the next term of court. Questioned by the police Riley gave his age as 31 years, but denies the charge made against him. Arraigned in court he entered a plea of not guilty. The Miller girl, who was formerly a clerk in this city, looks to be not over sixteen years of age and has been living since the marriage with Riley in a boarding house at 345 Morris avenue, Elizabeth.

It is alleged he was married to the Hobson woman in Paterson on January 30 last. Mrs. Riley, the former Plainfield girl, yesterday afternoon refused to make any statement about the affair. She has been Riley's wife, she says, for some time and if there is another woman sharing his affections, she does not know it. Living with them in the Elizabeth house are Mrs. Miller's mother and Riley's mother.

FIRST GROUP READY FOR Y. M. C. A. CAMP

Delegation Consisting of Fifteen Boys and Four Leaders Leaves Tomorrow.

Fifteen boys and three leaders will compose the local Y. M. C. A. party which will leave tomorrow morning for the State camp at Lake Wawayanda. This is one of the largest delegations that has ever represented the local association and there are others who will go for the remaining sections. Most of those who will leave tomorrow will return home after the first two weeks but some will extend their vacations for a month. The leaders who will have charge of the first delegation are A. W. Hauch, of Plainfield High School; William Brehmer, instructor in the University of Pennsylvania and Carroll Taylor, of the borough. Charles H. Line, formerly of this city and H. W. Welle, of the local association, will also be at camp during the first section. C. W. Bingeman, boy's secretary, will go the latter part of next week and remain there for the second section.

The camp is on an island in the middle of Lake Wawayanda and is an ideal place for out-of-door living. Better boating and swimming could not be found and the camp conducts several exploration trips every section. The following boys will leave tomorrow, Kenneth Stover, Bonsel Stover, Witter Clawson, Harold Nielson, William Marreli, Lindsey Bohl, Lewis Zeek, Charles Gates, Duncan Taylor, Roy Hafner, William Ross, Lewis Moore, John Durocher, Wesley Johnson and Hayward Erickson.

WANT A SUB POSTAL STATION AT WATCHUNG AVE.

Petitions are being circulated to be presented to Postmaster Alvin E. Hoagland, when he assumes the duties of office asking that a postal substation be established at William Pratt's drug store on Watchung avenue. The petition sets forth that the signers are of the opinion that there is a growing need for a station at that place. There are now more than seventy-five names on the petitions.

For some time there was a substation in a stationery store conducted by James C. Field, Jr., on Park avenue, and it received generous patronage, being a great convenience to people living in that section. It has always been the opinion that there should be a station in that vicinity and those interested in the matter believe that Mr. Pratt's drug store is even a better location, being more accessible to a greater number of people than when it was established on Park avenue. When Mr. Hoagland receives the petitions he will forward them to Washington for a decision.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS DECISION

W. L. Hetfield, Jr., Wins Notable Victory in Mechanics' Lien Action.

OTHER SUITS LIKELY

Higher Court Holds That Owner Had no Right to Pay Money in Advance of the Terms of the Contract—Case May Be Appealed.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of the firm of Reed & Hetfield, who represented Louis C. VanNest, plaintiff, in an action against Syman Hirsch, to recover money on contract in connection with the erection of a building by the latter at Watchung avenue and Fourth street, today received a decision from the Supreme Court, signed by Justices Garrison, Trenchard and Minturn, affirming the one in the local District Court which was also in favor of Mr. VanNest.

The decision is of great importance to contractors and the building trades here, and means that in addition to Mr. VanNest being able to recover about $3,500, other creditors will be able to recover in all about $6,000. The litigation which was started sometime ago has been hard fought from the first and the latest decision is a notable victory for the plaintiff.

Originally, Mr. Hirsch gave a contract for the erection of the building at Watchung avenue and East Foutr street, to Simon Roth, the contract price being $16,000. All payments but the last one, were made when Roth left town owing many sub-contractors. It was shown that the fifth and sixth payments, about $7,000, were made in advance of the completion of the terms of the contract, and Mr. Hetfield then brought a suit in behalf of his client against Mr. Hirsch, to stop further payments.

The case was tried in the District Court, when Mr. VanNest was given a judgment for $487.70. Mr. Hirsch then took the case up on appeal, through his counsel, William Newcorn, and today's decision followed.

Mr. Hetfield's main contention was in accordance with section five of the mechanics' lien act which forbids an owner to pay any money in advance of the terms of such contract, where the amount still due to the contractor after such payment has been made shall be insufficient to satisfy the notices served in conformity with the provisions of this act, such owner or owners shall be liable in the same manner as if no payment had been made.

Following today's decision it is expected that other suits will be started to recover, although it is said that Mr. Newcorn intends to make another appeal.

ARTHUR STEBBINS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Arthur Stebbins, an employe of the Castles' Ice cream Company, of Irvington, who worked on one of that concern's auto trucks which delivered the company's goods in this city and the borough, was placed under arrest at Irvington, yesterday, on a warrant charging him with stealing goods from the drug store of Louis Z. Weiss, of Somerset street, last week. Marshall Charles Pope, of the borough police department, went to Irvington this morning to bring Stebbins to North Plainfield, where his case will be heard before Judge Thomas H. Snape.

When placed under arrest at Irvington, it is alleged that goods were found on the person of Stebbins. The articles included a number of goods which will be brought to the borough for identification. The time for the hearing has not been set as yet.

BORO COURT NOTES.

Michael Scasserrici, of Greenbrook road, was arraigned in the borough court, this morning, before Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., on the charge of riding a bicycle after dark without a light. A fine of $2 was imposed, while the defendant was given until July 4 to pay the fine.

HEALTH REPORT READY.

The report of the Plainfield Board of Health for 1913 is now ready for distribution and anyone who desires a copy may have same by applying at the office of the Board, 104 East Front street, City National Bank Building.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The strawberry festival that was to have been held on the lawn of the Baptist church, last evening, under the direction of the members of the B. Y. P. U., was held in the parlors of the church instead. There was a large number in attendance and a goodly sum was realized.

In spite of the prevailing weather conditions yesterday afternoon and evening, the strawberry festival conducted by All Saints' Guild of the Episcopal church, on the lawn of Mrs. F. W. Creesy, was a great success. The place was artistically decorated with many colored Japanese lanterns and the women of the guild acted the part of waitresses. About $25 was realized from the affair.

The Ladies' Aid Society of All Saints' Episcopal church has discontinued its meetings for the rest of the summer. The society has had one of the most successful years in its history.

It has been decided to discontinue the meetings of the Junior League Society for the rest of the summer as the greater part of the members are going away. A party of ten or more of those in the league will go to the annual convention of all the leagues at Northfield, Mass., next week in company with Miss Elizabeth Babcock, the local president.

Wright Babcock and family, of North avenue, have gone to West Barnston, Mass., where they will spend the summer.

A mid-week holy communion was observed in All Saints' Episcopal church this morning at 10:30 and was in charge of Rev. Houghton Butler.

Rev. J. Madison Hare, the new pastor of the Baptist church, will be officially installed at the morning service on Sunday, July 5.

The midweek prayer meeting of the congregation of the Baptist church will be held this evening.

A meeting of the Lincoln Social Club has been called for tomorrow night at the residence of W. G. Britton, on Terrill road. It is probable that some action will be taken as to activities on the Fourth of July.

Now that school has closed for the summer the local Boy Scouts have plenty of time on their hands and in pleasant weather take a "hike" every day, generally over the mountain, where they pick up some pointers on woodcraft.

The Fanwood township Board of Education will not meet again until just before the opening of school in the fall unless something of importance comes up necessitating the calling of a special meeting.

All of the teachers in the local schools have gone to their homes in various part of the East to spend the summer, with the exception of Miss Anne Littel, who resides in this place.

Miss Elizabeth Kyte, of Martine avenue, is on a pleasure tour of Canada extending over a period of several weeks.

The residence of E. J. Edris, on King street, the borough, will be completed next week.

The large reservoir that the Plainfield-Union Water Company has been erecting on Jerusalem road, Scotch Plains, is practically completed. It is connected with the Netherwood pumping station by a twelve-inch main and is to be used to store water from which the towns of Scotch Plains, Westfield and Garwood will draw their supply.

Realty operations are practically at a standstill in this place for the first time in four years. There is now but two houses in the course of erection in the borough and four in the township. H. C. Lockwood has been developing large tracts of land in this place, but that work is about completed.

Most of the card clubs, church societies and other local organizations have discontiued the meetings for the summer as the majority of the residents are going away.

Watchung.

The Watchung Indian Legend players organized permanently and adopted their code of by-laws, last evening. The association is auxiliary to the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society and the Watchung Chemical Engine Company. The object of the association is for the study of folk-lore and the further development and dramatizations of the Indian legends in this vicinity. It is the purpose of the players to give indoor as well as outdoor plays and the winter's program is already underway. Classes in ethnology will be formed in the fall and a thorough study of Indian customs will be made. The officers are Chairman, William de la R. Anderson; secretary, George W. Schmidt; treasurer, George Mobus; and an executive board of eight members.

The Misses Mildred and Ruth Payne, of Bayonne, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. August Wersing, Hillcrest road for several weeks.

Principal William C. McClelland, of the Watchung School, has returned t his home in Shippensburg Pa., for his vacation.

The Ladies' Auxiliary is busy planning for their strawberry and ice cream festival which they will hold tomorrow afternoon and evening in the improvement hall.

The Watchung Public School is being wired for the installation of electric lights. Charles Miles, of Plainfield, is the contractor.

Work onthe new Lincoln School is progressing rapidly, and Contractor J. Newton Apgar has commenced putting the roof on the building.

Contractor Edward Herlich has commenced wiring the garage to be run by Gustav Barfuss in the M. A. Gallagher building.

The Fourth of July celebration committee assisted by President A. F. Todd, of the Board of Education, Principal Guy H. Rentschler and the woman's advisory board of the Boy Scout Cadets, are working hard, towards the end of having the pupils of the borough schools participate in the Fourth of July parade. They fully realize that on account of the schools having closed for the summer that it is going to be a rather difficult task, but they believe that the prevailing demand that the school pupils participate in the parade they will have the assistance of the parents in the matter and are confident of success. This committee is also endeavoring to persuade the St. John's Holy Name Society to reconsider its decision of positively not participating in the parade this year. The society gave as its reason for not doing so the fact that the organization which had insulted that society by so unpariotically refusing to march behind it in last year's parade has been requested to participate in this year's parade.

Albert and George Perkins, of Center street, will go to Middletown, on Sunday, to get their motorcycles that were left there for repairs last Sunday. The machines broke down at almost identical spot. They had been to Asbury Park together with Adam Dealaman and were on the return journey when first the belt on one of the cycles broke and then the hind tire of the other blew out. They were obliged to cover the remainder of their journey by trolley, arriving back in the borough about midnight.

Thomas Beck, of Jackson avenue, who has been detained from his duties on the Central Railroad since April 2, as the result of rheumatism and tonsilitis, returned to work yesterday. The condition of his wife, who is at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, convalescing from an operation for appendicitis, is said to be satisfactory.

A good house greeted the second performance of the Boy Scout benefit week in the local theatre, last evening. After witnessing five reels of moving pictures the audience was introduced by Scout Master F. O. Spurdle to O. C. Whitney, who discussed Mexico. Mr. Whitney, who, when in this borough, resides on Prospect avenue, runs a produce business down in the southern part of Texas and he understands the Mexican people thoroughly. Mr. Whitney said that he was unable to say anything good of the race. They are mostly half Indian and half Spanard, and have the natural cunning of the former and the cruelty of the latter. He said that a Mexican is very indolent and will never work unless forced by dire necessity. His main occupation, Mr. Whitney said, is to plunder and steal. He can never tell the difference between your property and his, he considers all his. The Mexicans, both men and women, are inveterate cigarette smokers. When a Mexican woman starts to work in the fields she wears low shoes. Along the side of one shoe will be a row of cigarettes and along the side of the other will be a row of matches. Mr. Whitney says that President Wilson is a good man, but he does not understand the Mexicans. Only the iron hand can restore order in Mexico. He says that mediation will fail and that we will be at war with Mexico inside of the next thirty days. It will be a long drawn out affair on account of the guerilla warfare which the Mexicans will pursue. More young men will be killed by disease than by bullets, as the Mexicans are very poor shots. Even after the Mexicans are conquered, Mr. Whitney said, the United States will be forced to remain in cntrol until the old inhabitants are all dead and the young people are educated and grown up. After Mr. Whitney's instructive talk the program was concluded by selections rendered on mandolins by Alfred Day and George Martin. The young men played so well that acclamation brought them back two times.

The June Sale of White

Is Drawing to a Close

Attend It Tomorrow. Its Values Will Not Be Duplicated for a Long Time

The unabated enthusiasm of discriminating women throughout the meteoric progress of this most eventful sale of white is a flattering tribute to the merchandising sagacity that organized it.

We tapped every white goods producing source to provide the array of snowy-white items that greet you here. We manoeuvred for concessions that made the remarkable underpricing of this ware possible. Appreciation of this is not confined to an idle review of the offerings. The buying is spirited even as the stocks are ebbing.

The Corset Can Be Improved to Give More Freedom

Inasmuch as comfort is only comparative you may be inclined to accept your present comfort as the allowable maximum of corset ease. To disprove this, we should like you to adjust any one of our corsets and then let us readjust it to meet those vital little requirements so essential to permanent ease. This, we are sure, will impress you with possibilities of which you never knew. It is simply a matter of expert judgment.

WOMAN KILLS HER HUSBAND.

Tells Police She Shot Man to Save Herself From Harm.

Baltimore, June 24.—After making every effort, as she claims, to keep her husband out of the house, Mrs. Edgar McCauley shot and killed the man as he entered their residence at West Arlington, a suburb.

Mrs. McCauley, who is about twenty-four years of age, made a statement to the police, claiming that she shot her husband when she feared he was about to attack her and do her bodily harm. McCauley was a live stock dealer of this city. He was forty-two years old.

GIRL DEAD NEAR HER HOME.

Believed to Have Been Slain After Attending Circus.

Caribou, Me., June 24.—Emma Johnston, twenty years old, who came here to attend a circus, was found dead in the bushes near the road leading to her father's farm, four miles outside the village. A piece of white skirt in the roadway and a trail of blood caused the discovery of the body.

There were two wounds on the head, and it is believed that the girl was murdered.

RELIGIOUS TEACHING.

Bishop McFaul, head of the Catholic Diocese of Trenton, made some very pertinent remarks about the teaching of the Bible in the public schools on Saturday, when he said:

The "little red school house" and "the Bible" have nothing to fear from Catholics. We want the public schools to be improved and religion taught therein. It would please me very much if Protestants, Catholics, Jews and those of no religion would appoint a committee whereby religious instruction could be imported in the public schools without injury to the conscience of any of our citizens.

What religious teaching we now have in the schools has been put in practice by educators, rather than by churchmen, and the suggestion of the Bishop is one which would require much thought and care to work out.

Gary, Indiana, which has a great reputation for progressive educational innovations, has a plan which perhaps might be adopted without incurring the opposition of any creed. There the school board recently voted to release children from the classrooms the first hour in the morning and the last hour in the afternoon, to receive religious instruction in the church of their parents' choosing. Clergymen of all the churches were told that the children would be allowed to go to their churches for moral and religious instruction between 8:15 and 9:15 a. m. and 3:30 and 4:30 p. m. each day. The plan contemplates no Bible reading or other religious instruction within the schoolroom, but the schools share the hours of the pupils with the churches, which are placed on an equal footing in the training of their children in the ways they should go.

All that is necessary to make the Gary plan a success elsewhere is the acceptance by the churches of the city of their duty. The idea is endorsed generally as the best method because the Gary plan makes attendance at church instruction compulsory. The idea has been approved by churches and educators in many cities. It promises to be adopted in other cities and it is to be hoped that all communities will take up the discussion with a view to adopting the plan.

Religious training in the schools has been a bone of contention for years, discussed from as many angles as there are sects. After years it seems that an acceptable plan has been worked out in which all beliefs—Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholic, Methodist and Baptist—can work together on common ground and to the common benefit of all.

It would be a splendid thing were Bishop McFaul's suggestion followed by using the Gary plan in the public schools of New Jersey, where the religious education today amounts to little or none at all.

Every day more and more Plainfielders leave town for cool spots along the seashore, or in the mountains. They are intent on having a pleasant summer, and seldom think of those left behind. At the King's Daughters' Day Nursery during the heated period scores of little sufferers are made comfortable through the excellent work which the charitable women supporting the nursery have done in raising money during the winter months. The scope of the work is to a certain extent limited by the funds available for the purpose. Have YOU done your share to help the little ones? Are not many people who would be glad to give $5 or $10 or even $20 to make life more comfortable for the youngsters, going away without leaving their contribution, only because they have forgotten about the need? Send along your checks or cash, either to the Daily Press office, or to the nursery. Every dollar helps some little one on the road to a happy, healthy life.

It is hard to understand why a municipal body, elected to serve the people, should meet in private. It certainly could not be done under commission government. Just now the people of the city are much interested in the captaincy in the police department which is vacant, and yet the police board meets to consider the matter behind closed doors, and none of them will tell what was done. Some years ago a law was passed making it illegal for Boards of Education in any community to hold executive sessions, and it is about time that all councilmanic committees were put under similar law. Elected officials are put where they are to serve the public, and holding secret sessions is contrary to all principles of representative government.

Saturday's contributed editorial has been written by a public official who has many unpleasant duties to perform. He has, however, always had the necessary perseverance to see that what he set out to do was well done. Some suggestions which he thinks will work for the betterment and improvement of his department will be described.

Over in New Brunswick a crap proprietor has been fined $300. If the Middlesex county authorities really need money, they might do a little investigating around Dunellen.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

As your paper is the only means of reaching the people of Plainfield, I should be obliged if you would print my views on early closing. It seems to be that the merchants of Plainfield are making a great commotion about five half holidays. It is almost a joke that men who are considered capable of running their various lines of business, have to call so many meetings to decide so small a question.

The petitions that were presented to the merchants, asked for Saturday afternoons and evening, which all other classes of working people get. Why then, was the question of Thursday brought up?

Saturday closing is not new. It has been tried by some of the merchants in town for some years past, and if the rest had the proper attitude, there would be no need of discussing the matter. They would close.

Who are the people who shop Saturday afternoons and evenings? It is the working class. In most cases the ones who have half Saturdays all the year, and if these same people were asked to work Saturday afternoon, they would refuse, even where double pay is offered. When do clerks get time to shop? They are never given even an hour, unless they ask for it, occasionally. They are expected to get it done during their lunch hours, and be back to work on time.

If the business men of Plainfield consider their help as much as they want the public to believe, they will close Saturday afternoon and evenings. They will lose no business, but will gain in the estimation of serious minded people.

Thanking you for your space, I am

Yours very truly,
ELIZABETH L. SMITH,
410 Darrow avenue.

Plainfield, June 24, 1914.

CITY COMMITTEE TO MEET.

What may be interpreted as the opening of the local political campaign, will be fired tomorrow evening, when the city Republican executive committee will meet in the Frost building and make the preliminary plans for the fall activities. Several matters of importance will come before the meeting. J. J. Carrol, chairman, has called the meeting for 8 o'clock.

WILL EXPAND LOCAL LEATHER BUSINESS

Frederic Harrington the Head of Concern Filing Incorporation Papers.

The sole leather business heretofore conducted by Frederic Harrington, at Dunellen, under his name will hereafter be conducted by a concern to be known as Frederic Harrington, incorporated. Papers of incorporation were filed yesterday in the County Clerk's office.

The business has been taken over by the new concern, of which Mr. Harrington, who lives on Centre avenue, will be a member and principal owner. The capital stock is $165,000 and the shares are worth $10 each. Mr. Harrington has 5,498 shares of common stock and 11,000 shares of preferred stock. Harold Remington, of 111 Broadway, New York and Edward Meek, of Elizabeth, have one share each of common stock.

Plans are underway for the expansion of the concern and several additional features will be added to the present plant in the near future.

FRESH AIR HOME TO BE OPENED JULY 6

Miss Curry and Her Charges Preparing for Annual Visit to Plainfield.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home will open its doors for another season to the children of the great East Side of New Yark, on Monday, July 6. At that time Miss Curry will bring out her first company of little people and their mothers. The season opens under most favorable circumstances. The babies' dormitory, which was built last season and which has been of the greatest possible comfort to these little ones, some of whm have never known the care of a mother or felt the comfort of a bed, will be filled to its utmost capacity, the older children will have the advantage of systematic play under the supervision of Miss Marion Wean, and the boys will be given the opportunity of making the most of the days in the country under the careful guidance of Egbert Fountain.

All of these splendid new features have been made possible through the generosity of the many friends of the Home. When one stops to consider the far-reaching effect of the influence of the work of this Home upon the lives of the people it harbors, its influence for good, it would seem that every person interested in home missions ought to have a vital interest in this work. Where can eighty cents be invested to better advantage than in the bringing of one little child from the heat and dirt of the great city to the fresh air and beauties of the country for ten days. Last year the Home took care of nearly 4,100 mothers and children at the minimum cost of about $3,000. Just how many came to the Home sickly and were returned to their homes physically and morally benefitted it would be hard to estimate.

There is no work as unique in its purpose as this, whose one aim is to build up morally as well as physically every person who comes within its doors. Subscriptions may be sent to George A. Chapman, chairman of the finance committee, or to David M. Runyon, treasurer. The opening service will be held at the Home on Sunday afternoon, July 12, and Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson will be the speaker, and the quartet choir of the First M. E. church will sing. After this service regular services will be held on Tuesday and Friday evenings and Sunday afternoons. To these and all services the public is cordially invited.

MICHAEL DELLOLIE GETS OFF WITH A $5 FINE

Michael Dellolie, of Somerset street, was arraigned in the borough court last evening, before Recorder Fred Hand, on the charge of being disorderly. It appears that a horse belonging to Dellolie strayed from the stable Sunday night and wandered about Somerset street, where the animal spent some time eating grass in front of George Kirch's store on that thoroughfare. When located by Marshal Pope, the horse was placed in the borough pound by the officer of the law.

Dellolie appeared in the police court and accused Pope of stealing the horse, and said he could produce witnesses to prove this statement to be true. Vile language was then heaped upon the officer, who held his peace, telling Dellolie to produce his witnesses. When the accuser failed in this respect, a warrant was sworn out for his arrest, and his arraignment in court last night followed. A fine of $5 was imposed.

SPECULATION MOST TANGIBLE FEATURE

A. B. C. Diplomats Are Still Asserting Their Hopefulness.

Clifton Hotel, Niagara Falls, Ont., June 24—Speculation on the Constitutionalists was the most tangible feature of today's mediation. The A B C diplomats, again asserted hopefulness, but failed to specify the ground for their optimism. A full conference of the mediators, Americans and Mexicans, was held near noon at which the reported protocol was supposedly under discussion. This tentative agreement, covering everything but the essential part, a provisional government will not be formally taken up until rebel participation is settled. Grave anxiety was manifested by all parties concerning the reported strained conditions at Vera Cruz and official advices were eagerly awaited.

The matter of a recess was still in abeyance. It will be understood that Mr. DaGama wants a recess while Dr. Naon and Mr. Suarez oppost it.

Shortly after noon Frederick Lehman, after receiving despatches from Washington, went into conference with the mediators and it was announced the full conference would be held at 4:30.

ATTENDING MEETING.

LOCAL ELKS FARED WELL IN BIG MEET

New Jersey Bowling Sweepstakes Money Goes to Plainfield Pinners.

The Plainfield Elks bowling team, last night, was awarded a prize of $20 in gold as its share in the State Sweepstakes Bowling Tourney that recently closed. Forty-eight teams took part in the tournament and many of the best men in the State rolled against the locals. The winners, the Krueger Suburban League team, had a score of 2,847.

Frank Blatz, captain of the local team, came within one point of winning the individual prize. Tom Schott, of the Newark five, had a mark of 203.3, and the Plainfield man was credited with 201. The winning team took two money and two medal prizes.

LOCAL GOLFERS ENTER.

J. S. Wneeler and E. B. Morgan, of the Plainfield Country Club, are entered in the Baltusrol Invitation Golf Tourney which will be held tomorrow, Friday and Saturday of this week.

FINALS REACHED IN MEET

the contest on the twelfth and again on the fourteenth, after which Carter, by a sort of stampede, took the next three in succession, closing the match. The cards:

Carter—
Out ..4 4 4 3 5 5 5 3 4—37
In ...3 5 5 6 6 3 2 3 3—36—73

Maxwell—
Out ..4 4 5 2 5 5 5 4 4—38
In ...4 4 4 5 7 4 4 5 4—41—79

Carter's finish in 3, 2 3, 3 was going some."

Maxwell sank a thirty-five foot putt for a birdie 2 at the fourth, while Carter's 2 at the sixteenth was rendered possible by getting down at fifteen-foot distance. Carter's 3 on the fifteenth was a full stroke below par. He got close to 200 yards on his drive, being on the edge of the green. His poor 6 at the fourteenth was due to plunging into the rough in his drive and then being weakk at the cup.

Edmund Nash, Apawamis, beat L. S. Church, Plainfield, 2 and 1, while Osborne Lawes, Upper Montclair, retired Hubert Hutchinson, Forest Hill, 2 and 1, and Vincent Hilton, Hackensack, defeated J. W. Stafford, also of Hackensack, 3 and 2.

As will be noted, the draw was bottom heavy. The bracketing today comes: Lawes vs. Hilton, and Nash vs. Carter.

An incident of the play yesterday was the disqualification of Llewellyn Powers, New York, unattached, who did an 82. He seemed over the age limit by appearance. Those whom he gave as sponsors for his age could not be reached by telephone. Two were allowed to play who were not eligible for the title because their clubs were not members of the Metropolitan Association, but Powers was not affiliated and made the title set. One Pennsylvanian played as a non-eligible, falling outside the honor set. It was widely remarked that several of the older boys seem to be "holding their age of nineteen" remarkably well. Result in the other four divisions:

Second Set—McGrath beat H. Downey 2 and 1, E. C. Stevens beat Goldman 4 and 3, Porter beat Haight 4 and 3, Pierson beat Beals 1 up.

Third Set—Richard Stiles beat Allsop 1 up 19 holes, Howard beat Gilchrist 3 and 2, Conklin beat Eggers 3 and 1, R. Polter beat J. Wolff 2 and 1.

Fourth Set—F. Lawes beatt Mellick 4 and 3, Seigel beat Roger Stiles 3 and 2, Kuser beat Willoughby 2 up, McKenzie beat Dall 4 and 2.

Fifth Set—Blanchard beat Dorflinger 6 and 4, J. Polter beat Lichtenstein 5 and 3, Janeway beat Fleming 8 and 6, A. Downey beat Obendorfen 4 and 3.

Philip Carter would have won the driving contest at an average of 317 yards for three tries had he not been ineligible through having taken low score prize. Accordingly Osborn Lawes took it at 206 yards 2 inches, with Vincent Hilton third at 203 yards.

The records returned in the semi-finals were as follows:

Hilton beat Lawe 5 up 4 to play; Carter beat Nash 2 up 1 to play; Pierson beat Porter 3 up 2 to play; Howard beat R. C. Stiles 1 up; D. Potter beat Conklin 1 to play; Lewis beat Siegel 2 up 1 to play; Kuser beat McKesie 5 up 4 to play; Blanchard beat J. Potter 5 up 3 to play; Downy beat Janeway 2 up 1 to play; Stevens beat McGrath 3 up 1 to play.

The drawings for the final round are: Hilton vs. Carter (championship round); Stevens vs. Pierson, second eight; Howard vs. D. Potter, third eight; Lawes vs. Kuser, fourth eight; Blanchard vs. Downey, fifth eight.

In the approaching and putting contest held this morning, Leonard S. Church, of Plainfield, was the winner and R. Goldman, of Ocean City, was tied with three others for second place with ten strokes each and he drew the lucky straw. The winners score was nine.

TWENTY DUNELLEN PUPILS FOR P. H. S.

Grammar School Graduates Will Enter Local Institution in Fall.

Representatives of several furniture concerns appeared before the Dunellen Board of Education at its monthly meeting last night with samples of desks and chairs for equiping the Lincoln school house. It was finally decided to purchase the Princeton automotic desk from the New Jersey School and Church Furniture Company, of Trenton. Principal Rentschler reported that there were on roll during the past year 249 boys and 242 girls. Of the twenty-eight Grammar School graduates twenty will enter the Plainfield High School in the fall.

The $39.60 raised by the eighth grade from a recent play will be expended in supplying furniture for the school. The teachers committee reported the following teachers engaged for the coming year: G. H. Retschler, the Misses Rita G. Brokaw, Veda Ward, Elizabeth Herder, May Higgins, Florence Smalley, Edna Hardcastle, Mabel Bennett, Ethel Rogers, May Lindsey, Mabel Noyes and S. Frederick Smith. The following new teachers were engaged: William O'Neil, Margaret Crawford and Catherine Layton.

PERSONAL.

Robert A. Meeker, State supervisor of roads, who has been detained at home suffering from a carbuncle on the neck, has about recovered and will soon return to his duties as supervisor.

Leon Weintrob, of East Fifth street, was successfully operated upon yesterday afternoon by Drs. Ard and Clawson, at Muhlenberg Hospital, for throat trouble with which he has been afflicted for some time.

Mrs. Leonard Smith and daughter, Miss Margaret Smith, of Duer street, the borough, are spending three weeks with Mrs. Smith's sister-in-law, Mrs. George Canfield, at Croton-on-the-Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Wilson, of Stelle avenue, have returned home after spending several days with Mr. Wilson's brother, at Rye, N. Y.

Mrs. Maggie Simpson, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Philadelphia, returned home today following a visit with relatives.

Mrs. William Claassen and daughter, Janette, accompanied by Miss Marie Martensen, of this city, sail for Norway and Sweden on the Scandinavian-American Steamship Oscar II. tomorrow. While abroad they will visit friends and relatives. Passage was secured through Estil's agency.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Millar, who were recently married, have returned from Washington, where they spent their honeymoon and are stopping at the home of Mrs. Millar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Emmons. Later the couple will make their home in Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Towner, of East Seventh street, will leave for Europe shortly.

Miss Marion C. Vollmer, of Central avenue, has returned home after a two weeks' stay with her sister, Mrs. William Fields of Asbury Park.

SECRETARY REDFIELD.

Says United States Is Emerging From the Depth of Depression.

"The United States was the last of nations to enter the worldwide depression, felt it least and is now emerging first. The dullness of trade and industry is psychological, just as President Wilson says it is, and reports and figures will show this." This was the way Secretary of Commerce Redfield sized up the situation. He didn't assert there has been no depression, but he declared that what there has been was only our natural share of universal trade stagnation.

BUTTE MOB FIRED ON; ONE MAN IS KILLED

Deputies Open Attack on Angry Miners.

Butte, Mont., June 24.—A pitched battle is in progress around Miners' Union hall, where 100 deputies, led by Sheriff Driscoll, are being besieged by a mob of insurgent miners, inflamed by the shooting of three men by the representatives of the law, one of the three being killed.

The insurgent miners are firing from the tops of all nearby buildings into the Miners' hall. The deputies are reserving their fire, but occasionally a deputy rushes to a window, fires and retreats to the inner rooms. The deputies are mostly armed with sawed off shotguns.

Two heavy explosions have occurred, and the mob is evidently attempting to dynamite the hall.

A meeting was scheduled at the hall at which President C. H. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners was to outline a peace plan.

Moyer asked Sheriff Driscoll for protection and was assured by the sheriff that deputies would be on hand to prevent any attempt to break up the meeting.

Great crowds pressed around the building, and finally the deputies were ordered to open fire.

Most of the weapons were fired into the air by the officers, but three men were shot.

THE WONDERLAND OF ALASKA TO BE OPENED BY UNCLE SAM

Engineers Have Started to Push Railway Construction.

Possibilities of Development Greater Than Known Resources.

PRELIMINARY work upon the projected government railways in Alaska will soon be under way. The engineers have started and Uncle Sam will push the work and show himself again a great builder as at Panama. In 1867 Alaska was purchased by the United States for $7,200,000, and a cry went up that it was an exceedingly bad bargain, yet since that time over $500,000,000 worth of products have been taken out of the country, and have more than justified the makers of the bargain. Now $35,000,000 will be expended by our government in making the beginning of a system of railways in Alaska.

Each of the three projected routes will connect with the great navigable rivers of the interior, which are open to trade for three months in each year and whose waters flow far north and empty into the Bering sea.

The popular idea is that all Alaska is forbiddingly frozen and almost uninhabitable. As a matter of fact, its Pacific coast is warmer than Scotland or Norway. A record of temperatures for one year in this coastal region shows a maximum of 84 degrees and a minimum of 12 degrees below, a range not unlike a considerable portion of continental United States. Beyond the mountains in the great interior valleys there is a climate not dissimilar to that of Alberta and Saskatchewan, those provinces in Canada to which so many good American farmers have been immigrating and making fortunes in the cultivation of wheat.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR FRANKLIN K. LANE.

In this region temperatures have been recorded as low as 76 degrees below zero and as high as 90 above. This means a short, hot, luxuriant summer, with a long, severe winter, but neither of these is materially different from regions in Canada that are furnishing homes and prosperity for hundreds of thousands of settlers.

All this region is full of a multitude of resources that has been but indicated by the accomplishments of the last decade and a half. Already gold aside from that which has been washed out of the sand had been regularly mined in Alaska sufficient to furnish a wealth of $57,000,000. Of this nearly $5,000,000 was produced last year. Yet this hardly compares with the placer gold that has been washed out of the sands at Nome and at Fairbanks and over on the Yukon and down the Susitna rivers. Of this powdered gold $145,000,000 has been sent out of Alaska, and last year's production was $12,000,000.

Though the Alaskan miner has been interested in little else than gold, he last year extracted 90,000,000 pounds of copper from the ores of this region. Here also is to be found coal in practically unlimited quantities, and so placed as to make it particularly easy to get out. To be tapped by the proposed railroads are the Bering river region and the Matanuska fields, which compare with the best regions of Pennsylvania. There are gold bearing gravels and copper deposits and wide stretching forests to the interior, the possibilities of which are as yet merely a matter of speculation.

Last year $100,000 worth of potatoes alone were raised in this part of Alaska. Oats and barley and rye are grown and ripened in abundance. Thrifty farms are springing up around Fairbanks in the far interior. The department of agriculture reports that there are great numbers of crops that may be produced abundantly during the short, warm summers and that there are possibilities of developing certain varieties of grains that will be peculiarly adapted to Alaska conditions and that may open up undreamed possibilities. It is even hinted that these broad acres might be made to yield of their abundance in the short summer season and that their owners might spend half the year in California.

Most unique of all the known latent resources of Alaska is that which lies in its reindeer herds. For thirty years the federal government has been building up reindeer herds in Alaska with the idea of substituting reindeer raising for cattle raising and in grafting it as a mammoth industry upon this region. The government herds are now many and large, and their numbers are multiplying so rapidly that it is promised that soon the ranges of Alaska may be stocked with reindeer as were our western plains with cattle three decades ago.

But, according to Secretary Lane and the Alaska railway commission and other authorities upon the development of new regions, the possibilities of such a country can in no way be gauged by its known resources. When a railroad penetrates a region and great numbers of people follow that road they everywhere turn up new ideas that lead to wealth. When the Southern Pacific railroad, for instance, pushed through New Mexico and Arizona and southern California no human being dreamed that this country, then called "the Great American desert," was to become the greatest copper producing region in the world. Neither did anybody dream that the time would come when water would be placed upon these desert sands and they would be sold at prices as high as $1,000 an acre. So may Alaska be expected to develop many surprises when government built railroads carry great numbers of settlers into that unknown region.

In speaking of the problem of Alaskan railway construction Secretary Lane said: "There is but one way to make any country a real part of the world—by the construction of railroads into it. This has been the heart of England's policy in Africa, of Russia's policy in western Asia and is the prompting hope of the new movement in China. Whoever owns railways of a country determines very largely the future of that country, the character of its population, the kind of industries they will engage in and ultimately the nature of the civilization they will enjoy. The policy of governmental ownership of railroads in Alaska seems to me to be one that will most certainly make for her lasting welfare.

"To build these railroads ourselves and control them may be an experiment, but such a plan does not suggest scandals more shameful or political conditions more unhealthy than many we have known in new portions of our country under private ownership. And in the end we will be free to establish and maintain our own chosen relationship between Alaska and the rest of the United States unhampered by threats of confiscation or the restraining hand of any merely selfish influences. By this act the United States adds to itself an empire."

WOMEN TO AID GIRLS JAILED FOR PRAYING

Women of Somerville, who feel sorry for two young women members of the Pillar of Fire colony, known as "the Holy Jumpers," are planning today to ask Judge Beekman to reopen their cases to test the right of the city to send them to jail for ten days for singing and praying in the strets. The "Jumpers" are Miss Rose M. Dingley and Miss Bessie M. Davis, English girls, and were sent to jail because they insisted they had the right to hold their services in the street in front of the First Reformed church.

The girls started their religious meeting Saturday night. They were told by Patrolman Hanlon that they were causing a crowd to collect and were violating a town ordinance. They ignored the warning and their arrest followed. The two were released in custody of their lawyer. Next day they were fined $5 each by Recorder Sutphen.

Miss Dingley and Miss Davis preferred to go to jail rather than pay the fines, so they were sentenced to serve ten days each.

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS TO ENTERTAIN OFFICERS

The Women's Relief Corps will tender a reception to the following retiring State officers, President, Mrs. Sarah Manley; department secretary, Mrs. Sarah Struthers; chaplain, Mrs. Jennie Bergman, and delegates-at-large, Miss Clara Barton Smith. The exercises will take place at Reform Hall, tomorrow evening, at eight o'clock. Department Commander William S. Raynolds and staff of Newark will be present, also delegations from several corps and G. A. R. Posts from different parts of the State.

A program of vocal and instrumental music will be rendered, and refreshments will be served. The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Harry L. Gibbons, Mrs. Mary E. Kitchell, Mrs. Ada England, Miss Harriet Kirch, Miss Elsie Perrine, Mrs. E. K. Frazee, Mrs. E. E. Townley, and Mrs. Albert Perry.

POLITICAL PULL SAVED COP'S DOG

Father of Boy Bitten by Terrier Makes Charge.

KILLED ANOTHER CANINE.

Parent Tells Hoboken Board of Health That Dog Ordered Executed Was Now Seen Daily Playing About Policeman's House—Call Special Meeting For an Investigation.

Hoboken, N. J., June 24.—James Dowden makes the charge before the Hoboken board of health that political influence had been used to save the life of a dog owned by Patrolman Patrick Kennedy.

On May 26 Dowden complained to Recorder McGovern that Curtis, Dowden's ten-year-old son, had been bitten by Kennedy's fox terrier.

The recorder ordered the dog impounded for twenty days for observation. Ten days later Dowden told the recorder that the dog had been released from the pound and was then at Kennedy's home, 206 Seventh street.

Angered, the recorder ordered the dog put to death. The execution was fixed for June 16 at 4 p. m., and permission was granted members of the Dowden family to witness the death of the dog.

On that afternoon Mrs. Dowden and her daughter went to the pound. There, according to Mrs. Dowden's statement to the board of health, Thomas Normile, the pound keeper, showed her a collar which he averred had been worn by Kennedy's dog and said:

"The dog was killed several hours ago and his body taken to Kearny by Louis Stern, the dead animal man."

Mrs. Dowden says she saw the collar was not the one that had been worn by Kennedy's dog, and she and her daughter journeyed to Kearny and demanded of Stern that he show them the carcass of the Kennedy dog. Stern, she said, informed her that he had not got such a dead dog as she described in Hoboken that day.

Dowden reported that the dog ordered executed was now seen daily playing about Kennedy's house. The board of health decided to call a special meeting for tonight for an investigation.

MEET AFTER SIXTY YEARS.

Sisters Travel 4,000 Miles For Reunion. Will Live Together.

Newark, N. J., June 24.—After being separated for sixty years Miss Emily Mayo, seventy-four years old, of London, England, and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Mayo Glasgow, seventy-six, of Galena, Ill., were reunited here at the home of their niece, Mrs. Charles Comes, 40 Newton street. The sisters traveled more than 4,000 miles to meet and each made the trip alone. In a few days they will leave for Mrs. Glasgow's home, where they will live together.

Miss Mayo and Mrs. Glasgow are the only ones living of sixteen children born to their parents. Mrs. Glasgow came to this country in 1854. She married a well to do farmer and they have eleven children living, all but two of whom are farmers.

FIELDER SEEKS STRIKE END.

Would Empower Trenton Commission to Probe Machinists' Trouble.

Trenton, N. J., June 24.—That the Trenton city commission be empowered to investigate the strike of 400 machinists here and attempt to end the difficulty was the suggestion made by Governor Fielder to representatives of the strikers.

When told by H. V. Reilly and Luke Travers that the present dispute, which began a month ago, would likely last through the summer, the governor suggested that the city commission be asked to sit as arbitrators with representatives of two sides.

Both Reilly and Travers were impressed with the suggestion and promised to submit the proposal to the commission.

STATE NOTES.

Charged with harboring a vicious dog, Gaylor Day of Montclair was fined $20 by Recorder Yost.

Miss Eva Bratt, daughter of Justice James Bratt and Mrs. Bratt of Hackensack, and Charles T. Mackay were married in the parsonage of the First Reformed church by the Rev. A. von Schleider. The bride was a teacher in the Fort Lee school for twelve years.

City Engineer Harry J. Harder has prepared a detailed plan for the elimination of Erie railroad crossings in Paterson, for which application has been made to the state board of public utility commissioners. The report will be filed with the finance commission on July 2.

For the first time since Principal Arthur D. Arnold of Passaic put a ban on the modern dances soon after they became popular the tango, hesitation, maxixe, Castle walk and other creations will be the rule in the high school gymnasium on next Friday evening, when the Passaic high school alumni gives its annual reception to the graduating class.

WARSHIPS TO BE SOLD TO GREECE

President's Influence Forces Change In Front.

LIVELY FIGHT IN HOUSE.

Wilson Contends Action Might Stop Pending War Between Greece and Turkey—Opponents Fear Departure From Foreign Policy.

Washington, June 24.—After a lively fight, in which the Republicans and Democrats joined, the house by a vote of 174 to 87 went on record in favor of the sale of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi to Greece. The president will soon be clothed with authority by congress to sell the ships.

It adopted an amendment to the naval appropriation bill that differs in form but not in substance from the senate proposal, that the ships named be sold and the proceeds of the sale, about $11,700,000, be used for the purchase of a new superdreadnought for the American navy. An agreement between the two houses on the proposed sale is assured.

Influences brought to bear by the administration resulted in the adoption of the amendment passed, although the Democrats voted in the negative. Last week the conference report on the naval appropriation bill came up in the house and strong opposition to the sale of the battleships was shown. An announcement was made at the time that owing to the temper on the subject shown by the house the administration would not press the sale further. The report was sent back to conference with instructions to the house conferrees to disagree to the senate amendment.

Might Prevent War.

In the meantime President Wilson caused it to be made known that he favored the sale. The statement attributed to the president that the sale might prevent war between Greece and Turkey had great weight with members, with the result that the senate proposal, backed by administration influence, won the day.

The opponents in the house of the proposed sale were comprised in the main of little navy members and certain Republicans who expressed the belief that the sale of battleships to one government on the verge of war with another would amount to a departure in the policy of the United States to keep out of foreign entanglements. This thought was voiced at some length by Representative Stafford of Wisconsin, a Republican.

"Apparently we are about to undertake a new policy in our relations with Europe," said Mr. Stafford. "Never before in the history of our government have we attempted to interfere with the entanglements of foreign nations. It is well recognized that Greece and Turkey are near belligerents. If they were actually at war it would be regarded as an unfriendly act for us to sell battleships to either."

HIS DAUGHTER RIVER VICTIM?

Brooklyn Man Tells Schenectady Police of Missing Girl.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 24.—The police are still baffled after working four days to find some definite clew to the identity of the torso found in the Mohawk river last Friday afternoon.

The only new development outside of the announcement that the county board of supervisors would meet in special session Friday to offer a reward of $500 for the recovery of the head, was a letter from Brooklyn. Albert Engel of 1196 Halsey street, that city, wrote that his daughter, twenty-four years old, had disappeared several weeks ago, and he thought she was lured away by a man now wanted in Brooklyn for bigamy, larceny and forgery.

Photographs of the girl and man were inclosed, but Claude Hanlon, the boatman, declared the picture of the man was not that of the man who rented a boat from him on May 29.

HOPE FOR ADJOURNMENT.

Congress Will Take Up Consideration of Big Bills Next Week.

Washington, June 24.—Action taken by the house indicates that Representative Underwood and the other leaders have not entirely lost hope for an early adjournment. President Wilson has not vacated his position that congress shall pass the trust bills before adjourning. Nevertheless, the leaders are hopeful of an adjournment some time in July. On motion of Mr. Underwood, next Monday was set aside for the consideration of bills "under suspension of the rules."

This procedure is usually resorted to in the closing days of a session. By this means it is hoped to get out of the way a mass of bills in which members are interested

"Movie" Thriller Ends Fatally.

Buffalo, June 24.—Maxwell Smith, a local newspaper man, and Roy C. Bauer, a young lawyer, were probably fatally injured when Bauer's racing machine, traveling ninety-five miles an hour, overturned and was wrecked at "Death curve" on the Williamsville road. A "movie" man was taking pictures of the speeding machine.

MASONIC TEMPLE DEDICATED.

Laporte, Ind., June 24—High degree Masons from numerous cities of Indiana and some from Illinois and Michigan gathered here today to help in the dedication of the new Masonic Temple. The dedication program covered the entire day and included a parade, an exhibition drill and several other features in addition to the speaking. Grandmaster Martin A. Morrison and other grand officers of the Masonic order in Indiana were in attendance.

SONS OF REVOLUTION.

Trenton, June 24—The Sons of the Revolution who are making a pilgrimage from Philadelphia to Boston in commemoration of the 139th anniversary of the journey made by Washington when he assumed command of the Continental army, concluded the first stage of their journey with their arrival in Trenton today. The members of the party were welcomed at the State House by Governor Fielder and other officials.

WEST VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS.

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 24—Democrats of West Virginia met in convention here today to nominate a candidate for Congressman-at-large and to adopt a platform for the coming campaign. Nearly 1,200 delegates were in their seats when the convention was called to order at noon.

T. R. HAS NOTHING ON SCOOP

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

This is the first year in the history of the Yale Cup that names, other than that of the winner, have been brought into the presentation. For some unknown reason another local paper has seen fit to exploit the merits of an individual who was thought to be a likely aspirant to the honors. The unfortunate condition has been unearthed in both the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools and it is to be regretted that those in charge of the giving of the award have been subjected to such groundless criticism. To the fair-minded school follower not a doubt remains but what the trophies in both instances were given fairly, and to bring another student's name into the matter not only does that individual harm, but reflects on the ability of the school principals intrusted with the decision. The one making the attack is not competent to judge the points involved in the race for the highest of scholastic honors and when an award of this nature is made it should not be hashed over by one outside of the schools. Burner and Butfer well deserved the honors bestowed on them and if there was another member of the class who was the popular choice of his schoolmates that is no reason why he should be favored in the selection. It might be better to handle this matter a little more carefully in the future as it is one of the most delicate propositions of the graduating season. The student striving for the honor naturally thinks it belongs to him and when he sees his name mentioned after he has lost out in the fight it does him no good.

The Plainfield Country Club officials are to be congratulated on their success in staging another Metropolitan Junior Championship over the local links. Yesterday and today the local greens have been the mecca for schoolboys from all sections of the metropolitan district and a tourney of this nature does a whole lot twoard advertising the Queen City. Other clubs in this section have refused to stage the event because of the expense involved and the Plainfield Country Club was the only organization to extend an invitation to the youngsters this season. The Plainfield members acted as hosts of the local boys last night, the two-day tournament necessitating a stay in Plainfield over night for the competitors who live some distance from here.

Another pleasing event in connection with the windup of the North Plainfield High School's successful baseball season was held last night at the home of William L. Smalley on Greenbrook road. Mr. and Mrs. Smalley supplied a delightful evening of entertainment for the schoolboys and their friends, and the affair served as a fitting finale to the 1914 diamond season. Mr. Smalley has been one of the borough athletes best friends this season and has done much toward making athletics what they are on the other side of the brook.

BORO ATHLETES AND FRIENDS ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smalley Give Boroughites Picnic at Their Home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smalley, of Greenbrook road, entertained the athletic teams of the North Plainfield High School and a large number of friends at their home yesterday afternoon and night. There were forty-five present and the time was spent in having a general good time around the spacious lawn and in the house that had been fixed for dancing. The feature of the day was a baseball game between the girls and the boys which was won by the former by a large score.

Supper was served on the porch and the rain could not interfere with the pleasure of the young people. After all had eaten their fill, the company adjourned to the house and enjoyed dancing, to the music of the Victrola until a late hour. Several musical numbers were also rendered by the guests. The home was decorated with wild flowers and red roses. Those who assisted Mrs. Smalley in entertaining and serving are Mrs. M. H. Ewart, Mrs. James E. Bailey, Mrs. A. E. Kenny, Mrs. F. C. Burner, Mrs. Warren Townley, Mrs. Frank Rowley, Mrs. W. O. Taylor, Miss Edna French, and Miss Mary Rooley. The following people were also present: Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Milne, and the Misses Grace Townley A. ROD AND REEL

Fluke by the score were caught from the Long Branch fishing pier last night. Three boys caught all they could carry away with them and several men, fishing together, caught as high as one hundred big fluke. One chap caught two at a time on several casts, while one chap landed three. Harry Austin, the manager of the pier, has plenty of bait on hand, among it being live killies or minnows that make the best kind of bait for fluke.

PORTE AND HALLETT.

Aviators Who Will Attempt Flight Across the Atlantic.

Photos by American Press Association.

The transatlantic flying boat America, with Glenn H. Curtiss at the controls, demonstrated her ability to fly. She mounted the air several times and floated over Lake Keuka steady as an ocean liner, yet sensitive to the controls. Her weight as she flew was 3,500 pounds. Six flights were made with three men in the pilot house. She was never under full power except as she left the water, and the flying speed was sixty-five miles an hour under half power. Mr. Curtiss made the first three flights; then Lieutenant John Cyril Porte, who is to fly the machine across the Atlantic, made a flight of a mile at fifty feet high and two shorter flights. George Hallett, Lieutenant Porte's flying partner, took over the controls in one of the flights.

are needed, as the blues bite any gut leader made, is the instructions in the letter to us, and menhaden are to be used for bait.

What has become of the menhaden or mossbunker? A few years ago this fish was so plentiful they sold for seven cents a bushel, and now the fishermen can't get enough to bait their lobster pots, let alone use them for chum. It will soon be among the "has been" class in the marine fish league and then the farmer will have to turn to a much more expensive fertilizer and this means add the difference in cost on the vegetables and let the city chap pay it. Knocking down the high cost of living under such circumstances is about as easy as throwing a baseball over the Prudential building.

Long Island fishing resorts are attracting the Jersey fishermen and every Sunday morning hundreds of them leave the city on the early morning trains for a day's fishing over there. The Long Island boat housekeepers have always catered to this trade, but not in the manner in which they are going after it today. A combination of advertising methods over there has been the cause of calling the attention of our fishermen to the weakfishing that is to be had now and fluke are certainly biting very well. The railroad is putting on special trains to carry the fishermen and there are rumors about that a special fare is to be fixed.

UNDEFEATED TEAM GETS ITS BUMPS

Dunellen Tourney Treated to a Shakeup in Matches Rolled Last Night.

The results of last night's matches of the women's two-team bowling tournament of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, gave the team composed of Mrs. H. B. Arnold and Mrs. J. N. Apgar, the top rung in the race. This team was idle last night, but the leaders, who before last night had a perfect score, lost two games out of four and dropped into second place.

Mrs. E. B. Latham and Mrs. Dice defeated Miss Ruth Voorhees and Miss Pearl Dodwell three games out of four which places the latter in 4th place. The rolling of Miss Voorhees was the feature of the evening and she performed in her old time style. She made some good scores in all of the games. Mrs. Dice, who is taking the place of Mrs. Frank Wynkoop, was largely responsible for the three victories for her team.

The highest score of last night's play was 236, made by Mrs. E. B. Latham. The complete summary follows:

SECOND CITY SERIES ON ELKS PIN SHUTES

Columbus Club Bowlers Will Visit Watchung Avenue Alleys.

The second series of bowling contests for the city championship will be rolled tomorrow night on the Elks alleys, when the antlered pinners and the Knights of Columbus aggregation meet for the second time. In the former session the Elks rang up a clean sweep at the expense of the Columbus aggregation on the latter's chutes.

Tomorrow night's contest gives promise of being a closely contested affair as the former winners will have at least two strange faces in the lineup. J. E. Waldorf, who was prominent in the rolling done during the recent club tournament, will replace Chauncey tSout, and Bill Nash will be out of the lineup due to a baseball injury sustained recently. Captain Blatz has not announced who will take Nash's place tomorrow night.

THRILLS NEW YORK BY DARING STUNTS

Aviator Niles Loops the Loop Over City.

New York, June 24.—New Yorkers saw an aeroplane fly upside down over Broadway for the first time. Aviator Charles S. Niles did it in his new Moisant aeroplane in the course of thirty-five minutes of daredevil flying around Governors island, which thoroughly earned him his nickname of "Do Anything" Niles. He made four sweeping circuits around Governors island, looped the loop seven times, sailed upside down several times, turned wing over wing, spiraled this way and that, dived head first and tail first and did stunts in the air which Alfred J. Moisant said no one had ever done before.

Niles' flight was announced and exactly at the appointed hour the stocky, little aviator put on his khaki oversuit and climbed into his seat in the monoplane with a big crowd of prominent persons standing about. He waved his hand to the officers and their wives who were in the crowd and then was off and climbing toward the sky eastward at the rate of 600 feet a minute. He made one circuit of Governors island in five minutes and started on a second.

He was up 2,000 feet as he sailed toward Brooklyn bridge and crossed over downtown Manhattan. He dived down at a rapid rate and looped the loop, sailing for a time upside down as he passed down Broadway 1,000 feet from the Woolworth building. Then he got out over the water again and went wing over wing as if falling forever. It was only one of his tricks again, and he made another loop the loop a quarter of a mile north of the statue of Liberty.

KILL THREE WOMEN IN AUTO

Their Engine Is Stalled on Pere Marquette Crossing.

Greenville, Mich., June 24.—Three were killed and one fatally injured when an automobile was struck by a Pere Marquette passenger train at Hale's crossing, north of here.

The dead are Mrs. C. C. Merritt, sixty years old; Mrs. R. M. Beardsley, forty-five, and June R. Beardsley, twenty.

Mrs. C. C. Larke, daughter of Mrs. Merritt, was fatally injured.

Mrs. Larke was driving the car when the engine "stalled" on a bad grade crossing. Mrs. H. N. Clements jumped and escaped injury.

VILLA READY TO START ATTACK

To Deliver Assault Within Twenty-four Hours.

CARRANZA NOTE A SECRET

Message Not Divulged in Order to Prevent Break—It Is In Hands of Mediators, Who Fear Its Effect on the Huerta Envoys.

HUERTA SENDS NOTE TO UNITED STATES.

A message from the provisional government was sent direct to the state department at Washington for the first time since the severing of all diplomatic relations between the countries last April.

The text of the message was not made public, but soon afterward President Huerta himself made the statement:

"I am hopeful that a solution of the difficulty between the United States and Mexico will be found."

Camacho, Zacatecas, Mexico, June 24.—Within twenty-four hours General Villa expects to deliver his assault on the federal garrison of Zacatecas.

The advance guard of the Constitutionalist army reached here and the main body expect to rest at Guzman. Tonight the troops will press forward to Zacatecas itself.

The latest information reaching Villa from farmers and other sources indicates that General Barron, the federal commander, has 12,000 well armed men, forty cannon and more than a hundred machine guns.

Barron has made the most of Villa's temporary inability to advance from the north and has been bringing in re-enforcements and ammunition from the south almost daily.

General Villa will probably not be able to get more than two-thirds of his army of 20,000 into the battle.

A conflict rivaling in ferocity that which preceded the fall of Torreon is predicted by military observers. Though outnumbered somewhat, the federals have a very strong advantage of position, the hill of Labula and the fortress of Guadalupe being almost impregnable.

Villa is confident, however, that he will sweep the federal force away.

General Natera, commanding the rebel troops before the city of Zacatecas, will arrive here for a conference with General Villa and his principal subordinates, Generals Angeles, Urbina, Herrera and Benavides.

Since his arrival here Villa has been examining any one who can furnish information regarding the topography of the country about Zacatecas.

Owing to the poor condition of the roads south, it has been impossible for the Constitutionalists to dispose their troops about the city.

Carranza's Reply Received.

Washington, June 24.—Carranza's reply to the last note of the mediators has been dispatched and in possession of the A, B, C mediators for a day and a half. Not a word of the receipt of the note, which was wired to Washington and then mailed to Niagara Falls, has been heard from any one of the mediators.

Their silence in this regard is the cause of speculation. It is believed by officials that the mediators fear the effect on the Huerta delegates if the latest telegram from Carranza is made public at this time.

Carranza in his reply made no new suggestion and practically duplicated his last note to the mediators. In reply to the suggestion of the mediators that he had not carefully considered the portion of their note which referred to the argument for an armistice, Carranza replied definitely in the note of yesterday that he could not consider this as a condition of sending delegates to the conference.

It is known that Carranza has been strongly advised to agree to informal discussion of the internal perplexities of Mexico with the representatives of Huerta. Rafael Zubaran Capmany, Carranza's chief representative here; Luis Cabrera, another member of the Washington junta, and Fernando Calderon, leader of the Liberal party in Mexico, who is now on his way here, have all wired the first chief advising him to agree to the proposition which is so strongly favored by the mediators as well as the United States. Accomplishment of this was the chief cause of the visit here last week of the Argentine mediator, Senor Romulo Naon.

MILITANTS' BOMB WON'T WORK

London, June 24.—Another supposed attempt on the part of militant suffragettes to destroy a church failed last night through the imperfection of a fuse attached to a bomb. The bomb was found in the entrance of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin at Reading. It was made of a tin can filled with explosives.

The fuse had been lighted, but went out before the fire reached the explosive.

TOLD IN PLAINFIELD.

A Resident Known to All Our Readers Relates an Experience.

Readers of the Press have been told again and again of the merits of that reliable, time-proved kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills. The experiences told are not those of unknown persons, living far away. The cases are Plainfield cases, told by Plainfield people.

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years couldn't get relief. My back ached constantly and I had pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Randolph's Drug Store and my experiences was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement too strong. I simply wouldn't be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Treat had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

WALLINGFORD IN HIS PRIME

BY

GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

COPYRIGHT 1913 BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

PROLOGUE.

Those who laughed with "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" have a treat in store for them in "Wallingford In His Prime." Many adventures befall Wallingford and his friend Blackie Daw in this new tale, and they are all decidedly diverting and entertaining, for the precious pair have become very expert in the difficult art of separating people from their money. From the episode of the Speckled Bass Hollow Walled Bungalow company, in which Wallingford evens up an old score and punishes a business foe, to the adventure of the Bessmer malleable iron foundry at Oak Center there are smiles galore.

CHAPTER I.

There's Money In It.

NO. 21, rounding the curve at Buzzard Bluff, came to such an abrupt stop that the heavy gentleman who was the sole occupant of the parlor car was jerked to his knees, a position so novel and so out of range of his experience that he chuckled at himself as soon as he realized it. Being a calloused traveler, he merely rescued his hat from the floor, brushed the lint of the carpet from his carefully creased trousers, rang the bell for the porter, who he knew would not come, and went outside to see what was the matter.

In the private car of President Falls, just behind the parlor car, there was a trifle more of consternation, for certain hissing glasses upon the whist table were overturned, completely destroying two decks of cards and one lavender tinted waistcoat, the latter belonging to young Benssy Falls, a tall youth so handsome as to be pretty, who, like the well cultivated gentleman that he was, pushed back his chair, rang for the butler to clear away the mess and excused himself for long enough to change his waistcoat to another of the same hue, this being his lavender day. Perfect as were his manners, he nevertheless did allow an expression of impatience to escape him.

"How very annoying!" he observed, but his dimples showed immediately that he had regained his usual agreeable spirit.

"Not wishing to criticise your gov'nor's road, Bense, but it's rotten careless of somebody, I should say," drawled Rickey Saunders, a pink young person with a mustache that had been blighted in infancy, with an incurve from his collar button to his knees and with a father who had been considerate enough to die before he lost his third fortune.

"Father wouldn't be offended if he heard you, I'm quite sure," responded Benson. "He knows this road to be perfectly inexcusable, but he won't spend any money on improvements just now, because he expects to sell his stock immediately after the next dividends are declared."

The three other whist players were silent for a moment after this complicated statement and then the shrill little falsetto beneath the sparsely bristling Kaiser Wilhelm mustache of Buelow von Humperdinck suddenly announced the solution.

"I see the reason!" it declared excitedly. "By that course the dividends will be larger and he can secure a better price for his stock," and the permanent creases that passed for thought deepened in Von Humperdinck's fragmentary brow.

"I say, that's really clever," lisped Reginald de Puyster Haugh, whose still hateful surname was only one generation removed from Haw, and whose thick lips and broad shiny face still denied all that mere godfathers could do for him. "By the way, Benssy, I wonder what the blooming row's about, anyhow."

"Some one should have a good ragging for it," declared the black freckled young man with the nose, who had been a mere onlooker at the whist game. "Absolutely beastly damage has been done. Look at Benssy's model!"

On the floor by a table near one of the broad windows lay a once wonderfully neat but now pitifully bent and broken pasteboard model of a small house, the work of Benson Falls' own white hands. There was a general chorus of polite dismay upon the discovery of this catastrophe, but young Mr. Falls, whose skill at needlework and crape paper creations had made him the hit of every charity fair, dismissed the matter lightly, although he heaved the sigh of a distressed artist as he stooped to examine the damage that had been done to his pretty handiwork. He had just replaced it upon the table when Shamasuka appeared after the third ring.

"You're an annoying long time in coming, Sammy," protested Mr. Falls.

"I beg your pardon, sir," replied the Jap, "but I thought you might like to know the cause of the delay, and I hurried out to investigate."

"Very well, you may tell us," Mr. Falls graciously consented.

"Thank you, sir," responded Shamasuka. "There is a heavy rock slide on the track just ahead of us. The engineer made a very good stop, but, unfortunately, snapped a driving rod in doing so."

The eyes of all four of Mr. Falls' friends turned to him expectantly in this emergency. He was equal to the occasion.

"You will tell the conductor," he directed in the voice of authority, "to repair the driving rod, clear the track and proceed immediately."

"Yes, sir," said the Jap, in a tone almost of solemn gratitude, but when he reached the platform he grinned.

The heavy gentleman from the parlor car, who was already excellent friends with the crew, was discussing ways and means with the conductor when Shamasuka came out with the message. The conductor was listening with great respect.

"I beg your pardon, sir," said Shamasuka to the conductor, "but Mr. Falls directs me to tell you to repair your driving rod, clear the track and proceed immediately."

The conductor, whose name was O'Connell, turned red in the face. "You tell Mr. Falls that I directed him to go to the devil!" he roared.

"Yes, sir," said the Jap with pleasure, and when he regained the platform he permitted himself another grin.

The heavy gentleman turned to the conductor in perplexity. "You must be tired of your job," he suggested.

"Me? I love it," responded O'Connell, smiling. "But you don't think I'm sending that answer to President Falls, do you? It's his saphead son back there, and he's been giving me fool orders ever since we picked up his souse car at the junction. If the Jap only carries him my little speech and the cub only reports it to the old man I'm in line for promotion."

"I guess you're right," laughed the big fellow. "I know Falls. I wish he were in that car. That's the only diner on this train, and we're likely to be stuck here for three hours."

"Maybe longer," admitted O'Connell, with a frown. "It's eight miles back to the nearest telegraph station and ten forward."

A savage dissertation on the road in general was presently interrupted by the arrival of Benssy Falls, attended by his quartet of friends. The son of the president wasted no time in parley, but stalked straight up to the conductor.

"I demand an apology," he said, his dimples interfering sadly with his severity.

"You get back on your car," ordered O'Connell. "You can do what you please there, but I'm running the rest of the train."

"You will either apologize or I shall be compelled to ask you to fight," declared young Mr. Falls very sternly.

"That's what I call sportin'," announced Rickey Saunders with such keen delight that his stubble of mustache thinned visibly with the spread of his lip. "Aye, fellows?"

"Magnanimous of Benssy, considering the difference in class," murmured thick lipped Haugh, once Haw, whose father had been a dry goods clerk until he married an impressionable rich customer and developed a genius for being lucky at other stock and bond gambling.

O'Connell looked over the shoulders and arms of young Mr. Falls appreciatively, and a twinkle came into his eye. "Far be it from me to commit assault, battery or mayhem upon the son of my bread and butter," he stated. "But even if you were your own father, Mr. Falls, I'll bet a month's pay I'd defend myself if struck—if struck!"

"As the insulted party I have the right to the first blow, but I waive it," returned Mr. Falls, with dignity. "Kindly come into the car. Sammy, get out the gloves. Conductor, you may choose your second."

"I'll go you if I lose," said O'Connell with a grin, "and for my second I'll take Mr.— What is your name, brother?" and he turned to the heavy passenger with a wink.

"Wallingford," responded the heavy passenger, answering the wink with a chuckle. "J. Rufus Wallingford. I'll accept the office with pleasure."

Upon this Mr. O'Connell introduced Mr. Wallingford to Mr. Falls, who in turn introduced him to Mr. Saunders, Mr. Humperdinck, Mr. Haugh and Mr.

"I demand an apology."

Ringgold Cash, the black freckled young gentleman with the iron wire hair, who, dropping behind with Rickey Saunders as they proceeded to the car, confided to his friend his fears that Benssy was leading them into a rather questionable set of companions.

"Good sportin' blood, I call it," insisted Rickey. "And why not mix in with a few outsiders? Take this corpulent party, for instance; he may be a bounder and all that, looks like a man in trade, you know, but he can't hurt us any."

"No," admitted young Cash, whose great-grandfather had been a junk dealer. "We don't need to know him afterward, of course, but still one can't be too particular. One owes something to one's family."

Benssy Falls emerged from his compartment with his torso stripped to his sleeveless lavender silk undervest, surveying his own velvety biceps with complacent respect, and sat upon the leather cushion dining chair placed for him in the corner by Rickey Saunders. Rickey patted him encouragingly upon the round shoulders.

"You k'n whip your conductor chap, old top. Don't become fretted about it," he said, and plucked complacently at the pluckless mustache.

Across in the opposite corner Conductor O'Connell, disdaining to sit in the chair the urbane Wallingford had provided for him, stood without coat or hat, and his blue shirt sleeves rolled up to his elbows revealed his brawny and hairy forearms. He was grinning sheepishly.

Mr. Haugh presented Wallingford with a pair of gloves. Mr. Cash performed a like service for Mr. Saunders, and the two seconds carefully assisted their principals to tie on their deadly weapons.

"Are you ready, gentlemen?" inquired Buelow von Humperdinck, better known in this coterie as Humpsey.

"Just a moment," interrupted Rickey. "Anybody bettin'?"

"I'll go a hundred on my man," offered Wallingford quietly, and he did not make the mistake of making any motion to display the money.

"Done," returned Rickey quickly. "Anybody else?"

The black freckled young man with the nose critically surveyed the contestants as he rolled a cigarette. "You won't take it as deserting your colors, Benssy, if I book Rickey for his next hundred, will you?" he inquired.

"Certainly not," replied Benson courteously. "Use your own judgment, Ring."

"Jus' sportin', that's all," declared Rickey in further polite consent. "You're on, Ring. Anybody else?"

Reggie Haugh immediately offered Von Humperdinck a bet upon Benson, but the very thoughtful gentleman, finding room somehow in his brow for a third crease, immediately declined.

"Referee can't bet," he explained regretfully.

"A hundred to you, Ring," offered Reggie, but Mr. Cash, notoriously cautious, with the congenital avarice of his junk dealing ancestor, shook his head.

"I'm unlucky when I scatter my bets," he hedged.

"No fair," complained Reggie, pouting his fat pout. "I'll call the police and stop the match if I don't get a bet down."

Wallingford, studying the group with grave interest, hesitated for a decent length of time. "If it would not be considered forward of a stranger and nobody else cares to accommodate the gentleman, I will," he ventured.

"That's sportin' blood," approved Rickey Saunders, and not only himself, but all his companions, surveyed Wallingford with new interest.

He was a big man and a cheerful man and his round face bore the color which could only come from years of fastidiously selected food and drink. Moreover, his haberdashery, though striking, was correct and up to the minute and there was no disputing the fact that he employed a tailor who was an artist.

"Thanks, old chap," said Reggie gratefully.

"Ready?" again asked Von Humperdinck.

"Ready," replied Wallingford and Saunders in a breath.

"Shake hands," directed Von Humperdinck, the creases in his forehead tightening until his bristly pompadour seemed to slide over and halfway down his forehead. He felt a not unpardonable pride in having taken charge of the affair.

The principals performed the evolution to which they had been bidden, young Falls quite gracefully and O'Connell quite clumsily.

"Time!" called Von Humperdinck, snapping his stop watch.

Of course, after all this elaborate preparation, Benssy Falls, in his lavender silk undervest, Benssy with the dimples, sailed in and "licked" Conductor O'Connell, "licked" him thoroughly and completely, in three fast rounds, in which O'Connell, the victim of a hundred rough and tumble fights, slammed and banged and delivered tremendous blows upon thin atmosphere, while Benssy Falls, who once had donned ladies' clothes, rouge, powder and wig, presided at a fancy work booth and won the majority of votes in the beauty contest, danced around him and punched him at will, with good swinging right and left blows which had real steam behind them!

"I'm ashamed of myself," acknowledged O'Connell when the victory went to the young man of the dimples. "I thought boxing was more like fighting. You win, Mr. Falls, and for the rest of this trip you're running the train. I'll repair the driving rod, clear the track and proceed immediately," and taking his coat upon his arm and his cap in his hand, he bowed awkwardly and started for the door.

"You'll have a nip of something before you go, won't you?" invited Benssy hospitably.

"No, thanks," replied O'Connell. "I haven't taken a drink in ten years, and I'm in a hurry anyhow. I want to go out and pick a fight with my brakeman. I can lick him."

"You'll have something, won't you?" asked Benssy of Wallingford, who was producing two crisp hundred dollar bills from a long red pocketbook.

"With pleasure," replied Wallingford. "Losing a bet is always dry work for me," and he handed a bill each to Rickey Saunders and to Reginald de Puyster Haugh, with smiles that made them vote him a good game loser.

Shamasuka, upon order, replaced the table in the center of the apartment, brought bottles and glasses and six chairs, and the moment came for which Wallingford had longed. His acute nostrils had detected "sportin' money" in this crowd. The first thing to do, of course, was to make himself agreeable, and he did this to such good effect that within fifteen minutes his host had asked him to remain to dinner. He sat among them in smiling ease, a gentleman of experience, a world traveler, an all round good fellow, one who knew the vintage of wines by the taste and told rare stories with rarer discretion. Also he appreciated the pretty little pasteboard house when it was accidentally brought to his attention.

"Rippin' fine thing, it is," Rickey Saunders boasted. "Benssy's the architect and builder because he's such a clever chap with his fingers—embroiders the monograms on his own underwear and all that sort of thing, you know—but we're all in on the inventin'."

"It's a portable house for a fishing trip we contemplate," young Falls modestly explained. "The gov'nor's opening up a strip of land through upper Wisconsin and Michigan which is full of small virgin lakes, and he's given us permission to fish them out before his construction gangs go through."

Wallingford winced. He knew that strip of land quite well. He had once owned it, and its loss to Falls senior was the one big blot upon his own financial escutcheon. Falls had been a bigger thief and had stolen Wallingford's swag—that was the answer. And so E. H. was going to build a road through there, after all! He would make a mental note of that.

"And so you're building a windproof, dustproof, rainproof and snowproof portable house?" he suggested.

"Also heat and cold proof," added Rickey. "You see, we couldn't find a good, portable house, so we invented one on our way back from inspecting the happy hunting grounds. Stunning, the amount of brains we found in the crowd! Benssy invented the hollow walls, air space and that sort of thing, you know. Reggie figured out how to turn the table and benches into cots with real spring mattresses in them. Reggie's long on eating and sleeping. Humpsey, who is no end of a clever mechanic, devised the simplest sort of a collapsible cook stove with a telescoping pipe. Cash discovered the method of making the roof ridge watertight, and I worked out a fancy clamp to bind the corners together. But, after all, the real rippin' brains of the thing is Benssy's. The hollow wall idea was his—came to him just in a flash. Never wasted a moment of thought on it."

Benssy colored slightly. "Very ordinary idea, I'm sure," he said with becoming modesty, the dimples appearing for just an instant, then coyly vanishing. "Any one could have thought of it."

"Clever scheme," declared Wallingford, admiring the really good model with the practised eye of a born mechanic, as Benssy deftly took it apart and demonstrated how it was to be packed and shipped and reassembled. "Quite clever, indeed!" The opening for which he had been groping came in a flash, as inspired as that which had brought to Benssy Falls the stunning device of the hollow walls. "This is more than clever, gentlemen," he went on, his tone changing to one of grave earnestness that commanded instant attention. "It is worthy of serious commercial consideration. It would be a pity to allow so perfect an article of manufacture to go to waste."

"Well, of course, you know, none of us is in trade, and we wouldn't care for that sort of thing," announced Reggie Haugh loftily, with a shrinking thought of the original thick lipped Haw.

"I don't know, old chap," mused Benssy. "Why wouldn't it be a ripping good novelty for us all to go into trade? We've tried everything else."

"That's what I call sportin'," stated Rickey Saunders enthusiastically. "I'm for anything Benssy starts."

PROPER NEEDLES PLAY BIG PART IN HAND EMBROIDERY

While some may use the ordinary sewing needle, the large majority of the best needleworkers prefer the long-eyed or "Cewel" needle, and this is the one recommendation by nearly all of the societies of Decorative Art in this country. Nos. 9 and 10 are the proper sizes for one thread of Filo silk, which is to be embrodiered into linens, lawn, grass linen or bolting cloth. For ready stamped linens use No. 8 or No. 9; for heavier linens use No. 8 and for butchers' linen or fabrics mounted over linen No. 7 will be required. No. 7 is the size for heavier work in two threads of Filo silk. Persian cloth and etching silk require a No. 4 needle, and for Roman floss a No. 4 needle is needed. For rope silk choose a No. 22 Chenille needle.

Do not fail to secure one of the wonderful embroidery outfits now being distributed by the Daily Press practically free. You will find the coupon printed in another column every day.

CARDINAL CELEBRATES MASS.

Quebec, June 24—The proceedings in honor of the return of Cardinal Begin were resumed this morning with the celebration of a solemn mass in the Basilica. The mass was celebrated by his Eminence in the presence of a large gathering of the clergy and representatives of the religious communities. The new Cardinal was presented with an address by the clergy and later was entertained at luncheon at the seminary.

TWO SIMPLE DESIGNS FOR EMBROIDERING TOWEL ENDS

One enjoys a vacation better if every moment is engaged, not necessarily actively, for one often enjoys spending an hour or so during the hotest part of the day sitting quietly on the piazza or under a shady tree. During these quiet hours a bit of embroidery is acceptable company. Towels make an excellent "pick-up," and are not hard to do.

These two designs for towels are suitable for use on huckaback or damask and should be embroidered with white mercerized cotton No. 20. Pattern 14341 should be developed in Wallachion stitch and, if desired, a 2-inch initial may be placed in the wreath. This design is 22 inches long and the pattern includes transfers for stamping both ends of two towels.

The flowered, scalloped border illustrated on a towel is 3¼ inches wide and 3 yards and 4 corners are contained in the pattern. This border should be worked in solid work or eyelets and is appropriate for use on household linens, negligées and underwear.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer patterns will be supplied upon receipt of price, 10 cents each.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CHERRIES FOR WINTER.

WHEN cherries are plentiful and moderate in cost they should be put up in as many ways as possible for winter use. No fruit is more appreciated. It may be used alone or in combination with other fruits.

Piquant Fruit.

Cherry Sweet Pickle.—Pick cherries with the stems on, wash and pack in jars. Boil one quart of vinegar, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar and a few cloves or allspice together, pour over cherries and seal.

Dried Cherries. — Take ripe fruit, stone and scald well in thick sirup, lift out and lay on plates in the sun to dry, and when dry pack in paper sacks, sun occasionally and keep in a dry place.

Delicious Combinations.

Cherry and Pineapple Marmalade.—Take the stones from sour cherries. Peel pineapples and put through the food chopper, using the coarse knife. Measure the fruit and add a cupful of sugar for each cupful of the mixed fruit. Cook slowly until clear (about twenty minutes) and pour into glasses. When cold cover with paraffin. One medium sized pineapple and a quart of cherries will make three glasses of marmalade.

Cherry and Raspberry Jam. — Put eight pounds of cherries into a preserving pan, add one quart of cold water and boil until the pulp is off the stones, then strain through a jelly bag. Return the juice to the pan and add six pounds of raspberries and nine pounds of sugar. Boil for thirty or forty minutes.

Preserving Hint.

Cherry Preserve.—Three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit is required. If a very sweet preserve is preferred or if the cherries are exceedingly sour a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit may be used. Wash, stem and stone the fruit, then proceed as for strawberry preserves.

A simple, rapid and easy way to stone the cherry, leaving it whole and perfect in shape, is with an ordinary bit of bent wire between three and four inches in length. Insert the closed end of the wire into the stem end of the cherry and draw out the seed.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Conversation Of the Little Garden Flowers.

EVELYN had been able to find a number of flowers in the garden with which to decorate the house. Daddy noticed them at once and spoke about them.

"The flowers were talking the other day," commenced daddy. "It was early in the morning, and they had just awakened for the day. The dew had given them a most refreshing bath, and they were enjoying the warm sunshine.

"'You know I am feeling my best these days,' said the red peony.

"'I am feeling pretty fit myself,' replied Mrs. White Peony.

"'You know I think it is very sad for you to be talking about how happy you are when I am dying of a broken heart,' said the bleeding heart.

"'Oh, little bleeding heart,' said the johnny-jump-ups, who were listening, 'you must remember that you are very beautiful.'

"'Yes,' answered the bleeding heart; 'what you say is, I have no doubt, very true, and it is also very comforting, but it would be so nice to stand up straight instead of always having to droop. I would like to be very tall, too, something like the tiger lily.'

"At this the tiger lily looked very proud, but the other flowers didn't say much, as they didn't think the tiger lily was especially beautiful.

"'Well,' said the biggest iris of the family, 'for my part I am very well satisfied with myself and my family. We live for a very short time, but then we are alive in all the most glorious colors we can think of.'

"'I envy you,' said the little bleeding heart.

"'Oh, bleeding heart,' chimed in the early June rose, 'you mustn't talk the way you do! You are very lovely, and everybody loves you.'

"'Do you really think they do?' said the bleeding heart, looking brighter and happier.

"'Certainly,' answered the early June rose. 'It was only the other day that I heard some one say that they wished more people had bleeding hearts in their gardens, for they were such lovely old fashioned flowers.'

"Now, the bleeding heart really seemed to be quite contented once more, and the rest of the flowers went on talking of the different colors they thought their brothers and sisters might be.

"But quiet though they had been all the time the other flowers had been talking, the deep blue forgetmenots broke in and said:

"'We are very small, but we are loyal and will always come up in this garden, for we were the favorite flowers of the loveliest child that ever lived who was once brought up in this garden.'"

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Away off in the woods on a vacation with nothing to do but fish and philosophize, I took up a little volume by Ida Tarbell and read it with great pleasure. The little volume was entitled "The Business of Being a Woman," and was delightfully suggestive along many lines, besides being essentially sound in its claim that women should regard their work in the world as a really worthwhile "business."

But why not a vote to protect their business? Miss Tarbell regrets that women were unable to present "carefully tabulated experiments" showing the change in stockings as regarded shape, color and wearing quality—at the time when the question of a higher duty on hosiery was before Congress. Had the women been ready with their facts and had they come forward to object to the word tariff would they not have found it a help to be a body of voters?

Woman in the eyes of the "Antis" is usually superhuman or subhuman. In the eyes of Miss Tarbell she is at present subhuman—but it is really quite a disgrace to her that she is not superhuman. Miss Tarbell believes that she should be all things to her child. How is she to become all things? Must she not be trained, like man for some specific job? Her training may be for some part of the "Business of Being a Woman." We cannot train her for the whole "Business." It is too big. Do we train men vaguely for the "Business of Being a Man?"—to the exclusion of training for a specific task.

I know personally of only one man who had that sort of a training. He went to college, as he told his classmates, to learn to be a Philanthropist. Common report—in inelegant vernacular styles him "as well intentioned dub."

In this matter of training the educators of little children are far ahead of us who parley about the woman question. Miss Tarbell herself thinks more clearly when she is talking about children than when she is talking about women. She says "the effort to make one child like another, to make him what his parents want, not what he is born to be, is one of the most cruel and wasteful in society," and yet she does not see that there is any cruelty in making one woman like another, in making her what Mrs. Grundy wants her to be instead of what she is born to be. Miss Tarbell speaks of the corruption of American cities and calls attention to the fact that "this has come about under the regime of the emancipated woman."

Does she not see that women in our land are emancipated but are not held politically responsible? If a child were given all the freedom of a "grown-up" and yet not held responsible for how things went we shold have him as pleasure seeking (as irresponsible and as dangerous) as are many women today.

"Peace" says Miss Tarbell, "which comes from submission and restraint is a poor thing." Our uneasy woman must not be quieted into that kind of peace, say the suffragists. She must have her emancipation but sobered by responsibility.

Woman's imitation of man troubles Miss Tarbell very much. It doesn't trouble the modern suffragist very much; nor does the thoughtful Present Day Suffragist rail against "Man's Tyranny." When woman first stepped out of bondage and had to do something with her new freedom and didn't know just what to do, perhaps it was natural to imitate man. She is now getting beyond the imitative stage, and yet I would that she imitate man in one particular, his self reliance. Through the ages when physical force reigned supreme women have been a subject class.

This has created a subject mind. This subject mind will not be able at the start, to ably direct its own affairs, but if in the end it gets over its subjection the great desire of education will be attained. When women get over their subjection and the reaction from their subjection, the writer believes that something is sure to happen. They will apply themselves to the work of being women as never before, even as free men have applied themselves to the work of being men with greater energy and intelligence than have slave men.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

One of those delightfully cool, loose nightgowns, with square neck and short sleeves, which slips on over the head middy blouse fashion is shown in 7409. A fine muslin, nainsook or cotton crepe may be used with this design to advantage. There are clusters of fine tucks front and back and on each shoulder.

If a cotton crepe is used, heavy linen lace may trim neck. Cotton crepe is one of the most practical materials imaginable, as it washes so easily and requires no ironing.

To copy this gown in size 36, 3¾ yards of 40-inch material is needed.

Pattern comes in four sizes, 32 to 44.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

CARTER OUT FOR NATIONAL TITLE

PEER AMONG JUNIORS

As Exclusively Reported in This Paper Yesterday He Retained His Title as Champion of Metropolitan District—Final Returns.

Phil Carter—Phillip Van Gelder Carter is his real cognomen—did not have to extend himself to any great efforts on the sun baked links of the Plainfield Country Club yesterday afternoon to succeed himself as metropolitan junior golf champion. As told exclusively in this paper yesterday afternoon, Carter retained his crown by winning the finals 8 up and 6 to play. The juvenile pride of the Nassau Club was apparently the most unconcerned of the youngsters who fought out the finals yesterday afternoon and in each of his strokes was confidence that baffled his foe. He "put it all over" his rival in the championship round, Vincent Hilton, of Hackensack. The latter youth had resigned himself to a defeat before the tee-off and when the round had been finished he declared:

"I knew Phil too well. I knew he could beat me before we started."

Had they met as strangers the tale would not have been so one-sided but the two youngsters have battled together in several other tourneys during their youthful careers as golfers. Carter annexed the metropolitan title in 1913 when he defeated Stuart Connolly in a match which resembled, in many respects the one of yesterday. A large gallery of enthusiasts followed the rivals over the course but found little to reward them for their long vigil in the broiling rays of old Sol. Carter exhibited consistent form throughout the match but failed to do anything that verged on the sensational. He proved that he was head and shoulders above any other youngster in the metropolitan district but in doing so he made the final so one-sided that it was decidedly lacking in interest. Carter began with a victory on the first hole, and kept winning one hole after another until he reached the turn 7 up. He was out in 39 to 46 for Hilton.

It took just three more holes to settle the match. Carter won the tenth, Hilton captured the eleventh—his only win of the match—and when Carter took the twelfth it was all over.

The card:

Plainfield triumphed in the afternoon handicap which was won by W. S. Lyon with a card of 90-23, 67. Lyon was the last to return a card and his record was the cause for much rejoicing among the Queen City youths who fared rather poorly in the big event of the tournament. John Potter, of New Brunswick, took second prize. The scores:

W. S. Lyon, Plainfield,	90-23	67
John Potter, New Brun'k,	97-27	70
H. Obendorfer, Inwood,	93-21	72
Edmund Nash Apawamis,	81-5	76

Carter also has the Eastern interscholastic title and is unquestionably the most formidable eighteen-year-old youngster in the country. He will now begin to prepare for the national, two months hence, and is likely to prove one of the most interesting contenders in that event.

Tuesday night the Plainfield Country Club members entertained the out of town youngsters with a dance which was attended by nearly two hundred guests. Preceding the dance several dinner parties were given at the club at which some of the youngsters were guests

PLAN CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION

Series of Public Meetings Will Be Held to Discuss Consolidation.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., Selects 108 Representative Citizens of the Borough to Agitate the Question of Merger.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., of North Plainfield, has sent invitations to 108 representative citizens of the borough to become members of a committee which will conduct public meetings on the question of consolidation of that community with this city. The Mayor has requested each appointee to reply as to whether he will serve on such a committee, and when the replies have been received plans for public meetings will be made.

Mayor Clark stated this morning that in the majority of cases he was not aware as how the prospective committeemen stand in regard to consolidation. A difference of opinion among members of such a committee would have a tendency to bring out the points against consolidation, as well as the arguments favoring such a move. From present indications, a number of meetings will be held, when the public may become familiar with every phase of the question which will be voted upon September 24.

As yet there appears to be little interest in the borough and practically none in the city regarding the election to be held in September. No doubt the Board of Trade which was responsible for the action of the North Plainfield Council in fixing a date for the special election, will engage in the campaign. Inquiry among leading citizens shows a remarkable lack of interest. Judging by their comments there appears to be some doubt as to whether Plainfield would vote in favor of consolidation should the question be carried in the borough.

However, the borough officials are anxious that the question shall be fully discussed before the election so that everyone will be able to vote intelligently. No action will be taken by Plainfield until after the borough's election and the result is known. At present it is difficult to get a consensus of opinion among the people of the borough on consolidation, although there appears to be an opinion that the question will be carried by a large majority.

EIGHT DELINQUENTS ARE BROUGHT BEFORE RECORDER

The borough police have inaugurated a vigorous campaign against residents who have failed to secure licenses for their dogs, and as the result eight boroughites found themselves before Recorder Fred Hand, this morning. Those arraigned were William C. Kirchner, of Duer street; George E. Doran, of Brook avenue; Raymond G. Schenck, of Duer street; W. A. Conger, of Mountain avenue; Morris Estrin, of Somerset street; Mrs. Long, of Grove street, and Jeremiah Boylan, of Regent street.

Recorder Hand reprimanded the delinquents and suspended sentence after informing them that in the next case of the kind he would impose fines. The work of "rounding up" persons who have failed to comply with the law will be continued during the course of this week and next. Licenses can be secured from Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver at his office over police headquarters between 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning.

WANT BOARDING ADDRESSES.

The Charity Organization Society is anxious to get the addresses of good country boarding houses, places where delicate women and children can be sent for a time during the hot weather. Boardinghouses in the mountains are preferred and persons who are willing to take such boarders are requested to communicate with Miss M. C. Phillips, of the Babcock Building.

TOOK BOY'S WHEEL.

While the doctor-lawyer ball game of last Saturday was played for charity, a bicycle belonging to the young son of John Dickson, of Duer street, a cripple, was stolen or taken by mistake. The bicycle, a boy's size, was blue in color, and had a new back wheel. The person who misappropriated it will confer a favor upon the owner by returning the same before he is picked up by the police.

IT'S A BOY.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Randolph, of West Front streett, are parents of an eight and one-half pound boy born this morning.

RISKS OWN LIFE TO SAVE GIRL

Elliott Conover Plunges Into Ocean and Rescues Miss Sarena V. Roome.

WILL BE REWARDED

Young Woman Caught in Strong Current and Was Being Carried Out to Sea—Hero the Son of Rev. G. M. Conover.

Miss Sarena V. Roome, aged twenty-one years, daughter of a prominent Freehold man, who is stopping at Manasquan, is recovering from the effects of an accident which all but cost her life while bathing at Manasquan, this week. That her life was spared is entirely due to the bravery of Elliott Conover, son of Rev. Garret M. Conover, of Asbury Park, who is well-known here, who plunged into the surf fully clad when he saw the young woman struggling against a sea puss that was carrying her further into the ocean.

Young Conover almost lost his own life in his successful efforts to save that of Miss Roome, and it was all that he could do to keep the woman above water until a boat manned by hardy fishermen could reach the pair. With his characteristic modesty, Conover hurried home after saving the girl, and it was only after much difficulty that Andrew Longstreet, of the Manasquan lifesaving station, was able to learn the young man's full name. Conover will be rewarded for his bravery by a government medal for heroism, upon the recommendation of Keeper Longstreet.

Miss Roome and several companions were making merry in the surf when she was caught in the strong current which was running northerly before a strong south wind and was carried directly into the eddies of a sea puss which has been shunned by bathers all spring. Miss Roome's father stood on the beach helpless in his terror. He realized that his daughter was being carried to sea despite her efforts to swim against the currents.

Young Conover, realizing the girl's danger, plunged into the sea. By the time he dove into the water the girl was almost out to the bar, but he was soon beside her. Battling against the tide and crying with what voice he could command for a boat, he held the girl above the water for several minutes.

Charles Pearce, an employe of the Manasquan Fish Company, saw the predicament of the girl and Conover and he called upon several Norwegians, members of the fishery's crew, who manned a beach skiffand hastened to the aid of the pair. Conover, as well as the girl, was almost exhausted when he reached shore. Those who witnessed the rescue, declare Conover's act one of the bravest witnessed along the Jersey shore in some time. The young man has a number of relatives here, where he has visited many times. It is said he will probably receive a Carnegie medal for his heroism.

CHARITY ORGANIZATION APPEALS FOR ASSISTANCE

An appeal has been made by the Charity Organization Society for special assistance for the special summer work which is carried on by that organization each week. Contributions, however small, will be gladly received by the treasurer, J. Albert Lane, at the Babcock building. During the course of last season, four hundred and fifty women and children had all-day trips to the seashore and twenty-six young people were given a week or more of vacation in the country.

The organization has given out the following figures, showing just what may be accomplished by cash contributions: 50 cents supplies a baby with milk for a week, $1.00 supplies a family with ice for two weeks, $2.00 gives a mother and her children an all-day outing, $3.00 gives a child a week in the country, $5.00 gives a working girl a week's vacation.

MAD FLIGHT IN HIGH GEARED CAR

Six Hurt, Two Dying, After Joy-riders Ram Automobile With Family.

HURLED OVER A FENCE

Accident Near Metuchen Results Seriously—Women Tangled in the Wreckage—Two Held Under Crushing Weight for An Hour.

Six persons were hurt, two mortally, shortly after 8 o'clock last night when an automobile, traveling at a speed estimated to have been sixty miles an hour, collided with a car going in the opposite direction on the Wodbridge turnpike near Metuchen. The occupants of both machines were trapped in the wrecked vehicles and for a time it was thought that all had been killed.

The injured are:

Miss Clementine Eckridt, of Highland Park; leg broken, internal injuries. In Wells Memorial Hospital at New Brunswick.

Miss Blanche Lucas, of Highland Park; cuts, bruises and shock. Home.

Frank Moore, of South River; internal injuries and other hurts. Will die. In St. Peter's Hospital, New Brunswick.

Henry Parsons, of New Brunswick; internal injuries. Will die. St. Peter's Hospital.

Mrs. W. L. Taylor; cuts, bruises and shock. Home.

Moore and Carstens took a Palmer-Singer racing car last night from New Brunswick and the former was driving when the accident occurred. Half way down the steep incline the machine shot past a log wagon and then crashed into the car owned and driven by Taylor. In the latter's car besides the owner, who is the assessor of Highland Park, were his wife, Miss Clementine Eckridt and Miss Lucas.

So great was the impact that both cars were thrown over a fence and fell into an eighteen foot ditch. Irving Eggert, of Highland Park, happened along shortly after the collision and gave what aid he could to the unfortuate victims. He foud Mrs. Taylor, Miss Lucas and Miss Eckridt unconscious, and Taylor so badly hurt that he could not get to his feet. Eggert telephoned to the police of Metuchen and asked that aid be sent at once and when the officers and two doctors from Metuchen arrived on the scene they found Moore and Parsons still pinioned under the overturned car. After they had been buried for nearly three-quarters of an hour several other men came along and lifted the heavy machine. The car Moore drove belonged to a New Brunswick contractor by whom he was employed as a chauffeur. The police were unable to learn whether he had permission to take out the machine. They are inclined to believe that the pair were joy riding when the accident happened.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY ACCIDENT AVERTED ON SPENCER'S HILL

What threatened to terminate in a serious accident yesterday, on the mountain road in back of Scotch Plains, was averted by the bravery of three young men who stopped a pair of runaway horses. The men said that they were employed at the Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, but refused to give their names.

A party of Plainfield women, about forty in number, went for a day's outing to "Glenside" in a large stage. Returning home they came down "Spencer's Hill," one of the most dangerous in the vicinity. The driver tried to put on the brake but found that it would not work. The weight of the stage bore down on the horses and they started to gallop down the hill. One of the front wheels struck a boulder and one of the women jumped from her seat and sustained severe injuries. The three men happened to be on the road at the time and caught the animals half way down the hill. All of the party were shaken up but no one was seriously injured.

TO CLOSE THURSDAYS.

Scheuer and Company, of West Front street, will close its store all day Thursdays during the month of July. Whether other grocers and butchers will follow, since the lead has been taken, is not known, although it is said that several of the merchants have expressed themselves as favoring this plan.

EMPLOYES TO DECIDE MATTER

A. E. Force Says Merchants Will Defer to Their Wishes On August Closing Days.

THURSDAY IS FAVORED

President of Business Men's Association Replies to Letter in Last Night's Press—Says Merchants Know How to Run Own Business.

That most of the Plainfield merchants will close their stores all day on Thursday, during the month of August, instead of a half day on Saturdays, as was requested by the civic committee of the College Club, is believed to be the case now. The greater number of the employes of the larger stores have signed a petition to their employers, requesting that the action taken Monday night, when a Saturday half holiday was decided upon, be rescinded.

A. E. Force, president of the Business Men's Association, in talking about the matter with a Daily Press reporter, this morning, was much incensed about a letter which was printed in the Forum column of the Daily Press last night, in which Miss Elizabeth L. Smith criticised the action of the merchants in not being able to decide what they would do. Mr. Force said:

"It certainly gives me great pleasure to reply to Miss Elizabeth L. Smith's letter in the Forum column of the Daily Press last night. Judging from the present indications the merchants of Plainfield or elsewhere will not have the privilege of running their business much longer, but those who have no money invested in these enterprises will attempt to say how they shall be directed.

"Miss Smith says that the petition was for Saturday afternoon and why was the question of Thursday brought up. If Miss Smith had been well informed, she would not have asked that question, as the merchants at the meeting at the Y. M. C. A., on Monday evening last, decided to close on Saturday afternoons and evenings during the month of August and open Friday evening, but on Tuesday it developed that more than 90 per cent. of the employes throughout the largest stores entered a strong protest on the action the merchants had taken and especially requested us to consider the movement in favor of Thursday all day.

"We merchants are ever ready to meet our employes more than half way and we did reconsider our action and decided to close on Thursday all day during the month of August. Saturday may be the logical day, but we are trying to give our employes what they want and not what we and the public would like them to have.

"As president of the Business Men's Association, I certainly resent the unjust criticism and feel that I must reply in their defense."

Some of the merchants are opposed to closing on Thursdays and have circulated an agreement, which has been signed by several, by which their stores will remain open six days in the week during the month of August. The agreement reads as follows:

"We wish to convey to the public that we are not opposed to closing our stores during the month of August in the spirit of depriving our clerks of an extra holiday, as each one in our employ will receive the same privileges as those that will close, but we deem it advisable for the benefit of our enterprise and the public that we cater to to keep our stores open and not follow the rule of some who are engaged in different lines of business."

It is said by those who signed this agreement that they will give the clerks one day off each week.

BORO 'PHONE BOOTH.

John J. Carty, local representative of the New York Telephone Company, has been instrumental in having two public telephone booths installed at 4 Somerset street, in the extension in front of Samuel Block's store. These booths are to be open day and night. The booths have been neatly painted and lighted, with blue, the telephone color, prevailing. It is planned by Mr. Carty to have the windows lettered with the company's monogram.

CLAFLINS IN BANKRUPTCY; $34,000,000 LIABILITIES

Involuntary Petition Filed Today in New York—3,000 Banks Held Paper, But No Local Financial Institutions Are Involved—Company Representative Says Assets Are $44,000,000—Firm Had Between 20 and 27 Big Stores Under Control.

New York, June 25.—Equity proceedings for the appointment of receivers for the H. B. Claflin Company and the Defender Manufacturing Company were filed with the clerk of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York this morning.

John C. Eames, of New York, brought the petition against the Claflin Company in behalf of himself and other cerditors. Mr. Eames claims that the H. B. Claflin Company owes him $3,668 on a loan and that it has several million dollars of indebtedness. The petitioner against the Defender Company is William P. Odell, of New Jersey, a note creditor against the company for $5,200. Judge Hand appointed Joseph E. Martindale, president of the Chemical National Bank, and Frederick A. Juilliard, receivers for both companies. The receivers' bond is placed at $500,000 in the case of the Claflin Company, and $50,000 for the Defender Company. Corbitt and Stern are counsel for Messrs. Eames and Odell and Richard Welling for the two defendant companies. The Defender Company carries on business at 214 Avenue C, New York city.

The H. B. Claflin Company occupies the entire block bound by Church, West Broadway, Worth and Leonard streets.

John Muller, of Lefferts avenue, Queens, creditor for $731; William Worth, of Dew Dorp, Richmond, creditor for $3,151, and Alfred F. Bergner, of New York, creditor for $28,370, have led an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Claflin company. The creditors are represented by Gregg and McGovern.

It is estimated that the liabilities of the Claflin company are $34,000,000 and that the assets are about $44,000,000. It is believed that 3,000 banks throughout the country will be affected, as it is understood that this number hold Claflin paper. Twenty-five of the important New York banks are also believed to be interested. Those in a position to know claim that in no way will the proceedings affect the United Dry Goods Companies.

A protective committee composed of noteholders has been formed to look after the interest of the creditors. They will also represent most of the banks. The chairman of the committee is President Alexander, of the National Bank of Commerce.

That the Associated Merchants' Company and the United Dry Goods Company are interested in the Claflin company only as stockholders is indicated by a close examination of their reports. It is also shown that the earnings of the Associated Merchant and the United Dry Goods from their independent stores would be more than enough to continue paying dividends on their preferred stock even with an entire secession of revenue from the Claflin company, provided the directors thought such a course wise.

No money is owed by ither the United Dry Goods or the Associated Merchants and the independent stores will doubtless continue to finance them as before.

That while the Lord & Taylor Company, one of the independent stores, is understood to have considerable outstanding commercial papers, its assets are amply sufficient to take care of the paper as it matures.

The counsel for the Claflin company has filed an answer agreeing to the appointment of receivers in the equity suit.

Though generally expected at the close of the market yesterday the announcement of a receiver for the Claflin company caused excited trading in the stock market this morning, and losses were sustained in nearly everything in which there was any amount of business. The company's preferred stock which sold down to 82 yesterday opened this morning at 70.

Up to the present time a suspension has been averted by the large additional advances made Mr. Claflin by his New York banks. It is understood that the country banks have not been renewing their loans to the extent tha they did before.

Inquiry at all of the local banking institutions, this afternoon, developed the fact that none of the paper of the Claflin concern was held locally. Local bankers said that they thought that the failure because of its magnitude, would have a very far

ADMITS STEALING; HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Arthur Steeber, eighteen years of age, of 225 Cottage street, Irvington, and an employee of the Castle Ice Cream Company, was arraigned before Judge Thomas H. Snape in the Borough Court, last evening, on the charge of larceny, he having stole, it is said, two hypodermic cases from the store of Louis Z. Weiss, on Somerset street, on June 15. Marshall Charles Keller, of the borough, made the arrest at Irvington yesterday, under a warrant sworn out by Chief Weiss. Steeber pleaded guilty to the charge, and also admitted stealing two safety razors from the drug store formerly conducted by Charles Neagle, on West Front street, while delivering ice cream at that place.

After taking the evidence, Judge Snape held Steeber for the October term of the Somerset County Grand Jury. As the bail was not produced Steeber is being held in the borough lockup for a day or two. The prisoner, although but a young man, is said to be a "dope fiend," having been in the habit of using drugs for the past two years. He claims to have been under the influence of drugs when the local thefts were committed.

WILL EXTEND DATE FOR FILING PETITIONS

Information for Voters Regarding Primary Election to Be Held Sept. 22.

The last day for filing petitions for nominations this year will be Sunday, August 28, but it is probable that the date will be extended to the following day. The primary election this year will take place on September 22.

In Congressional Districts lying wholly within a single county, such as the Seventh in Passaic county, the Ninth and Tenth in Essex, and the Eleventh and Twelfth in Hudson, the petitions nominating candidates for Congress must be filed at least twenty-five days before the primary election, or on Friday, August 28. These petitions must be filed with the county clerk.

Petitions for the nomination of all county candidates, including members of the Legislature, must also be filed with the county clerk at least twenty-five days before the primary election.

On or before July 1 the chairman of the county committee must file with the municipal clerks the number of committeemen to be elected. The members of the county and city committees of the political parties are to be chosen at the primary election.

Two members of the County Board of Elections in each county are to be commissioned by Governor Fielder during the month of July. The term of office of all members of the County Board of Elections thus commissioned will begin on August 1; the other two members of the Board in each county holding over. All the County Election Boards are required to meet and organize during the first ten days of August.

COLORED MASONS MEET.

The State Grand Lodge of Colored Masons gathered in their semi-annual session this morning at the lodge rooms of Stone Square Lodge, of this city, on St. Mary's avenue. The gathering this morning was occupied with routine business. At noon a collation was served the visiting guests at the Nonpareil clubrooms.

BUS SCHEDULE CHANGE.

Beginning July 1 the Plainfield Transit Company will discontinue two of its runs to South Plainfield. The morning trip leaving here at 7:45 will be taken off and the 9 o'clock run in the evening will also be stopped.

Miss Florence Coons, of Somerset street, is enjoying a vacation.

When Camp Endeavor opens on the mountain in back of Scotch Plains on or about July 6, there will be a number of changes. Heretofore boys from New York missions were sent to the camp, but beginning with this year, men, women and children from all over Union county will be accommodated. A dormitory is nearly completed that will house several mothers and forty children. A playground is also being built for the youngsters.

About thirty members of the Epworth League went to Westfield last evening and were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Cuthbertson. Musical selections and games were enjoyed during the evening after which all sat down to a banquet.

The Lincoln Social Club meets this evening with W. G. Britton, of Terrill road.

According to the borough Board of Health the days of Fanwood being an "easy mark" are passed. Heretofore builders could put up any kind of a dwelling they wished and install plumbing, etc., without having an inspection made. From now on the plumbing and wiring in all new buildings will have to be approved by William Addis, the recently appointed inspector, and it is planned soon to have a building line and it will be necessary for builders to secure permits.

George Gifford has returned from college in Ohio and will spend the summer with his parents in the township.

After a month's work a large gang of telephone men have finished the installation of a telephone cable from Plainfield to supply subscribers in this place. It will do away with the many single wires.

The C. R. R. of N. J. has at last started to work on the walks and roads approaching the local station, as they advised the Borough Council they would do several months ago. All of the walks will be re-inforced concrete and the road on either side of the postoffice bridge will be repaired.

The meetings of the Sunday-school of All Saints' Episcopal church will be discontinued in a short time for the summer as is the annual custom. Instead of the regular meetings the pastor will give a series of lectures on the Bible stories.

Dunellen & Vicinity

Principal Guy H. Rentschler, of the local schools, accompanied by his sister, Miss Elizabeth Rentschler, who has been a visitor in the borough for the past two weeks or more, left today for Ringstown, Pa., where Mr. Rentschler will spend his summer vacation with his parents.

Adelbert Whitford, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Whitford, who left on Monday for a two weeks' or more stay at Atlantic City, returned unexpectedly from that place yesterday.

The Crescent Tennis Club, of this borough, opened its tournament season successfully at the club's Madison avenue courts on Sunday afternoon, when it defeated the Yama Tennis Club, of Plainfield, in every match. Before a large and enthusiastic assemblage, Messrs. Wescott and Ralph Eckert achieved the first victory, by winning the doubles from Messrs. Weaver and Taylor, 6-1, 6-0. In the singles Alton Eckert defeated Mr. Weaver, 6-1, 6-1. In an additional set of singles James Markle defeated Mr. Taylor 6-1, 9-7. The volleying of Ralph Eckert in the doubles match was the sensation of the afternoon, his clever footwork and overhead smashes at the net being largely responsible for the defeat of the Yama pair.

Contractor Goldson Smalley and force were busy yesterday laying a concrete walk along the Madison avenue frontage of the Kupfenburg property.

Mrs. Maurice L. Rarick, of New Market road, is entertaining her father from out of town.

The many friends of A. K. Naugle, who taught the eighth grade during the past year, are congratulating him over the good offer which he has received and accepted from the schools at Linden. Nevertheless they regret that he is to leave here.

A musicale is to be given by the pupils of Mrs. Charles S. Day, assisted by Archie LaRue, violinist, and Rev. J. J. Allen, tenor, in the Seventh-Day Baptist church this evening, under the auspices of the C. E. Society of that church. A silver offering will be taken. Ice cream will be on sale at the close of the musicale.

The annual excursion of the Presbyterian Sunday-school to Asbury Park will be held on July 2.

Miss Mabel Whitford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Whitford, of New Market road, who has been teaching school at Millington, has returned home for the summer vacation.

On account of the warm weather last evening, the third performance of the Boy Scout benefit week in the local theatre was rather slimly attended. Without taking into consideration the five reels of motion pictures, of the usual high standard, those who were present were repaid alone for attending, by a solo sung by Mrs. Ford Eckerson, and some sleight-of-hand performances by Jesse Rogers, the local magician. Both Mrs. Eckerson and Mr. Rogers were well received. At the conclusion of her song Mrs. Eckerson was presented with a large bouquet of red Jack roses. Tomorrow evening Mrs. E. L. Field will sing by special request, "Barney Sweet Bessie." Mrs. E. L. Field will also sing a duet with W. W. Giddes, entitled "Only Thee."

Borough Engineer Churchill gave line and grade this morning for a sidewalk to be laid on the northerly side of Front street from Madison avenue in a westerly direction to the end of the borough line.

The interest in the games of the Woman's Two-team Bowling Tournament on the Presbyterian alleys, this evening, centers upon whether or not the Mrs. Fred Vail and Mrs. William Johnson duo will clean up in the games that they roll with the Miss Gertrude Parker and Miss May Strickland, and the Mrs. J. G. Kelly and Mrs. Robert Craig teams, and thus cause a tie to exist for first place between their team and the Mrs. H. B. Arnold and Mrs. J. Newton Apgar combination.

Contractor Charles Wrage has about finished the addition that he is making to the rear of the hardware store of Smalley Brothers. The addition that he is making to the rear of the gents' furnishing store of Oscar Runyon is also progressing rapidly.

Whitehouse.

The children's choir of the Reformed church at Whitehouse Station, under the direction of Miss Bertha Large, will give a concert in that edifice Tuesday evening. The soloists will be Charles S. Jones, baritone, of New York; J. H. Herder, tenor, of Somerville; Miss Bertha Large, soprano, of Whitehouse, and Miss Helen Conklin, pianist, of High Bridge. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the church and the choir.

There was a large gathering on the baseball grounds at Lebanon, last night, at a festival for the benefit of the team. Music was furnished by the Lebanon Concert band.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wienrebe and Mr. and Mrs. James Lloyd Taylor, both couples recently married, were serenaded at Whitehouse Station, Monday evening, by their friends, who had engaged the Lebanon Concert band.

Miss Charity Johnson, of Bound Brook, is spending a week near Potterstown.

John Skillman, of Jersey City, who was visiting Isaac Davis, at Lamington, was taken to Somerset Hospital, in Somerville, yesterday for treatment. He went to the Davis home Sunday in his automobile, and while cranking his machine was stricken with pains in the stomach. It is feared an operation will be necessary.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. John T. Scott, returned to the manse of the Presbyterian church at Lamington yesterday, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. William Derby, of Lansford, Pa.

The congregation of the Methodist Episcopal church in East Whitehouse, announced yesterday that the proceeds of the festival Saturday evening amounted to $130.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Brunt and sons, of New York, are spending a week at their farm near Centreville.

Miss Emma Case, of Newark, is spending a week with relatives at her former home near Whitehouse Station.

Several young people will go from this place to Three Bridges tonight to attend the commencement exercises of the public schools of this township

New Providence.

Nathaniel Bonnell, of Newark, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Phoebe Kent, of Springfield avenue, West Summit.

W. J. Brotherson, of Springfield avenue, who has been ill for several weeks, is slowly recovering.

The inmates of the Murray Hill Children's Home will be guests Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Faulks of Elizabeth, who are spending the summer at Glenside Park, in New Providence township. The event will be in celebration of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Faulks who have thus celebrated for three years.

Closing exercises of the New Providence borough schools will be held tomorrow evening. Eleven pupils will receive grammar grade diplomas.

Somerville

Miss Anna Elizabeth Vander Beek, of this place, and Henry Smith, of Plainfield, were married at the home of the bride, on Davenport street, at six last evening, by the Rev. C. C. Silvester, rector of St. John's church. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Plainfield.

Miss Anna Miller has been entertaining a house party at her home on West High street consisting of the following: Misses Helen Space, Harriet Space and Miss Laura Colt, all of Wantaugh, L. I. Miss Cole is a talented soprano, having studied music at Washington, D. C., and also singing for some time in a church there attended by many presidents.

Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Voorhees are spending the summer at Sebec Village, Maine, where they will remain until the latter part of September.

After the session of the Somerset County Courts tomorrow, court will only be held the last Friday in July and August, unless matters of importance should come up.

Miss Josephine Allgair, of this place, was awarded the prize of a $5 gold piece offered by General Frelinghuysen Chapter, D. A. R., for the best year's average in history and civics in the eighth grade of the public school.

There will be no senior dance of 1914 this year, a custom introduced in 1903, the invitations having been recalled and the hall and music given up. There are many versions as to why this action was taken, but no twoe alike. The most general report seems to indicate that outside interests were given a greater voice in the arrangements than were members of the class.

Raritan

Thomas P. Gallagher county superintendent of weights and measures, has returned from a visit of several days at Atlantic City, where he attended the annual convention of superintendents of weights and measures.

Mrs. John B. Mottley has been visiting in Dunellen.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS HOLD CEREMONIAL MEETING

The final ceremonial meeting of the Owissa Camp Fire Girls of the Y. W. C. A. was held at the association building, Tuesday night. It was originally planned to hold this meeting in the gardens of Mrs. Frederick G. Meade's home but the weather did not permit. The feature of the evening was the awarding of the honor of "Woodgatherer" to Miss Winifred Eaton for her excellent work. The "Injun Girls" cooked their supper at the association and then spent the evening in true Injun fashion. A large camp fire was made and the party all gathered about it.

Beads were awarded to several of the girls for efficiency in various crafts, and when enough have been won by one person they are put on a string and hung about the neck. After the honors had been given the girls were called upon to tell what they had done during the past year. The meeting was concluded with a talk by Miss Wetherell on "The Laws of the Fire." Activities will be suspended for the summer months and begin again in the fall. Three delegates were appointed to the Club Girls' Conference which will be held at Altmont, N. Y.

"GIVEN IN MARRIAGE" BY HER 12-YEAR-OLD GRANDSON

Washington, N. J., June 25.—Mrs. Georgiana Long, of High Bridge, formerly of Hampton, and Samuel G. Lunger, of Clinton were married at noon Tuesday. The ceremony was performed at the Washington M. E. parsonage where the bride had been visiting for several weeks. Rev. J. B. J. Rhodes performed the ceremony in the presence of about a dozen of the immediate relatives. The bride was given in marriage by her twelve-year-old grandson, Donald Long, of High Bridge.

The bridegroom was a widower and is in business at Clinton. Mr. and Mrs. Lunger left on the Buffalo express for New York, being given an enthusiastic send-off by their friends and relatives at the station. They also plan a trip to Old Point Comfort and after the honeymoon trip will live in Clinton.

QUARTET CHOIR TO GIVE SPECIAL MUSICAL SERVICE

The quartet choir of the First M. E. church, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist and choirmaster, will give a special musical service at the church Sunday night, the last of the season. The quartet, Miss Gabrielle Drosse, soprano; Miss Ethel G. Kinnaman, contralto; Edgar A. Cole, baritone, and Aleck MacGowan, tenor, will be assisted by Adolph Bock, violinist.

This will be the last appearance of Miss Kinnaman for the season, as she leaves next week for the West to sing with Pryor and his band in Kansas City for several weeks in August. The quartet has had a successful season, having sung many new and standard oratorios at monthly musical services during the winter and the director has planned even a more attractive season for next year. The service Sunday evening will be semi-patriotic and will include a baritone solo, "O Land We Love, America," words by Dr. W. C. O'Donnell and music by Miss May Vincent Whitney.

The numbers will be as follows: Orientale, VanGowns, organ and violin; anthem, O Sing Unto the Lord, Wooler; offertory, Meditation, Beethoven, and Save Me, O God, Randegger; contralto solo, anthem, To Thee, O Country, Eichberg; O Land We Love, America, baritone solo.

DAY OF REST AND EFFICIENCY.

The refreshing influence of the weekly "day of rest" on a pesron subjected to the strenuous routine of a busy life is a feature which he himself can duly appreciate in the effects on his "feelings" and "spirits." The efficiency of the working man, the length of the working-day, the interjection of pauses for rest in the schedule of labor for persons of different ages and stations in life—questions of this sort are constantly arising for solution on a scientific basis. Not only in the field of manual labor, but also in the case of the schoolchild, the office-boy, the facory girl, the banker and the merchant, efficiency is the key-note of the times. Fatigue is the enemy of efficiency; and to detect and compensate for or overcome it, is the duty of those concerned with the promotion of human welfare.

In view of this says The Journal of the American Medical Association it is of more than passing interest, to know that Dr. Martin and some of his associates in the Laboratory of Physiology at the Harvard Medical School, have been making a careful study of the whole question of fatigue and efficiency from a physiological standpoint. A long series of experiments have been made on first-year medical students who were following a regular routine of school work during six days of each week. The routine was interrupted weekly by the Sunday recess, an interval occupied variously by the students, but in no case in precisely the manner of the week days. The daily observations made on these persons during several weeks show that at the beginning of the week. the nerve reaction tends to be high, that from then until the end of the week there is a fairly continuous decline, and that following the interruption of the routine by the intervention of Sunday, it returns to the original high point.

The decline is interpreted as a cumulative result of general fatigue incident to routine. What is even more significant, however, is the added fact that a pronounced break in the routine—such as the "day of rest" occasions—may bring about a return of sensitiveness to a high point or, in other words, it restores the nervous tone. Studies continued in this direction should lead to some useful conclusions regarding the maximum of work, with respect to both its duration and type, that should determine the conditions under which the organism of man may be maintained without depletion.

SWIMMING LESSONS FOR ALL.

Since the Board of Education put the swimming pool in the new High School there has been more or less criticism of the action. That criticism came during the winter months when the people did not think so much about the desire of the small boys to go "in swimmin'." Now that the newspapers nearly every day record drownings of young people, each attended with pathos and sadness, and usually coming in the midst of picnics, pleasure trips and outings, sober second thought is being given to the work of the school body.

The responsibility of the community to take measures to conserve human life, and make these drowning accidents less likely, has made people realize that perhaps after all swimming lessons will prove a valuable part of the curriculum, and many who criticized at first now praise the idea.

Not only here in Plainfield is thought being given to need of swimming lessons in the schools. Club women are taking up the matter in other states, with the idea of asking the state legislature next winter to make swimming a part of the compulsory education of the child. The movement started in Kansas City, where the women realize that many deaths by drowning might have been avoided if children were taught to swim.

The Kansas women have adopted a well organized method of campaign. They will compile a table of accidents in the water resulting from failure of persons to understand how to swim, and the plan is one which might well be adopted in other cities and states. The training of children, and older people as well, in the art of swimming is something to be encouraged by eyeryone, and just now deserves particular attention by the individual and by the community as a whole.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home will re-open for the summer on July 6. Last year 4,100 mothers and children from New York were given an opportunity to get a bit of fresh air at this worthy institution, which is largely maintained by charitable New Yorkers through benefits given during the winter months, and through money derived from an endowment fund. Under the care of Miss Sara A. Curry, many thousands of poor people have been made happy, and have been given an outing about which they have talked for months afterward, the memory lingering fresh in their minds from one year's end to the other. While the home does not make an organized appeal for help in this city, it has many friends here, and any subscriptions or other gifts will be welcomed with pleasure by the management of the institution.

The Federal authorities have started a campaign to clear the country of medical fakirs who use the mails to send out advertising of their alleged cures. One man was arrested in New York yesterday, and it is planned to make charges against hundreds of other concerns as the evidence is procured. They might well begin an investigation of some of the medicine frauds who use the country newspapers to advertise all sorts of fake and worthless cure-alls, but which ignorant people use because they believe every extravagant claim made for the nostrums.

"Let New York have her Central Park, Philadelphia her Willow Grove and Brooklyn her Prospect Park, but give me Plainfield with a soldiers monument at the Crescent avenue triangle," says the sage of East Second street. Probably this is a hint for some civic body to wake up.

There seems to be mighty little interest in local politics as yet. Warm weather accounts for it, but the thankless task which confronts the mayor and councilmen is undoubtedly more than a little responsible for the apathy.

By the way, what happened to that mass-meeting which was to be given "at once" to protest against the action of the Borough Council in calling a consolidation election?

Whether you speak of the Queen City of New Jersey, the Colorado of the East or the City by the Hills, you must admit that Plainfield is IT.

More public drinking fountains for horses are very much needed in Plainfield. The hot weather has emphasized the fact.

LODGE ELECT OFFICERS.

Routine business and the election of officers engaged the attention of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., at their regular session last evening. The officers elected were as follows: Prophet, Edward Skinner; sachem, John Flynn; senior sagamore, John Madden; junior sagamore, Lewis Clarke. The remaining officers will be appointed at the time of the installation next Wednesday evening, when District Deputy Shultz and staff, of Cranford, will be present. The installation will be followed by a collation.

The Misses Margaret and Elsie Carson, of Lenox avenue, gave a porch party yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Helen Whitford. After an enjoyable afternoon refreshments were served by the hostesses.

NEW 'PHONE BOOK HAS 120,000 NAMES

Distribution of May Issue Started Today by New York Telephone Co.

The New York Telephone Company today began the distribution of its May issue of telephone directories to its subscribers in Plainfield. Each subscriber will receive two books—the New Jersey Division Directory, which contains the listings of New Jersey subscribers to the New York Telephone Company's system, and the New York city directory, which has the names of all subscribers in the five boroughs of Greater New York.

157,000 New Jersey division directories and 817,500 New York city telephone books have been printed. In addition, 685,000 suburban directories and books for the Westchester and Long Island telephone districts have been published, so that the combined circulation of the May telephone directories for the Metropolitan area is nearly 2,000,000 copies. This is a new record and fairly indicates the remarkable growth of telephone use in New York and its vicinity.

The new book for the New Jersey division has an increased circulation of 17,000 copies, and contains 120,000 names, 9,000 more than appeared in the preceding publication. It has 428 pages, 24 more than the last issue. The names of Plainfield subscribers appear in this directory. The New York city directory contains 320,000 names, 6,000 more than appeared in the spring edition and 20,000 more than were listed in the May, 1913 book. It has 940 pages, 20 more than the spring directory.

A feature of the New York city book is its "Useful Information Section," which contains facts concerning overhead, surface and underground car service, railroad stations, ferries, public buildings and other points of interest in New York. It is designed particularly for the use of visitors to the city. As in the past, the telephone company is collecting all the old books when it delivers the new directories. The old directories will be destroyed, to prevent delays to the service caused by the calling of wrong numbers through reference to out of date books.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

Lodges scheduled to meet tonight are as follows: Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., at Exempt Firemen's Hall; Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, F. and A. M., at the Babcock building; Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Junior Hall; Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., at K. of P. Hall; Trafalgar Lodge, No. 506, O. S. of St. G., at Coward Hall, and Plainfield Council No. 711, Royal Arcanum.

Election of officers will be held this evening at the regular sessions of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and Unity Lodge, K. of P.

Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., will consider changes in their by-laws at their session this evening.

Iona Council, No. 14, Daughters of Pocohontas, will ourney this evening to Elizabeth, where they will attend the tenth anniversary of Opechee Tribe, I. O. R. M., of that city.

Plainfield Camp, P. O. S. of A., are also scheduled to pay a fraternal visit to Elizabeth this evening, visiting Washington Camp of that city, who are to initiate in the vicinity of 300 candidates. Delegations from all parts of Northern Jersey are to be in attendance.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. F., will install officers July 14.

IOWA STATE BAR MEETING.

Burlington, Ia., June 25.—Members of the Iowa State Bar Association assembled in this city today and began their twentieth annual meeting. The morning session was devoted to the exchange of greetings and the work of organization, following which a memorial address was delivered in honor of the late Major John F. Lacey of Oskaloosa, who was president of the association. The annual address was delivered this afternoon by Prof. Roscoe Pound of Harvard University. The association will conclude its business tomorrow.

MISS M'GILL HAS TO PAY $6,500

Jury Returns Verdict In Favor of Chauffeur's Wife.

EXONERATED OF INFIDELITY

Although Finding Against Miss McGill on Alienation Count, Jury Decides In Favor of Defendant on Second Count, In Which Adultery Was Alleged. Trial Attracted Attention.

Jersey City, N. J., June 25.—After deliberating seven hours a jury in the circuit court, this city, returned a verdict of $6,500 damages in favor of Mrs. Mary Mayer against Miss Eleanor A. McGill, daughter of the late Dr. John D. McGill, for alienating the affections of her husband, Walter Mayer, a chauffeur in Miss McGill's employ.

Although finding against Miss McGill on the alienation count, the jury decided in favor of the defendant on the second count in which adultery was alleged.

It was said that eleven of the jurors wished to give Mrs. Mayer $18,000 damages on both counts, but the twelfth juror insisted that Miss McGill should be exonerated on the adultery charge. He held out, it was said, until his colleagues agreed to compromise and the verdict was the result.

When the verdict was announced in open court the lawyer for Miss McGill asked Clerk George Kelly to poll the jurors. Each one answered "not guilty" to the second count.

After Judge Speer's charge the jury retired at 3:45 o'clock, but was immediately recalled at the request of Judge Collins of counsel for the defense. Judge Speer then instructed the jurors that where the evidence for and against is of equal weight the presumption should be in favor of innocence. The jury then went out again.

The trial attracted lots of attention and every day the courtroom was crowded with fashionably dressed women. The defense closed its case with the testimony of Miss McGill. She and the chauffeur, Walter A. Mayer, were the only witnesses for the defense.

BEEKMAN FOR JUDGESHIP?

Assembly Speaker Slated Unless He Declines Senate Race.

Trenton, N. J., June 25.—Speaker of the Assembly Azariah M. Beekman of Bound Brook, is looked upon here as a likely successor to Justice Charles C. Black on the circuit court bench. Governor Fielder has kept an open mind on the filling of the appointment since he elevated Justice Black to the supreme court bench, and no intimation whatever has been made as to whom the governor will select for the present vacancy.

There are many of Mr. Beekman's friends, however, who are urging him to enter the primaries for the senate seat from Somerset county, now held by Senator William W. Smalley, Republican. Somerset county this fall will elect its state senator for three years, and there are many who believe Speaker Beekman would prove a strong Democratic candidate for the place.

WILLIAM A. DEATH SET FREE.

Jennie Bosschieter's Murder In Paterson Recalled.

Trenton, N. J., June 25.—Release of William A. Death, one of the four young men of Paterson who got long prison terms for killing of Jennie Bosschieter, was authorized by the board of prison inspectors.

Death and his companions, McAllister, Kerr and Campbell, were found guilty and Kerr was sentenced to five years. The other three got thirty year terms. Kerr has completed his sentence and Campbell was paroled about a year ago. McAllister is still in prison, but has applied for clemency. The thirty year terms do not expire until Feb. 1, 1921.

JOHN WANAMAKER.

Merchant Who Scored Rockefeller Praised In the House.

"A man like John D. Rockefeller is not only an enemy to labor, but a menace to wealth," said Representative Keating of Colorado in the house, backing up the testimony of John Wanamaker before the federal industrial commission in Philadelphia. "It is certainly encouraging to see men like Wanamaker expressing the twentieth century idea of business and labor while Rockefeller expresses that of the nineteenth," he added.

AMERICA IS NEARLY WRECKED IN STORM

Curtiss' Big Seaplane Has a Narrow Escape.

Hammondsport, N. Y., June 25.—Rodman Wanamaker's transatlantic flier, the America, made its third flight after a narrow escape from being wrecked during a sudden storm.

Several of the ropes by which it is held to the ground had been untied in order to give room for workmen to fit supplementary hydroplaning surfaces on each side of the America's keel. The storm came without warning. A gust of wind lifted the left wing, from which most of the ropes had been loosened, several inches off the ground.

Glenn Curtiss, who was superintending the work, shouted for some of the men to fasten down the ropes. Two of his employees started to do this, when a second blast, more powerful than the first, lifted the wing again. The two men grabbed the ends of the wing and hung on it, but the wind, increasing in fury, lifted them about two feet off the ground, while the airboat tugged at other ropes on the left side and threatened to pull them from their stakes.

Curtiss and nine other men who were on the aviation field ran to the left side of the machine and took hold of the wing and hung their bodies from its edge, their combined weight barely sufficing to drag it to the ground. The wind kept increasing in velocity, while lightning began to play over the hills around Lake Keuka.

After the left wing had been forced back to earth it was easier to hold down. Eight men continued to hang on it, while the others secured it to stakes with a dozen more ropes. Fifteen minutes later the wind had stopped and the sky was clear.

RIGID PROBE OF BALLOU'S DEATH

Coroner Conducting Inquest In Stamford Case.

WOMAN DENIES KILLING.

Mrs. Angle, Who Is Being Held In Connection With the Case, Says He Fell Downstairs and Sustained a Fractured Skull.

Stamford, Conn., June 25.—A rigid investigation is being made by the police and Coroner Phelan as to the manner in which Waldo R. Ballou, one of the most prominent men in Stamford, came to his death. His body was found on the sidewalk in front of the Rippawan building in Main street. Mr Ballou's head was crushed in. Investigation by the police led to the detention of Mrs. Helen M. Angle, a wealthy divorced woman. Coroner Phelan opened the inquest at 2:30 this afternoon.

An opportunity was afforded for a reporter to speak a few words with Mrs. Angle in the dormitory on the top floor of police headquarers. She was in a highly nervous state, almost hysterical, but she was able to say that Judge Finch had told her that she must not talk of the tragedy with any one.

"Oh I do not know what I am going to do," she said clasping her hands. "I have not a friend on earth to whom I can turn now. I suppose now my reputation is gone and all my life I will have to carry the stigma of this."

Summed up, this case, which has driven every other topic from the conversation as well as the thoughts of Stamford, may be set out as follows:

Ballou, sixty-nine years of age and known to be a suitor for the hand of Mrs. Angle, spent more than two hours in the music studio of Mrs. Angle on the third floor of the building in front of which he was found. He had been drinking. He received his injuries on the second floor of the building, at the foot of a flight of stairs leading to the third floor.

He was carried from that point down the lower stairway, out through a small vestibule and deposited on the steps by Mrs Angle, who returned to her apartment and retired without giving any alarm. Mrs. Angle herself admits this, and, further, a trail of blood on the landing steps, on the side wall of the stairs and on her clothing show that to be the case. The bloody imprint of a woman's bare foot walking from the outside door of the building, up to and into the studio of Mrs. Angle led to the police action.

Makes No Denial.

The woman makes no denial of any of these facts, and her explanation is that Mr. Ballou fell down the stairs after leaving her rooms, and when she found that he was seriously injured, fearing to be compromised, she became panic stricken and carried him to the street, where she knew he would be found soon. It is not definitely settled how long he lay where he was found. It is estimated that it was about eighteen minutes.

The authorities frankly do not accept or reject Mrs. Angle's story, but there are certain inconsistencies in it, certain features which have not yet been harmonized by the medical experts and the detectives. One feature stands out above all others, and that is expressed in the question, could any man's head be so badly crushed by a fall? There are bruises and abrasions on his hand and wrist also which add to the mystery.

These are such as would be received by a man trying to defend himself from an attack with a heavy blunt weapon. A crushed straw hat found in the apartment of the woman afterward and a fracture on the crown of the head could have been made by such a weapon, but medical testimony also said that the fracture could have followed a headlong fall down a stairway on to a concrete landing.

AEROPLANE FUNERAL ESCORT

Twenty Machines In Mourning Follow Bodies of Nine Fliers.

Vienna, June 25.—Twenty aeroplanes flying mourning flag acted as a funeral escort when the bodies of the nine officers and men who lost their lives in the air catastrophe outside the city on Saturday were buried.

The planes were manned by aviators of several nations. While the funeral services were in progress the aviators circled round and round the cemetery.

Saturday's tragedy occurred in the course of army aerial maneuvers. An Austrian military dirigible was rammed and ripped open by an aeroplane.

COBB FACES JAIL TERM.

Butcher Gets Warrant Against Detroit Player.

Detroit, June 25.—A warrant against Tyrus Cobb, ball player, charging him with disturbing the peace was issued by Police Justice Jeffries. It was sworn to by W. L. Carpenter, a butcher, who alleges that the Georgian threatened him with a revolver in his place of business last Saturday night.

Cobb was not placed under arrest, but was notified to appear at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning to plead to the charge. A fine of $00 or a jail term of six months is the maximum sentence for the offense charged.

ROD AND REEL

Ocean City has become a popular surf-fishing ground. One man landed two channel bass yesterday, one weighing thirty-one pounds and the other thirty-nine.

A few striped bass are being picked up along the Hudson river, although no big catches have been made as yet. A local angler, fishing opposite Fort Lee, landed two stripers, each weighing about six pounds.

Fishermen who are looking for bass and pickerel are making big catches at Bear pond, near Netcong.

Channel bass and black drum are plentiful at Wildwood and the fisherman are pulling them in by the hundreds. The piers and Crest Beach seem to have the best biters.

Weequahic lake is full of bass, eels, perch and catfish and many large catches have been made.

The weakfishing in Barnegat Bay is way behind so far this year, as it is in other places farther down the coast at Fortesque, some big catches of weakfish and croakers have been made.

We have received word that weakfish were biting in Keyport Harbor and the Fourteen-Foot Rod Brigade were catching them. Usually the natives down that way fish with such a pole with a line of equal length and a float placed to suit the depth of the water.

A handy place to fish and a good place is the Passaic river at Pine Brook. Take the trolley car to Caldwell and there an auto bus will take you to the river. Rowboats can be hired or you can indulge in fishing from the river bank.

Several residents of Tottenville went out trolleying for bluefish Sunday and returned about 2 o'clock in the afternoon with eleven beauties. The fish were caught in Raritan bay, between Tottenville and Great Kills.

Bluefish are running in Barnegat Inlet and weakfish can be caught near the Barnegat pier. The latter is a trestle over which the Pennsylvania operates trains from Newark and the fishing is from this trestle or from rowboats which can be hired there.

Boat owners would do well to cut this short article out and paste it in a handy place as it is an important guide on all trips, no matter how short or long. We print it at the request of some readers who say that while anchored near a buoy, they cannot tell which way an approaching boat is going and that they lose a good fishing spot by shifting unnecessarily. When going out of a harbor a black buoy means to leave it on your starboard or right, and it will have an odd number on it. In like manner the red buoys tell the pilot to leave them on the port, or left-hand side. Should a buoy, with black and white stripes running up and down be met, keep close to it for it marks the middle of the channel. Keep away from a buoy painted with black and red wings for it means a danger spot. A black buoy may be in the form of a spar, a can, a whistler, a bell or a lighted gas buoy, but so long as it is black it means: "Leave me on your starboard hand." When going out of a harbor, and a red buoy, no matter what its shape may be, means: "Leave me on the port side," when going out of a harbor. When entering a harbor, this is reversed, of course, and the red buoy left on the right or starboard side. In entering a harbor, the numbers increase, as number one is always the first to be met, if it is black, and number two if it is red.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM PLANNED FOR JULY 4

Netherwood Residents Will Have An All Day Celebration This Year.

Elaborate preparations for an all day celebration on the Fourth of July have been made by the Netherwood Residents' Association and on that date the east end of the town will be kept busy from the rise to the setting of the sun. The committees in charge have arranged such a fine program that it is sure to be a banner day in Plainfield. Starting at 7:50 in the morning activities will be continued until late at night and the festivities will end with an open air dance on the porch of Truell Hall.

In the morning the ceremonies will be opened by a concert by the Dutch Arms band at East Seventh street and Belvidere avenue where most of the activities will take place. The first hour will be taken up with speeches by some of the best speakers in this vicinity. Henry P. Stevens will preside and the Hon. James E. Martine, United States Senator, Hon. Percy W. Stewart, H. W. Herrman and Judge W. N. Runyon will make addresses. At half past ten the athletic part of the program will begin and there will be events for all who wish to participate. There will be nine events for the girls and women and fifteen for the male athletes. Some of the events will afford the spectators a large amount of comedy. Medals will be given to the winners of each number which will be suitably engraved.

The afternoon entertainment will consist of a baseball game between teams composed of married and single men and this performance will begin at 3:30. The evening will be spent in dancing at Truell Hall, and music will be furnished by Paroubek's orchestra. The following committee will have charge of the dance, P. G. Chace, chairman, H. T. Tetsuka H. P. Stevens, F. B. Martin, W. R. Townsend, George Brisbane, S E. Gunnison and A. W. Drake. The celebration committee consists of W. L. Hadley, chairman, S. E. Gunnison, C. D. Wardlaw, A. L. Seidler, S. M. Rosenthal and S. L. Crossing. The sports will be in charge of C. D. Wardlaw, referee, S. E. Gunnison, announcer, A. L. Seidler, starter, S. L. Crossing timer, W. L. Hadley, clerk of course, F. B. Martin, S M. Rosenthan G. R. Cornwall and Ralph Patch, field judges, P. G. Chace, A. C. Wilmerding and H. B. Wier, judges at the finish.

No charge will be made to those who wish to take part in the events. The expenses will be defrayed by popular subscription. Programs and entry blanks may be obtained upon application at the news stand at the Netherwood railroad station. The members of the association invite everybody in the city to take part in the celebration.

The events will be as follows:—25-yards dash, boys under 6 years; 25-yard dash, girls under 8 years; 50-yard dash, boys under 8 years; 50-yard dash, girls under 12 years; 50-yard dash, boys under 15 years; 50-yard dash, girls over 12 years; 100-yard dash, boys under 15 years; potato rolling race, boys under 6 years, 25-yard blindfold race, girls under 8 years; 50-yard dash, boys under 12 years; 50-yard sack race, girls under 12 years; 50-yard sack race, boys under 12 years; running broad jump, boys under 8 years; running broad jump, boys under 12 years; running broad jump, boys under 15 years; running broad jump, boys over 15 years; throwing baseball for distance, girls over 12 years.

MISS WILDEY WINS WAY TO THIRD ROUND IN TOURNEY

Miss Edna Wildey, of this city, won her way to the third round of the Middle States championship lawn tennis tournament which is being held at East Orange, by defeating Mrs. Sidney B. Taylor in straight sets 6-0, 6-0. The local player had no trouble at all with her opponent and now stands a fine chance of entering the final round for the women's singles championship.

In the men's championship doubles tourney, Harold Throckmorton and Lindsey Dunham, of Woodbridge, took two out of three sets in the first round. Throckmorton is the interscholastic State champion and has appeared in the city against the Plainfield High School racquet wielders a number of times. Karl Behr, at one time a member of the Davis cup team, won his match in the third round and moved to the semi-finals.

PLAYERS MAY STRIKE.

Newark, June 25.—There is a great possibility that the members of the Newark International League team will go on strike. It remains for the Executive Committee of the Players' Fraternity to give the word. The reason for the contemplated strike is the decision of the National Commission whereby Clarence Kraft is sent to the Nashville team of the Southern Association. He is in town and refuses to go back, and has the backing of all the members of the club.

MICHIGAN GOLF TOURNEY.

Detriot, Mich., June 25.—The championship tournament of the Michigan State Golf Association opened today on the Country Club links at Grand Pointe and will continue through tomorrow and Saturday. Many of the most expert golf players of the State are among the entrants and some spirited competitions are expected before the tournament is ended.

TOMMY MULLIN WITH PETS.

Tommy Mullin, the popular local ball player, will put on a Plainfield uniform, Saturday, when the Pets line up against the strong Fort Slocum team. This team is in the same class with the Bronx Minor Leaguers that defeated the locals early in the season but the Pets are much stronger now than they were at that time. Hank Mathewson will twirl for the locals.

WALTER JOHNSON WEDS CONGRESSMAN'S DAUGHTER

Washington, June 25.—Walter Johnson, the hero of the baseball fans at Washington and recognized as the greatest pitcher in the American League, was married last night to Miss Hazel Lee Roberts, one of the prettiest girls in the Congressional set and only daughter of Representative and Mrs. E. E. Roberts, of Carson City, Nev. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride.

The event last night is the culmination of a romance which began on the baseball diamond a year ago when the star pitcher of the Nationals and the pretty little Congressional bud were introduced by her father, who is an entuhsiastic fan. Yesterday afternoon she was present when Walter pitched the Nationals to a 2 to 1 victory in the second game of a double-header with the world's champion Athletics.

NEW MOTORCYCLE RECORD.

Leon Didier, middle distance motor-paced champion of France, established a new mark for thirty miles at the Brighton Beach Motordrome last night, covering the distance in 36-29 1-5, beating the former record held by Bobby Walthour of 38.23 1-5. Walthour ran second in the race, with George Wiley third and Clarence Carmen fourth.

The speaker for this evening at the Rescue Mission will be the Rev. C. C. Cain, of the Grace M. E. church.

CLAFLIN COMPANY FAILS

reaching effect on business all over the country.

When word of the failure was communicated to local business men in the dry goods trade they were all astounded, as all said that they thought that the Claflin company was one of the strongest in the country.

Hahne & Company, of Newark, is one of the companies identified with the Claflin concern, but it was said today that the Hahne store and the Lord & Taylor store, in New York, were two which would undoubtdly remain solvent, as both were on a sound financial basis.

ZACATECAS IS TAKEN BY VILLA

Huerta's Last Big Stronghold Captured.

OVER 2,000 MEN KILLED.

Rebel Chieftain Now Has Clear Road to Dictator's Capital—General Ortega Said to Be Among the Dead on the Rebel Side.

El Paso, Tex., June 25.—Zacatecas has fallen. The city was captured by the Constitutionalists Tuesday night. This information was contained in an official message received by Colonel Tomas Ornelas, military commander of Juarez, from General Orestes Pereyra, who holds the same post in Torreon.

The message was dated Torreon. No details of the battle were given in the message other than that many prisoners were captured by Villa's troops. The Constitutionalist forces also captured arms and ammunition in plentiful quantities.

General Villa arrived at Pimienta, a station nine miles north of Zacatecas, yesterday morning, following the reported taking of the city by his troops.

No information regarding the federal defenders of the city under General Luis Medina Barron was conveyed in the message from General Pereyra. It is not known whether the federals evacuated the city or surrendered to the Constitutionalist forces.

2,200 Dead or Wounded.

General Trinidad Rodriguez is reported to have been seriously wounded in the fighting around Zacatecas Tuesday afternoon. General Maciovio Herrera is reported slightly wounded.

General Toribio Ortega is reported as having been killed, but this report has not been confirmed.

Estimated losses are placed at 2,200 in killed and wounded. Exact figures are not obtainable.

When the news was flashed through Juarez that Zacatecas had fallen the band was brought out and the entire populace joined in celebrating the Constitutionalist victory.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 25.—Once again the mediation conference is in danger of being brought to a sudden end. Developments expected within the next twenty-four hours will decide definitely whether or not the proceedings are to be continued. The mediators have made their final suggestions to the United States' representatives, and a definite reply is expected before to night.

This information was obtained here from an undisputed authority. It was said that the three South American envoys had tired of making suggestions and that the waiting game played by the administration has completely exhausted their patience. The fact also that the American delegates are not equipped with plenary powers and are compelled to report every conversation, even in its minor details, to Washington has greatly hampered the work of the mediators.

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American delegates, came over to the Clifton House for the first time in two days and were not yet in a position to furnish a reply to the mediators regarding the suggestions which have been made since the return of Minister Naon of Argentina from his conference with Secretary Bryan and President Wilson at Washington.

To Communicate Again.

The American delegates promised to communicate again with Washington and to notify the mediators immediately after ascertaining the attitude of President Wilson toward their proposals. After Dr. Naon's conference with Mr. Wilson it became known that the new scheme which he brought back with him and from which so much was expected comprised chiefly a plan through which representatives of the Constitutionalists would be admitted to the conference.

CARRANZA REPRESENTATIVE ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON

(Special from Central News.)

Washington, June 25.—The one detail that loomed large in the Mexican situation today was the expected arrived here of Alfredo Breceda, the Secretary to General Carranza, and his comment on the peace protocol signed last night at Niagara Falls by the Mediators, the United States and Huerta representatives. It is recognized in official circles that the protocol will be virtually without force if the Constitutionalists decline to agree to its terms. For that reason some expression from the revolutionary camp is awaited with anxiety here.

The complications of the situation are many. The reported split between Gen. Villa and Carranza may be widened by the action of either in accepting or rejecting the protocol. If Carranza refuses to be bound by the action of the Niagara Falls conference and Villa accepts its conclusions, it is feared that a new and more terrible civil war in Mexico will follow.

For these reasons the coming of Senor Breceda is awaited with feverish impatience. Without any signs of hesitancy, however, it was announced at the White House that the administration considered the outlook for an understanding with Mexico as "more hopeful than at any time since the beginning of the Niagara Falls conference."

FRESH AS A FIELD OF DAISIES

These New, Cool Dresses for Women

ALL AT SURPRISINGLY SPECIAL PRICES

For $11.75 a perfect copy of a Poiret dress which sold here in April at $38.50. Typically French with its odd duvetyne jacket and striped cotton skirt. Designed and made for women who like very distinctive clothes.

For $2.75 white lingerie dresses which have long tunics and part of the bodice of imported embroideries which cost wholesale from $2.25 to $4. In addition they are lace trimmed and have wide sashes of colored ribbon.

Dresses of Imported Ratine, $8.75

Maker's last 75 dresses come to sell at this small price.

Same model was here in April at $28.50. The ratine has wide borders of open-work figures.

New Linen Dresses, $6.50

Simplest of models—long tunic skirt; both tunic and underskirt of the linen and plain bodice has just a touch of white; in fineness they rank with made-to-measure dresses. Their manufacturer clears his stock room each season, and turns all his dresses over to us at our price. All measure up to our standard.

Tomorrow we shall have 300 of these $6.50 dresses in white, pink, blue and lavender. In April they would have cost twice as much. They are just right for vacation outings.

Voile Dresses, $6.75, $7.50, $8.75

Cool, attractive frocks, considerably prettier than the styles one is apt to see in a special offering.

Velvet girdles, interesting cope collars, wide draped black taffeta sashes, cunning frilled collars, velvet ribbon trimmings—they have the new touches of the season. Every one is fresh out of the boxes.

Afternoon and Evening Frocks From our own Stocks

Clearing away all our ones and twos of a kind in dresses just as has been done in the past few days in tailored suits and coats.

Almost any silk may be chosen in styles of Callot, Cheruit, and other Paris dressmakers.

New prices $18.75, $25, $32.50, $40, $50.

Former prices were a third, a half and considerably more.

GOVERNOR UNABLE TO LOCATE PAPERS

Writes W. de LaR. Anderson for Another Copy of Letter in Tax Matter.

Wiliam de LaR. Anderson, chairman of the North Plainfield Township Committee, who has been busy the past few days trying to learn what became of the papers he forwarded to Governor James F. Fielder a few days ago relative to alleged violations and wilful neglect on the part of the Somerset County Tax Board in the matter of the assessment of Mt. St. Mary College property, received the following letter from the Governor this morning:

"A search through our files fails to locate the letter concerning which you spoke to me yesterday. I shall be obliged if you will send me a copy of the letter, together with a copy of the letter from this office acknowledging its receipt. In the meantime we shall make further search for your letter."

Mr. Anderson in speaking of the matter today said that he had learned that Robert A. Porter, assistant secretary to the Governor, was the person who signed for the letter when it was received a few days ago, but he had been unable to ascertain what became of it after its receipt.

The letter sent to Trenton by Mr. Anderson contained a copy of the resolutions adopted by the North Plainfield Township Committee, in which the county tax board was criticized for its action in the Mt. St. Mary College matter, and according to Mr. Anderson's statement, it is his purpose to try and have the county board impeached.

HOPES NOW ENTERTAINED FOR RECOVERY OF ULMER

Carl Ulmer, of West Third street, who was seriously injured in a fall from the roof of the Johns-Manville plant at Manville, last Friday, after receiving an electric shock, was reported as being slightly improved today. He is still detained in the Somerset Hospital, in Somerville, and hopes are now entertained for his recovery.

Although stricken blind following the accident his sight has now returned and the optic affliction will not be a permanent one as was at first anticipated. He is suffering from concussion of the brain and internal injuries.

SCHWARTZ DECLARED GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Real Estate Dealer Fined $20 by Judge DeMeza for Attack on New Yorker.

City Judge William G. DeMeza this morning gave a decision in the case of Henry Fellman, of New York city, against Samuel Schwartz, of Arlington avenue, finding the latter guilty of disorderly conduct and fighting, and sentenced him to pay a fine of $20 or serve forty days in the County jail. The case came to trial last Thursday when many witnesses were examined on both sides. Fellman was struck by Schwartz, who is a rival real estate dealer, at Watchung and North aveues, June 7 and produced many eye witnesses to substantiate this fact.

Schwartz lodged a counter complaint against Fellman claiming that the latter kicked and assaulted him on the same occasion. This charge was dismissed in court this morning. Fellman was represented by William A. Coddington and William Newcorn was counsel for Schwartz.

DECLINES TO RUN.

H. W. Marshall, president of the Marshall Laundry Company, was today prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Common Council from the First ward. In an interview to a reporter for the Daily Press, Mr. Marshall declined to even consider the matter and said that under no circumstances would he permit his name to be used for political favors.

PLAINFIELDER ELECTED.

George T. Caskey, of this city, was elected Tuesday evening vice president of the Union Masonic Past Master Association, which held its seventh annual meeting and banquet at Elizabeth. One of the largest gatherings in the history of the association was in attendance. The other officers elected are as follows: President, Robert A. Shirrefs; secretary, Theodore B. Townley; treasurer, William F. Marsh.

CIVIC BODY OPPOSES AUTO-BUS ORDINANCE

Submits Letter Explaining the Stand in Proposed Move to Be Discussed.

In response to an invitation issued by Councilman Richard A. Claybrook, chairman of the public affairs committee, to the Board of Trade, to have a representation at the meeting to be held in the city building tonight, President Williams Jeffery, of the civic organization has snbmitted a letter to the chairman setting forth the Board of Trade's stand in the matter to be discussed. The meeting is called for the purpose of considering the proposed auto bus ordinance and the Board will probably have delegates on hand.

In his letter President Jeffery intimates that the step is an unnecessary one and lodges an objection to it. He says in part:

"I do not see how in the world auto busses cannot run on the same order of license as the taxi-cabs. The taxi-cabs do not have taximeters and as there is only one auto bus company doing business in the city, as far as I have been able to find out, I do not see the need for restricting it to the use of any particular street. It is time enough for that when there are several other companies in competition with it. If any further regulation of vehicle traffic is necessary for Plainfield, it seems to me, the police department can attend to it in the same manner as they attend to the precsent regulation."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock P. M., on Monday, the sixth day of July A. D. Nineteen hundred and fourteen, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., June 17, 1914.

AN ORDINANCE

for the Permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the following streets and parts of streets of the City of Plainfield, shall be permanently improved with durable macadam pavement, said macadam pavement to be of the depth and width hereinafter specified. All work to be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and only after bids therefor shall have been solicited and received according to law, all bids to specify prices for each of said streets or parts of streets separately:

Emerson Avenue, from the macadam on East Front Street to the macadam on George Street.

Sec. 2. That said streets and portions of streets described in Section 1 shall be macadamized for the depth of seven inches in the center and five inches at the curb lines, and for the entire width of the roadway, and the macadamizing preparation shall be laid down to the grades established by ordinance for said streets or portions of streets, respectively.

On Geraud Avenue and Monroe Avenue the gutters shall be paved with cobbles for a width of 3 1-2 feet on each side of said streets.

Sec. 3. That for the purpose of obtaining money by the sale of bonds hereinafter specified for the permanent improvement of said streets and parts of streets as aforesaid, in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits, to an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars per capita for each of the inhabitants of said city according to the last official census, but not for more than the amount limited by law, the Common Council of said City do hereby, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of said State entitled "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvements upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, authorize the issuing of sixteen coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield of One Thousand Dollars each ($1,000) and amounting in all to Sixteen Thousand Dollars ($16,000) which bonds shall be dated September first, 1914, and shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent.) per annum, payable semi-annually and be payable three years from the date thereof, with the option to the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from the date thereof and before three years from the date thereof, on giving personal notice to said holders of said bonds or thirty (30) days notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and bear the corporate seal of the City and be attested by the City Clerk, and may severally or collectively when ordered by resolution of the Common Council be sold for an amount not less than par value; and there shall be raised by tax in each year hereafter such sum of money as may be necessary to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and the principal of such bonds as may mature during that year, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall, when collected, be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have ben completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

CHAPTER II.

A Sporting Offer.

THE rigid ribbon which did Von Humperdinck service as a brow underwent such a series of contortions that any one who knew him would have known that he was about to think. "The kaiser and the king of England are both in trade," he advised them, "and my cousin, the Baron von Humperdinck, himself owns a brewery."

"We don't need precedent," insisted Benssy patriotically. "We are democratic American citizens, and, as such, have a right to enter trade as our fathers did."

That one speech showed the daring nature of Benssy, it being considered indelicate in this circle to mention fathers, and positively indecent to mention grandfathers. A shocked silence followed his anarchism, Reggie Haugh's lips, however, watering profusely in his agitation. It was Rickey Saunders who came loyally to the support of his friend.

"Hear, hear!" he cried.

Ringgold Cash, frowning moodily at the black freckles upon his sallow hands and regretting for the millionth time their size and construction, which had descended from his pushcart forbears, slowly raised one of them and stroked it down his lean face, letting it close as it slid off his chin, as if his jaw had sported the wiry beard of the original junk dealing Cash, whose name had been Kashowski. "Do you think there would be a good return for the money invested?" he asked, addressing Wallingford directly and waiting with quiet eagerness for the answer.

Wallingford turned to him quickly and studied him with great care before he replied. "There's a fortune in it," he declared, with a deliberately rising enthusiasm. "Of course you gentlemen are not commercial. I am. I know a good commercial opening when I see one." And he smiled to himself as he looked into the faces of the eagerly interested group around the table and studied the good commercial openings he saw before him. "Your marvelous portable house should be your gift to your fellow sportsmen at about 25 per cent dividends, and I, who am strictly a business man, am so favorably impressed that I should be delighted to take $25,000 or $50,000 worth of the stock myself."

"Thank you," said Benssy gratefully, his cheeks dimpling with pleasure. "I consider that a great compliment, I'm sure."

"Nothing of the sort," returned Wallingford sedately. "It is only my cold business judgment that is speaking, Mr. Falls."

Reggie Haugh had been flapping his thick lower lip with his thick forefinger in jealous thought. A thing like this, don't you know, should be kept more exclusive. This Wallingford person was admittedly a mere tradesman and probably of no family whatsoever, had no money but that which he made himself, and one must be careful of one's associates.

There Was a Chorus of Polite Exclamations.

"Only trouble is," he objected, "that all the rest of us have had a share in the inventing, which makes it a sort of family affair, don't you think?"

Wallingford was instantly ready for that emergency. "So far as that is concerned," he observed in smiling confidence, "I invented inventing, though I am far too modest a man so to state." And he laughed jovially, closing his eyes and shaking his big shoulders to show them that this was a joke. "Even while we have been talking I have discovered a radical defect in the construction of your portable cottage and have invented a way to overcome it. You are making your hollow walls in straight sections which merely abut upon each other. Warpage and shrinkage will draw them crooked and leave wide cracks, over which you will be compelled to nail permanent cleats, which is entirely foreign to your idea of portability."

Benssy Falls looked with dismay upon his exquisitely accurate model. "How very annoying!" he murmured.

"What we must do," went on Wallingford easily and confidently, "is to make the hollow sections like this." And he deftly and ruthlessly cut open upon alternate edges one of Benssy's beautifully perfect little sections, telescoping the two parts upon each other slightly, so as to show the plan of overlapping, and then reversing them to show how much space they saved in nesting for shipment.

There was a general chorus of polite exclamations, which covered unlimited genuine admiration.

"That surely makes Mr. Wallingford one of the family, Reggie," declared Rickey. "I vote him in, fellows. Now, one, two, three"—

"Aye!" gently and courteously shouted his friends in perfect unison with him.

"I thank you," said Wallingford, rising and bowing gravely. The gentleman's manners were perfect. There was no gainsaying that.

"There's one difficulty of which none of you has thought," declared Mr. Cash, rubbing again in reflection the beard of his ancestors in the hollow of his cheeks. "Who's going to run the company? None of us has the time nor the taste for that sort of thing."

"I have," offered Wallingford. "Of course my other interests are so heavy as to prevent my giving my entire time to it, but if my partners will permit me I shall organize the concern, set it going and see that it is properly conducted without charging a penny for my services."

"That's what I do call sportin'," declared Rickey, rubbing his incipient mustache the wrong way in his enthusiasm.

"It's more generous than fair," objected Benssy. "We'd be delighted, I'm sure, Mr. Wallingford, to have you accept the bothersome management of the thing, but we can't possibly think of it unless you would accept remuneration of some sort."

"Oh, if you insist upon it," and Wallingford waved his hand easily, as if the question were too trifling to be considered among gentlemen. "I won't accept a salary, but if you want me to have some additional stock for my services to avoid feeling under obligations you may make it over to me."

"But, I say," protested Reggie, his fat lips protruding in dissatisfaction, "if we all take the same amount of stock and we give Mr. Wallingford some extra he'll have the most, and as this is our joint invention we must share alike."

"That's true," Wallingford hastily admitted. "We'll just throw that idea aside. We won't need a stock company anyhow, for we shall not want to sell stock or admit any one else into the business. We can make it a simple partnership, putting in just what we need to begin with and assessing ourselves as much more from time to time as the business actually justifies. We shall not need over $50,000 to start with."

"Then, fellows, here's the sportin' idea," announced Rickey. "Fifty thousand dollars makes $10,000 for each of us five. Mr. Wallingford's services should be worth at least as much as one-sixth of all our money, and I vote that we admit Mr. Wallingford to an equal partnership with us and not permit him to pay any assessments. Now! One, two, three"—

"Aye!" voted his associates in unison.

"Gentlemen," intoned Wallingford, rising solemnly and smoothing down his broad waistcoat, "I accept your generous offer. If this were brought up to me as an ordinary business proposition I should be compelled to decline it instantly, but I have taken quite a fancy to you boys. I have, moreover, become fascinated with the portable house and intend to make it one of my most successful ventures. I shall at once draw up partnership papers, which we shall discuss and sign right here while we are waiting. Then we shall select officers, hold a board of directors' meeting, take all our papers to an attorney when we arrive in the city and make our action legally binding. Tomorrow I shall have patent papers and drawings prepared and as soon as they are ready shall call another meeting for us to sign them. In the meantime I shall see if we cannot rent a factory already equipped, shall have working drawings prepared, purchase materials, secure workmen and start upon some sample houses, including the mahogany and the birdseye maple one which you are to take upon your fishing trip."

Striking while the iron was hot being one of Wallingford's specialties, he immediately drew up, on delicately tinted and evasively scented mauve stationery provided him by the fair Benssy, an impressively worded partnership agreement, whereby it was set forth that the six undersigned gentlemen were to be equal sharers in the profits of the Speckled Bass Hollow Walled Portable Bungalow company and that five of the undersigned were to share in all its losses and provide all the money needed, J. Rufus Wallingford being exempt from any share in that end of the business by virtue of his perpetual managership. It was a neat and nifty document, and the boys were justly proud of it and themselves as well as they appended their scrawling signatures to it. It was deuced blooming fun, after all, this thing of going into trade. Quite sportin'!

Their innocent joy over this stage of being in trade was as nothing, however, compared to their dignified gratification when, with Benssy Falls presiding handsomely and as rippingly at ease as if he were pouring tea, they selected Benssy as president, Reggie Haugh as first vice president, Von Humperdinck as second vice president, Rickey Saunders as secretary and Ringgold Cash as treasurer. In their newly acquired and rapidly growing feeling of fellowship with Wallingford they were urgently anxious to elect him to a third vice presidency, but, with becoming modesty, he declined that honor.

"No, gentlemen," he said, first rising and respectfully addressing the chair, as he invariably did when he had anything to say in this meeting, "such honors are not for me. I cannot deny that I am heartily pleased that you should offer to make me an equal with you, but, nevertheless, I do not deserve it. The original conception is yours, and to you exclusively should belong the honors and titles of office. Moreover, I am only a plain business man. If you insist upon voting for me, however, you may make my small managership a matter of election and official title."

"That's what I call sportin', eh, fellows!" exclaimed Rickey enthusiastically and shook hands with him.

So they unanimously elected J. Rufus Wallingford official manager, which, while it did not, of course, give him the importance of a real office in the company, made his mere trifling post at least seem a shade less insignificant. He was deeply grateful for it.

A small boy, so thick with freckles that they looked painful, sat in Wallingford's runabout at the station with both chubby hands firmly upon the big wheel. He straightened up and his face lighted as he saw Mr. Wallingford in the midst of the dispersing board of directors, and with shrewd and twinkling eyes he observed that prince of diplomats bidding adieu to his newly found friends and business associates.

"Hello, boss!" hailed the youngster as Wallingford joined him, and he shook hands with grownup gravity. "Gee, you made a hit with that bunch of Willies!"

"It's a shame to do it," confessed Wallingford, with a grin. "Where's the chauffeur, Toad?"

"He stopped for a stew, and he got it," replied the boy. "But it wasn't the kind that has any oysters in it, so I fired him out of the car and sent him home to sleep it off."

Wallingford laughed as he climbed into the runabout and took the wheel, a proceeding that met with a vigorous protest from the boy.

"Sorry, Toad," insisted Wallingford, "but I'm afraid they'd arrest you if I let you run this car by yourself. How are you getting along with young Jimmy?"

"Sometimes I don't know," responded Toad, with a sigh. "He's a smart kid, and he's got more sand than I thought he had. First I thought I could lick him with both hands tied behind me, but now I guess I'd have to have one loose anyhow. Yesterday I had to hand him a wallop, and he never cried a mouthful. He just stood still for about a minute, and then he tried to throw the cat through me."

"And how does Mrs. Wallingford take all this?" asked Wallingford, secretly gratified that young Jim showed promise of developing traits that had been a trifle lacking in himself.

"Well," confessed Toad, with a slight frown, "of course she's a woman and don't understand. Tell you what she done—she hunped me out to sleep with the stable hands and makes Jim play with the girls in the next house. Say, ain't you goana start a business soon, so I k'n have a real job? I don't like to play with kids."

Wallingford sighed. His own opinion was that his son needed the companionship of Toad even at the expense of an occasional black eye, but if Fannie was set against it—

'How would you like to wear a brown suit, with red stripes and brass buttons," he suddenly asked, "and serve drinks in a factory?"

"To you an' Blackie? That'd be great!" said Toad with vast enthusiasm. "You know Blackie's home, don't you?"

"Is that so!" exclaimed Wallingford, and unconsciously threw more speed on the car. "When did he get in?"

"Yesterday," replied Toad. "I was so glad to see him that I licked the stable boy twice in an hour, an' he's a tough kid."

EVERY GIRL SHOULD BE TAUGHT ART NEEDLE WORK

An embroidered piece should be washed by itself in an earthen bowl to avoid the possibilities of rust or other stain. Take fairly hot water and make a light suds of "Ivory" or any other pure soap. Wash quickly. If the linen is soiled, rub that portion between the hands. Rinse thoroughly in clean water and lay the piece flat between two dry towels or thick linen cloths. Roll up in these so that no part of the embroidery can touch any other part of the same linen and wring or twist so that the dry linen will absorb moisture. Lay piece face down upon a well-padded ironing board, spread clean white cloth over the embroidery and iron quickly and lightly with a hot iron, being careful not to press too heavily upon the embroidery portion.

A hot iron placed upon embroideries in which the silk is wet will produce a steam, which will ruin the embroidery.

To remove scorch from linen put two ounces of Fuller's earth into a saucepan, add a half ounce of white soap, the juice of two large onions and one cupful of vinegar. Boil together for a few minutes, strain into a jar and keep covered for future use. Spread on the scorched parts with a knife and allow it to dry on. Simpler way would be to rub the scorched article with dry starch.

Many home embroiderers have difficulty in having the new and up-to-date stitches. A complete and practical course for making 24 different kinds of stitches is given with each Imperial Embroidery Pattern Outfit, which is being advertised at the present time in the columns of the Daily Press.

These instructions are illustrated and directions are given for making outline stitch, chain stitch, seeding, cat stitch, buttonhole stitch, couching, satin stitch, eyelet work, wallachin, embroidery, cross stitch, French knots, faggotting stitch, solid kensington, Roman cut work, etc.

Every woman who does home needle work should take advantage of this rare and unusual offer. We are actually giving $10.00 worth of value at the bare cost of handling. Each day you will find a coupon printed in the Press. Clip it and together with expense bonus of 48c, get a complete Imperial $10.00 Embroidery Pattern Outfit without further charge. Out-of-town readers will add 5c additional for postage and expense of mailing.

HOUSEHOLD PROPORTIONS.

Two dessertspoonfuls of gelatin equal one pint of liquid.

GIFT BASKETS.

A Delightful Way of Wishing a Friend Bon Voyage.

The gift baskets the florists and fruiterers supply as gifts for the departing tourist are very attractive. One flower basket for the ocean traveler who is going on an eight day boat is an eight day basket. In it there are eight corsage bouquets, all different, one for the traveler to wear on each day of her journey. They are arranged and numbered so that the flowers in the bouquet for the last day are a sort that will last well. Those for the first few days are of a more fragile sort that would wither before the journey's end. Each small bouquet is in water, so that it need not be disturbed until it is wanted unless to change the water.

The fruiterers combine their wares with sweets of various kinds to make their baskets more tempting. Stuffed dates, figs and prunes in glass jars, barley sugar, bonbons and chocolates and slabs of milk chocolate are put in among the oranges, apples, pears and grapes that form the bulk of the contents of fruit baskets for the traveler.

Sometimes flowers and fruit are combined in interesting fashion. Yellow rosies and purple pansies may be put in a basket with a perfect bunch of huge black Hamburg grapes or golden pears may be combined with yellow rosebuds.

The candy shops also present interesting gifts for the travelers. Some of these take the form of tin trunks or chests, in which are packed quantities of small packages of candies of various sorts—chocolate peppermints, cream mints, chocolate bonbons, cakes of milk chocolate, little crates of candy, oranges and lemons, jars of fruit and sugar sticks, pastilles of different sorts in gay little tin boxes, a round tin of marshmallows, a flat box of caramels.

Still other attractive gifts take the form of Japanese baskets of the hamper variety, packed with smaller baskets, and Japanese boxes of goodies. Salted nuts, spiced nuts, stuffed figs and dates and candies of various shapes and sorts are included in these packages.

COOLING SUMMER DRINK.

Procure two medium sized sticks of rhubarb, cut into small pieces and put into a jug with a good tablespoonful of sugar and a strip of thinly pared lemon peel. Pour upon it a pint of boiling water, and let it stand till cold. It is a most refreshing, as well as a wholesome, drink.

Chocolate Cookies.

Take two eggs, one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one-half cupful of stoned and chopped raisins, one cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate. Now slowly dissolve the chocolate in a bowl over a kettle of hot water and let it stand until needed. Rub the butter and sugar to a cream, add the eggs, which have been well beaten, then the flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder, and lastly the melted chocolate. Beat hard and mix very thoroughly, then work in the raisins and roll the dough out to a thin sheet.

Cut into shape with fancy cutters, press one, two or three whole raisins into the top of each cookie according to size and bake in a moderately quick oven. Keep fresh by packing them in a stone crock or earthenware dish with a cover.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

A trim practical house dress is illustrated in 8186. It closes at the side-front, has a kimona bodice with a square neck, and short or long sleeves, as the fancy dictates.

Plain blue chambray makes up excellently with a design like this and by way of relief, trimming bands of eyelet embroidery are attractive. Gingham is another material very practical for house dresses; cotton crepe and voile are also good.

This dress may be copied in size 36 with 4¾ yards of 42-inch material.

Pattern comes in seven sizes, 34 to 46.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

THE BATHING GIRL.

She Is Wearing Gayly Trimmed Suits of Waterproofed Materials.

The bathing suit for summer is a handsome affair, for gay plaids and stripes are used in the construction of collar, girdle and cuffs. The suit pictured here is of pussy willow taffeta with scalloped finish on the skirt and blouse. The sailor collar and vest are of Roman striped silk. In the vest are little side pockets. The vest is secured by means of little side fasteners set under fancy buttons and simulated buttonholes. The color scheme is in blue and white.

Worn with the suit is a jaunty bathing cap of the taffeta.

Veranda Furniture.

A large round natural wood table for the veranda or the room being fitted in wicker costs about $10. A smaller sized one costs about $8. A natural wood chair to match had an arm rest on the right side and a place for sewing or a book on the left. It was a very pretty shape and was sold at about $8.

BOW-KNOTS AND FORGET-ME-NOT SPRAYS

Such dainty and attractive things can be made by combining bits of lace and ribbon with chiffon, net or crêpe de Chine. If one is at all handy with the needle, little touches of hand embroidery may be added here and there. In this extravagant age one can not afford to buy all the pretty little accessories, which delight the heart of the feminine, but with a twist and a turn and a bit of clever combining of materials, one can fashion the loveliest of wearing apparel.

A dainty boudoir cap like the one shown here can be made from chiffon or crêpe de Chine, using pattern 8306, which includes 3 different designs for 10 cents. The forget-me-not sprays and bow-knots, used for embroidering this cap, are from pattern 13448. They may be developed in two shades of blue, two of green and one of pink in solid work. A wide lace frill and a ribbon of old blue or a delicate pink or green may be used to complete the cap. This pattern contains a sheet, 7 by 11 inches, of bow-knots and forget-me-nots which are suitable for embroidering boudoir caps, negligées, children's dresses, neckwear, underwear, hose and infants' caps, dresses and sacks.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price, 10 cents.

Some Cookery Suggestions

RHUBARB IN GELATIN.

SUPPER MENU.
Baked Bean Salad.
Sliced Ham.
Brown Bread and Butter.
Rhubarb Mold.
Iced Tea.

RHUBARB prepared with gelatin makes a handsome dessert and one that is particularly palatable. Only firm, nicely colored rhubarb should be used for these dishes.

With Simple Desserts.

There are many simple, plain desserts, such as snow pudding, blanemange, junket, cottage pudding, etc., which are improved by the addition of stewed rhubarb. Bavarian creams, charlottes and many gelatin creams may also be used with it.

Whipped Cream Dressing.

Rhubarb Dainty.—To one quart of rhubarb that has been cut into inch pieces add three cupfuls of sugar and cook as quickly as possible to prevent the pieces from breaking. When tender stir in three tablespoonfuls of gelatin that has been soaked in a little water until soft. Mold and serve with whipped cream sweetened and flavored.

Served With Custard.

Rhubarb Mold With Custard.—Take a pint of rhubarb pulp, two tablespoonfuls gelatin, carmine to color, one-fourth pound sugar, four tablespoonfuls lemon juice, one-half pint custard. Stew the rhubarb, adding a tablespoonful of water until quite a pulp. Dissolve the gelatin in water, add the lemon juice, sugar and carmine. Stir all together and place in a wetted mold until set. Turn out into a glass bowl and pour round the custard.

Prettily Colored.

Rhubarb Flummery.—Dissolve one-half ounce of gelatin in half a gill of warm water. When cold mix with it the finely grated rind of one and the juice of one and a half lemons, with three ounces of sugar previously dissolved in a pint of ruhbarb juice and the whisked white of an egg. Whip it all to a stiff froth, incorporating two sponge fingers or macaroons crumbled fine. Turn into a mold and serve with plain or whipped cream.

If a deep pink color is desired a drop or two of carmine may be added, but care must be exercised in using this coloring matter.

They Spent Their Time In the Canoe.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Present Of the Pretty Green Canoe.

IT had been such a hot day that daddy said he would have to tell the children a "cool story."

Jack and Evelyn laughed at the idea of a "cool story," but then they said that any story that daddy told pleased them.

"Well, that is a good thing," said daddy, "but it is perfectly true I must tell you tonight a nice cool story. I think I will tell you about a very lucky little girl who once received a canoe from her big brother.

"This little girl loved the water. She had always lived near a lake, and she could swim and row.

"Now, this little girl had a great big brother who worked in an office in the big city. He had only a short holiday every year—just two weeks—but during those two weeks he would come home and teach her new strokes in swimming and new ways of diving, for he was very anxious that no one should be able to excel his sister as a swimmer.

"And secretly he longed to give his sister a canoe so she could go on the water just as much as she wanted to, and, as she was such a good swimmer, he felt it would be perfectly safe for her to own one.

"But, of course, a canoe is quite expensive, and the heads of offices in the big city do not consider that the big brothers may want to buy their little sisters canoes with the money they earn. Perhaps they think it is very silly to even dream of such things as canoes. But slowly during the winter the big brother had saved just as much money as a canoe would cost, and in June he wrote his sister a little note.

"In the note he said that he had a 'little present' for her which he had had put in the cellar and that she would find it there if she went and looked.

"Now, the little girl could not for a moment imagine what kind of a present would be put in the cellar. But she hurried down to see.

"And there—right before her eyes—was a lovely big green canoe—just the very nicest shade of green—and there beside it were the two paddles. Well, she could hardly speak. She had never dreamed that she would own a canoe, or, anyway, not for years and years and years.

"On the canoe was printed 'Indian Girl,' but she at once named it Papoose, which means, you know, a little Indian baby.

"You see, her big brother had arranged that the canoe should be taken down into the cellar when the little girl was asleep, so the surprise would be perfect. And it certainly was!

"In another week the big brother came up from the city, and on the lake they spent all their time in the green canoe."

PERKINS MUST STAY, SAYS T. R.

Says "They'll Have to Read Me Out Too."

FEELS MUCH IMPROVED.

Emphatically Reiterates His Decision About the Gubernatorial Candidacy. Says He Will Speak In Pittsburgh. Attacks Treaty Plan.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 25.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, health improved, wearing the same old smile and using the same enthusiastic hand clasp, sat in a big arm chair on his porch today and talked freely on the Progressive party. He arrived last night on the Imperator and said he felt excellent.

With the return of the colonel from his son Kermit's wedding in Spain and from a pleasant stay abroad two questions at least of extraordinary interest to members of the Progressive party, as well as to the older parties, were answered by the colonel himself in his most emphatic fashion.

"I shall speak in Pittsburgh on the 30th. My throat had to be examined in London because, as is so often the case, the after effects of the fever I contracted in Brazil show themselves chiefly in my throat. Evidently this effect will last for some months to come and I shall not be able to speak in the open air or make continuous speaking trips, but I shall be able to deliver a certain number of speeches indoors."

"What would you say about the attack on Mr. Perkins?"

"Mr. Perkins," continued Mr. Roosevelt, "has been on the whole the most useful member of the Progressive party. No man has served with greater zeal and disinterestedness nor has striven in absolute good faith for the principles of the party both as regards corporations and business generally, and as regards the group of questions dealing with the welfare of the wage worker and his economic and social advance. As for reading him out of the party, when that is done they will have to read me out too. Mr. Perkins was on board of the yacht Joyance also."

"Will you run for governor?"

Will Not Run.

"Governor, I thought I had answered that fully. I will not run for governor."

"What have you to say regarding the Wilson administration?"

"The payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia, together with the expression of what is in effect an apology for our having secured the right to build the Panama canal, is merely the belated payment of blackmail with an apology to the blackmailers. If this proposed treaty submitted by President Wilson through Mr. Bryan is right then our presence on the isthmus is wrong. In such case Panama should at once be restored to Colombia and we should stop work on the canal and abandon the place bag and baggage. There should be no half way measure. If we as a nation have been guilty of theft we should restore the stolen goods.

"Partly in consideration of this treaty we abandoned negotiations with Nicaragua. We acted in good faith and the course of action we thereby entered upon was conditioned upon their proposal, their promise. It was our right and also our duty to our own people and to the rest of the world to exact the performance of this promise For 400 years there had been conversation about the need of the Panama canal."

A Talk With the Merchants of Plainfield

At a meeting held Monday evening it was voted that the stores close at 1 o'clock Saturdays during the month of August; as most of the employes prefer a full holiday instead of half a day it has been decided by most of our merchants that the local stores close all day Thursday during the month of August.

To make this a success it is necessary that all merchants co-operate—and we take this method of asking YOU to join in this welfare movement.

Let's get together—say YOU will close your store—never mind the other fellow—if he is the right kind of merchant he will fall in line.

Co-operate with employes and you will find the shopping public to co-operate with you.

THREE ARE HURT AS AUTO UPSETS

Mail Stage Turns Turtle on Somerville Road, Rolling Over Bank.

TWO PINNED UNDER CAR

Third Person Unidentified—Vehicle Used to Carry Passengers and Mail Between Flemington and Somerville—Autoists Lend Aid.

Two persons were pinned under an overturned automobile mail stage in Somerville yesterday afternoon, when the vehicle toppled over a steep embankment landing wheels up in a ditch. Jacob B. Higgins, of Flemington, and his wife, are those known to be injured and a third person, was taken away, it is believed, in an unconscious condition. She was a young woman and her name could not be learned, as a passing automobile took her in an opposite direction.

The heavy truck was owned by George Dayton and was used to carry the mail between Flemington and Far Hills, besides carrying passengers. It was on its way from Far Hills to Somerville shortly after 5 o'clock when a second machine hove in sight. In trying to avoid the car, Dayton ran upon a bank and the machine went over it, turning turtle.

Mrs. Jacob B. Higgins, of Flemington, was the most seriously injured. She was brought to Somerville in a passing automobile in an unconscious condition and taken to the office of Dr. Stillwell. He found that the woman was badly injured internally, but could not say how serious. Mr. Higgins received a broken right rib and was otherwise bruised and injured.

Another woman in the car was picked up by a passing automobile in an unconscious condition and taken toward Bernardsville. Her name could not be learned. The passengers in the bus were pinioned under the vehicle. The other two in the stage were not injured.

The automobile that the stage turned out of the way of was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Classen of Red Bank. They were on their way from Bernardsville to Somerville. They approached the mail stage from the rear and tooted their horn for half of the road. Elwood Todd, who was driving the stage, turned out and went over the embankment. The Classen automobile was stopped and rendered what assistance they could to the injured persons.

STARTS DIVORCE ACTION ALLEGING DESERTION

Mrs. Mabel M. Allen of this City, has begun an action for divorce against Albert Allen, her husband, charging him with desertion and nonsupport. Robert Newton Crane is counsel for Mrs. Allen.

The couple were married in New York, on January 17, 1899, and have resided in this city since that time. Mrs. Allen's maiden name was Mabel M. Stevenson and she lived at Somerville prior to her marriage.

BODY OF H. E. HANSEN NOT FOUND IN HANSEN'S BAKERY

Because of the fact that it was reported in the Daily Press on June 17 that the body of Emil Hansen, who committed suicide, was found hanging dead this afternoon in his carpenter shop in the rear of Hogan Hansen's bakery," some people have gained a wrong impression about the matter. Hogan Hansen has asked that the conditions be further explained, and the Daily Press does not wish to create the impression that he would permit such a body to hang in his bakery for three days.

The carpenter shop mentioned is in a barn at the end of the alley which leads from the street to the rear of the Hansen bakery, and entirely detached from the latter, and in no way under Hogan Hansen's control.

FIREWORKS' FUND HAS REACHED $67

More Money Needed for the Independence Day Celebration.

Additional contriutions to the amount of $30 have been received from four public spirited controbulors to be used for the Fourth of July pyrotechnic display on Parker Field. This amount, added to the $37 previously acknowledged, brings the total up to $67.

The amount already contributed, however, falls far short of the necessary sum and unless more money comes into the hands of the committee prior to the date set for the affair it will probably have to be called off.

The amounts received to date were contributed by the following:

C. W. McCutchen	$10
E. T. Barrows	$10
W. S. Tyler	$ 5
John Stevens	$ 5
Previously acknowledged	$37
Total	$67

WILLIAM H. CONNOLLY KILLED BY A FALL

Uncle of Frank and Peter Briscoe Meets a Violent Death in Newark.

William H. Connolly, president of the W. H. Connolly Co., Inc., of Newark, and uncle of Frank and Peter Briscoe, of West End avenue, this city, met a terrible death, yesterday afternoon when he fell five stories down the elevator shaft of the new Proctor theatre building on Market street, Newark, while making an inspection of the progress of the work, for which he had the contract. His death was all the more sad by reason of the fact that he had just returned from attending the funeral of his nephew, Joseph E. Connolly, of Newark, who died suddenly on Monday.

Mr. Connolly ascended to the top of the interior of the building and proceeded to look over the operations on the elevator shaft. He had been thus engaged for several minutes when a sound as if a timber was giving away was heard. The next moment Mr. Connolly was precipitated down the elevator shaft to the ground floor, striking and breaking several boards in his descent.

Frank Briscoe, who is employed on the same job, was standing within a short distance of where Mr. Connolly landed. He heard the noise caused by the falling of his uncle and the final crash, but for an instant thought it was one of the laborers who had fallen. Rushing to the spot where the body lay he was horrified to discover that it was that of his uncle.

Mr. Connolly was instantly killed, an examination failing to disclose the least sign of life. The body was removed to an adoining store and later taken to the late home at 137 South Seventh street. One theory about the accident was that Mr. Connolly was overcome by heat and became dazed just as the elevator reached the fifth floor Another theory is that he made a misstep when the elevator neared the top of the building. It is thought that he might have stepped into the two feet space between the elevator platform and the sides of the shaft.

Sylvester Connolly, son of the dead man, and his partner, was at the top of the building at the time of the accident and he broke the news to his mother. She has been in poor health since the death of her daughter, Mary, last year.

Mr. Connolly was born at Wappingers Falls, N. Y., sixty years ago and removed to Newark in 1871. He was one of the most prominent business men in that city, and during the twenty-eight years that he was engaged in the contracting business he erected many large buildings. He is survived by a wife, two daughters, Beatrice and Laura. His mother, who is ninety-five years of age, six brothers and two sisters also survive. Mr. Conno'ly frequently visited relatives in this city.

CITY COMMITTEE MEETS.

The Republican City committee together with a number of the G. O. P. workers, met last evening in the Frost building and talked over preliminary plans for the fall campaign. Nothing of a definite nature was accomplished. Another meeting will be held in the near future.

THREE MEN KILLED.

ANOTHER BOOST FOR K. D.'S SUMMER WORK

Mrs. G. S. Simons and "A Friend" Contribute $5.50 to Fund.

Friends of the City Union of the King's Daughters gave the summer fund another boost today when $5.50 was contributed for the support of the worthy charity. Mrs. G. S. Simons contributed $5 and "A Friend" gave fifty cents. The King's Daughters will gratefully accept any sum from the smallest to the largest and as the needs are great this summer, it is hoped that friends of the organization will be as generous as possible in their aid.

The playground, which was given to the King's Daughters by T. J. Mumford and which are located directly back of The Day Nursery will be formally opened this afternoon, when the public will be welcomed to an inspection of the grounds and The Day Nursery. Representatives of the various circles will act as a reception committee. The contributions received to date for the summer fund are as follows:

"Wellwisher"	$20.00
Mrs. Louisa L. Riley	$10.00
Mrs. E. E. Parvin	$10.00
"A Friend"	$ 5.00
Mrs. G. S. Simons	$ 5.00
"A Friend"	50c

PLANNING A "SAFE AND SANE" FOURTH

Recreation Committee Will Present Fine Program at Plainfield Theatre.

Under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee arrangements are being made for the observance of a "safe and sane" Fourth of July, to be held at the Plainfield Theatre on the morning of the Fourth from 10 to 12:30 o'clock. It will be the most pretentions program yet given. There will be selections by the Municipal Orchestra and the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Harry Isaacson.

The orator of the day will be S. S. Swackhamer, who will make an address on "Good Citizens." One of the special features will be a play entitled "Soldiers Brave and Maidens Fair," by members of the Washington Musical and Dramatic Club. The participants have been coached by Henry Crofut White, of the Plainfield Comedy Club, who has marked ability and who has obtained unusual results in the many rehearsals that have been held.

The program will be concluded with an exhibition of folk dancing by the Folk Dancing Club, and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by the audience. The public is invited to attend the celebration.

FINE LIST OF ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING SEASON

Proctor & Sanderson, of The Plainfield theatre, are planning to open that popular playhouse for the winter season early in August. The management has succeeded in booking some of the best plays that have had long runs at New York theatre.

Some of the attractions booked for an early date are: Margaret Anglin in "High Jinks," "Potash and Perlmutter," "Today," "The Things That Count," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Misleading Lady," "Bringing Up Father," "Hanky Panky," "Mutt and Jeff," "Kitty McKay," Lyman Howe's pictures, "Stop Thief" and "Broadway Jones."

MISS COREY IS SAFE.

Mrs. R. H. Corey, of 930 Hillside avenue, received a telegram yesterday from her daughter who is visiting at Salem, Mass., that she is safe and has suffered no loss from the big fire which swept that city yesterday, following an explosion in a leather factory. A telephone message this morning from Miss Cory gave further assurances of safety.

FIRE HORSES TAKEN CARE OF.

Following the custom of several years back, Chief Doane has instructed the men at the various fire houses as to the care of horses that are affected by the heat during the hot spell. All animals who are overcome will have the best of care. This work is partially due to the efforts of Mrs. S. G. VanHoesen, the local agent of the S. P. C. A.

CIVIL SERVICE "EXAM."

Announcement is made that a Civil Service examination for the positions of letter-carrier and clerk at the local postoffice will be held on Saturday, July 11. Further information can be secured from William B. Sharp at the postoffice.

NEW YORK CONCERN GETS CO. CONRACT

Lincoln Steele Planing Company Will Erect Building at Bonnie Burn.

The Union County Board of Freeholders met, yesterday, and received bids for the work of repaving Westfield avenue, from Bayway, Elizabeth, to Chestnut street, Roselle. One bid from local contractors, was received from Burke and Bonham, the figure submitted by them being $22,031.21 on 300 pounds to the square yard. Bids were also received for the erection of an engineer's dwelling at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium as follows: Charles T. McDonald, $2,947; Alexander Milne, Plainfield $3,285; Lincoln Steele Planing Company, New York, $2,467; William D. Bird, Plainfield, $2,900; M. Byrnes Building Company, Elizabeth, $2,793; P. B. Polhemus, Roselle, $2,995; Charles L. Bell, Cranford, $2 797; W. D. Lewis Company, Roselle, $2,550; J. Newton Apgar, Dunellen, $2,846. The contract was awarded to the Lincoln Steele Planing Company, of New York, who are at present erecting an infirmary at the institution.

HENRY-TRACES BRASS FOUNDRY IS INCORPORATED

Elizabeth, June 26.—Papers of incorporation of the Henry-Traces Brass Foundry, of Plainfield, were filed today at the office of the county clerk here today. The new concern will engage in the manufacture of aluminum, brass, bronze and copper castings. Isaac P. Runyon is named as agent, with offices at 212 Park avenue. The concerned is captalized at $50,000. Wm. B. Henry and Arthur B. Castner, of Newark and George S Castner, of Brooklyn are included in the incorporators.

CONSTANTINE CHRISSAPIDS FALLS INTO THE POLICE NET

Mistaking Golden Young, of New street, for one of the rowdies who has insulted him in a West Front street restaurant, where he is employed as a waiter, got Constantine Chrissasapids into a peck of trouble last night, and resulted in a twelve-hour sojourn in the "cooler" at police headquarters. Taunted by three youths who had ordered up "ham and" the Greek watier became enraged, and grabbing a broom handle, which happened to be handy at the time, began swinging it in a threatenning fashion around his head at the same time crying for revenge on his annoyers.

Young dropped into the restaurant when the fracas was at its heighth and before he had an opportunity to partake of any of the eatables served in the restaurant was dealt a whack on the cranium, the blow coming from the broom handle in the hands of the angered Greek. The assaulter let his temper get the better of him and was in a furious state of mind when Young put a stop to the Greek's plans for a general slaughter by calling in the police. In court, this morning, the young man had changed his mind considerably and was exceedingly penitent for his wrong doing. He was let go on a suspended sentence after he had extended an apology to the complainant.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR THE STRICKEN PEOPLE

Washington, June 24.—Government aid for the stricken people of Salem, Mass., will be extended as quickly as the extent of that aid can be learned. Secretary of War Garrison, immediately on reaching his office today, telegraphed to Col. H. L. Hawthorne, commandant of the army post at Fort Warren, Mass. instructing him to investigate at once and report on the needs of the people made homeless by the fire. Tents and provisions will be furnished at once from the army stores when the inforation is forthcoming.

The American Red Cross also started an investigation to work, and stands ready to supply money and food. Red Cross officials also sent a telegram offering to aid, it was addressed to the Mayor of the stricken city.

AUTOS IN COLLISION, BOTH DRIVERS HELD

Arraigned in Coourt Dr. Raphael Yood is Held Responsible.

Two automobiles, one driven by Dr. Raphael Yood, of West Front street, and the other by Charles Huff, of Putnam avenue, came together at right angles on Watchung avenue near East Third street shortly after 7 o'clock last night, both cars being damaged to some extent, but the occupants escaped uninjured. Yood was driving his car west on Third street and Huff was going north on Watchung avenue.

Patrolman Brower, who happened to be in the immediate vicinity when the collision occurred, preferred a charge of reckless driving against both parties and they were arraigned in court this morning. After hearing both sides of the cast, Judge W. G. DeMeza placed the blame on Yood's shoulders, inasmuch as Huff was on the main thoroughfare and entitled to the right of way. Sentence was suspended.

The mudguard on the Huff machine was badly damaged and Yood claims that his engine was put out of commission. The parties adjusted the damages satisfactorily out of court.

STEIGMANS TO FIGHT AGAINST LONG TERM

Make Application for Writ of Error and Are Released On Bail.

After spending six days in the Essex County jail in Newark since their conviction last Friday, on a charge of conspiracy, Louis and David Steigman, of this city, were released yesterday when Morris Abrams, a local business man, furnished the necessary $3,000 in each case. Morris Abrams and Morris Dornbusch, the latter of Newark, appeared before Judge Hunt, in the United States District Court in Newark yesterday and supplied the necessary bonds.

Louis Steigman was sentenced Monday to serve one year and six months in the Essex County Penitentiary by Judge Haight and David Stiegman was given a term of one year and five days after being found guilty of the concealment of assets in a four day's trial, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr. and William Newcorn, of this city, assisting acting United States Prosecutor Walter C. Bacon in the prosecution of the brothers.

B. H. Weinberg, their counsel, filed a writ of error immediately following the sentencing of his clients and bail was fixed accordingly. Mr. Weinberg said that he would make application for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence, the nature of which he said he would not reveal if the writ of error is denied.

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS ENTERTAINS PAST OFFICERS

The Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., entertained the retiring department officers, at Reform Hall, last night. There was an informal program of speeches, vocal and instrumental music, and during the evening refreshments were served by a committee from the corps.

The retiring officers were: President, Mrs. Sarah Manley; secretary Mrs. Sarah Struthers; chaplain, Mrs. Jennie Bergman and delegate-at-large, Miss Clara Barton Smith. Representatives fro the Department of the G. A. R.; were present including Department Commander William S. Reynolds and staff.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised Mrs. Mary E. Kitchell, Mrs. Ada England, Miss Harriet Kirch, Miss Elsie Perrine, Mrs. Emma K. Frazee, Mrs. E. E. Townley, Mrs. Albert Perry and Mrs. Hattie L. Gibbons.

G. O. P. DOLLAR DINNER.

FORMAL OPENING OF PLAYGROUNDS

Well Equipped Amusement Centre for Day Nursery Children Inspected.

The King's Daughters' playground, was formerly opened for the inspection of the public this afternoon. The playground is situated in the rear of the Day Nursery, on West ront street and is an ideal place of the amusement of little children. The land was given to the King's Daughters by T. J. Mumford, of East Ninth street as a playground and it has been fitted up with swings, sandboxes and tents. The slope from the house to the brook has been graded and a fifty foot slide has been placed there.

The Cheerful Workers' Society is in charge of the opening today and visitors will be shown through the buildings and about the grounds. The officers the city union of which Mrs. Charles A. Reed is president, comprise the reception committee.

BLISS ASSURED OF FINANCIAL SUPPORT

His Appointment as Head of Associated Companies Considered Important.

New York, June 26—It was stated that before accepting the presidency of the Associated Merchants' Company and the United Dry Goods Companies, Cornelius N. Bliss was assured of any financial support that might be needed to enable him to go ahead vigorously with the affairs of the two organizations. The acceptance of Mr. Bliss of these important positions is regarded as an event of highest importance in the dry goods situation in banks and banking circles as well as in the dry goods district. The standing of Mr. Bliss is of the best.

A conference was held at the Bank of Commerce, this morning, relative to the affairs of the noteholders committee of the H. C. Claflin Company, but James S. Alexander, chairman of the committee, said that he had no statement to make. It is hoped that the deposit agreement with the Bankers Trus Company will be completed during the day.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the U. S. District Court this morning against the Defender Manufacturing Company by Gregg and McGovern for three creditors, Charles S. Scerbo, of Jersey City, Carroll Box and Lumber Company and the Rischer Thread Drawing Company, with claims amounting to $2,164.

Anthony C. Brem, secretary of the merchandise company committee of creditors in the H. B. Claflin matter, this morning, issued the following statement: "I estimate that the merchandise creditors committee represents largely upwards of $2,000,000. It is my earnest hope that merchandise creditors will deposit their claims with our committee at the earliest practical moment. Immediate co-operation is essential to procure satisfactory results."

VOTE TO RETURN.

Pittsburg, June 26.—More than three-fourths of the employes of the Westinghouse Machine Company voted in favor of returning to work according to announcement made last night. The ballots were cast at the pay window of the company, when the men drew their pay. The strike committee had urged the strikers not to vote and issued a statement condemning the election on the ground that non-strikers were permitted to cast ballots.

AUTHORIZE SALE.

Washington, June 26.—Authorization for the sale to Greece of the Battleships Idaho and Mississippi was formally completed in the House today by the adoption of the naval bill conference report of Chairman Padgett announcing that the Senate had agreed to all House changes in the bill.

HOAGLAND GETS HIS COMMISSION

New Postmaster Names William B. Sharp, a Republican, as His Assistant.

TAKES OFFICE JULY 1

New Appointee Will Succeed James Martin, Who Retires With Elias H. Bird—Selection is Considered a Good One.

William B. Sharp, now chief clerk in the Plainfield postoffice, will assume the position of assistant postmaster next Wednesday, when Alvin E. Hoagland will succeed Elias H. Bird in charge of the local office. Mr. Sharp has been connected with the office for nineteen years, and is said to be the best informed man on postal matters in the clerical force at the present time. He has made hundreds of friends among patrons of the office because of the courteous manner in which he conducts the money order window, where he is at present stationed.

In speaking of the appointment, this morning, shortly after he received his commission from Washington, Mr. Hoagland said that he had considered the needs of the office from every viewpoint. The Civil Service rules require that the appointment must be made from the office, and while the postmaster is permitted to pick a man of the same political faith, Mr. Hoagland decided, after thoroughly canvassing the employes, to name Mr. Sharp, who is a Republican. "Mr. Sharp is an expert in every branch of the business," said Mr. Hoagland, "and in fact, might truthfully be called a walking encyclopedia of postoffice information. I would have been much pleased had the opportunity been given to name a Democrat, but feel that service is of more importance than a man's political belief. I consulted with a number of prominent men in the community, who are Democrats, but are not active in politics, and all agreed that Sharp was the man. I want to say, also, that I urged James Martin, the present assistant postmaster to reconsider his determination to quit when Mr. Bird drops the reins of the office on Wednesday, but Mr. Martin declined to remain after that time."

The salary of the new assistant is half of that of the postmaster, and amounts to about $1,600 a year. He is protected from removal by the Civil Service Law.

Mr. Sharp has been a resident of this city all his life. He was educated at the Franklin School and the Plainfield High School, and left the latter to enter the carriage business with his father, the late John J. Sharp, of West Sixth street, with whom he was associated for nine years, until his father retired from business. In September, 1893, he took a Civil Service examination for carrier, and served a year and two months as a substitute, being appointed regularly in November, 1894. He was made money order clerk on January 1, 1896, and has been in the place continuously since. He is married and has one son, Leslie, who is a carrier in the local postoffice.

LOCAL PEOPLE ON PRESS ASSOCIATION OUTING

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Frost and two daughters and Leslie R. Fort are the Plainfield representatives on the annual outing of the New Jersey Press Association, which leaves late this afternoon from New York on the steamer City of Lowell, of the New London line. The party, which numbers about 100, will go to Watch Hill, Rhode Island, where they will remain until Monday night, returning to New Jersey on Tuesday morning.

ONE CONTESTED CASE.

There are seventy-five cases on the calendar in the District court, but there was only one contested case yesterday. That was the suit of the Crown Company, of Newark, against Mrs. Alice Pryor, of this city, for possession of goods. Judgement was given the plaintiff.

JOHNSON-MORAN FIGHT LOOKS "QUEER"

Match Has Not Attracted Much Atention in Sporting Circles.

New York, June 26—The result of the heavyweight championship fight between Jack Johnson and Frank Moran at Paris tomorrow night, will probably be known in this city in the late afternoon. The match has not attracted any great amount of attention here, principally for the reason that it looks "queer" from whatever angle it may be viewed. A succession of contradictory reports concerning the details of the match has floated over from the other side since the articles were signed with moving picture accompaniment, etc., last January. The cables have told us of the posting of large forfeits and the placing of certified checks for fabulous amounts in bank vaults for safe keeping. Moving pictures have been displayed showing the prospective principals training faithfully for the contest. On the other hand, persons who are in a position to know the inside facts concerning the match declare that the mill is to be staged solely with a view to reaping a golden harvest from the sale of seats and the moving picture privileges. Other sporting men who have returned from Paris recently have stated that neither fighter has made any great pretense of training for the battle.

But in the minds of the ring followers the most disagreeable feature of the match is the fact that it appears altogether one-sided. On past performances Gunboat Smith or Sam Langford, instead of Moran, should have had the first chance to tackle Johnson for the championship.

The record of Moran certainly contains no item that would indicate he was made of championship stuff. He began as a professional in 1910, taking part in fifteen mills. He knocked out four rivals, all unknown, and outpointed others of equal insignificance. Incidentally, he met Johnson in a four-round exhibition in Pittsburgh and was a toy in the hands of the champion.

In the winter of 1910-11 Moran boxed no decision bouts with Dummy Maxson and Al Palzer in Brooklyn. He beat Maxon, but Palzer drew with him. In another Brooklyn bout Jim Savage, a fourth rater, outboxed Moran, who then went to England and France in 1912. On the other side he put away a half dozen or more of the big fellows, but his opponents without exception were little better than amateurs.

When Moran returned here in the summer of 1912 he made a poor showing in a ten-round affair with Al Kubiak. Tom Kennedy, knocked out by Borbadier Wells, held Moran to a ten-round draw in this city, while clumsy Tony Ross got a verdict over him in ten rounds in Cleveland. It took Moran ten rounds to stop Harry Wuest, an unknown, in Columbus, but he went to Juraez, Mexico, after that and knocked out one Dave Willis in eight rounds.

Later in the summer Moran fought Jack Geyer, a fifth rater, in a four-round bout in San Francisco and lost the decision. Then came the match with Gunboat Smith, December 27, 1912, in San Francisco. The Pittsburgher adopted the tactics of a marathon runner and the Gunboat was given the decision on points after he had chased his opponent about the ring for the entire twenty rounds.

Moran took part in five battles in 1913. In March he stopped Al McCluskey in five rounds before a local club. He failed to beat Sailor White in six rounds in Philadelphia, and when he faced the late Luther McCarty here in April he was decisively beaten in ten rounds. Subsequently Moran knocked out Tim Logan in four rounds at New Orleans and also disposed of Al Palzer in seven at a local club, when it was well known that Palzer's physical condition should have kept him out of the ring. The victory over Palzer formed the basis for Moran's manager proclaiming the Pittsburgher as the next champion, but he was careful to sidestep a match with Gunboat Smith, Sam Langford and the other heavies whose records were such as to afford pretty good evidence that they would have little difficulty in disposing of a fighter of Moran's calibre.

In the coming match Johnson will have the advantage in experience and weight. Moran is a fraction of an inch taller than the champion and has the advantage that comes of youth. In regards to ring generalship and ability to land a knockout blow there is no comparison between the Pittsburgher and the champion, providing the latter is in anything like good condition. If Johnson, however, should enter the ring a physical wreck, which some say that he is, Moran might beat him, but Johnson only half fit ought to outfight the Pittsburgher with considerable ease, in the opinion of a majority of New York sporting men.

A Lincolnism as Applied to Our Business

Abraham Lincoln was not an author; he was not a writer; he was not an orator; but he was the gentlest soul and the rarest heart of the 19th century.

And it is just this—and nothing more—that we ask you to do with us.

We ask you to stand with us as long as we can sell better clothes for less money than our neighbors—as long as we tell you the truth about a garment—as long as we pledge our name with every sale.

And once we fail we ask you to part with us—for our sake as well as yours.

No store in our whole broad land has a better ethical concept of business than we—and certainly no store adheres more clearly to it.

DUTCH ARMS BAND FESTIVAL ATTRACTS MANY

The annual festival and open-air concert under the auspices of the Dutch Arms Band of Trinity Reformed church, held at East Front and Church streets, was a great success. It is estimated that more than three thousand people were attracted by the fine concert, a large proportion of whom patronized the affair. The concert was a popular one, the selections including some of the latest compositions. The band showed the results of careful training under the direction of Edmund D. Young, the leader. The band numbered forty musicians last night.

The grounds were attractively decorated for the occasion. There were several booths where candy, peanuts, soda water, etc., were sold, while ice cream was served at small tables. Throughout the evening about five hundred quarts of ice cream were sold. The women of Trinity Reformed church assisted members of the band in serving refreshments, and it was largely through their efforts that the affair was such a success.

The band was organized about a year ago and since then has been meeting with much success, a large number of engagements having been secured. The proceeds from last night's affair will go toward paying for the member's new uniforms. The officers of the band are: President, Arthur B Cole; vice-president, Leslie Leland; secretary, William Trembath; treasurer George Volk; leader, Edmund D. Young; assistant leader, Edward Guest. The festival last night closed with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, in which many of those present joined in singing the words.

FOWLER'S CHANCES.

"Apparently the impression is held that this is to be an easy year all around," says the Trenton Times in discussing three men who have already announced their intention of running for Congress at the November primaries. "For some reason it seems almost impossible to find desirable candidates in districts that are regarded as good fighting ground, while in the districts in which nomination is equivalent to election, the crops of aspirants are large." Speaking of former Representative Charles N. Fowler, the Times fails to see why he has declared himself a candidate, as he "did nothing in the sixteen years he was in Washington to earn further consideration."

Probably the reason for a lack of candidates in the doubtful districts is found in the fact that the better men in the two old parties are waiting to see what the Progressives will do. The partisan newspapers tell how the Progressive party has disintegrated, but "way down deep in their hearts" the men who would like to try for office realize that the Progressive strength is still great enough to make their presence in the campaign necessary. their presence in the campaign important enough to be reckoned with.

Fowler showed that he still has a big group of followers in Morris and Union counties in the Republican primaries for Governor in 1913, when he polled 1154 votes in the former and 1725 in the latter, out of a total vote of 8106, with four candidates in the field. Is that not enough to warrant the belief that he has a very good chance of securing the Republican nomination this year, in case a strong candidate such as former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, does not oppose him?

It would seem that Mr. Fowler has a splendid opportunity of getting nominated, but in case Congressman Tuttle opposes him, we suspect that Fowler would have "tough sledding" to be elected, especially if a Progressive candidate is in the field, and the promise is given that there will be one.

VICE AND SILENCE.

Black and omnious clouds foretell the coming of the storm declares Dr. William H. Allen, head of the New York bureau of research, who has told the country that it must pay heavily for all the anti-vice crusades which have swept over the country. "We must stop the morbid discussion of vice from the pulpit," says this monumental prude and "if the discussion of this subject by women and others were omitted for ten years there would be a wholesome improvement."

Dr. Allen's argument on vice and silence is about as important as his contention that policewomen are not as useful as male "coppers" because women wear slit skirts, some cigarettes and do other unwomanly things. Coming from the head of an organization which has done more than any other to make public the most morbid statistics on vice, the statements of the doctor are extraordinary.

Perhaps the speaker has grown weary of so much discussion of vice problems, which come in the wake of a silence and prudishness just as dangerous and disastrous as he says talk on the subject will be. Once the red light is brought into the limelight, there immediately spring up agencies which seek to commercialize the curiosity of the public. A little commendable talk gives way to a notorious dissertation; one good white slave play is followed by scores of morbid shows; one beneficial moving picture film is only the forerunner of all sorts of films with a bad influence

Dr. Allen may have grown disgusted with too much vice talk(although we doubt it). Papers give too much attention and space to morbid things, divorces, while slave trials, murders for lust and such things, because the public looks for that kind of news and buys the papers for it. But there is a happy medium if we will but strike it. for the discussion of vice and its prevention and cure, and this medium is such a consideration of the subject as to uplift moral thought and acts, safeguard girls, clean up immoral cities and teach a sane idea of sex hygiene.

The New York physician presents an example of a man fearing to discuss vice at a time when a woman, the superintendent of schools in Chicago, Ella Flagg Young, has declared to club women of the nation that our lectures in the public schools are a success "The girls, enlightened, leave the lecture halls," she declares "with uplifted chins in consciousness of the womanhood that is in them instead of with the smirks of ignorance."

The passing of the horse is becoming more noticeable than over at the North avenue station. Where a year ago only one or two autos for hire were to be found, there are now ten or a dozen, and the horse-drawn hacks are in the minority. With the change in the method of locomotion adopted by many of the hackmen, it would seem that some action by the City Council for regulating fares should be taken. The taxi-meter plan has been successful in the larger cities and there is no reason why it should not be required here.

Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely has written the editorial for tomorrow night's Press. In it he will tell of some of the things which he believes are needed to increase efficiency in police departments, the editorial being based on a paper read by the Chief at the recent convention of police chiefs, held at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

If the Steamer City of Lowell hould happen to be run into sunk in Long Island Sound tonight there would be an awful void in the New Jersey newspaper world. The editors are going to start for their annual outing at Watch Hill on that vessel.

By the way, what's the matter with Plainfield as a summer resort.

Yes constant reader, we think it's perfectly safe to take 'em off.

"Let Plainfield be unconfined."—With apologies to Byron.

ONE KILED, FOUR HURT.

New York, June 26.—One fireman was killed, four others and an eight-year-old boy were seriously injured when a $10,000 automobile hose wagon on its way to a $5 fire in Port Richmond, skidded against a dwelling house on Castleton avenue. The man who was killed was standing on the running board and was caught between the automobile and the house.

VILLA READY TO ENTER CAPITAL

Eager to Start March on Mexico City.

FEDERALS LOST HEAVILY

Over 4,000 Said to Have Been Killed In Battle at Zacatecas, While Rebels Lost but 500—Bodies Strewn Over Hillside.

Zacatecas, Mexico, June 26.—Capture of Zacatecas by the forces of General Villa at a loss of 500 men killed and 800 wounded has given the Constitutionalists control of more than half of Mexico. In the defense of the city, which was taken by a final assault on Tuesday, the federals lost 4,000 men and 2,000 were wounded, according to the reports made to General Villa by his officers.

Villa is now in fighting trim and ready to enter the Mexican national capital.

"The bulldog of the rebel army," as he is called by some, "the Roosevelt of Mexico," as he is called by others, will only wait until the railroads behind him can be repaired of the damage done by the high waters so he can get provisions before proceeding against Aguascalientes, Queretaro and the national capital. Villa has several reasons for hurry. One is that he wants to have the war over; another is that he is averse to allowing his men to remain in idleness, and another is that he wishes to dash into the capital before the Carranza generals in Kalisco or San Luis Potosi can get there.

Gonzales, a Carranza man, is moving on San Luis Potosi and Obregon, another Carranza man, is in Jalisco moving against Guadalajara. These towns once in their possession they might get to the national capital ahead of Villa. The campaigns of the future will constitute a race between Villa and Carranza for the privilege of encountering Huerta.

Telegrams of congratulation to Villa have been passing through El Paso from all parts of the world. His military successes in the last year and a half are considered the most remarkable since the days of Napoleon. No general or commander of an army, it is declared, ever fought and won so many victories over an enemy in such a short time without the loss of an engagement. It has hardly been a year and a half since Villa entered Mexico from El Paso on a borrowed horse with $7.50 in cash and a revolver on his person to start a war.

Rebel Aim Deadly.

Villa praises the superiority of his men's artillery fire to that of the federals as largely responsible for his success at Zacatecas. As usual he gives all the credit to his men and declares that it was their gallantry and bravery that swept the "federal hirelings" out of the trenches and into a disorderly retreat. Villa's artillery outnumbered that of the federal batteries two to one, and his men did better execution with their shells.

The federal cannon fire was insignificant compared to former battles. In the Torreon fighting the federal cannons did great damage to the rebels, while the rebel fire was poor. The order was reversed at Zacatecas.

Villa claims his loss to have been lighter than the federals in the fighting, and it is difficult for the correspondents to arrive at any definite conclusion, as few of the federals wore uniforms, and dead bodies of federals and rebels look alike piled in the trenches or upon the battlefield and hillside. It was Villa's heaviest loss in generals since he has been fighting. One was instantly killed and two were wounded. He also lost in wounded a number of his staff officers, several of them shot while close to the commander in chief, who with his usual good luck escaped without a scratch, though in the thick of the fighting.

VERA CRUZ FEARS A CLASH.

Huerta's Troops Are Reported Massing Near City.

Vera Cruz, June 26.—There is an increasing feeling of alarm here at the evident massing of Mexican forces just outside the American outposts.

Travelers arriving here from Mexico City said that General Huerta is rushing large forces by rail to towns in the state of Vera Cruz. A body of 300 federal soldiers was seen this morning by the American outposts and other smaller forces were not far distant.

It is regarded as certain that Huerta is seeking to provoke a conflict with the United States before being driven out by the Constitutionalists.

Chinese City Looted.

London, June 26.—A dispatch from Shanghai says that Kalgan, 125 miles northwest of Peking, was looted. The foreigners in the city were not molested. There is no word of the fate of Chinese troops stationed there.

LOWEST BIRTH RATE.

Paris, June 26—Official figures figures made public today show that 5,112 fewer babies were born in 1913 than in the preceding year. This is the lowest birth rate reported in the country with the exception of 1911. The number of living children born in 1913 totaled 745, 539; in 1872 the total was 945,000. Deaths were exceeded by births in 1913 to the number of 41,901. There were 298,760 marriages in France in 1913 of 13,169 fewer than 1912. Divorces increased from 14,599 in 1912 to 15,076 in 1913.

SWIMMERS IN MATCH RACE.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 26—Two of the most noted long distance swimmers of America, Sam Richards, of Boston, and Charles B. Durborrow, of this city, are to engage in a match race on the Schuylkill river tomorrow from Chester to Philadelphia and return, a distance of 33 miles. Durborrow is considered the best long distance swimmer in this section. Richards is equally well known and is said to be the only man who ever accomplished the feat of swimming from the Battery in New York to Sandy Hook.

WHITMAN A BARNES MAN.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 26.—In a statement one of the first made since his return home, Col. Roosevelt characterized District Attorney Whitman as a Barnes man and announces that under no circumstances will Whitman receive the endorsement of the Progressives in the event of his nomination by the Republicans. The Colonel refers to Mr. Whitman if elected, as a man who would be subservient to the Republican State Chairman and seems sure that he would not subscribe to the principals of he Progressive party.

CANADIAN ATHLETIC MEET.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 26—Dominion Day, next Wednesday, is to be observed here by the holding of an athletic meet in which some of the best performrs of the Maritime Provinces will take part. The meet will be in the nature of a preliminary to the Canadian championships which are to be held here next August in connection with the cenfederation semi-centennial celebration.

"ARSONETTES" FIRE A CHURCH

Sexton Puts Out Petroleum Blaze and Saves Building.

Belfast, Ireland, June 26.—What might have been a destructive fire was extinguished by the sexton in the Protestant church at Ballylessen.

The blaze was believed to be the work of an arson squad of suffragettes.

On arriving at the church the sexton found grease and cotton wool littered around the building, the woodwork soaked in petroleum and a lively blaze eating its way into the structure.

ALL THE GOOD FANS OF PLAINFIELD

SWEAR BY THESE GREAT HAHNE MEN'S SALES

—Yes, sir! You can place a small bet on that proposition, and feel dead certain of cashing in on the big end of the purse! One of our good New York men customers on hearing of the sale handed us his check for $11.70, and said, "Pick me out six of those silk shirts. I'll leave it to you to pick good ones." And he got them. Likewise those hundreds of men who came on the opening morning, Thursday, and who came back again this morning for more! You see they have learned the new spirit—the new goodness—the new merchandising spirit behind the Hahne Men's Haberdashery Store!

—Another man was nearly taken off his feet! You see he had attended another silk shirt sale—had paid considerably more and hadn't received as much real shirt value as he picked up in these shirts at $1.95 per! So it's the ultimate satisfaction of our men friends that count with us. This shirt sale was no spasmodic affair—was no hastily prepared event—and hadn't a sign of "seconds"—of "mill outputs"—of "a maker's overloaded stocks." For every shirt was made to Hahne specifications—made right by a maker who never knew how to turn out a poorly made one. And so

This Great Disposal of Men's Soft-Cuff Silk Shirts is a "Hummer"--Worth $3 to $5 Silk Shirts, at - $1.95

WITH CRIPPLED TEAM ELKS ANNEX A TITLE

Antlered Tribe Cleans up on Knights of Columbus Pinners.

Elk bowlers annexed the alley championship of the city, last night, on their home chutes, taking the second series of title games from the Columbus Club pinners in easy fashion. Copping the initial encounter by forty-three pins the antlered tribe asserted its superiority in the early stages and proceeded to set an even wider gap in the final game. The second went to the home pin-splitters by a margin of eighty-one counters.

High scores by Vail and Waldorf, two substitutes, featured the final contest, the former setting up a tally of 203 and the latter one of 214. Blatz and Kiely also rolled well for the winners in the last match. Waldorf took the place of Chauncey Stout and Vail filled in for Bill Nash.

Coming up from the rear after getting a tally of 143 in the first, Shannon, of the vanquished five, rolled 220 in the second game for the high individual record of the evening.

The scores:

NEW LOCAL LINEUP AGAINST VISITORS

Good Game Expected on Parker Field Tomorrow Afternoon.

When the Plainfield baseball team goes against the Fort Slocum aggregation on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon, it will present a much improved fighting front, only two players who were in the game a week ago against Dunellen, being retained by Manager Dorflinger.

The Fort Slocum aggregation is a speedy one and the strong Plainfield lineup will probably have its work cut out for it tomorrow. The players who are slated to perform are: Dorman, cf; Stewart, lf; Mullin, ss; Callahan, 2b; Dixon, 1b; Brenni, 3b; Darflinger, rf; Nelson, c; Mathewson, p.

MISS WILDEY WINS IN EASY FASHION

Local Girl Works Her Way to Third Round in Singles.

Miss Edha Wildey, of this city, continued her good playing at South Orange in the Middle States tennis tournament yesterday afternoon by defeating her opponent in the third round of the women's championship singles tournament. The match went to her in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, and she will now play in the fourth round. With Mrs. Marshall McLean, the local player won the second round of the women's doubles tournament. This was a hard played match and it took three sets to decide the winner. Miss Wildey and Mrs. McLean took the rst and third sets, 6-1 and 7-5 and dropped the second one, 6-1. Mrs. McLean also won her match in the third round of the singles tournament.

In the third round of the men's doubles tournament, Harold Throckmorton, and L. Dunham, of Woodbridge, lost one of the most exciting contests of the day. It took three sets before this pair of high school boys were downed and they were given much applause from a large crowd of spectators. The scores were 5-7 8-6 and 6-3. The second set was the best of all and brilliant playing featured throughout. Throckmorton is the State interscholastic singles championship and has appeared in this city a number of times against the city high school tennis team.

NEW BASEBALL TEAM.

The Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order of Red Men, will organize a baseball team which will play all of the teams in this vicinity. At the meeting of the council, last night, H. Kimbell, Samuel Montross and Charles Halliwell were appointed a committee to pick a team from the members of the tribe.

DUNELLEN TEAMS TIED IN TOURNEY

High Score Record of the Tournament Endangered Again Last Night.

The excellent pinning of Mrs. Fred S. Vail and Mrs. William Johnson, in the Dunellen Presbyterian two team bowling league last night landed them in a tie for first place with the Arnold-Apgar team. Four games went to their credit last night and they have only been defeated once in the races The other two teams that took part last night fell before this strong duo and then took one from each other, making their standing for the night one victory and three defeats.

Mrs. Vail made the high score of the evening with a total of 142 for one game and came within one point of tying the tournament high score record of 143 which is now held by Mrs. H. B. Arnold. These two contestants are also running very close in the individual standing, the former being one point behind on an equal number of games. Mrs. Arnold has smashed 858 pins which is ten more than her opponent has toppled. The team high score record, which is 266, is still held by the Arnold-Apgar team. ROD AND REEL

A local angler made a good day's catch yesterday, landing four bass, four pickerel and a heavy snapping turtle. These were caught in the Rockaway river.

The Raritan river is well stocked with the finny tribe and one man landed a dozen bluefish.

Weequahic lake, in Newark, had a lot of visitors yesterday and black bass, perch and pickerel were landed by the dozens.

B. A. C. EASY VCTIMS FOR MT. PLEASANT NINE

The Mt. Pleasant baseball team had an easy time taking the measure of the Boys A. C. nine, yesterday afternoon, and at the end of the game had a ten run lead, the final score being 15 to 5. The game was a swatfest and the winners were always there with a hit when the bases were filled. Wendell was hit hard at times and two-base hits by King and Kunsman, with two men on the bases each time, did the trick.

Both teams scored once in the initial inning and the B. A. C. took the lead by pulling one over the plate in the third. The end of the fifth period saw the teams tied with four runs each and both teams were blanked in the next. The seventh proved to be a lucky inning for Mt. Pleasant, and they scored four times while their opponents crossed the pan once. The last frame was disastrous to the home team and eight runs were scored off Wendell through clean hitting and a few errors. Glaser's pitching was a feature of the game.

P. A. F. C. NOTES

At a meeting of the club last night, Andrew Cowley was unanimously elected president to succeed Thomas B. Douglas, who recently resigned. Douglas has been president of the club for five years and the new executive has held the office of vice-president for three months.

George Aldridge was appointed to the office of vice-president to take the place of the new president.

Robert Baillie has been appointed to the board of trustees.

The treasury report shows that the club is in a flourishing condition and has never before been so well off financially.

The regular meeting of the board of trustees will be held at the club next Monday night.

LEAGUE MEETING TONIGHT.

The board of directors of the Sunday-school Baseball League will meet tonight to decide some important matters that have lately come up for settlement.

MRS. ANGLE IS FREED ON BAIL

Stamford Woman Collapses on Witness Stand.

FALLS FROM THE CHAIR.

Swoons Repeatedly During Inquest In Councilman Ballou's Death—"Will They Hang Me?" She Keeps Asking. Father Furnished Bond.

Stamford, Conn., June 26.—Coroner John J. Phelan of Bridgeport has released Mrs. Helen M. Angle, who was being held pending the investigation into the death of Waldo R. Ballou, who was found with his head crushed on the steps of the building in which she lived, in $5,000 bail.

The action followed testimony at the inquest, in which the police produced an electric flatiron, which fitted exactly into the dent of Mr. Ballou's straw hat, found hidden in the clothes chest of Mrs. Angle's apartment, and further testimony that splashes of blood had been found not only outside the door of her music studio, but also in the room, some of which had been partially removed with a knife.

The coroner felt himself justified in permitting the woman to leave the custody of the police in order to save her reason. A half hour before, against the protest of her counsel and in the face of a declaration of her physician that she was suffering from complete nervous prostration before the tragedy, she had been half led and half carried to the witness stand. There, in the presence of crowds of men and women, some of whom she had known for more than two decades, she collapsed, falling from the chair to the floor after a few despairing, half incoherent expressions. Her father furnished bonds.

She was taken to the home of a friend, where she is under special attention. When she has grown stronger the coroner will question her again. It is thought this will not be for three days at least.

Police Testify.

Mrs. Angle's appearance on the stand followed a session of the inquest in which Chief of Police Brennan and his detectives gave testimony which the authorities believed went far toward discrediting the many versions of the tragedy told by the woman. She had not heard this testimony because former Judge Downs, her counsel, had been fighting against bringing her before the court from the opening minutes of the inquest at 2 o'clock.

He had produced a certificate from Dr. J. H. Staub, her physician, that she had suffered from nervous exhaustion for two months and was at present in a state which made it highly dangerous for her to be dragged forth in a public courtroom. Coroner Phelan insisted that he had a right to question the woman, who might refuse to answer on constitutional grounds, had her sent for and went into a private room with the city prosecutor, Leonard Blondell, her father, and a stenographer, where she was taken.

Then Mrs. Angle was taken in there by the matron, and as she walked through the crowded anteroom her manner was that of a person totally dazed. She recovered only to burst into tears and cry despairingly: "Oh, what shall I do? Will they hang me?"

Head of Dry Goods Firm That Went Into Receivers' Hands.

Receivers have taken charge of the H. B. Claflin company, the most important mercantile concern in the United States, controlling thirty-five retail dry goods houses in various cities. According to John Claflin, president of the company, its wholesale profits had been seriously curtailed by the unprecedented shifting of trade centers in New York and other cities, and it was obliged to rely mainly on the profits of the retail stores controlled by the Claflin interests. Their business requirements necessitated more capital, which the company could not meet.

20,000 HOMELESS IN SALEM FIRE

Disastrous Blaze Sweeps the Historic Seaport.

DAMAGE ABOUT $10,000,000.

Fire Starts In Leather Factory and Quickly Spreads to Residential Section—May Be Lives Lost In the Tenement District.

Salem, Mass., June 26.—The old city of Salem fought a fire which for hours threatened the city's destruction. It swept over more than three square miles of territory. The property loss is estimated to be from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. The fire is said to be under control. Over 1,000 homes were destroyed.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 persons are homeless, and there is grave fear that many more will be driven into the streets, as the blaze is still raging, although it has gone down to the water front of South river and cannot go any further.

New Fire Gains Headway.

To make matters worse, another fire started in North Salem, a mile and a half away, and raged furiously. A heavy wind was blowing, and the flames were being driven to the center of the city.

No deaths have been reported, although there is fear that there may have been fatalities in the French district, made up of many tenements.

Fifty men and women, burned while trying to escape from their homes or injured in rescuing their worldly belongings, were taken to the Salem hospital, but the hospital was threatened by flames, and it was necessary to carry the fire victims, as well as the regular house patients, to places of safety.

Tents Cover Commons.

The Salem common is covered with tents in which many homeless ones are being sheltered, and many others are sleeping in churches, the Y. M. C. A. headquarters, stores and other buildings.

The principal part of the devastated district includes all that section west of Boston street and east of Essex street. The burned section is about three miles long and from a half to a mile and a half wide.

The fire started in the plant of the Karn Leather company in Boston street, where seventy-five hands were at work. All escaped, although many were obliged to jump from second and third story windows. One of these, Charles Lee, broke both legs in a thirty foot jump for life. A number of the leather employees were sent to the hospital.

Twenty-five plants in the leather district are burned.

The fire spread to the residential section in Ward four and destroyed from fifty to seventy-five houses. Then it continued swirling through the frame dwellings into Ward three, and finally reached Ward five, where the most fashionable folks of the city live. Most of these residences are detached and are surrounded by beautiful grounds. Many are very old.

The flames licked up handsome homes almost the entire length of Lafayette street, Salem's most beautiful thoroughfare, doing its work of destruction on both sides of the street at the same time.

The public schools Saltonstall and Ropes went down before the flames. All the houses on the side streets west of Lafayette street were destroyed.

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, which was recently completed at a cost of $250,000, was burned. St. Joseph's convent and St. Joseph's parochial school were also wiped out. The sisters and children succeeded in getting out safely.

The orphan asylum, conducted by the city, also caught fire after twenty-five sisters had escorted their 150 charges to St. Mary's school. The asylum property was destroyed.

CONVENTION BARS MORMONS.

International Association Refuses to Admit Latter Day Saints.

Chicago, June 26.—Admission of the reorganized church of Latter Day Saints to membership in the International Sunday School association was refused at the session of the fourteenth annual convention here.

New York was chosen for the next convention in 1917, and a campaign was launched to bring it to Calgary, Canada, in 1920.

The association elected H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn., president and E. K. Warren of Three Oaks, Mich., vice president.

GENE RODRIGUEZ IS DEAD.

Was Bosom Friend of Villa In His Bandit Days.

Zacatecas, June 26.—Gene Trinidad Rodriguez died here of wounds suffered when General Villa's army captured this city Tuesday night. He was one of Villa's most trusted lieutenants and was the rebel chieftain's bosom companion during the twenty years that he was a bandit.

Major Rodolfo Pierro of Villa's staff, who was charged with the killing of William S. Benton last spring at Juarez, was seriously wounded, as was Colonel Benito Garcia.

DR. CRILE NAMED AS NEXT TO LISTER

Contributor to Science Reads Paper to Surgeons.

DEALS WITH ANAESTHETICS

Cleveland Doctor Named as Man Who Had Made Most Important Contribution to Surgery Since Work of Lister, Father of Antiseptic Surgery.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26.—Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, whose scientific and philosophical researches relative to shock have gained world-wide recognition, was named as the man who had made the most important contribution to surgery since the work of Lister, the father of antiseptic surgery.

His paper, read before the section on surgery of the American Medical association here, dealt with the application of principles formulated by him as the result of his studies in the administration of anaesthetics for operations involving the gall bladder and stomach. He described the experiments by which he had proved that surgical shock not only affects the brain, but injuries the liver and the suprarenal capsules, which are the organs covering the tops of the kidneys.

Dr. Crile's demonstration of the effects of shock, injury and exhaustion on the liver and kidneys was announced for the first time and supplemented his earlier proofs of injury to the brain. Sleep, he declared, was always required to restore the cells of brain, suprarenal capsules and liver to a normal condition.

The only method of preventing shock from reaching these organs through the nervous system is to anaesthetize the operative area by the local administration of an anaesthetic such as cocaine. When the nerves have been deadened so that destructive impulses cannot be carried to the organs susceptible to adverse influences, such as shock, the patient receives a general anaesthetic and the operation proceeds. The effect of the combined anaesthetizia is to give the widest margin of safety, and the gentleness of the whole procedure robs surgery of the worst of its terrors. It is agreed that countless lives can be saved by the care attending operations carried out under this procedure.

ONE DEAD, 3 HURT IN CRASH.

Trolley Car Plows Through Wagon and Hits Another.

Camden, N. J., June 26.—Sarah Powell, twenty-six years old, living near Collingswood, was killed instantly and her husband was badly injured when a Haddonfield trolley crashed into a covered wagon on Haddon avenue.

The trolley was going at such speed it plowed through the Powell wagon and struck another wagon a hundred feet away, throwing John Walsh and his wife out and cutting and bruising them.

Arthur Fields, the motorman, and Charles F. Brown, the conductor, are held without bail.

ILL WOMAN TAKES HER LIFE.

Wife of Clifton Plumbing Contractor a Suicide by Gas.

Passaic, N. J., June 26.—Mrs. Bertha Siegrist, thirty-two, wife of a plumbing contractor of Clifton, committed suicide by gas. After closing the windows and locking herself in the kitchen she fastened one end of a rubber tube to a gas pet and placed the other in her mouth. To make certain the tube would not fail her she harnessed it to her head with two pieces of cord. When found by her husband she was dead. She had been ill and despondent for several months.

CONDENSED STATE NOTES.

Frank Masters, under sentence of four months, is the fourth and latest man to escape from the Sussex county road gang at Layton-Tuttle's Corner road, near Newton.

Two judgments totaling $850 were given by Judge Carrington Cabell against Frank Young of Hackensack, whose automobile on April 11 ran down Reinhardt Troast, eighteen years old, of Passaic.

Frank Williams, a cement block manufacturer, of Belvidere has sent out a general alarm for his wife, who has been missing since June 20, when she left her home for Easton to do some shopping.

Ex-Senator Edmund W. Wakelee, representing the Public Service railway, pleaded not guilty in Paterson to an indictment charging the company with maintaining a nuisance in allowing its roadbed to accumulate "a large and unreasonable volume of dust."

For alleged acts which occurred in 1902 Mrs. Margaret Bolen of Paterson sued Daniel Bolen for divorce. She names her sister, Ellen Croker, who died ten years ago, and relates that she has just learned of the circumstances which form the basis of her petition.

William B. Lewis had to be held on the operating table in the Memorial hospital, Morristown, while physicians administered ether and kept him from attempting to widen a gash which he had inflicted in his throat in an effort to commit suicide. There is little hope for his recovery.

Wallingford In His Prime

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

CHAPTER III.

The Grand Opening.

WALLINGFORD, remembering well that "tough stable kid," laughed appreciatively, and he chuckled all the way home. He laughed again when Violet Bonnie Daw kissed him fervently for old sake's sake, and after that operation calmly rerouged her lips. His friend Daw he found supremely happy, for Blackie was now permitted a more liberal pocket allowance than he had enjoyed since his marriage.

"On the level, though, Jim," he explained in the quiet confidence of the study, over the siphon and cigars, "the charming Violet B. Daw is making a mistake when she hands me too much coin. Being barred from wine, women and song—oh, well, of course, I can have a little wine and all the singing I like—how can I spend it?"

"You ought to know what a cinch that is," laughed Wallingford, pouring and mixing for both. "All you have to do to get rid of it is to buy some of the mining stock you used to sell or hunt up a brace roulette game, or buy a few thousand bushels of margin wheat."

"I wish I could be a sucker," confessed Blackie sadly. "Why, Jimmie, many and many a time I've looked at a gentle come-on being led up to the harpoon and envied him the happiness in his face."

"Never mind, Blackie," soothed Wallingford, "you're not dead yet, and as long as a man's alive he has a chance to be the biggest sucker in the world. By the way, I met the prize lollop club today. They threatened to stand off six feet and throw papa's money at me, and I've arranged, no matter how painful to me, to let them do it."

"I met the prize lollop club today."

"Will you never quit it, Jimmy?" protested Blackie, really a trifle worried. "You have a good real estate business that you've picked up since Fannie came home, and with that money we copped off from the Life Forever sanitarium you ought to have about $150,000 cash besides this house."

"You've just about guessed it," agreed Wallingford, but with very little enthusiasm. "Everything—property and bonds—is in Fannie's name, and I did intend to stick with the straight game. I'm making money out of it. But do you know who opened his guard to me today? Benssy Falls and his delicately scented pals."

"How careless of Benssy!" commented Blackie. "But I like his flossy name. Who is he?"

"Don't you remember?" indignantly demanded Wallingford.

"Oh, yes, now I know. He must be the son of old man Falls."

"Some time, old pal, your frivolous nature will drive me to murder," replied Wallingford, with little dents in his nostrils. "This Benssy lollop is the son of E. H. Falls, the railroad king, who led me into a genuine ground floor manipulation and then pulled the ground from under the floor. He annexed the only half a million dollars I ever had safely banked in my life. Honest money too!"

"It's funny how easy they take that kind away," mused Blackie, with a slow smile. "You were right about every man being a sucker some day."

"I'll get it all back with interest," declared Wallingford savagely, "every cent!"

Blackie threw away Wallingford's heavy cigar, lighted a cigarette and stroked his perky black mustache in smiling reminiscence. "Poor little Benssy!" he said. "Still, I should think you'd rather take it out of the old man direct."

Wallingford squeezed his cigar between his fingers until it broke. "Never mind E. H.," he snapped. "Your part in this is the long distance expert. You are to be Mr. Bezazzum of Bezunk, Mich.; Mr. Cazizus of Cazak, Ont., and Mr. Penawpus of Penap, Ark.—to be in all three places at the same time and answer my letters."

"What I want to know," inquired Blackie after mature reflection, "is whether or not I wear whiskers."

"Three pairs at a time if you have a yen for them," agreed Wallingford, "for nobody cares except when you get your cue to show up at the factory."

"Aye, aye, sir," consented Blackie, with the proper salute, and the matter was settled.

With Violet Bonnie Wallingford had scarcely more trouble.

"Vi," he began as they all sat at dinner, "I got you to let me have $15,000 to invest for you once in a railroad scheme, and I lost it for you."

"Sure you did," she admitted, with a frown; "also I broke my voice in the midst of my greatest success, 'The Little Warbler.' But why talk about bad luck? It brings more."

Wallingford shoved his oyster fork deep into the ice and braced himself for the shock. "Because I want you to hand me another fifteen thousand," he stated.

Violet Bonnie, with characteristic exaggeration, climbed upon her chair, drew her skirts about her and screamed three consecutive times, to the eternal scandalization of Wallingford's new butler, who gave notice the following morning. "If you tell me you don't mean it, Jimmy, I'll come down and finish my dinner."

"I don't mean it, Vi," declared Wallingford solemnly. "I only want to borrow the money."

"I can listen to that," returned Violet, "because if I give it to you I quit worrying about it right then; if I lend it to you I only have to worry for fear you'll die before you pay it back; but if you invest it for me I'll be tottering around making faces at little children inside of a week."

"All right, Vi, we'll call it a loan," replied Wallingford with a chuckle; "just so I can get the fifteen thousand. And, Fannie, I'm going to ask you, one day this week, to make over to me your bonds, and to put as heavy a plaster on the house as it will hold."

Mrs. Wallingford, more beautiful in her matronhood than she had ever been in her girlhood, and more charming in her reserve than she had ever been in her vivacity, turned now with a quick apprehensive glance toward the guests at her table before she turned an imploring one toward her husband.

"Speak right out, Fannie; "don't mind us," invited Violet. "If it was Blackie made such a proposition he wouldn't have a whisker left in his face. Why, Jim Wallingford, I think you must be crazy! The last time you did that you was worth near half a million, all in Fannie's name. You got her to let go of it; then you tied it up in a nice little bundle and blindfolded old E. H. Falls so he wouldn't know what you was going to do to him and slipped the pretty little package in his pocket along with my fifteen thousand; then you stepped back and giggled."

Mrs. Wallingford looked at her husband. His lower lip had protruded slightly and was squared. She knew that if he meant to have this thing, no tears or protestations would turn him, and no earthly argument move him.

"I'll go down with you tomorrow and sign anything you think best, Jim," she said quietly.

Contrition seized him for a moment, and he longed to take her in his arms and reassure her. He would have done so had it not been for the presence of Daws. Nevertheless, his contrition in no way obstructed his purpose, as his wife, knowing his countenance so well, immediately recognized.

Violet Bonnie, however, insisted upon being the conscience for the party, and now took Mrs. Wallingford severely to task. "Honest, Fannie, you don't know the first principles of training a husband," she charged. "You're too easy."

"Violet," protested Blackie sternly, "this is none of your funeral."

"Well, I'll be jiggered!" declared that lady, positively aghast at Blackie's temerity. "What did you say?" she demanded, recovering her poise.

"I said that the whole affair was none of your butt in," announced Blackie firmly, rising and resting his knuckles upon the table and looking squarely into the blue eyes of his heretofore much better half. For a solid minute and a quarter the blue eyes resisted, then they dropped. Fifteen minutes afterward Violet Bonnie stood contentedly behind the chair of her husband, stroking his hair.

The grand opening of the factory of the Speckled Bass Hollow Walled Portable Bungalow company was a function long to be remembered. Fully one-third of the front of the remodeled factory was given over to offices befitting such a distinguished set of officers. Entering a spacious vestibule in Dutch tiling, one saw surrounding him a number of beautiful glass doors leading into the office of the president in white and gold, of the vice president in mahogany and ebony, of the second vice president in rosewood and silver birch, of the secretary in walnut and cedar, of the treasurer in redwood and birdseye maple, and of the manager in plain oak. Besides these, there was an arched and groined directors' room, which was a triumph in ceramic art; a buffet stocked with more varieties of liquids than a dyeshop, and a small boy, proud in so many gold buttons that in the sunlight he was one solid blaze. Behind all this there was a simple factory, with the shafting carefully gilded and the belting fluttering with kaleidoscopic ribbons; workmen, grinning foolishly when unobserved, in snow white uniforms, and the very cleanest of clean shavings scattered everywhere. The officers of the company brought hosts and flocks and bevies of women, some young and some old, and all so beautiful by art that nature, out of pure spite, had wasted no gifts upon them. These ladies, taught carefully from infancy to be charming, were charmed into ecstasies by everything they saw without discrimination, unless they discriminated in favor of Wallingford himself, whom they voted to be a most charming manager, as did the board of directors next day at their first regular meeting in the new quarters.

"You see, fellows," declared Rickey Saunders, "it's not only sportin', but rippin', what this chap Wallingford's done. He's made it possible for each fellow to entertain in his own offices with all the resources of a club and all the privacy of his own quarters, and yet it doesn't need chaperonage because it's a bloomin' factory office. Wonderful business man, I call him."

"Remarkable," agreed Benssy. "I never saw a line of liquors and wines selected with so nice discrimination. Boy, tell Ike to make us another of those absinthe puffs."

"Yes, sir," said Toad Jessop.

"I should say that we should vote to increase our manager's salary," suggested Von Humperdinck, his little pompadour bristling backward with the happy thought.

"Impossible!" declared Ringgold Cash, rubbing his left hand with his right as if he would rub off the black spots. "He has no salary, if you remember, but it would be perfectly proper, I think, to render him a vote of confidence."

This the board of directors did, and Mr. Wallingford, called in to receive it, was gratified almost to death. He was dressed that day with a faultless precision, and his costume bore in it the combined traces of a social favorite—a business magnate and an efficient maitre d'hotel.

"You cannot imagine, gentlemen, how proud and pleased I am," he told them, smoothing down his frock coat over his more than well developed figure so as to increase the impressive breadth of him. "It has been my ambition to create for you a model factory, one of such appointments that gentlemen of the finer instincts might feel it not only profitable but pleasant to be connected with it, and I think that if the sordid aspects of business were kept a trifle more in the background more of our young men of means might be induced to bring their needed taste and refinement into trade."

"Hear, hear!" interpolated the enthusiastic Rickey, and the others, following his lead, clapped their hands.

"Allow me now to turn to stern business and to lay before you a synopsis of our progress during the two months and a half since we organized our company. Our factory you have seen. You have, I think, seen the circulars and catalogues mailed you from time to time as they were received from the printers. I now have the pleasure of presenting to you the most promising of the replies I have had from our advertising. The first one of these, requesting us to make a price on 300 of the portable bungalows, is from a Michigan cranberry monopolist, who expects to house his pickers right where the picking is good. The next one, from Ontario, wishes prices on 125, and this one, from Arkansas, asks for a quotation on 100 of the portable bungalows. You will note, gentlemen, that all these letters speak most enthusiastically of the Speckled Bass portable bungalow, and I must confess that if you can book the orders for these 525 bungalows at a gross return of over $200,000 I shall feel not only encouraged, but flattered."

"Hear, hear!" shouted Rickey Saunders, and the others clapped their hands.

Wallingford laid down the letters and took up two other packages. "I have furthermore to report," he went on, "that we have received our joint patent from the government at Washington granting us the exclusive right to manufacture our article in the United States."

He held up the document in question, exhibiting its gaudy ribbon and seal, then produced five more copies and passed them around the table so that each one of the proud patentees might see his own name upon the grant and have it for keeps.

"Also I have to report," he continued, this time with solemn impressiveness, "the procuring of six patents in my own name for six more or less trivial improvements in portable houses or bungalows. These are, of course, my own invention and my own property, but it is only my decent duty to offer them to the Speckled Bass Portable Bungalow company at the nominal price of $125,000 cash. Here are the copies, gentlemen, and I shall retire without recommendation of any sort while you consider them."

A stillness of the weight and inflexibility of a Pullman blanket fell upon the board of directors immediately after the retirement of Mr. Wallingford. Ringgold Cash, being the calmest as well as the most deadly about money matters, was the first to recover his nerves.

"Seems to me this Wallingford chap's too good a business man for us. You see, it's like this: To begin with, the fellow has no right to invent portable house improvements after we had perfected the article."

"That's it! It isn't sportin'!" declared Rickey, much disappointed in Wallingford.

"That's because the fellow's of no family at all," agreed Reggie Haugh, with sorrow so deep that his big lips glistened like glass. "Ring said the first day we met him that we owed it to our families to be quite careful."

"We must think," Von Humperdinck reminded them gravely, and immediately bent his creases into waves of intellect, at the same time beckoning to Toad Jessop.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

This little dress, No. 8150, would make a charming afternoon frock if fashioned of batiste, embroidered flouncing, shadow lace, embroidered crepe or voile or one of the numerous other bordered materials which are coming back into favor so strongly this season.

The skirt being in three-tier effect shows the bordered material to better advantage than a straight lined model would; the deep bretelles over the shoulders are also specially adapted to flouncing.

To copy this frock in size 36, 5½ yards of 36-inch materials is required.

Pattern comes in six sizes, 34 to 44.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

MANY SECURING SPLENDID EMBROIDERY PATTERNS

Many women readers are taking advantage of the great opportunity of getting a complete assortment of the most up-to-date embroidery patterns from the Daily Press.

These embroidery patterns are in keeping with this progressive age and are operated by a new and improved process, which permits them to be transferred a number of times in perfect detail and without injury to even the most delicate fabric.

When it is considered that embroidery patterns bought in the usual way never cost less than 10 cents each, and often more, the readers of the Press will appreciate the advantage of a complete outfit for 48 cents, which at the regular rate would entail an expenditure of more than $10. To obtain one of these outfits it will only be necessary to clip one coupon from any date or dates of the Press and present it with 48 cents to the Press office, or if the outfit is to be forwarded by mail, send one coupon and 53 cents, the extra 5 cents being required for postage on the packet.

A coupon will be printed in this paper each day during the distribution until the enormous consignment of Imperial Pattern Outfits is completely exhausted.

NEEDLEWORK

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

Well worth one's while it is to make attractive pillows which may be constantly used, for a great deal of comfort is derived from these "inexpensive luxuries." Daisies, carried out in their natural colorings, make very attractive decorations for pillows. The design, shown here, is from pattern 14676. It is 16 by 16 inches and may be developed in stencil or outline and darning-stitch. This pattern also includes two hollyhock designs, a pansy motif, a violet corner and a violet border. These designs are suitable for use on pillows, runners, bureau-scarfs and curtains of linen, pongee, scrim, Russian crash or burlap.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer pattern will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price, 15 cents.

Some Cookery Suggestions

STRAWBERRY CAKES.

STRAWBERRIES served in individual desserts are especially appreciated. Recipes for several dainty desserts of this sort are given below:

Covered With Meringue

Strawberry Cakes.—Cream one-fourth cupful of butter, add gradually one cupful of granulated sugar, the beaten yolks of two eggs and beat until very light. Sift one and one-half cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add alternately with one-half cupful of water, fold in the stiffly beaten whites and bake in small, deep, round tins. When cold scoop out the centers, fill with crushed and sweetened berries, cover with meringue and brown lightly in the oven.

Strawberry Meringue.—Place in a large bowl two cupfuls of hulled berries and half a cupful of white sugar; shake them about until the berries are well sugared; then spread them over a thin sweet cake baked in a square jelly tin. Fit a strip of paper around the cake and fasten with a pin. Make a meringue with the whites of three eggs and a cupful of powdered sugar, spread it over the berries on the cake and set in a quick oven to brown.

Handsome Eclairs.

Strawberry Eclairs.—Cream puffs and eclairs filled with fresh strawberries crushed and sweetened instead of the usual cream filling are among the delights of the season. To make the eclairs put into a saucepan a cupful milk, two rounded tablespoonfuls butter and a tablespoonful sugar. Set over the fire. When this mixture boils up stir in a heaped cupful of sifted flour and cook for two minutes, beating all the time with a wooden spoon. When it is smooth and velvety take off the stove and cool. When cool beat in four eggs, one at a time. Beat vigorously for twenty minutes. Test by putting a bit of the paste in the oven. If it puffs up in the form of a hollow ball it is beaten enough. If not beat a little longer. Have ready a tapering tin tube with the lesser opening about three-quarters of an inch in diameter. Insert this in the small end of a cotton pastry bag and put the paste in the bag. Now press out on buttered tins, having each eclair about three inches in length. Bake about twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Take out and while still warm coat with a strawberry icing made by adding to a cupful of confectioner's sugar enough strawberry juice to make a fine icing. A few drops of lemon juice may also be added. When cold cut open on the side and fill with the berries crushed and sweetened.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Plans Of the Crickets For Their Ball.

Jack Enjoys Painting Hats and Gowns.

EVELYN had been playing with her paper dolls almost all day. Jack, of course, was not very much interested in paper dolls, but one thing he did like about Evelyn's paper doll family was that they were always requiring new clothes. And Jack had the most complete paint box! He thoroughly enjoyed painting beautiful hats and gowns to match. Evelyn was always so pleased because he made them such very bright clothes. When daddy came home he found all the paper dolls dressed up for the evening and looking very fine.

"They are to hear the story, too," said Evelyn.

"Tell us about the crickets," suggested Jack. "We heard them making such a noise this evening. We were quite certain they must have been having a party."

"Why, of course," said daddy. "Tonight is the night for their annual June ball. They have been getting ready for this for days and days. You must have heard the guests arriving. They have asked ever so many for tonight. In fact, I have heard that the crickets said it was to be the largest ball ever held in the cricket world.

"All of the cricket band are out for the occasion, and they have been practicing for days, for they say they will play only the very latest dance music.

"I fancy it will be a wonderful ball, and no doubt it will keep you two children awake, for, with all the music, the singing, the laughing and chatting, it will be hard for you to get to sleep. Perhaps it may even keep the paper dollies awake."

Evelyn smiled at this, for it pleased her to have daddy speak of her paper dolls, especially as they were listening to the story too.

"The crickets," continued daddy, "have invited the frogs, the toads, the lizards and a number of moths to their ball, and they have all been trying to make themselves appear their very best for tonight.

"I have heard that the crickets have prepared the finest of suppers to be served after the dance is over."

"What have they planned to have?" asked Evelyn.

"They are going to have moss soup, watercress cutlets, strawberry water ice and spring water to drink. Of course there may not be any strawberries in the strawberry ice, but at least it will have the color of strawberries."

At this one of the paper dolls fell over on its face, so daddy said, "I certainly think it must be bedtime."

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney troubles, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

SILVERWARE

SOLID or PLATED

"Pigs is pigs," according to Ellis Parker Butler. But silver is not silver—not by a considerable distance!

The patterns you will see in our assortment of solid and plated ware have no counterpart in this State.

If you doubt that silverware doesn't lend itself to smart fashioning, we would suggest that you inspect our stock if only for its educational value.

CLOSED ALL DAY THURSDAY DURING MONTH OF AGUGUST

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

With Independence Day less than ten days away, marking one-third of the Coney Island season, Luna has prepared an exceptionally large number of new and thrilling features for next week. One is the Oklahoma Ranch, a Wild West production, to surpass the "Fire and Sword" sensation of last season. Commencing next Saturday afternoon, one of the most realtistic productions of the frontier life will be seen at Luna daily. More than one hundred people will take part in the spectacle which will be headed by Major C. F. Rhodes. Dozens of Indians cowboys, cowgirls, steer throwers, rifle and pistol shots, Mexicans, Cossacks and Indian bands are among some of the number that will take part in this big sensational feature. More than fifty horses will also take part in the performance.

In addition to the Oklahoma Ranch several new features have been added to the free vaudeville acts. Among the latest additions are Hill and Sylvainey, in a sensational unicycle act, and Roberti's trained animals. In Crazytown, a novel attraction is the wax figures. As the mechanical wax man, Robert H. Johns, Jr., is entertaining the thousands of visitors daily, showing his ability to control the muscles and nerves of his body. Music lovers are enjoying the band concerts in the center of the park while the rising generation find enjoyment on the honeymoon express, the toboggan and the scenic railways, as well as the red mill and coal mine.

At the Castle summer house, at Luna, the modern dancing has become popular and the management of Luna has found it necessary to increase the Castle instructors. In addition to the regular instructors, Miss Knowles and A. C. Murray have been engaged to assist in the teaching of the Castle method to the patrons of Luna. Sterling Pil and Miss Edith Hinz, and Donald Crane and Miss Norma Tompkins are entertaining the throngs daily with exhibitions of the Tango, Maxixe, Hesitation, One Step and the Castle Half and Half.

Whitehouse.

Rev. Charles G. Empie, pastor of the Lutheran church at New Germantown, has gone to Hartwick Seminary, New York, where he is in attendance at the commencement exercises. He is a trustee as well as an alumnus of the seminary. He will return in time to hold the usual services in his church next Sunday.

The congregation of the Reformed church at Whitehouse Station will hold the annual festival and fair on the schoolhouse grounds on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, July 11. There will be the usual attractions, with music furnished by the Dutch Arms Band of Plainfield. There will be no Sunday evening services in the church during the months of July and August.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Ditmars, of Waterbury, Conn., are visiting Mr. Ditmars' aunt, Miss Emma Stryker, in East Whitehouse.

The Lebanon Concert Band has been engaged to furnich the music at the harvest home of the Methodist church at Cokebury on July 8 and 9.

Mrs. Isaiah Voorhees, who has been critically ill at her home in Whitehouse Station, is better. A trained nurse is in attendance.

Miss Eulah C. Castner, teacher of the primary department of the public schools at Whitehouse Station, is spending a portion of her vacation with relatives in Philadelphia.

Miss Florence Hight, of Gladstone, is spending two months at Asbury Park and Ocean Grove.

Mrs. George Gory will entertain the Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed church at Lebanon tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Van Doren have returned to Akron, O., after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John VanDoren, at New Germantown.

Miss Lillian Kent, of Brooklyn, is spending two weeks at her former home near Pottersville.

The Board of Education of Bedminster township is considering possible sites for a new public school building which is to be erected at Pottersville in the near future.

Lloyd Hoffman, of Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman, at Pottersville.

Miss Iva K. VanderVeer has returned to Whitehouse Station after a visit to her sister, Mrs. Edward H. Moore, at Asbury, Warren county.

Miss Mattie Swackhamer, teacher of the primary department in the East Whithouse public schools, will go to Ocean City to attend the summer school.

Miss Ruth Leach, of Newark, is spending a few days with relatives at Peapack and Gladstone.

The Methodist church in East Whitehouse will hold its annual harvest home on the church grounds on Thursday evening, July 16. It will be under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Mrs. D. W. St. Vrain has returned to East Whitehouse after a visit to New York.

DAILY PRESS WILL GIVE CUP FOR INDIVIDUAL POINT SCORE

As an incentive to competition among Plainfield athletes in the monster Fourth of July meet to be held on Parker Field, under the auspices of the Board of Playground Commissioners, the Plainfield Daily Press has offered a handsome silver loving cup for the local competitor scoring the highest number of individual points. This trophy is one of the most attractive of the special awards and will no doubt be the sourcce of keen competition.

Th cup stands eleven inches in height and will be suitably inscribed. Plainfielders are entered in all of the various events on the program and the race for the individual honor will be a close one from present indications. There are a number of local athletes who are sterling all-around performers and these should make a strong bid for the leading laurels.

This is the chief prize to be striven for by Plainfielders although there are a number of individual awards for places in each of the events carded. New York and New Jersey clubs will be strongly represented and the local runners and jumpers will have all they can do to get into the prize in any of the contests. The points will be scored on the five, three and one basis and official records will be resorted to in awarding the individual point trophy.

LAURELS EASILY DISPOSE OF RED STAR AGGREGATION

The Laurel A. C. defeated the fast going Red Star team, yesterday morning, on Crescent Oval by a score of 5 to 3. The game was close throughout. The features of the game were the fielding of Mills and Day, the pitching of Butler for the winners, and the batting laurels went to V. Vullin, Stites and Clifford Dunn, of the Red Stars. R. Vail, the slab artist for the Red Stars, was taken out in the second inning, when the hard hitting laurel aggregation began to solve his delivery.

The lineups were as follows:

Laurels—McCormack, c; Butler, p; Boos, 1b; Mills, 2b; F. Mullin, ss; Day, 3b; Kline, lf; Venable, cf; Brennan, rf.

Struck out—By Hayle, 7; by Fritts, 3; by Brennan, 11.

After being held hitless for eight innings, the Plainfield patrolmen's baseball team came across with a fusilade of bingles in the tighth and ninth that placed them within a trio of runs of the Elizabeth team's tally of twelve counters, in their game with the Betsytowners on Parker Field yesterday afternoon. Consistent hitting during he first five stanzas gave the visitors a lead which the home nine found it impossible to overcome and had to accept the smaller end of the tally card at the completion of nine rounds.

Opportune hitting intermingled with seven costly errors, sent the strong Plainfield aggregation down to a defeat in their second issue of the season. The Elizabetheans came here with an iron-bound lineup that handled the scooters from the locals' bats in grand shape. "Hank" Brennan, the visiting box artist, held the Plainfielders in fine style and was accorded gilt-edged support at all times. He put eleven of the Queen City bluecoats to rout on strikeouts and the only run that the home players rang up in the first seven rounds was scored by Martin during a spasm of errors.

Jack Fritts took the mound in the seventh and started off by fanning the first two men. He twirled good ball during his regime in the rifle pit and held the visitors to one bingle in the final three rounds. Each aggregation was charged with errors, all of which were of a costly nature.

A large crowd of fans witnessed the encounter, the Elizabeth force coming here in automobiles to root for their favorites. Enthusiasm reigned supreme from the time the first ball was pitched until the crowd surged on the diamond after Plainfield had rung up two outs in the ninth.

PLAINFIELD GOLFERS IN BALTUSROL TOURNAMENT

Clement B. Morgan, one of the two local entries in the Baltusrol Invitation Golf Tourney, succeeded in getting a place in the first sixteen in the qualifying round with a card of 84, but was eliminated in the first round by S. M. Hinman, of Cranford, 3 up and 2 to play. D. Ogden Rogers, the other entrant from the Plainfield Country Club, qualified for the second sixteen with a score of 88, but was put out in the first round by F. A. Wright, of Baltusrol.

A. B. Maillefert, of Westfield, returned a card of 91 in the qualifying round and made the third sixteen. Wallace Sinclair, of the home club, led the field with a score of 77, which was the only one under the 80 mark. More than one hundred golfers, from all parts of the State, started in the tourney.

JERSEY KENNEL CLUB TO HAVE BENCH SHOW

Plainfield Organization Active in Move to Stage State Exhibition.

The Associated Kennel Clubs of New Jersey, which includes the Plainfield Newark, Jersey City, Delaware Valley and Passaic Clubs, are making arrangements to hold a two days' bench show in the New Armory in Elizabeth during "Old Home" week in October. The probable dates for the show are October 27 and 28. It is expected that this exhibition will be greater than any other ever held in this State and great preparations are being made to assure its success.

It is proposed to give money prizes as well as ribbons and there will also be a number of special awards. The armory is the third largest in the State and has a capacity of thirty thousand square feet. The judges are the best that can be procured.

The idea originated in the local Kennel Club but it was deemed wise to hold the show at Elizabeth this year as that city has never had one and it will probably come to Plainfield next year.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Kindly give us a little space in the columns of your popular journal. The mammoth patriotic parade of American protestants that marched in Trenton last Saturday drew a favorable comment from Bishop McFaul of the Catholic church. The prelate has evidently over-reached himself when he declared that "the little red schoolhouse and the Bible have nothing to fear from Catholics." The truth is, the bishop knows well enough he is, to put it as charitably as possible—bluffing. For the past few years, events of grave political importance have arisen; of a character calling for cool heads, and a firmness that will nip in the bud any attempt to undermine the institutions of this republic.

The newspapers declare that a "rumor" was afloat that this parade was anti-Catholic—it will be nearer truth to say simply—it is. In the world of nature we see the cause and effect of all material things—in like manner this parade is nothing less than the effect of certain causes produced by certain elements. The phenomenal increase of Catholics in this country has expanded the chests of the Roman hierarchy that it will burst if not taken in hand.

A tremendous power must have been at work to get such a huge army of sixty thousand Americans shoulder to shoulder and reverently conveying an open Bible in their ranks. Like Joshua and the leaders of Israel of old time who bore the "Ark of the Covenant" along with them—so these silent grim faced men—carried the "Shekinah" (God's book) on this memorable occasion, confident that so long as this people hold dear the sacred writings of Holy Writ, so long will America hold her own in the nations of the world.

Has the Roman hierarchy spoken the truth regarding the Bible and the public schools. That there may be no hazy notions about this vital issue, the writer respectfully submits the following extracts taken word for word from Catholic sources:

"Our public school system has gradually been taken in hand by sharp practicers on public credulity who have foisted upon Republicans, as the grand creation of America, what, in its naked deformity, is but a cross-breed between the schools of ancient Greece and the rank infidel system of misgoverned modern Europe."—Judges of Faith, p. 6.

"The experience of every day shows more and more plainly what serious evils and great dangers are entailed upon Catholic youth by their frequentation of public schools in this country.

"The morals and examples of their fellow scholars are generally so corrupt, and so great their license in word and deed, that through continued contact with them the modesty and piety of our children, even of those who have been best trained at home disappear like wax."—Baltimore Council, 1866 (see Judges of Faith, p. 35).

Here is another: "Obey the church by keeping your children from the public schools, or go out of her and be a pagan and a heathen."—Ibid. p. 83.

Are these plain enough ye scions of the Pilgrim Fathers? Your world-famous institutions of learning are just "immoral," "Godless" and "cross-breeds" or pagan philosophy and pagan immorality.

Here are Bishop McFaul's honest sentiments in an address delivered in Atlantic City, Nov. 15, 1904:

"The Catholic federation is not a political party; it will not engage in partisan politics; yet there is no power known to American citizenship which it will not employ in the interests of Catholics. The federation is an organization whose aim is to unite all the Cahtolic nationalities of the United States into one body for their civil, social and religious advancement.

"It will not be long before the federation will have 15,000,000 Catholics under its banners, and when that time comes there is no nation on the face of the earth that dare refuse to give us audience when Catholics raise their bodies on any question of State or in which they are interested."—(See Philadelphia Ledger, Nov. 17.)

Is there any lamb-like bleating in this pompous delivery?

Can any one ask why unnumbered thousands of liberty-loving Americans consolidate their forces and carry high the "Ark" of American strength and power?

In conclusion let the American not forget that only three or four months ago in the Philippine Islands, an invitation was publicly sent out to witness the burning in the public plaza of 250 Protestant Bibles.

Has Rome changed? Can McFaul or any other papist dare deny the works of their own hands?

To the patriots of this great Republic let the warning be taken to heart, or else your doom will be akin to that of Republican Rome.

PETITION AGAINST SMITH IS DENIED

Local Contractor Not Responsible for Death of Ironworker in Cranford.

CONTENTION IS UPHELD

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Appearing for Defendant, Claims That Victim Was Employed by Another Firm and Court Sustains Him.

Appearing before Judge Connolly in Elizabeth yesterday Mrs. Jennie Denning, mother of Edward Denning, of Seventy-Ninth street, New York city, who was killed in a fall from the top of the new Lincoln School in Cranford on October 31 last, was denied her petition for remumeration under the Employer's Liability Act. Mrs. Denning's action was against Arthur E. Smith, a civil engineer of this city, who had the general contract for the building. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of the firm of Reed and Hetfield, representing Mr. Smith, contended that Denning was an employe of John H. Dooley, an independent contractor and was not engaged to work on the structure by his client. Mr. Hetfield's contention was upheld by Judge Connolly. If granted the petition it would entitle Mrs. Dooley to $10 a week for a period of 400 weeks.

Denning was twenty-five years of age and was one of the two workers killed as a result of carelessness on the part of a laborer. He was an ironworker employed by Dooley, who lives on South Second street, this city. The men were seated on the top of a powerful derrick which was suspended sixty feet in the air. When a laborer loosed a guy rope the two ironworkers were dashed to the ground and instantly killed. T. S. Cahill, twenty-six years old, of Albany, N. Y., was the second victim. He fell on his face and as he lay unconscious a heavy piece of the derrick fell on top of him.

A few minutes befre the fatality occurred Mr. Smith warned the workmen of their peril but his word apparently went unheeded. Denning was unmarried and lived with his mother in New York city.

STEAM ROLLER TIES UP ROAD TRAFFIC

The new steam roller, recently purchased by Warren Township, and which has been in use on the Warrenville road to Martinsville, went through the bridge near Charles Mundy's farm, yesterday, blocking travel on that road. A large gang of men was engaged all day trying to get the roller out of the brook which is spanned by the bridge.

Up to 6 o'clock last night no temporary structure had been put in position and people driving over that road were obliged to go through fields to pass the obstruction. The Warrenville road is just now in very bad shape and it is said that it will be some time before it will be restored to condition.

MISS RUTH WAY TO WED ERIC BENSON

Miss Ruth Way, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Way, of Rochester, N. Y., and Eric Benson, son of Mrs. Sophie Benson, of Columbia street, Dunellen, will be married this evening at the home of the bride's brother, Edward Way, of Arlington avenue this city, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, officiating.

The bride's sister, Miss Dorcas Way, will be the bridesmaid, and Peter Benson will be the best man. The ceremony will be a quiet one, only the members of the immediate families being present. The couple will start housekeeping soon in the Gray building, corner Washington and North avenues, Dunellen.

FRANK HOFFMAN MARRIES NEW BRUNSWICK TEACHER

Miss Edythe Soloman, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Soloman, of New street, New Brunswick, and T. Frank Hoffman, of this city, were quietly married here Thursday afternoon. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a ten days' honeymoon. They will make thir home in this city upon their return.

The bride is popular with a large circle of acquaintances in New Brunswick. She is a graduate of the New Brunswick High School and has been a teacher in the Lincoln School, of that place, for several years. Mr. Hoffman is widely known in this city and holds a responsible position with the Garwood Electric Plant, at Garwood.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY GAVE A LAWN PARTY

Many Attended Open Air Fete Held Yesterday Afternoon and Last Night.

A successful lawn fete was held yesterday afternoon and evening at West Fourth street and Lee place under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel. National colors and Japanese lanterns were used in decorating the grounds.

QUARTET CHOIR WILL GIVE PRAISE SERVICE

Under the direction of Arthur L. Titsworth, organist and choirmaster, the quartet choir of Trinity Reformed church, will give a praise service tomorrow evening, when several special numbers will be given. There will be solo parts by the members of the quartet. The program follows:

Organ prelude, Midsummer Caprice, Johnston; anthem, Alleluia, Wilson; anthem, Our Confession; response, Our Father, Thou in Heaven Above; anthem, Behold the Master Passeth By, Stevenson; offertory duet, Lord I Will Praise Thee; anthem, Dreams of Gallilee, Morrison; anthem, Through the Day Thy Love hath Spared Us, Shelley; closing sentence, Lord, Keep Us Safe This Night, Ashton; organ postlude, offertoire in B flat, Read.

BOY SCOUT CAMPERS HOME FROM ANNANDALE

Four boy scouts of the local troops, returned home late yesterday afternoon from a four days' camping trip at Annandale. Alfred Seals, assistant scout master of Troop 9, was in charge and was accompanied by John Causebrook, Stockton Burr and John Patterson

They left this city at sunrise last Tuesday and arrived at their destination late that afternoon. They lived in true scout style and enjoyed boating and fishing and swimming and took trips to Clinton and High Bridge. The boys cooked their own meals and camped in the rear of the Beaver Brook Farm. They made good time in hiking home yesterday.

MR. AND MRS. J. W. POOLE CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Poole, formerly of this city, but now of Fulton street, Newark, celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary last night. They were married twenty years ago in this city with a Friends ceremony. There were about forty guests present, many of whom came from Plainfield. The evening was spent in enjoying vocal and instrumental music and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Poole are kell-known in this city where they lived until a few years ago, when they removed to Newark.

RIDING A FREIGHT.

Henry Weiss, until yesterday employed by the Western Union as a lineman, was taken from a fast freight at the North Avenue station last night. Arraigned in court this morning charged with trespassing on the railroad he pleaded guilty to the charge saying that he was on his way to his home in West Virginia. According to the man's statement he had been ill for over a week and was without funds. He was let go with a suspended sentence.

MISSION BAND PICNIC.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church held a picnic at Riverside Park yesterday. About twenty of the members and their friends enjoyed the day along the water. After a fine lunch the afternoon was spent in playing games and canoeing. The party returned home tired but happy about 6 o'clock.

ST. MARY'S ALUMNI ENTERTAINED CLASS

1914 Graduates Introduced to Association at Reception Last Night.

Members of the graduating class of St. Mary's parochial school were introduced to the Alumni Association of the institution at a dance and reception given by the Association in the school auditorium last night. The school's hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion and dancing furnished the principal amusement for the young people.

All of the classes graduated from the institution during the last ten years were represented at the affair and committees from the various classes took charge of the entertainment of the new members. Rev. B. M. Bogan was present at the occasion and gave a short talk in which he welcomed the newcomers into the association and expressed a wish that the work of the body during the coming year might be done on a more wide-spreading basis than heretofore.

Music was furnished for the dancing and an informal program of speeches and vocal numbers was enjoyed. During the evening the entertainment committee served refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake.

ENDRESS IS BOOMED FOR THE SHRIEVALTY

Elizabeth Hears That Democrats May Try to Complicate Political Situation.

Former Councilman Fred Endress is among the Democrats of the county being boomed for the shrievalty nomination, and he is said to have the support of a majority of his party in this section. There comes a report from Elizabeth that the fact that Mayor Percy H. Stewart is being groomed as the organization candidate for State Senator, wiuld not deter the Democrats of this end of the county from complicating matters further by having an aspirant from Plainfield for one of the other nominations.

The Elizabeth and Rahway candidates are ex-Assemblyman Hugh J. McLoughlin and Mayor Thomas A. Fyffe, respectively. The latter, however, has not actually announced himself. Mr. McLoughlin's petitions are now in circulation.

The expected appointment of Councilman Jeremiah P. McNamara as deputy internal revenue collector, is one step in the direction of less friction at the shrievalty primaries. Mr. McNamara several months ago announced his candidacy for the nomination. Now Congressman Tuttle has recommended him for deputy collector, and the shrievalty boom is no more.

Mr. McLoughlin's supporters,there is reason to believe, would welcome the candidacy of Mr. Endress or some other man outside Elizabeth in addition to Mayor Fyffe. Such a candidacy would have the effect of cutting Mayor Fyffe's vote in the municipalities outside of Elizabeth, and would thereby strengthen the local candidate.

LODGE ELECTS.

The following officers were elected last evening by Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P.: Chancellor commander, George Keen; vice-chancellor commander, William J. Trembath; master at arms, Leslie N. Leland; master of work, Thomas Caleen; inner guard, Frank Hansen; outer guard, Peter Stram. Officers will be installed at the meeting to be held next Friday evening.

Why We Voluntarily Changed to the Hudson, Exclusively.

The Hudson "six 40" for 1915 offers the best consensus of present-day ideals, and the men who know, will concede this new Hudson "six 40" to be America's representative car. Think of this ideal car—the very embodiment of all that's desirable—a Hudson and a six—selling for $1,550, a new record among cars of comparable quality. The new Hudson "six 40" is a thoroughbred six. Its very lightness denotes the highest grade of materials and a masterpiece in designing. It is distinguished in lines and beauty. Its finish, its beauty and equipment all show infinite pains. Our unequalled service in connection with the cars we sell guarantee our customers entire and uninterrupted service. May we send you a catalogue, Thompson Auto Co. —Adv. ***

MISS BURTIS GIVES PARTY FOR FRIEND

Miss Martin, of Annapolis, Charming Hostess at Party in Her Honor.

Miss Marjorie Burtis, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Burtis, of Fairview avenue, gave a party last night at her home in honor of her friend, Miss Madeline Martin, of Annapolis, Md., who is her guest for several weeks. There were thirty young people present and most of the evening was spent in dancing. The party met at the home of Franklin Lowe and then adjourned to Miss Burtis' home across the street which had been fitted up for gliding. Three spacious rooms were cleared and the company danced until a late hour with music from the victrola.

The home was attractively decorted with ramblers and wild flowers. The guests were received by Mrs. Burtis and Miss Martin. About midnight the party again crossed the street and refreshments were served, after which there was more dancing. Punch was served throughout the evening and the company disbanded in the early hours.

MAY ENTER RACE FOR STATE SENATOR

Former Judge Clarence E. Case Prominently Mentioned for High Honor.

Former County Judge Clarence E. Case, of Somerville, is prominently mentioned as a candidate for the nomination of State Senator from Somerset county on the Republican ticket at the primaries to be held September 22. If Mr. Case finally decides to run for this nomination, he will, in all probability, be opposed by the present incumbent, W. W. Smalley, of Bound Brook.

Mr. Case is a member of the somerset County Bar, and was the youngest man to be appointed to the office of county judge, from which he resigned some time ago to take over the law practice of the late Alvah Clark, his partner. Mr. Case was born in Jersey City in 1877, and was educated in the public schools of Paterson. He is a graduate of Rutgers Preparatory School as well as Rutgers College, from which he received the degree of Batchelor of Arts, and later, Master of Arts. He assumed the duties of Somerset county judge under the administration of Governor J. Franklin Fort, in 1910. He is a member of the Reformed church in his home town, a Royal Arch Mason and holds membership in the Knights of Pythias and the B. P. O. E.

William W. Smalley, the present incumbent, is a native of Middlesex county, and was educated at the New York University Grammar School, and Eastman's Business College at Poughkeepsie. He is an officer in the First National Bank, of Bound Brook, having risen to that place from bank clerk. He was elected to the Senate in 1911 over George LaMonte, Democrat. During his term of office he has served on several important committes.

SMITH IS FAVORED FOR RENOMINATION, IT IS SAID

After carefully canvassing the situation, supporters of Registrar Frank H. Smith declare that Republican sentiment throughout the county favors his renomination. Mr. Smith's able work as a county official makes him strong at a general election, they declare, while this feature, together with appreciation of his faithful services during the party's darkest days as well as its brightest, causes his primary stock to soar. With the exception of former Excise Commissioner Thomas Y. Bye, of Elizabeth, no opposition is anticipated to Mr. Smith's renomination.

RESCUE MISSION NOTE.

Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner will preach tomorrow evening at the Rescue Mission. Mrs. Henry Parker, of the borough, will be the soloist of the service.

RECREATION CENTRE ENJOYED BY MANY

Finely Equipped Playground is Admired by Friends of the King's Daughters.

The formal opening of the City Union of the King's Daughters' playgrounds in the rear of The Day Nursery, yesterday afternoon, was largely attended by members of the eleven circles comprising the union and other friends of the work. The affair marked the first use of the large tract of land as an amusement centre, and it was greatly admired by everyone present. The playground is the gift of T. J. Mumford in memory of his wife, and it has been fully equipped with swings, sandboxes, tents and other things which will add to the pleasure of the children.

Those present yesterday also took occasion to inspect The Day Nursery and learn more of the great amount of work being accomplished there. Mrs. Charles A. Reed, president of the city union, Mrs. A. M. Most, treasurer and Mrs. Stuart H. Patterson and other officers, together with representatives of the various circles received the visitors and escorted them about the grounds and nursery. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

SMALL BOY'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Eight Year Old Andrew Murray Rescued From Watery Grave by Two Youths.

Timely action on the part of William Russ and John Grindley, two Dunellen boys, saved the life of Andrew Murray, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Murray, of that place, this morning. The youngster with several companions was playing with an old boat along the banks of the New Market pond. In an effort to push the boat from the shore he got beyond his depth in the water and lost his hold on the gunwale. His terrified screams frightened his young companions who ran into the street calling for help.

When Russ and Grindley arrived on the scene they could not locate the Murray child who had gone under for the second time. He soon came to the top, however, and the larger boys dove in, pulling the little fellow to the shore. Although badly frightened he is now apparently none the worse for the accident. He was revived a short time after reaching the shore.

MISS KIPSEY'S PUPILS GIVE PLEASING CONCERT

The closing musical of the pupils of Miss Myrtle Kipsey was given yesterday at the home of Mrs. John King, of Netherwood avenue. Twenty-five numbers were rendered in an excellent manner, indicating the results of the work of both pupils and instructor. The selections were well chosen, and showed the wide scope of the learning of those under Miss Kipsey.

Following the completion of the recital, a collation was served by Mrs. King, who acted as hostess. The spirit of mirth prevailed here and Miss Kipsey received the congratulations of the parents and friends of the pupils who were in attendance.

GAVE A SURPRISE PARTY FOR MISS HELEN HAND

A surprise party arranged by Miss Emma Mantz, was given in honor of Miss Helen Hand at her home on Westervelt avenue last night. Dancing was the feature of the evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Those who were present are: Misses Helen Hand, Dorothy Crane, Emma Mantz, Bertha Boylan, Gertrude King, Rose Cooper, Grace and Elsie Van Emburg, Marion and Marjorie Chandler and Nathan Boylan, Grant Boos, George Walsh, Walter Smith, Almon Doty, Charles Allegar, John Dawe, Jack and Robert Hebert, and Alfred Willett.

END THEIR VACATIONS.

Patrolmen Charles Wich, Roy Martin and Frank Sweeney reported for duty last night after spending a ten days' vacation. They comprised the first group of summer vacationists from the local force.

A. V. D. HONEYMAN BEGINS HIS ONE HUNDREDTH TOUR

A. V. D. Honeyman, of North avenue, tourist manager, left Plainfield today, with a party of twenty-one for Berlin, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Russia, Austria, etc., it being his 100th tour. Among Plainfield people in the party were Mrs. John H. Baker, Miss Margaret Crusuick, Mrs. William M. Sandford, Mrs. Frederick Sandford and Mrs. L. V. Edgar. The party returns early in September. It went by the North German Lloyd Steamer Prinz Frederick Wilhelm. Another of Mr. Honeyman's parties sails next Saturday on the Kroonland for Holland, the Rhine, Switzerland, Italy, France and England, and is to be conducted by Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, of Paterson, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, and numbers about twenty.

HELD IN $800 BAIL WHEN ARRAIGNED ON TWO CHARGES

Arrested on two complaints, one mode by the Overseer-of-the Poor, of this city, and the other by the State of New Jersey, Jerry Paoli, of North avenue, was arraigned before Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court this morning and held in $800 bail for trial Monday morning. Paoli is charged with a serious offense by Belle Perrine, of West Third street.

In court, Paoli pleaded not guilty to the charges and the court fixed bail in $500 on the State complaint and $300 in the local complaint.

LOCAL FLOWER AND FRUIT GUILD DOING GOOD WORK

The first reports compiled by the Flower and Fruit Guild, which was recently organized in this city, indicate that much has been accomplished by the organization in the way of providing flowers and delicacies to the sick and "shut-ins.". Aside from making the lives of local people more cheerful, the guild has sent flowers to the Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, Muhlenberg Hospital, the Industrial Home and several Jersey City institutions.

The guild will receive contributions from those interested in the work at the W. C. T. U. rooms Monday and Tuesday at the regular hours.

SMALLEY WITH BAPTISTS.

Following the action of the Sunday-school League in barring "Hub" Stine and George Townley from playing with the First Baptist's, Captain Pierson has secured Ralph Smalley, the N. P. H. S. star to do the backstopping for his team. In playing with the Baptist's Smalley gives up a chance to play for Dorflinger, of the Pets, this afternoon.

"CANDLE SERMON."

At the morning service of the First Presbyterian church tomorrow, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, will give a "Candle Sermon" for both old and young. This talk is the one that was postponed at the Children's Day services two weeks ago. At the evening service he will take for his subject, "Pan-American."

ANNUAL CAMPFIRE.

The annual camp fire of the Men's Bible Conference Class, of the First Baptist church, will be held on the mountainside at Interhaven avenue and Grove street, Keller's Grove, on Thursday evening, July 2, at 6:30 o'clock.

MRS. C. S. BEARD A BENEFICIARY

Shares Equal Part of Brother's Estate With a Niece.

MANY OTHER BEQUESTS

Will of Henry Augustus Godwin, Who Died on May 17 Last, is Offered for Probate Today in New York City.

New York City, June 27.—The will of Henry Augustus Godwin, brother of Mrs. Charlotte S. Beard, of No. 810 Hillside avenue, Plainfield, was offered for probate here today. It disposes of his estate, said to be around the $2,500 figure in personal property, after all debts are first paid, as follows:

To Mrs. Lottie Miller, of No. 110 East 17th street, New York, all personal effects consisting of clothing, personal ornaments and furniture in the East 17th street home. Also, the sum of $500 "to be used by her as she may see fit in the maintenance of the two children, Harold Floyd Miller and George Elbert Miller, this bequest being made to her in gratitude for her kindness to me in times past when I was in need."

The balance of the estate in equal shares goes to Mrs. Beard, the Plainfield sister ,and Mrs. Marie A. Aikenhead, niece, of No. 198 Woodlawn avenue, New Rochelle, N. Y. Henry A. Aikenhead, husband of the niece, is the executor.

No date has been set for the proving of the document which bears date of Sept. 4, 1913. Mr. Godwin, who was 73 years old, was laid to rest in Norwalk cemetery, Norwalk, Conn., beside the body of his late mother, as he directed in his will. He passed away here on May 17.

ELKS BOWLERS PLAN FOR AFFAIR ON ROOF GARDEN

The executive committee of the Elks' Bowling League met in the clubhouse, last night, and decided to hold an entertainment and supper on the evening of July 14, in the roof garden. At that time various prizes won during the last tournament will be awarded to the winners.

Harry VanEmburgh has been selected as toastmaster and Paroubek's orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

RUTH AINSCOUGH CELEBRATES SIXTH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Ruth Ainscough, of Park Avenue, entertained ten of her friends at her home yesterday in honor of her sixth birthday. Games were played and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all. Vocal solos were rendered by Myra Gage Audrey Hicks, Doris Bittenbender, and Master Logan Murphy.

Refreshments were served and a large birthday cake, bearing six candles, was cut. All of the guests received Fourth of July favors. The little hostess received many useful gifts. Those present were the Misses Margaret Blair, Doris Bitenbender, Myra Gage, Dorothy Murphy, Audrey Hicks, Constance Shaw, Emma Chamberlain, Mascine Hicks, Ruth Ainscough and Master Logan Murphy.

STYLISH RELIABLE

A Lincolnism as Applied to Our Business

Abraham Lincoln was not an author; he was not a writer; he was not an orator; but he was the gentlest soul and the rarest heart of the 19th century.

And it is just this—and nothing more—that we ask you to do with us.

We ask you to stand with us as long as we can sell better clothes for less money than our neighbors—as long as we tell you the truth about a garment—as long as we pledge our name with every sale.

And once we fail we ask you to part with us—for our sake as well as yours.

No store in our whole broad land has a better ethical concept of business than we—and certainly no store adheres more clearly to it.

Suits $10, $12, $15, $18, $20 to $30.

Somerville.

Judge D. H. Beekman granted the transfer of the license of the Martinsville Hotel from Clarence VanDerveer to Gustav A. Ruehle at the session of the Somerset County Court yesterday.

The application of Ebo DeLorenzo, of Somerville, to have his wholesale license transferred from Somerville to Raritan was denied. Owing to informalities in the application for the transfer of the license from Peter DeLorenzo to Nuncio Curcio, for a hotel at Raritan, the application was withdrawn and will be presented at a later date.

Several Orphans' Court matters were disposed of. Final settlement was made in the estate of the late Calvin Corle, of Neshanic, over which there was considerable speculation as to the amount of the estate of the deceased. From the report of the executors, as allowed, the debts proved against the estate amounted to $86,153, while the total amount of resources was only $27,945, or about 32 1-2 per cent. In the matter of the estate of the late John M. Badgley, formerly of Mountainside, Union county, whose will could not be found at the time of his death, and the Surrogate of Somerset county having appointed Isaac L. Winans, of New Market, as administrator, it was stated to the court that subsequent search had revealed the presence of a will, but that the executor named therein had since died, and the court therefore appointed Mr. Winans administrator with the will annexed.

The will of the late J. B. Losey, of Somerville, was also admitted to probate, with the widow of the deceased and William V. Steele as executors.

Dunellen & Vicinity

Councilman William A. Castner is moving from the house on Jackson avenue that he recently sold to E. R. Heilig, to his new bungalow on Front street. Mr. Heilig will move from the John P. Fenner house into his new home on Monday.

Mrs. Thomas Beck, of Jackson avenue, expects to be able to come home Tuesday from Muhlenberg Hospital, at Plainfield, where she was operated upon for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Mitze entertained Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reusch, of South Orange, yesterday afternoon and evening.

The date of the annual excursion of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school to Asbury Park is Wednesday, July 22.

Postmaster Henry S. Garretson was a visitor in Newark yesterday.

Mrs. Jacob Fisher, of Washington avenue, has fully recovered from an attack of bronchitis.

Recorder David S. Campbell is now a notary public.

Borough Engineer Lewis T. Churchill was busily engaged all day yesterday giving line and sidewalk grade at Garwood.

Mrs. Charles F. Starker, of Washington avenue, is entertaining her cousin, Miss Annie Vanderbilt, of Milford.

William W. Giddes, of Lincoln avenue, while able to be about again is far from being in his usual good health.

The first local accident with powder incident to the annual celebration of Independence Day, was sustained yesterday by Edward Potter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Potter, of First street, who burned his hand while shooting a repeating cap pistol.

Those who attended the fifth performance of the Boy Scout benefit week in the local theatre, last evening, were not disappointed in their anticipation of a most enjoyable evening, as the program was an excellent one. Mrs. E. L. Field, of Fourth street, accompanied by Miss Matilda Miller, pianiste, sang by special request the Scotch Hymn, "Barney Sweet Bessie." Mrs. Field was obliged to respond to an encore. She was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses. Other features of the program comprised a duet by Mrs. Field and W. W. Giddes, solos by Mrs. P. F. Edgar, of Plainfield, and the appearance of the "None Such Mince Meat Trio," in a sketch entitled "Looking for Work." The acting in the sketch of Ford Eckerson was excellent. F. O. Spurdle, the other principal character in the sketch, assumed the role of a darky. His imitation of a Southern negro's dialect was excellent and his antics elicited an almost continuous uproar. Other participants in the sketch were Thomas Kelly, of Brooklyn, who acted as the corpse, and Miss Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Rogers, of Jackson avenue, who was in the love affair that brought the sketch to a climax.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Voorhees, of Jackson avenue, are entertaining their niece, Miss Ella Love, of Somerville.

John I. Snyder, of the Bronx, will move on Tuesday into his new home on Prospect avenue recently purchased by him through the John Fedderman agency from Contractor A. H. Burdick.

Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Field, of Fourth street, are entertaining William Leo Yates, a prominent Washington attorney, over the week-end.

William Danker, of North avenue, is proud of his garden this year, as he is enjoying his second crop of beans and peas.

The program for this evening's final performance of the Boy Scout benefit in the local theatre is a most attractive one. Maximus, the noted strong man, will perform his full vaudeville act; Stanley Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Field, of Fourth street, will sing "Down in Louisiana," and Miss Jennie Ryan, daughter of Councilman and Mrs. Richard M. Ryan, will also sing. The matinee this afternoon is to be featured by the serving of all the children in the audience with ice cream cons.

M. F. Scofield, of Yonkers, N. Y., who recently purchased the Augustus F. Samson property on Washington avenue, has commenced the erection of a home on that property.

While coming out of Duke's Park on Thursday afternoon with a load of hay for the Park Hotel Stables, Charles DeHart, Jr., the driver in endeavoring to take a short cut caused the load to be upset by one of the wheels of the wagon dropping abruptly in a rather deep ditch. This did not end Mr. DeHart's troubles, however, as the hay which was loaded rather hastily tumbled off of the wagon again just as it was entering the yard of the Hill Stables about two hours later.

The spelling bee which was held in the M. E. church, of Dunellen, last evening, was one of the most successful events held there. The first part of the evening was taken up with music and recitations. The program was as follows: Piano duet, Harold Seals and Morris Sties; recitation, Mrs. G. Schuck; piano solo, Ruth Seals; vocal duet, Mrs. Ramsey and Miss Adelaid Ramsey; recitation, Lillian Titus; vocal solo, Miss Lillian Kennedy. Every selection was very much appreciated, especially the recitation, "Gone with a Lonsome Man," by Will Carlton. This was given by Miss Lillian Titus. The vocal solo by Miss Lillian Kennedy, entitled "The Pond Lily Lullaby," was another feature. Hot popcorn and home made candy was sold and much enjoyed. When the spelling began A. G. Wickham pronounced the words and everybody took part. The first prize, which was a silver dollar, was won by Miss Ella Smith of Plainfield. The consolation prize was won by Clark Ramsey. It proved to be very becoming. Refreshments were served, which consisted of ice cream, cake, and lemonade.

If the plans of the directors of the Free Public Library to have the young women of the borough sell tags on Fourth of July for the benefit of the library go through a personal canvass will have to be made, as no volunteers presented themselves at the library rooms last evening in response to the call.

Why is it that the race between the New Market and local fire departments for the cup that is at present held by the New Market department can't be run this year? is a question that is being asked.

Raritan

Mr. and Mrs. Heydorn, of Brooklyn, are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. John Brutcher, on Gaston avenue.

Mrs. F. A. Hickey is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. W. Allen, at Brooklyn.

Final Riddance of Women's Tailored Suits

Beginning Monday, the Women's Gray Salons offer their remaining miscellaneous suits at final reductions which have been made practically regardless of the original prices because it is getting late for us and we wish to clear cases with which to open July.

Suits at $18.75

Many materials and colors in attractive styles.

Lowest price early in the season was $35—majority were far more.

Suits at $25

Fine, individual suits which early in the spring cost $37.50 and up to twice that sum. Styles that will stay in fashion because designed and tailored by experts. Most of the materials are imported.

Suits at $32.50 and $40

are marked from proportionately higher prices.

Extra-150 New Suits at $10

That is a good record for a manufacturer. It is not often that any maker can close his season with such a small surplus as that.

He was very willing, therefore, to let us have these suits for a fraction of their value.

We, of course, pass the saving on to our customers.

Suits of gabardine, serge and good looking shepherd checks—all would have been priced double and considerably more in May.

Black, navy blue and colors. Plenty of conservative as wel as novelty styles.

Second Floor, Old Building.

New Man Stirring Up the Linen Store

He knows what he wants and he is going to get it—and all the linens on hand that stand in his way must go.

So we have taken about $7,000 worth of odd fancy linens, tea cloths, centerpieces, doilies, napkins and scarfs—a few pieces or a few dozens of a kind—many of which show decided traces of handling but which one laundering will make perfect—

And Mark Them Down a Third and a Half —Some Even Less

Here are some of them;

At 15c—Sixty dozen hand-embroidered doilies that sold this week at 50c.

At $3 dozen—19½ dozen hand-embroidered doilies which this week sold at $9.50.

At 50c—Madeira doilies that this week were twice as expensive.

At $2—large centerpieces trimmed with French cluny lace that cost double two months ago.

At $1.50—centerpieces trimmed with filet lace that cost more than double two months ago.

At $1—embroidered centerpieces that cost double two months ago.

At $2.25—Irish hand-embroidered, 54-inch tea cloths that cost considerably more than double two months ago.

At $2.75—hand-embroidered tea cloths that were almost three times as much two months ago.

At $6.50—beautiful 54-inch tea cloths with rich hand-made Russian lace.

At $3.50—72-inch hand-embroidered tea cloths edged with linen lace—they were more than double two months ago.

At $15—a 72-inch cloth edged with French cluny lace—this was more than double recently.

At $1.50—20x36-inch hand-embroidered scarfs, and at $2, 20x54-inch scarves—both repriced very much less.

At $1.50—Scarfs with crochet lace that two months ago were $3.50.

At 50c—ecru scarfs 20x54-inch, just half price.

At 35c—scalloped damask tea napkins that this week were 65c.

At $3.50—a few odd luncheon cloths of scalloped damask.

At $2—45-inch hemstitched tea cloths of damask—just a few of a kind.

At $3—54-inch hemstitched tea cloths.

At $4.25 dozen, fine scalloped napkins and at $7.50 are dinner napkins of much finer quality than usual.

Find them on the Main Aisle, Main Floor, and in the Linen Store, First Floor Old Building. Please remember there are only a few pieces at any one price or in any one pattern and those who come first of course, will have first choice.

Half-Yearly Vacation Sale of Men's Handkerchiefs, 12½c each

Plain, all linen Irish cambric handkerchiefs, with narrow hemstitched hems.

Made of short ends of linens usually put into handkerchiefs that cost a quarter to three times more than Monday's price.

On an occasional handkerchief there may be a trifling oil spot, but nothing that one laundering will not make perfect.

Because they are all linen these handkerchiefs may be depended upon to keep their snowy whiteness—cotton gets gray, but linen always stays white.

6,000 Handkerchiefs to start with Monday morning.

All at one price, 12½c.

Fancy Ratines

At an Almost Incredible Price

Rarely, if ever has it been possible to offer Summer dress fabrics at such little prices, as now.

Today we are reporting a sale of fancy ratines that include broches, checks, plaids and stripes—all this season's fabrics. The early prices were 75c to $2.50 yard—the majority being $1.50 and $2. Subsequently lower prices were made. Now comes the final price, 28c yard.

Also French broche linens that were specially imported, in this double width of 36 inches, to retail at 75c yard, and have not been sold under this price to date. White and all the leading linen shades for summer costumes in light and dark colors.

They will all be closed at 28c yard.

Dress Fabrics Salons, First floor, Old Building.

A New Purchase of 1,470 More Women's Dresses to Sell at $3.75

Many of these duplicate recent special purchases of dresses of which we sold thousands at $5.75, $6.75 and $7.50. The latter were the maker's original wholesale rates. These remarkable prices are even bettered by this new purchase. In some cases Monday's price—$3.75—is even one-half of their original wholesale cost. So you will quickly recognize the unusualness of this opportunity.

1,470 dresses—twenty-one styles—mostly the fashionable long tunic. All finest summer materials—voile, crepe, ratine, white lingerie, tissues, etc.

Monday—Subway floor, Old Building.

Half-Yearly Sale of Women's Low Shoes

POLICE DEPARTMENT NEEDS.

We are living in an age in which speed seems to be the chief object to be attained, and those who are not able to keep up with the leaders are said to be of little use in the world.

To me the modern method of attaining speed in the apprehension of criminals is one of much interest, and in dealing with this subject stress will be laid upon the value of the automobile in the transportation of police officials to the scene of crime, or in pursuing the fleeing criminals in an effort to overtake them.

Time was when the fleeting steed carried man to his destination in so short a time that it was thought great haste had been made; then the bicycle came into use and those who rode rapidly, outstripped man's faithful beast, the horse, because it was less exertion on man than on beast.

Both of these agencies have worked well; they have served the purpose of their generation but with the advent of the automobile which flies over space at the rate of a mile a minute; the horse and the bicycle have become relics of the past.

Within the past few years criminals, always progressive, have resorted to the use of the automobile in plying their trade. Crimes are committed in the streets and before an officer arrives, the criminals have sped away in an automobile.

If anyone witnessed the crime, a meager description of the car is given and by the time the officer communicates with headquarters the criminals have sped away in an automobile.

If it should happen that there is no automobile at headquarters, more time is lost while one is being procured and further delays occur trying to pick up a clue by which the car with its criminal occupants can be followed.

I believe that automobiles and motorcycles could be used to great advantage in patrolling the suburbs of our cities. Some hypercritical citizens would call this joy riding, and of course, it is joy riding because the task well performed gives joy to those who perform it. If the city be of small population and the motor car is not needed in patrol service, the motorcycle which has a speed equal to that of the motor car should be employed. If neither of these agencies are needed in the patrol service, an automobile or motorcycle should be kept at police headquarters to despatch officers to the scene of trouble in any section of the city in the shortest possible time.

It has been my sad experience to have found the need of an automobile with which to pursue criminals and I know what it is to be hampered in securing a car with which to trail those who have committed crime and I know that by reason of these distressing circumstances, criminals were enabled to make a safe getaway; in fact to escape so completely that they were not apprehended for several months after the crime had been committed. Had an automobile been at my disposal this probably could not have happened.

The residents of the respective communities expect the police to protect them and their property. I have never known of any community that was not willing to expend whatever might be deemed necessary in order to increase the efficiency of the police department, and I believe it to be the duty of every police head, whose departments are not equipped with these modern means of transportation, to place before the controlling board of the department the urgent need for this equipment as a means of increasing efficiency, minimizing crime and assuring a greater measure of protection to all the people.

While disscusing the modern means of apprehending criminals, and while it may seem a point far fetched, I believe that the time is rapidly approaching when that wonderful means of transmitting communications between mankind—wireless telegraphy—will find a place in the police departments of large cities for communicating between points within cities and between cities that are some distance apart.

With the discovery of this means of communication disasters at sea have been minimized, and since crime is a disaster to society, is it not proper to suggest the use of this agency in the prevention of these disasters?

PATRICK S. KIELY.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Isn't there some means whereby the merchants can get together and co-operate in the matter of closing their stores during August, in order to give their employes a weekly holiday? According to present arrangements some stores will close on Thursday all day, some on Saturdays at noon and many not at all. The shopping public will be confused, not knowing which stores are closed and unable to regulate their purchasing to conform or to help the plan. Several merchants that have the largest number of employes have refused to close their stores on Thursdays. The fact that the civic committee obtained thirty-five or more signatures, which included all the large stores, expressing a willingness to close their stores Saturdays at noon makes it appear to me that more merchants are ready to co-operate for a Saturday half-holiday than for Thursday. The public would regulate their shopping accordingly, and the employer and employe could enjoy their holiday when probably ninety per cent. of the employed in other vocations are enjoying theirs. Won't the merchants try again—by all means get together!

HERBERT A. BONN.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press.—

In reading an article in another local newspaper last night I saw an article regarding the new postoffice site which made me think twice. Now don't you think Cottage place would be a better site for the new Federal building, as it would be near the railroad and handy for the parcel post business, doing away with any expense to the government in carrying mail. But as the government don't have to pay for carrying mail outside of 3,000 feet of the postoffice I think the present site on Watchung avenue is an ideal one.

LONDON'S "SEASON."

It Officially Opens With the Private View at the Royal Academy.

The London "season" figures in nearly every English novel and in hundreds of English short stories. It is a semi-sacred "tradition" that dates back nearly a century and a half.

The inaugural of the operatic season has come to be its actual beginning, although officially the London season does not begin until the private view of the Royal academy, on the Saturday previous to the first Monday in May.

Important as it is to attend the opera's opening performance, the Royal academy private view and dinner still continue to be the great inaugural functions of the season. It is a sublime recognition of the power of the fourth estate that the press men are given the first glimpse of the new paintings comprising the Royal academy's annual exhibition. Even royalty has to be content with second place. On the Wednesday preceding the private view the gentlemen of the press have sole possession of the gallery. Every important newspaper of Great Britain and Ireland is invited to send a representative, and the London correspondents of the big American and colonial newspapers are also similarly honored. All day Wednesday and Thursday morning they have the gallery to themselves. On Thursday afternoon the members of the royal family take possession of the exhibition. Then comes the Royal academy dinner, at which custom prescribes that the royal family and the cabinet must be represented.

The "private view" is an accurate phrase, except that it is not private and the crush is so great that it is almost impossible to view the paintings. Everybody who is anybody must go, however, and those Americans who are excluded from Burlington house on that day of fate may as well return home and try to forget. True, they may later visit the gallery and study the works of art in a leisurely and comfortable manner, but what social climber wants to do that?

The London season, as an institution, was established by George III.; but, as in many other matters, that amiable monarch did not show good judgment and started the season in January. When Queen Victoria came to the throne she inaugurated the metropolitan season in February, but later she changed the date to about the first of May. After the death of her consort the London season had to get along without royal participation, but despite this handicap it gradually increased in importance. It is the harvest season for the hotels and the merchants of Bond and Regent streets and Piccadilly.—New York World.

Naval Nicknames.

Curious nicknames are applied to vessels of the British navy. The Ariadne is known as the "Hairy Annie" or "Haggy Agony," the Narcissus as "Nasty Sister," the Cressy as the "Greaser," the Inconstant as the "Inkstand," the Iphigenia as the "Silly Jane," the Lucifer as the "Match Box," the Hecate as the "He Cat" or "The Tom" and the Neptune as the "Jew's Harp."

In the American navy similar nicknames have been used to some extent. The Sassacus was known as the "Sassy Cuss," the Miantonomoh as "My Aunt Don't Know You," the Wissahickon as the "Widow Higgins," the Winnebago or perhaps the Wyalusing as "We Know She Goes Slow."—Chicago News.

Eating Snails.

Colonel Newnham Davis has described the ideal conditions of snail eating. "At Prince's," he writes, "the horned thing is eaten with proper ceremony. In a silver bowl, with a silver three pronged fork as a means of conveying the alleged dainty to the mouth, the long, black gelatinous things are brought to the table very hot and swimming in a sauce in which lard and onions and garlic seem to be the principal components. Speared on the fork, the snail goes into one's mouth, and then comes one of the critical moments of life."—London Standard.

Early Croziers.

The earliest mention of the use of a crozier is of one carried by Ataldus, archbishop of Reims, who died A. D. 933. An ancient Saxon or Norman font in Winchester cathedral has a very old representation of a bishop with a crozier, probably the earliest example to be found in England. A crozier of rude shape is cut on the tomb of Bartholomew, bishop of Exeter from 1161 to 1184.—London Graphic.

Rungs of the Ladder.

Thomas A. Edison at a dinner once endeavored to instill courage into a disappointed man.

"You haven't got on," said Mr. Edison, "but if you keep on trying you'll succeed in the end. The successful man's life is just like yours, only he keeps up the fight; he doesn't give in.

"Yes," Mr. Edison ended, "the ladder of success is composed of round after round of failure."—Washington Star.

Willing Messenger.

Mrs. Suburbs (to tramp)—Out of work, are you? Then you're just in time. I've a cord of wood to be cut up, and I was just going to send for a man to do it. Tramp—That so, mum? Where does he live? I'll go and get him.—Boston Transcript.

In essentials unity, in doubtful things liberty, in all things charity.—Melanchthon.

Albania's Blood Feuds.

The great problem in Albania is the blood feud. Every one has killed, and all have enemies who seek their blood. The houses are fortresses, the only windows of which are loopholes for Martinis. Many men have not left their houses for years, and food has to be brought to them by their friends. A man who is under the obligation of custom to take vengeance on another cannot marry if he is a bachelor and if he is already married cannot give either his sons or his daughters in marriage until his enemy is killed.—Youth's Companion.

What "Borough" Signifies.

The word "burgh" in Saxon stood for "castle;" hence towns anciently erected in the vicinity of castles for their protection had this name conferred upon them, and the soldiers who garrisoned these were called burghers, so the inhabitants of these towns received the same name. These also being formed into a community, the constitution formed for their regular government was denominated the borough laws.

Her Status.

The elder office mate was questioning the young clerk in regard to a girl he had seen him with at a moving picture show. "Was it your fiancee or your sister?" asked the elderly man.

"She says she'll be a sister," muttered the younger clerk gloomily.—New York World.

Who Was Easy?

Budde—Lend me a fiver, will you, Budde? That faker has just stung me for all I had. Budde—All right, Jim, I'll go you. But I'll tell you right now if you let any man talk you out of $5 you're dead easy."—Exchange.

NETHERWOOD KIDDIES GUESTS AT LAWN PARTY

Mrs. Robert A. Meeker and Mrs. R. W. Meeker, of Belvidere avenue, entertained about fifteen of the children of the neighborhood at a lawn party this afternoon at their home. They were assisted by Miss Helen Carson, of Belvidere avenue, who entertained the youngsters with fancy dancing. Games were played about the extensive lawn and refreshments were served beneath the trees.

Those who were present at the party are the Misses Marion Alling, Margaret Alling, Marion Ruth Evans, Marjorie Carlisle, Eleanor Gibson, Marion Drake, Mary Gunnison, Blanche Gunnison, Dorothy Hecht, Betting Waring, Lottie Gunnison, Lottie Stewart, Helen Guttridge, and Harry Waring and Edwin Gibson.

CARRANZA WILL AGREE?

Washington, June 27—Jose Vasconcelos, a member of the Constitutionalists Junta here, today declared that Louis Caerra and Fernando I. Calderon, who will be the Rebel delegates to the informal conference with the Huerta delegates if Carranza agrees to this proposition, will stay in Washington for at least two weeks. Information of a nature to lead the Constitutionalists here to believe that Carranza will agree to these informal conferences with the representatives of Huerta was received today.

PARDON IS ISSUED TO WM. A. DEATH

Another of the Slayers of Bosschieter Girl Set Free.

FIRST NEW LAW PARDON

After Thirteen Years He Leaves Jail With Relatives and Friends—Sentiment Opposes Power Given to Board of Prison Inspectors—Another Convict Also Released.

Trenton, N. J., June 27.—An automobile rolled up to the gates of the state prison and out walked William A. Death, a free man, after serving thirteen of his thirty years' sentence for the murder of Jennie Bosschieter, a Paterson mill girl, who was slain in 1900 by Death and three of his companions, all well known in Paterson.

Death, who appeared emaciated, was smiling and happy. He was the first to get into the waiting car. Then came the others, and the chauffeur made straight for a hotel where his aged mother and his two sisters awaited Death. The sisters are Mrs. Clarence Caubell and Mrs. Garrison Vanevili. He embraced his mother first and then his sisters.

"I am going to devote my time now to caring for my father and mother," Death said.

Walter McAllister, the only one of the four murderers of the girl still in the penitentiary, was referred to by Death. He said the board of prison inspectors probably would soon consider McAllister's release. He did not mention Andrew J. Campbell or George Kerr, who have been released.

Death is the first man to be released from prison by the prison inspectors under the new law conferring upon them this power. Opposition has been raised in political and legal circles over this board's action in freeing Death after his application for a parole had been rejected by the court of pardons the only body, according to the constitution, having power to pardon and parole convicts.

There is a strong sentiment in Trenton that the legislature had no authority to confer upon the state board of prison inspectors any of the powers of the court of pardons provided for in the state constitution, and this sentiment, it was said, would likely lead up to a court test of the prison board's actual power.

Another convict released by the state board of prison inspectors was Samuel Cohen, who was sentenced to ten years for arson. He served six years of his time.

REBEL LEADERS RACE TO MEXICAN CAPITAL

Villa and Carranza Both Hurry to San Luis Potosi.

Washington, June 27.—General Carranza has notified Captain Breceda, his secretary, who arrived here, that General Pablo Gonzales had left Saltillo for San Luis Potosi with his troops and plenty of ammunition and that both San Luis Potosi and Guadalajara were expected to be in the hands of the Constitutionalists within a week.

The capture of Zacatecas by Generals Villa and Angeles has placed Villa's strong force nearest to the City of Mexico.

The dispatches indicate that Gonzales is under orders to take San Luis Potosi as soon as possible, while General Obregon has similar orders to take Guadalajara without delay.

There is every indication that there will be a pretty race between the armies of Villa, Gonzales and Obregon for the Mexican capital.

Rear Admiral Badger cabled the navy department that he had been informed that there had been a considerable movement of Constitutionalist troops from Monterey through Tampico to San Luis Potosi in the last few days.

Certified Pure Natural Ice

The work of experts and scientists has been checked and proved by other investigators until all agree on the wonderful purity of natural ice.

It is a satisfaction, then, to know that the ice which has been harvested and stored this past winter is a pure and wholesome product of Nature and that the verdict of health boards and commissioners and science itself is that there are no cases of Ice causing disease, and that, as a matter of fact, Ice produced by Nature from its very structure and state cannot be a bearer of disease.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—To whom must I make application for a special policeman's badge? N. J. K.

Answer—Interview Chief of Police Kiely and he will furnish you with all the information you need.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Will the swimming pool being constructed in the Plainfield High School be ready for use this summer, and if so, will the general public be allowed to use it? H. H. H.

Answer—The pool will not be ready until fall.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I saw a notice in your paper saying that the Sunday baseball team will play its games just over the city line at the end of Arlington avenue trolley line. Why are these contests not staged on Crescent Oval or Parker Field where the fans will not have to travel two or three miles to witness them? It seems to me that it would be better for all concerned to have the contests played in town. N. B.

Answer—The management is taking no chances on having the games stopped by the police. The playing of the contest on Parker Field or Crescent Oval would result in action on the part of the police.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Are efforts being made to motorize the ambulance and police patrol now in the service of the city? What is done in case of an accident over the mountains or in South Plainfield? B. C. L.

Answer—Such a step has been agitated but nothing definite has been done in the matter. In case of a long run a team of horses are hired for the ambulance.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Will residents of Plainfield be prohibited from shooting off firecrackers on the Fourth of July? What is becoming of the patriotic spirit so prominent several years ago? N. M. K.

Answer—The patriotic spirit and several careers have been so shot to pieces by firecrackers during the past few years that the local Council has seen fit to make it unlawful to shoot firecrackers over two and one-half inches long even on one's own premises. There's a fine of $100.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In the event of rainy weather on the Fourth of July and conseqent loss to the committee in charge of the athletic meet being conducted under the auspices of the playground commission, will the same prizes be given or will the winners have to be content with medals or some other rewards of a minor nature? C. N. B.

Answer—The committee in charge has made arrangements to take care of this possibility and the same prizes will be given rain or shine.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When will the Plainfield playgrounds be opened? Can I send a two-year-old child to the playgrounds during the day? S. S. M.

Answer—The playgrounds will open July 6 for the summer season. You must remember that the playgrounds are not day nurseries although some of the instructors in other years have taken the trouble to care for infants sent to the grounds by mothers who work.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there any premium on a Buffalo nickel? If not, is it worth while saving them till some future date? G. J. U.

Answer—Better spend the nickel. There is no premium on it now and there will probably not be any for some time to come.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What comprises first class matter in the United States mails? C. F. T.

Answer—This is a question which you could have looked up yourself without a great deal of trouble. Letters and all other written matter, sealed or unsealed, and all other matter sealed or fastened in a way not easily examined, is first class mail and costs 2 cents for each ounce or fraction thereof.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How far is it from this city to Rahway and what is the trolley fare? V. C.

Answer—The distance is eleven miles and the fare is ten cents.

Sporting Editor:

Query—By the best roads what is the distance from Plainfield to Asbury Park? B. H. L.

Answer—Fifty-eight miles.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What was the distance of the last International race for the American representative won from the made by the winner? C. G. T.

Answer—September 3, 1913 the Aerican representative won from the Shamrock III of England, covering the fifteen miles in 4 hours, 23 minutes and 6 seconds.

ROD AND REEL

The fluke are coming fine, and when the fishermen try for them tomorrow they will be sure to catch quite a few of the real old-timers, such as used to be caught along the banks of Raritan Bay. The fish are all along the shore, especially in the deep holes inside of Sandy Hook, and another good place to fish for them is in the channels that lead into the lower bays, such as Ambrose and Buttermilk Channels. The Shrewsbury River is a good fishing place and, in fact, any water where the bottom is clear is the place to look for fluke.

The deep-sea fishing must be very good when one can catch forty sea bass in an afternoon like that of last Wednesday, with a wind blowing from the east. This is what a local man did as well as hauling in five blackfish, in Sheepshead Bay. There were but a few with the local man, but each one had fairly as good luck.

Something has started the black bass biting in Weequahic aPrk lake, and the news spread quickly that one man had landed his first big fish Wednesday. He caught three black bass, two of them weighing two and a half pounds, and one of them two and three-quarters pounds. He wound up with a big white perch.

The ladies can catch black bass as well as men in Weequahic Park Lake, and this was proved by one woman Wednesday when she landed a three and a quarter pound black bass and two large catfish, which she proudly carried home.

MARTIN IN TWO GAMES.

Jack Martin, the local ball player, appeared in both games of the double header between the Giants and Boston yesterday. In the first match, he was sent in to pinch hit but rolled out to the infield and he played third base during the latter part of the second game. He was at bat once and scored a run and had one assist credited to him. The Braves were beaten in both games.

HANK MATHEWSON POPULAR.

Hank Mathewson, brother of Big Six, appears to be busy along pitching lines. He will twirl for the Pets this afternoon on aPrker Field and tomorrow is booked to work for the Brooklyn Hustlers at Rockaway.

CAPTAIN HADSELL.

Leader of Columbia Crew Likes to Look at Cornell From In Front.

© 1914, by American Press Association.

Captain Irv Hadsell of the Columbia crew, beaming all over, when afterward asked what he thought of the race, said: "Cornell has a wonderful crew. I never knew how a Cornell varsity crew looked from in front. It certainly is a thrilling pleasure to look back at Cornell after the finish line, instead of twisting your neck to see how far ahead the Ithacans are. I am too happy to talk now."

MISS WILDEY ONCE MORE TURNED BACK IN FINALS

After qualifying for the final round in the middle States Women's doubles tennis tournament at South Orange, yesterday, Miss Edna Wildey, of this city and her partner, Mrs. Marshall McLean, lost the championship round by dropping two of the three sets they played. The semi-final match was easy for the local player and her partner and they took two straight. They also started off strong in the final match, winning the first set 6-0 and then lost the second one 2-6. The last and deciding set was a fast one, the final score being 7-5.

Miss Wildey was defeated in the semi-final round of the singles championship in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3.

Not a home in this city but has its quota of discarded furniture, rugs, stoves perhaps, a wheelbarrow maybe.

LAST MAN ELIMINATED.

The last local representative in the Baltusrol Invitation Golf tourney, was eliminated yesterday when Clement B. Morgan was beaten by A. N. Cowperwaite, of Midland, 8 up and 6 to play. A. R. Maillefou, of Westfield, won his match in the first round of the third sixteen, 3 up and 1 to play. Sinclair and White, the two leaders, will meet in the final match this afternoon.

TWO GOOD MEN IN SPRINTS.

Albert Byrnairske and James Nash, two local athletes, have entered the sprinting events in the meet on Parker Field next Saturday. Both are speedy on short distances and should be among the first to break the tape.

FRANK MORAN.

Pittsburgh Heavyweight Has Good Chance to Lick Johnson.

There was more money wagered on the result of the Johnson-Moran battle than has ever before been bet on the result of a ring contest in Europe. The lovers of the glove game there have had a chance to look over the principals in the championship battle, and it seems as if every one wants to back his favorite. The popularity of Moran is gradually forcing down the odds offered on Johnson's chances.

SEVERE JOLT FOR BAPTIST PLAYERS

Stine and Townley Barred From League Competition by Executive Board.

At the regular meeting of the Executive Board of the Sunday-school baseball league, held in the offices of J. Henry Crane last night, it was ruled that the league should abide by the Constitution and thereby eliminate Stine and Townley of the First Baptists from participating in any league games. It was also voted to cast out the game of last Saturday, in which Stine took part and to have it played on at the end of the season. The First Baptists claimed that they had absolutely no one else to catch for them in their game with Hope Chapel and decided to play Stine and take the consequences from the league officials.

Captain Pierson, of the Baptists, declared that the league should abide more by the spirit of the constitution than by the letter of it, bringing in the argument that while Stine was away from home he attended Sunday-school regularly and because he could not have possibly been in town he saw no reason why the catcher should not be permitted to play. After an hour's open discussion on the matter between the Executive Board and the managers of the three teams, the Board went into secret session and it was here that the fatal sentence was pronounced on Townley and Stine.

Those present at last night's meeting were James Penny and Manager G. T. Leighs of Hope Chapel, Robert McCormick and Manager William Beekman, of Monroe avenue, Captain Pierson, of First Baptist, and J. Henry Crane

LOSS $15,000,000; SIX DEAD IN SALEM

Fear More Bodies Are In Ruins of Many Homes.

Salem, Mass., June 27.—This city is now reckoning its losses in the fire which leveled half its buildings, cost at least six lives and possibly more, made 20,000 people homeless and did nearly $15,000,000 damage to property, less than half of which is covered by insurance.

It is now known that four persons were burned to death and that two died from the effect of hardships suffered during the fire. That more bodies will be found when the ruins of houses and factories are cleared away is believed certain.

Despite the enormity of the disaster the spirit of the citizens of Salem has been revived by offers of assistance pouring in from all sections of the country, by gifts of money and supplies from many sources and by assurances that the industries which suffered most by the fire will be rebuilt.

President Wilson was one of the first to offer aid to Salem through Governor Walsh. Closely following his telegram came others from Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Secretary Garrison. Their assistance will be accepted if needed.

At a public meeting in Boston, hurriedly summoned by Governor Walsh, $77,400 was pledged by citizens for the relief of the fire sufferers. It was also announced here that George L. Allen had taken steps to raise $100,000 among wealthy residents of the North Shore and that this sum would be available at once. George F. Berry has received a check for $25,000 from Henry C. Frick, who has a handsome summer home near Beverly.

MANY DEAD IN EARTHQUAKE.

Eruption In Java Caused Widespread Damage—Buildings Demolished.

Batavia, Java, June 27.—Many were killed or injured in a violent earthquake which caused widespread damage in southern Sumatra.

The British steamer Kintuck of the China Mutual Steam Navigation company, crowded with emigrants, was reported ten hours overdue and it was feared she had met with an accident in connection with the earthquake.

COLUMBIA WINS BIG VARSITY RACE

CORNELL, FAVORITE, THIRD

Pennsylvania a Good Second, While Syracuse Was a Poor Third—Cornell Won Other Two Races—One of the Greatest Regattas Ever Held on the Hudson.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—In the golden sunset of the waning day Columbia, with the lightest and youngest crew on the river, after nineteen years of stubborn persistent trying, triumphed in the varsity race of the intercollegiate regatta when the Blue and White oar blades, working in perfect rhythm, shot the Morningside shell over the finish line a winner in the most heartbreaking sensational race that has been seen here in years.

The order of the finish and the time of the crews were:

Columbia first, 19:37 4-5; Pennsylvania second, 19:41; Cornell third, 19:41 1-5; Syracuse fourth, 19:59 2-5; Washington fifth, 20:01 4-5; Wisconsin sixth, 20:20.

The victory of the Light Blue and White an amazing victory, a victory that took out of the experts all of the pert that Yale had left in them after the New London race, was the flower of the finest endurance and courage. The grit that beat Penn and Cornell was the sort of grit that beat Harvard a week ago.

A quarter of a mile from the finish Pennsylvania, Cornell and Columbia, after racing bow to bow for two miles, were practically on even terms. Cornell seemed ready to leap forward in the old triumphant way. Pennsylvania was driving desperately, and then Columbia spurted. Her shell shot ahead like a driven lance. As 40,000 persons on the river and shore shouted, screamed and writhed with the excitement of the thing Columbia flashed over the line a length and a quarter ahead of Pennsylvania, with Cornell's bow ten feet back of the bow of the Red and Blue.

Syracuse a Poor Fourth.

Syracuse, always trailing the three leaders, finished a rather poor fourth, six lengths in the rear of Cornell. Hiram Conibear's grizzlies from the Pacific coast made a determined fight with Syracuse for fourth place, but there wasn't enough left in the eight to forge ahead. They were half a length back of Syracuse, but six lengths ahead of Wisconsin, which rowed a dull and listless race. The struggle for the intercollegiate championship, which was really a national championship this year, was always between Columbia, Pennsylvania and Cornell, and until the last 200 yards no man could tell which would win.

To nine-tenths of the crowd that came to Poughkeepsie the impossible has occurred—the utterly impossible and absurd. Columbia hadn't won since 1899. Cornell was a favorite in the betting at 7 to 10, and as much as 5 to 1 could have been had on Columbia's chances. The wise men of rowing, who cruised up and down the river for ten days scrutinizing the practicing crews and finding flaws of the wake of every boat save Cornell's, saw Columbia through the little end of their binoculars. Columbia had every fault in the world. Poor Jim Rice! What a shame to put him up against Pa Courtney and the invincibles of Lake Cayuga! Columbia? Well, of course Columbia might finish third with luck. But Columbia joined the turning worms, and as the shadows gathered over the Hudson you could see the experts glooming their way across the river.

Do you wonder that the undergraduates and the alumni of the university on Morningside heights are wrapping their long legs around the Hudson hills and lighting their cigarettes from the stars?

Nobody can blame them. They have been coming up here for nineteen doleful years, losing their money manfully and going home with their enthusiasm in tatters. Year after year it was the same old story of a Cornell victory, with Syracuse occasionally breaking the long record of Coach Courtney's success. After the race, one of the grandest struggles in the history of rowing, they have a right to high jinks and hilarity.

It is estimated more than $20,000 was lost on the proposition that Cornell was an even money choice against the field. More than half of the $20,000 in small bets of $10, $25, $50 and $100 went into the pockets of Columbia supporters.

But they could not keep Cornell out of it altogether. Her varsity eight was outsped by two wonderful crews, but her junior varsity and freshmen eights won easy victories. These races were never in doubt from first to last. The Cornell men in each boat played with their contestants and were only paddling at the end of the two mile dash. The order of finish and the time of these races were as follows:

Junior varsity—Cornell first, 11:15 2-5; Columbia second, 11:25 2-5; Pennsylvania third, 11:33 2-5; Syracuse fourth, 11:50 3-5.

Freshmen eights—Cornell first, 10:26; Syracuse second, 10:50 1-5; Pennsylvania third, 10:50 2-5; Columbia fourth, 10:56 1-5; Wisconsin fifth, 10:59.

News of Interest in Building World

MONTH'S PERMITS WILL AGGREGATE $100,000

Contractors Are Still Optimistic Regarding Building Conditions.

A slump was experienced in the issuing of building permits during the course of the past week, although indications are bright for the continuance of the boom which struck this city earlier in the month. While but three permits calling for the expenditure of $676, several permits are still pending at the office of Inspector T. O. Doane, the cost of the buildings aggregating in the vicinity of $4,000. With the outlook at present, the permits for this month will undoubtedly go over the $100,000 mark.

The slump of the past week is only what was expected, after the great rush during the first week of the month, when permits aggregating over $50,000 were issued. Contractors are still optimistic and believe that before the active building season closes in the late fall, the late start experienced this spring will have been overshadowed. The erection of dwellings, both of the one and two-story types, have held their own this season. The fact that a large proportion of these structures are being erected for investment purposes is an encouraging feature of the local situation, and shows the spirit in which capital is being invested so far as Plainfield is concerned.

The real estate men, who, in the early spring, were complaining of the vast number of empty houses about the city, are now reporting better conditions, as the number of vacant dwellings has diminished greatly. This feature of the local real estate market is possibly the most encouraging report experienced in this city for several months past. Comparatively little trading has been accomplished in the real estate field recently.

Third Ward.

Charles T. Wattly, of 974 Park avenue, is to erect an 18x20 foot frame garage in the rear of his home at a cost of $250. The foundation will be of concrete, the superstructure of pine, and the peaked roof of hemlock to be shingled. A. W. Steiner, of the borough, is the contractor.

Harvey Schmeyer, of 1226 Cameron avenue, is to build a two story extension to the dwelling at the above address, the improvements to cost in the vicinity of $400. The foundation is to be of concrete with a frame superstructure and a shingled gable roof. Edward Schmeyer is the contractor.

Fourth Ward.

Charles A. Rice is to place a frame tank for the storage of volatile liquids underground at 619 Lee place, at a cost of $26. C. W. Krausse has the contract.

SUBURBAN MARKET IS SAID TO BE EXCELLENT

Building operations in the suburbs of this city are progressing, considering the money market. Dunellen is possibly behind the others, although several dwellings are in the course of erection in the tract developments in the westerly section of the town, Scotch Plains and Fanwood also have several dwellings underway, although the contractors are not as busy as in past years.

South Plainfield is the most rapidly growing of the suburbs. There are at present in the vicinity of ten or twelve dwellings in the course of construction, representing an outlay of possibly $24,000. Realty transfers in the village are increasing, several purchases being recorded each week. A development of a tract of land to the south of the Lehigh tracks is possibly responsible for this condition, four houses now going up at this point. Piscataway Township has purchased a plot of ground on Front street in this village and will erect a new school in the near future. The immediate prospects for South Plainfield are, no doubt, as bright as any town of it's size in the State.

RENTALS REPORTED.

Manning & Curtis report the following rentals during the past week: Mrs. L. Smith, 502 Lee place; C. Q. Dalley, 1136 East Second street; J. Hoffman, 1160 Thornton avenue; Mrs. Charles Blume, 26 Washington avenue; Mr. Alberts, 1116 West Seventh street; A. A. Flitz, 994 Arlington avenue; Mrs. Irene F. Graber, 1120 West Eighth street.

GAS TANK COMPLETED.

The Elizabeth Town Gas Company has completed the erection of a large gas tank at Westfield, just over the Fanwood borough line. This tank is to supply Westfield, Garwood and Cranford. It is constructed entirely of steel.

FANWOOD TOWNSHIP TO ERECT NEW SCHOOLS

It became known this week that the Fanwood Township Board of Education are considering the erection of an addition to School No. 1, at Scotch Plains, as well as the construction of a new building in the Graceland section of the township. This move has been made necessary by the rapidly increasing enrollment in the schools of that place. The enrollment in the township schools have doubled in the course of the past five years.

The proposed addition to the Scotch Plains building according to architect's plans already submitted to the Board, will be of brick construction to be harmony with the architecture of the present building. The improvement will be two stories high, containing four rooms, two on each floor.

The Graceland building will contain all modern improvements, and will be of hollow terra cotta tile, with a shingled roof. The plans call for but one story at present, but provisions has been made for a second floor should such be found necessary at any future time. The floors of this building will be of concrete construction, with a wood covering. It is expected that the Board will take some definite steps in the matter at the next meeting.

BUILDING CONDITIONS IN UNION COUNTY PROMISING

Building conditions throughout Union county are exceptionally bright when compared with other industrial lines. Contractors in the majority of the towns are optimistic at the outlook for their line of business, and a successful season is anticipated in all parts of the county.

Elizabeth, the county seat, has probably had more than its share of the building trades' prosperity, many buildings being now in the course of erection, while many more are anticipated in the twin boroughs of Roselle and Roselle Park. Many dwellings are in the course of construction, with a new lodge building being built by the Jr. O. U. A. M., in Roselle, and a new edifice in the Park, being erected by the Methodist church marks the activities in these places.

Cranford is facing a lack of supply of dwellings of the better class, and a boom is anticipated in that direction shortly. Westfield and Fanwood are holding their own, the erection of several dwellings at these places keeping the building trades alive. New Providence building trades have held steady, although realty transfers have been few and far between.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Realty transfers at this end of the county as recorded at the county clerk's office at Elizabeth, are as noted below:

Charles E. Bonnell to Emma C. Bonnell, southwesterly side line of Madison avenue, with the northwesterly side line of West Sixth street.

W. M. Ostrander, Inc., to Albin Drobs, 2 lots Lincoln, $430.

George E. Loeffler Land and Improvement Company to Thomas Hicks, 2 lots, Park Avenue Estates, $1.

George F. Giles has bought at sheriff's sale property on the south side of North avenue in the borough of Dunellen, for $1,104.23.

W. M. Ostrander, Inc., to Lotta L. Kimball, lot Lincoln, $1.

Henry Wrage has bought of Charles Danek and wife, property on the south side of Dunellen avenue, Dunellen.

The Board of Education of Piscataway township has bought of Maria Harlow and husband, property on Middle Front street in South Plainfield, Piscataway township, for $2,500.

Equator Building and Developing Company, to Lorenz Leuthner, southeast corner Sandford avenue and First street, Dunellen, Equator Park, $1.

Andrew Plucinski and wife have bought of the Equator Building and Developing Company a plot in the borough of Dunellen.

Elk Realty Company, to Anna E. McKenna, 2 lots Holly Park, $1.

Livingston Manor Corporation, to Edmond W. Billetdoux and wife, lots 237 to 239 and part of 236, map Watson Whittlesey, deceased, southwest side Lincoln, plot 98, map Equator Park, $1.

—It pays to use the advertising columns of The Press.

BUILDING IN FANWOOD IS AT A STANDSTILL

But Few Dwellings Under Construction in That Section.

Building in Fanwood is almost at a standstill. There is at present time only two houses in the course of erection, the smallest number in the past three years. H. C. Lockwood & Co., owners of large tracts of land in the borough, say that realty is very slow.

E. J. Edris is having a very attractive bungalow of the Calafornia type built on King street. The building is one and a half stories in heighth and will have four rooms on the first floor and two sleeping rooms on the second floor. Paul Philips, of that place, has the contract and will finish work the first of the week.

Work on the $14,000 house of James Mahnizeck, on Midway avenue opposite Russell road, is progressing rapidly. The building will be two and a half stories high. The first floor will be of hollow tile. There will be fourteen rooms and two baths and hardwood floors throughout. Sliiostling, of Brooklyn, has the general contract and has sublet the electrical contract to W. I. Sands, of Fanwood. According to present plans the house will be ready for occupancy by August 1.

With the arrival of more people in Fanwood the telephone and electric light service has improved. The New York Telephone Company has just finished a direct cable to enable the subscribers to have more efficient service. The Public Service Electric Company is extending its lines along new streets and placing more street lights on thoroughfares heretoofer dark. The Borough Council will take up at its July meeting the advisibility of placing signs at the corners of all streets to enable tourists and pedestrians to find their way more easily.

WESTFIELD

W. R. Rich, a local fancy poultryman, expects soon to commence the erection of a $7,000 residence at the corner of Hillside avenue and New Providence road.

F. H. Trevenen's new residence on Highland avenue is fast nearing completion.

The three new Locke houses on Edgewood Terrace should be ready for occupancy about September 1 next.

One of the local realty corporations is having plans prepared for three new residences to be erected west of Dudley avenue. The houses will cost about $6,500 each and will be on large plots of ground.

The Faber-Lewis Company is rushing work on the five new houses on their Highland avenue tract, three being now enclosed. The company hopes to have all five houses ready for fall occupancy.

The Park Commission has decided to push development on the town park on Broad street and have applied to the Council for the necessary funds with which to complete the work. The park covers some five or more acres and when completed, will make a beauty spot in the heart of Westfield.

BORO ALTERATIONS.

The alterations and painting of the store front of the Hand Storage and Express Company, are nearing completion. The office has been enlarged to twice its original size. New plate glass windows have been placed in the front and gold leaf lettering designates the place of business. David W. Kelley has charge of both the lettering and the interior graining. The carpenter work was given to Culver & Son, while the exterior painting was done by Woolston & Buckle.

PURCHASED SCHOOL SITE.

The Piscataway township Board of Education recently purchased a new school site on Front street, South Plainfield, from Mr. and Mrs. Maria Harlow, the purchase price being $2,500. The increase in population of the village within the past two years, and the prospects of further development in the immediate future, has made this move on the part of the Board advisable.

FIREHOUSE FOR HEIGHTS.

Citizens of Berkeley Heights have started a fund during the course of the past few weeks to be used for the erection of a firehouse, something which has been lacking in the bungalow colony. Building operations here have kept abreast of the times, while many dwellings of the bungalow type have been recently erected.

CONTRACTS FOR SIDEWALKS.

Patrick Nugent has about completed his contract calling for the laying of 7,000 lineal feet of cement sidewalk at the Holly Terrace tract just outside the southern city line. Several streets have been recently cut through this development, and the lots will shortly be placed on sale.

MASTER BUILDERS' ASS'N TO MEET IN THIS CITY

Announcement was made during the past week of the State Master Builders' Association annual convention to be held at Reform Hall, this city, July 30. It is estimated that in the vicinity of one hundred delegates will be present from all sections of New Jersey. Captain William C. Smith, L. B. Woolston and Albert Pangborn are in charge of the preliminary plans.

The program as completed thus far calls for an address by Mayor Percy H. Stewart. A banquet will follow the business sessions of the association. For several years, the builders have been in the habit of going to seashore resorts, this being the first occasion they have met in this city. The decision to hold the session here at this time was reached only after considerable effort on the part of Captain Smith and L. B. Woolston.

If present plans are carried out, it is hoped to treat the visiting delegates to auto trips about the city. Local residents who would donate the use of their cars for the purpose in entertaining the visitors should notify Captain Smith.

CONTRACTING CONCERN.

An incorporation certificate for the Fuller Construction Company, a new Roselle Park concern, was filed in the county clerk's office this week. It is organized to carry on a general construction and contracting business, as indicated in the title, and is capitalized at $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares valued at $100 each. Thomas J. VanWagner holds one share and is named as the agent. The other incorporators are Beach W. Haywood, of New York, one share, and William W. VanWagner, of Brooklyn, fifty shares.

NEW CHURCH AT KENILWORTH.

Plans for the erection of a church edifice at Kenilworth for the Methodist Episcopal congregation of the place, have been about completed, the bond of that organization having been filed with the denominational board of church extension. William F. Groves is attorney for the union, and is taking care of the legal work in connection with the work of the recently organized church body. The work on the building, which is to be partly of concrete, will be started within the course of about six weeks.

MAY OPEN MARKET.

The opening of the City Market is being considered by the Union Investment Company, of Elizabeth. Interior decorations and the erection of stalls are contemplated, the latter to be sub-let to merchants when the improvements are completed. The aisle running from North avenue to Second street will remain, entrance and exit being made at either end of the building.

RESERVOIR ABOUT COMPLETE.

The large reservoir being constructed on Jerusalem road, Scotch Plains, is rapidly nearing completion. The structure is entirely of concrete, and was started about a year ago. Water will be supplied through this reservoir to Westfield, Scotch Plains, and Cranford.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

John Ross, plaintiff, purchased a plot of land in Westfield from the Home Building and Supply Company for $4,000, at a sheriff's sale in Elizabeth, Wednesday.

GRADING CONTRACT.

T. J. Mumford has awarded the contracting for grading the Grace church rectory property on West Eighth street, to Burke & Bonham. The cost of the work will be $1,686.

Wallingford In His Prime

CHAPTER IV.

The First Sucker.

BENSSY FALLS at this moment proved his generalship by tapping upon the table with the pretty silver inlaid gavel with which Wallingford had provided him. "No alcohol, gentlemen, please," he protested. "This is too serious a moment. Boy, kindly provide the gentlemen with vichy or their choice of mild drinks. Now, members of the Speckled Bass Portable Bungalow company, I beg to remind you that there is no motion before the house," and Benssy

"I am proud of you, boys."

Falls stood there in a perfect attitude of manly determination without a single dimple in his cheeks.

"Hear, hear!" exclaimed Rickey. "I move a vote of appreciation for our capable and resourceful president." And in spite of Benssy's blushing protest they carried that motion.

It was during the enthusiasm attendant upon this official action that Von Humperdinck proved his right to his kaiser-like mustache and the three creases in his brow by solving the mighty problem offhand. "Mr. President, Mr. First Vice President, Mr. Secretary and Mr. Treasurer, gentlemen of the board, I move you that we table Official Manager Wallingford's proposition!"

"Rippin'!" shouted Rickey, jumping up. "Three cheers and a tiger for Humpsey! Now, fellows! One, two"—

The gavel of President Falls fell almost rudely. "No indecorum, please, gentlemen," he begged. "There is a motion and a very important motion before the house, and I have heard no second to it."

"I beg your pardon, Benssy," apologized Rickey abjectedly. "You've got the sportin' idea of bein' a president all right."

"Thank you," returned the president graciously, but still with a trace of sternness. "Nevertheless, I have heard no second."

"Right you are, old top," confessed Rickey still more contritely, "and just to help you out I second."

"I also second," announced Reggie Haugh, removing his hand from his pendulous lip to do so.

At this juncture Ringgold Cash was delivered of an idea equally as bright as Von Humperdinck's. "Question!" he demanded.

Even the ordinarily self possessed Benssy was startled by this new manifestation of how much capability and brains they had in their organization.

"Jove!" he exclaimed. "I am proud of you boys. It has been moved by Second Vice President von Humperdinck, seconded by Secretary Richard Saunders and First Vice President Reginald de Puyster Haugh and the question ordered by Treasurer Ringgold Cash that we lay upon the table J. Rufus Wallingford's proposition to buy his patents. All those in favor will please signify by rising." They arose to a man. "Thank you, gentlemen," continued the president. "The motion is carried unanimously, and I propose a toast in vichy to Second Vice President von Humperdinck, who was the father of this happy idea."

Standing, they clanked glasses and drank. It was a great day for Toad Jessop.

* * * * * * * *

An unexpected development was so very grave that the official manager was compelled to call a special meeting of the board of directors, and he made the call so urgent that two of the members of the board were forced to break social engagements of the most imperative nature, one of these engagements, held by Reginald de Puyster Haugh, being with no less a person than the sensational second girl from the end, front row, in the "Follies of Forever" company. Nevertheless they all came, and Wallingford sadly pointed out to them that, while the gentlemen from Michigan and Ontario and Arkansas were willing to pay the high price asked for the Speckled Bass Portable Bungalows, the Speckled Bass Portable Bungalows did not seem to offer sufficient quality for the money. Opportunely enough, the gentleman from Bezunk, Mich., a Mr. Bezazzum, visited the factory while the meeting was in progress. He wore felt boots, corduroy trousers, a canvas coat, a sweater of gorgeous hues and wondrous pattern and a broad brimmed felt hat. As for his countenance, it was lean and bony, with the most absurdly sprawled black mustache imaginable and a little tuft of chin whiskers, which began neatly as if it had intended to be a goatee and ended in all directions as if it had suddenly become intoxicated. His eyebrows were equally black and beneath them glowed a pair of black eyes that alternately twinkled with mischief and flashed with hawklike intensity.

There was that in his bearing and ease, however, which forbade levity or ridicule and which made the board of directors, to whom Wallingford introduced him, take him as seriously as he took himself. But Toad Jessop, after one good look at him, went out into the stockroom, where he leaned over a barrel of nails and laughed until he had the stomach ache.

"Well, yuh see, gents," said Mr. Bezazzum in objection to the company's product, "I'm a-willin' tuh pay thuh topnotch buhdanged price fur thuh very best buhgosh port-table houses what can be coaxed together, and I got thuh buhjing money," and here he slapped his pocket meaningly. "Bu-u-t I don't notice from your catalogue enough newfangled doodads, dinguses and hickeys tuh seem tuh chahm thuh dollahs out'n these corduroys."

"I'm very sorry, Mr. Bezazzum," returned Mr. Wallingford, "but I am sure that our catalogues do not do full justice to the Speckled Bass Portable Bungalow. You must come out into our factory and inspect one that is complete and ready for shipment."

It was a masterful manner in which to treat such an emergency, and the board of directors were strong in their admiration of it. The board followed into the factory, much interested, to see the demonstration. With all his suavity, Wallingford strove to prove to him the excellence of the Speckled Bass Hollow Walled Portable Bungalow.

But Mr. Bezazzum was obdurate. While admitting the superiority of the article before him, admitting it in such flattering terms that each and every one of the board of directors was pleased until he writhed, still the thing would not quite do.

The official manager sighed. The members of the board of directors looked at him anxiously. What would this commercial genius do in such an emergency? He displayed his hand, and in unison they sighed with relief.

"You have not seen the improvements upon the Speckled Bass Bungalow," said Wallingford, holding up his hand impressively, and the mere manner in which he said it, his round pink face graven into solemnity and his broad chest expanded to its full capacity, was enough to inspire confidence in any man. "Allow me to show you the improved portable house weather strip, the improved portable house lightning rod, the improved portable house ventilator, the improved portable house down spout, the improved portable house doorknob and the improved portable house burglar alarm."

Deftly and quickly the official manager displayed these wonderful attachments protected by the six Wallingford patents. Mr. Bezazzum was in ecstasies, nor was his voluble ardor cooled when Mr. Wallingford announced that these improvements would add $25 to the cost of each bungalow.

"I wouldn't buhdang miss havin' them improvements if they cost fifty plunks a throw," he declared enthusiastically. "Yuh can jes' book mah ohdeh faw thr-r-ree hundred hollow walled bungalows with all them there improvements, and I'll slip you 10 per cent of thuh entire bill in cash right now. Yo' all can ship the balance C. O. D., and you can write or telegraph anybody in Bezunk, Mich., about thuh credit of ole Pete Bezazzum."

He looked so defiant upon this that Benssy Falls hastened, with all the courtesy of a gentleman to a stranger to assure him that they had no doubt whatsoever as to his financial standing. Official Manager Wallingford bent upon the luckless president of the company an offended and at the same time reproving glare.

"Of course Mr. Bezazzum, as a matter of form, but in the meantime I should like, before booking your order, which is rather a large one even for us, to consult with my board of directors. I am only the manager here. Boy, take this gentleman into my office and see if he will not have some refreshments. Mr. Bezazzum, I shall not detain you over two or three minutes. Gentlemen, will you kindly accompany me to the board room?"

With awestricken faces the directors filed in with Wallingford, while Toad Jessop, his lips tightly compressed, his cheeks puffed, and his face so red that his orange freckles were afloat on a sea of maroon, led Mr. Bezazzum into the manager's room and being entirely speechless, made signs for the gentleman to give his order. Mr. Bezazzum, instead of stating his wishes in the liquid line, held up one lean forefinger.

"Toad," said he quietly, "whistle 'Hot Time.'"

It was then that the explosion came, and Toad was useless for the next half hour. He laughed until he was faint, and Blackie, throwing him upon a couch, was compelled to apply serious restoratives.

Meanwhile Wallingford discussed grave matters with his board. The directors were all for bargaining with him at once for the complete control of his patents, but unfortunately their minds were at work upon a suggestion made by Ringgold Cash to acquire the patents upon a royalty basis, and, perceiving the impossibility of setting these particular minds at work upon any two thoughts at one and the same time, Mr. Wallingford led them gently, but firmly, away from the entire subject.

"We must be cautious," he said. "I would not have you hasty in acquiring these patents nor in booking the order of Mr. Bezazzum. I shall require a week or ten days in which to look into the gentleman's credentials. In that time I shall discover, with your permission, whether the Wallingford improvements will do anything toward securing the Ontario and Arkansas orders. If they do, of course the company will need and must have the Wallingford patents, and in that case my price will be $125,000 cash."

On the day Mr. Wallingford received his $125,000 he started work upon the 300 portable houses for Mr. Bezazzum; he also booked the order of the gentleman from Arkansas and gloated for a moment over the order of the gentleman from Ontario, booked four days previously. This hour's work was all he did in the office that morning, for immediately upon the receipt of his check from the genial secretary, who seemed more concaved than ever from collar button to knees by the unearthly hour of 10 a. m., Mr. Wallingford hurried right out to turn that check into cash, and did not return until the next day. From that time on, however, things moved, in that dress parade factory, with a suddenness and decision which surprised the uniformed rank of the Knights of the Wooden Ribbon until they had washed out every giggle in their systems with honest perspiration; for Wallingford, when he suddenly dropped the mask of the factory dilettante, proved to be what the men within a week declared, a "regular manager."

Wallingford with a grim, secret humor kept the board of directors' functions as elaborate as ever, but he allowed, which was entirely foreign to his nature, a sameness to pervade the very elaboration, and a deathlike pall crept upon the meetings. In the meantime the work never flagged. The three orders were made ready in record speed, and the three shipments were so timed as to reach their destinations upon the same day as nearly as possible. Upon the day of the last shipment Wallingford telephoned to a lawyer friend of his, who immediately telephoned the information to a lawyer friend of his own that the Speckled Bass Portable Bungalow company was at last engaged in actual business, having made shipments. Upon the next day the lawyer friend of Wallingford's lawyer friend filed a suit against the company in the name of the National Hollow Walled Portable House com*pany for infringement of patent and* damages, the bill also praying an injunction.

The official manager immediately called a meeting of the board by telephone. He almost called in vain, for only Rickey Saunders, ever loyal would admit that he was in town. Upon making known the intense gravity of the situation Wallingford through Rickey, located the others. They came most painfully, and the official manager allowed the attorney to talk them into a sapphire funk. Wallingford, however, masterful, resourceful man that he was, stood firmly as a rock, defying the attorney, who threatened to put them out of business, annex their private fortunes for damages and disgrace them forever.

Wanly, yet professing deep if almost despairing faith, they clung to their friend, J. Rufus, even in the face of the lawyer's departing threat to bring suit at once. But on the fourth day after there came an agonized telegram from Mr. Bezazzum that an injunction had been served upon him forbidding him to pay for and remove the portable bungalows consigned to him.

EVERY DAY A RED LETTER DAY FOR THE FAIR SEX

Every day can be regarded as a red letter day by the women readers of the Press for the distribution of the Imperial Patern Outfit is now on.

It is seldom that such an opportunity offers, and never before have the latest and most stylish embroidery patterns been submitted at a cost that really means sixteen times less than the average ruling price. When it is considered that you will get one hundred and sixty of the latest patterns for embroidery, each of which can be transferred from three to five times; an all metal hoop with new, patent, self-adjusting springs, and a booklet of instructions in which all known stitches are so simply and clearly illustrated that any school girl can readily become an expert, all for 48 cents, or 5 cents extra if to be mailed, and one coupon clipped from the Press, the marvel to everyone will be how it is possible to supply an outfit of more value than $10 for such a nominal sum as 48 cents.

The Press distribution of pattern outfits will leave nothing to be desired concerning art needlework, and at the low price stated, which will bring the proposition within the reach of everyone.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

In a short letter to the New York Times, Mr. Silas Tuttle asked a little while ago why the suffragists, instead of devoting so much time to demanding the vote did not, by giving their views upon current political issues, demonstrate the value of the wished for vote. And forthwith, naturally came a hurried response. Mary Dennett Ware repeated her old argument, that the vote was given to men without their asking for it or proving their capability to use it wisely. Will the Anti, relying on the fact (and supported in that reliance by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States) answer that the two cases are different. In the one case the Government felt the need of an additional elections and provided for that need from the best material they could find; just as a housekeeper, finding certain extra work must be done employs what help she can get and is not too critical of the quality of that help. The result in both cases may, or may not be disastrous. But when that same housekeeper, feeling no special need of extra service is asked to employ someone, she naturally requires references and some proof of the applicant's ability to make his or her employment worth while.

Then comes Miss Harriet Stanton Blatch and to our great surprise, she avails herself of the argument which to many of us seems the very strongest against suffrage.

She says:

We are a body of women who are pushing forward one of the most difficult of reforms. We have to weigh at each point just what questions will and what will not interfere with the advance of our cause. In the final settlement of the question of woman suffrage we have to make an appeal to every individual voter in the State. Our work is to try to win the individual man to cast a vote in favor of woman suffrage at a given election. Now, we happen to know that there are many men of many minds, and that if we are to win their votes for suffrage we must not run the risk of alienating their good opinion on other subjects. Some men are in favor of a low tariff, but all men are not in favor of a low tariff. Some men approve of President Wilson's Mexican policy, but all men do not approve of it. If we begin to give our views about Mexico and about the tariff then we should offend some men, because whatever our view, it would not be universally accepted as sound by the whole voting body of men. And that is what so many of us feel, and that has been proved over and over again; that party affiliations will rob us of a great source of power. Now, having nothing to gain when women go to the Legislative bodies advocating a well defined, well thought out reform or asking for some new means of doing good; they are heard with respect and, if possible their request is granted. There is an extract from a late number of the Woman's Journal.

"Prison reform has always been a subject which appeals to women.

The Woman's Prison Association is an example of what has been accomplished by women without the vote. After a hard struggle they succeeded in establishing the State Reformatory at Bedford. For three years in succession bills for the establishment of this reformatory were introduced in the Legislature at Albany but were ejected. It was only when Mrs. Abby Hopper Gibbons then more than ninety years old travelled to Albany and appeared before a joint Committee that the measure was carried. The womanliness and charm, the courage and motherliness of this venerable lady won all hearts and carried through the bill. This has been the traditional method by which women have won the measures which they advocate."

That is the direct way of presenting a cause on its merits, instead of mixing it up with politics and depending on the indirect influences of votes has proved its superiority by its success. (Of course, that is not the conclusion that the Suffragists would draw, but I submit that it is the logical one.)

The suffragists point with pride to the fact that many women have been chosen to high and responsible situations and have done good service to the State. Of course Dr. Katharine Davis and Miss Lathrop of the Children's Bureau are notable examples. And the Woman's Journal gives prominence to many more such appointments. Take from recent numbers of the Woman's Journal two or three examples.

Mrs. John M. Green, of New York, was elected president of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections at Memphis, Tennessee. This is the second time a woman has held this office.

Walworth, Wis., (a non-Suffrage State) has three women; Racine, three; Waukesha, one; Kenosha has a woman Commissioner of Education.

A paragraph is headed in capitals, "Jersey Woman a Judge Lindsey." "Miss Paula Laddey, is the youngest member of the new Board of Managers lately apponited by the Governor of New Jersey for the State Home for Girls There used to be nine managers but the number has been reduced to five, three of whom are women. It seems that Miss Laddey was most warmly welcomed by the girls whose hearts she had won as a probation officer.

Now all these things prove that there is no lack of appreciation of what women can do for the State on the part of our men. No sooner does a woman show that she is the person needed for a special work than she is called on to do that work. And she can do it all the better because she is allied officially with no party. The thing proves itself.

I was glad to see in the Woman's Journal that Miss Lathrop has been successful in overcoming the opposition of the politicians to an appropriation for her most useful work. Another instance of the advantage of direct over indirect influence.

An amusing title anecdote is given in this same Woman's Journal. At one of the recent parades, two little girls were standing near the curb. Each wore across her breast a broad yellow sash bearing an inscription, "Look at Those Little Dears with Their Votes for Women." How sweet of their mother to take that trouble for them.

"Not a bit of it," answered her friend, just read what's on the ribbon, and this is what she read "I Have Whooping Cough." Was it a like kindly wish to warn others of a contagious fever that made the Suffragists choose yellow for their color?

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

A severely plain strictly tailored blouse is shown in 8357; it has a raglan shoulder, regulation shirt sleeve which may be cut off at elbow length if preferred, with a collar which may be turned down as illustrated or buttoned high about the throat. This design is especially well-suited to crepe de Chine, China silk, heavy linen or cotton. It is an excellent blouse for tennis, boating or golf combined with a smart little skirt of tweed or wash material it makes an excellent business blouse for summer. The patch pocket may be used or omitted as preferred and by way of trimming a line of novelty buttons down the front are attractive. This blouse may be made up in size 36, with 2 yards of 42-inch material. Pattern comes in seven sizes, 34 to 46.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions.

It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

TWO SIMPLE YET DECORATIVE DESIGNS FOR EMBROIDERING HANDKERCHIEFS

"What shall I give my friend at her linen shower?" is asked so often. Here is the very thing! Dainty embroidered handkerchiefs are always acceptable and especially those which have been embroidered by the giver. The dainty wreath designs are from pattern 14277, which includes borders and corners for stamping four handkerchiefs and designs for embroidering the four corners of each. These are attractive developed in a color or white, and a one-inch initial or monogram can be placed in the wreaths, 10 cents.

The script letter is from pattern 14068, which includes 42 transfers of any one initial in 5 sizes. One dozen each of the small letters and ½ dozen each of the larger ones.

The block letter D is from pattern 14266. This includes 54 transfers of any one initial in 6 sizes, 10 cents.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer patterns will be supplied upon receipt of price.

Some Cookery Suggestions

GOOSEBERRY GOODIES.

THE gooseberry is a garden fruit which is not so much appreciated in America as in England. However, it is growing in favor. Wholesome and delicious desserts may be made with the berries. They are most popular in pies, tarts and turnovers.

Served With Custard.

Gooseberry Custard.—Take one quart of gooseberries, half a pint of water, two ounces of butter, three-quarters of a pound of sugar and four eggs. Boil the gooseberries in the water till they are soft, add the sugar and the butter, stirring well together; then add the yolks of four eggs. Stir over the fire till quite thick, but on no account let it boil or it will curdle and be spoiled. Serve in custard glasses.

Gooseberry Fool.—Take two pounds of gooseberries, three-quarters of a pound of loaf sugar, half a pint of boiled custard to each pint of gooseberries, one gill of hot water. Top, tail and wash the gooseberries in cold water; then put them in a pan with the sugar and water. Boil gently till soft.

If your pan gets too dry you must go on adding water, using as little as possible to keep it from being too watery. Rub through a wire sieve. Then make a custard, allowing three eggs to a pint of milk. Add this to the pulp; mix well. Sweeten to taste and serve cold.

Small Pastries.

Gooseberry Turnovers.—Wash and clean the gooseberries. Next roll out the pastry and with a round cutter stamp out rounds about the size of a large tumbler. Arrange as many gooseberries as can be laid on one-half; wet the edge of the pastry, put about a small teaspoonful of sugar with the fruit and fold over the pastry, pressing the edges together. Place the turnover on a greased baking tin and put it in a hot part of the oven so the pastry will rise well and then move it to a cooler part for the gooseberries to get soft. When done, brush over with water and then dust with castor sugar.

Luscious Pie.

Gooseberry Pie.—Take cooked gooseberries, sweeten to suit taste and for each pie beat the yolks of two eggs. Mix well with the gooseberries and bake with one crust. While pies are baking beat the whites of the eggs and add one tablespoonful sugar. Spread this over the pies and set in hot oven to brown. The eggs are used to take the bitter taste from the gooseberries.

Gooseberry Tarts.—Cook gooseberries and put away for the next day; be sure they are not broken. Then make some good puff paste. Have ready some well greased patty tins; line with paste and fill with the gooseberries already cooked and sweetened and bake carefully.

One Little Chickadee Sang a Solo.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Successful Concert of the Chickadees.

EVELYN was very fond of little chickadees, and she was so pleased when daddy said that he was going to tell them a story about them that evening.

"You know," commenced daddy, "the chickadees had a concert the other evening for the other birds. They sent out invitations on petals of flowers, and on the petals they made little holes with their beaks. They made six holes, meaning that the concert would begin at 6 o'clock. Exactly at 6 they all arrived.

"They were all invited to perch on the nearby apple tree and pear tree, and the chickadees hopped about on the grass below.

"Then the concert began. First one little chickadee sang a very sweet little solo, which won a great deal of applause.

"The choruses were enjoyed tremendously, too, and the refrain of 'chickadee-dee-dee' was lovely, the other birds thought.

"But, as you can imagine, the chickadee knew that it was the fashion to have special features at concerts or at least one special feature.

"So as a surprise, just before the last number, which was a chorus of all the chickadees, a special feature was announced by the leader of the concert.

"'We are to have,' said the chickadee leader, 'a different number from any other on the program.'

"At this all the birds looked at one another with astonishment.

"'We are to have,' the chickadee leader continued, 'a ballet.'

"Now, the birds knew that in 'really real' grand opera there is usually a ballet, but to have one at their concert was wonderful.

"But before they had time to talk about it out came all the little chickadees, dancing and hopping and wearing little wreaths of flowers about their necks. Each one carried a little flower in his beak, and every flower was of a different color.

"For some time they danced in and out of a little circle which they made. They received constant applause.

"It was something new and different to have a ballet dance at the concert. The birds were very much impressed with the chickadees for being so up to date.

"The chickadees were delighted that their concert had been such a success, for, as a matter of fact, they had been rather nervous in getting up a concert when the other birds had given such beautiful ones during the spring. They knew that their voices were not at all lovely, but the birds had wanted to hear them, and now the chickadees were very, very happy."

NEW MAN ENTERS IN BALLOU'S DEATH

Police Tell of Hidden Stranger In Mrs. Angle's Rooms.

FATHER MAKES STATEMENT

Repeats Divorcee's Own Story of Finding of the Body—Mystery Increased as Woman Recovers at Home of a Friend—Details Differ From Those Told at First.

Stamford, Conn., June 27.—Chief of Police H. Brennan revealed that the authorities know that a third person—a man—was in the apartment of Mrs. Helen M. Angle, which is in the building where on last Tuesday night aged Waldo R. Ballou received injuries from which he died.

Beyond saying that he is a reputable citizen a friend of both Mrs. Angle, who is out on $5,000 bail pending the investigation of the coroner, and of Mr. Ballou, the chief closed his lips on the subject.

Reports that Mrs. Angle had been taken to Dr. A. J. Given's sanitarium were denied by her father, Leonard Blondell. He said his daughter, just outside of whose apartment Waldo R. Ballou was found dying, is stopping for the time with Mrs. George Eagle and that she would remain there until he could remove her to his summer home at Southport, Me.

Mr. Blondell told his daughter's story of everything she remembers in connection with Mr. Ballou's visit to her flat last Tuesday night and his subsequent death. He told the story just as his daughter would tell it, he said.

"My daughter denies the sensational stories that have been published about her having been automobile riding and stopping at road houses with Mr. Ballou or any other man. We have lived in Stamford for twenty-five or thirty years, and I am sure that people who know us will realize that my daughter is not that type of woman.

An Act of Charity.

"It is true that she was ironing on Tuesday evening when she telephoned for Mr. Ballou. She was doing work to help a friend. An act of charity it was. She had often telephoned to Mr. Ballou. It was nothing unusual. She asked him what he was doing, and he said nothing in particular. She bade him come up for awhile, and presently he arrived.

"Ballou was not in the apartment long when she finished her ironing, and started with the articles to Mrs. Barrett's apartment in the same building. They went out together, she going downstairs by the rear entrance, he by thef ront. Mrs. Barrett was in bed, and Mrs. Angle left the articles in her apartment and went right back. Presently Mr. Ballou returned and she admitted him. He told her he did not feel well, and that he had gone out and taken a drink. They talked a while and he started home. She has no recollection of the length of time he was with her.

"My daughter had low shoes on at the time. She took off her shoes and stockings and was getting ready for bed when she heard a noise as if some one had fallen.

On the First Landing.

"She went out and found Mr. Ballou on the first landing beneath her apartment. She took him and spoke to him, and he did not answer. Her first thought was to get him downstairs into the open air. She doesn't know how she got him downstairs, whether she carried him or dragged him. All she remembers is trying to get him out into the open air.

"My daughter knows no reason why she should tell any one Mr. Ballou was drunk. She says that he was not intoxicated and that she never saw him intoxicated.

"She does remember telling the chief to call the hospital if Mr. Ballou was there and that he could tell him how the accident happened."

CIRCUS GIRL THE VICTIM.

Police Think That Member of Troupe Was Thrown In Schenectady River.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 27.—The police now feel that an employee or performer connected with the Barnum & Bailey circus was the victim of the Mohawk river mystery. A bundle of blood stained woman's clothing partially burned was found near the grounds where the Barnum & Bailey circus exhibited here May 29, the time the coroner feels, the torso found a week ago was thrown in the river. It is understood the red oilcloth is similar to that used to cover tables in the mess tent at the circus and that the bag in which the torso was found is identical to those in which food was delivered the circus by a local dealer, who stated the empty bags were not all returned.

The police feel it would have been an easy matter for the murder to have been committed near the circus, the body placed in the bag and carried to the river, about a mile distant.

Ira Morris May Get Swedish Post.

Washington, June 27.—Ira Morris of Chicago, son of the late Nelson Morris, probably will be appointed minister to Sweden. This was a persistent report around the White House and was not denied.

—You may have an immediate task for a want ad—and yet not act wisely in failing to read them day by day.

CHARLES S. WHITMAN.

Theodore Douglas Robinson, Progressive state chairman, and Francis W. Bird, Progressive county chairman for New York county, united in denouncing District Attorney Whitman bitterly. They made it plain that the same opposition from their party, which was largely responsible for Mr. Whitman's defeat in the contest for the fusion nomination for mayor last year, will be exerted just as vigorously this year to prevent his election as governor.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WELL?

Many Plainfield People Know the Importance of Healthy Kidneys.

The kidneys filter the blood.

They work night and day.

Weak kidneys allow impurities to multiply.

No kidney ill should be neglected.

There is possible danger in delay.

If you have backache or urinary troubles,

If you are nervous, dizzy or worn out,

Begin treating your kidneys at once;

Use a proven kidney remedy.

None endorsed like Doan's Kidney Pills.

Recommended by thousands.

Proved by Plainfield testimony.

Mrs. Patience Manchester, 120 Lafayette place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For a long time I doctored and tried various remedies for my kidneys and bladder, but didn't get a cure. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me good results from the first and before long rid me of the trouble. I still use this remedy occasionally and it always relieves me of serious trouble. I willingly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Manchester had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N.Y.—Adv

RESIGNS PARK AVE. PASTORATE

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire Accepts Call to Boston Church.

TO LEAVE SEPTEMBER 1

Resignation Read at Morning Service Yesterday—Action Will Be Taken at Prayer Meeting Wednesday Night.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, who has been pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church for the past four years, has tendered his resignation to take effect not later than September 6. The resignation, which was read at the morning service of the church, yesterday, was left with B. F. Hadley, secretary of the board of deacons, before he and his family sailed for Europe, last week, to be read yesterday by Mr. Hadley. Action will be taken on the resignation at the Wednesday evening meeting of the church.

The fact that Mr. Maguire intended to accept the call to the Ruggles Street Baptist church, Boston, does not come as a great surprise for prior to his departure for Europe he inferred that he expected to go to Boston. The church to which Mr. Maguire will go while not one of the wealthiest in the denomination is known as a great missionary church, and it it has a large range of activities. Mr. Maguire's resignation read yesterday is as follows:

"Perhaps one of the greatest trials in the life of a minister comes to me this morning, as I feel that the time has come when my relations, which have been so pleasant, with you in this dear old church, must be severed. I cannot tell you what this has caused me because I love you all and know that you love me, how well only God knows.

"For over four years my life has been woven into your life. I have received from you kindness more than I have deserved. You have given me your confidence and have contributed generously to my support. No pastor ever had a more faithful Board of Deacons to assist him in the spiritual work of the church, and none more loyal to the old Gospel story of Jesus and His love, which I have been trying to preach. This I can truly say of the entire membership. The action taken last Sunday by the deacons and the church was but another proof of their love, and I thank you all for it. To our sisters let me say, I have never met your equal in love, devotion and sacrifice to our Lord and His work. May God richly reward you.

"As we go at what we believe is the call of God to a larger city and greater opportunities, in a church which has long been known as a soul saving center, pray for us, as we will for you, that in our separate places of labor we shall be used by the Master in winning souls into His kingdom. Mrs. Maguire and myself have prayed much over this decision and feel persuaded that we are lead by the Master, whose we are and whom we serve. But while we go to our new field of labor happy in the knowledge that He is with us and that we are going to a united consecrated, praying people, it is with hearts filled with sadness that I tender you my resignation as your pastor, to take effect whenever the board of deacons shall so decide, but not later than September 6. Praying that the Lord, the great head of the church, may bless and guide you to a speedy choice of my successor."

COST HIM $5 TO TELL COP WHAT HE COULD DO

Charged with disorderly conduct, Edward Wilson, a twenty-year-old trouble maker, was fined $5 in the city court by Judge W. G. DeMeza, this morning. Wilson, while in an intoxicated condition, created a disturbance in the vicinity of Front and Somerset streets, Saturday night.

He woke up the business section by staging a demonstration in the middle of the thoroughfare and telling Patrolman Martin Walsh "what he could do" when the latter ordered him away.

ROPE SUMMER SUPPLIES.

Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, left this morning for the Adirondacks, where he will spend his vacation during July, returning to his pulpit Sunday, August 2. The pulpit supplies of this church during the absence of the pastor have been announced as follows: July 5, Rev. T. R. Montgomery, of New York; July 12, Rev. T. B. Ironsides, of Morristown; July 19, Rev. A. B. Robinson, of New York; July 26, Rev. Julius Boehnan.

EIGHTY POSTMASTERS GET SALARY RAISE

The Result of Annual Revision Based Upon the Business of Each Office.

More than eighty Jersey postmasters of the second and third class will receive increases in salary with the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1. Seven will have their stipend decreased. This is the result of the annual salary revision based upon the business of each office.

Those receiving increases owe it to the "prosperity record" of their respective offices, while those who will be reduced owe it to the decrease in the annual postal business in their communities.

In the larger places of the State there are increases given to Elizabeth, Morristown, New Brunswick.

Among those in nearby towns who have the salaries of their postmasters changed include the following: High Bridge, from $2,000 to $2,100; Kenilworth, $1,000 to $1,100; Linden, $1,000 to $1,200; Milburn, $1,700 to $1,800; Millburn, decreased from $1,200 to $1,100; Morristown, $3,100 to $3,200; New Brunswick, $3,100 to $3,300; and Westfield, $2,600 to $2,700.

CELEBRATE THIRTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Burner, of the Borough, Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Burner, of Manning avenue, the borough, celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary at their home Saturday night. The evening was spent in playing cards. Mrs. J. H. Snyder received first honors for the women, while Mrs. Walter F. Hamilton received second. Walter C. Walker received first honors for men, while William Dunn was awarded second honors. After the playing of cards, supper was served. At the conclusion, Andrew Kenney, in behalf of the guests, presented Mr. and Mrs. Burner with a gas lamp.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Huff, Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew E. Kenney, Mrs. J. H. Snyder, Mrs. C. B. Pope, Mrs. Harper, Walter C. Walker and Frederick Cornwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Burner have been residents of the borough for many years, where they have a large circle of friends. Mr. Burner is engaged in the life insurance business, in which he has been very successful.

DUTCH ARMS BAND TO GIVE ANOTHER CONCERT

The Dutch Arms Band has decided after receiving many requests from citizens, to hold another open-air concert on Thursday evening of this week, at East Front and Church streets, the scene of their concert and festival last week. Floyd Woodhull, owner of the vacant lot on which the concert is to be held, has donated the use of the grounds for the occasion, while the Loizeaux Lumber Company has donated the use of the lumber for the band stand, for the summer, providing the citizens of the city make it possible for the band to meet its expenses during the hot months.

The musical organization has decided to offer its services for band concerts throughout the summer, providing the expenses of lighting the stand and grounds are met in connection with the weekly program. In order to meet the expenses of the concert this week, the organization will have ice cream on sale. Whether the concerts are continued after this week, depends largely on the attitude of the public.

BOROUGH COURT NOTES.

Joseph Rafferty, of 410 East Fourth street, and Bert Sutton, of 130 North avenue, this city, were arraigned this morning in the borough police court before Recorder Fred Hand, under the charge of being helplessy drunk. Both were fined $5, the former paying, while the latter is being held pending the payment of the fine.

PLAYGROUND SUPERVISOR.

Miss Reba Kline daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Kline, of Somerset street, has gone to Madison, where she will take up the duties of the head supervisor of the playground work in that city. Miss Kline is a graduate of the North Plainfield High School and also of the New York Normal School, of Physical Education.

AUTO TRIP A FEATURE

Officers Are Elected and Interesting Addresses Are Given at Business Session, Followed by a Banquet and Dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Frost and two daughters and Leslie R. Fort, of this city, are among the one hundred members of the New Jersey Press Association enjoying a three days' outing at Watch Hill R. I. The party arrived Saturday morning, the day being taken up with an automobile ride in machines furnished by the Board of Trade of Westerly, the business session and annual banquet in the evening, which was held at the New Watch Hill House, of which Col. A. E. Dick is the proprietor.

Following breakfast Saturday morning the visitors found thirty automobiles awaiting their pleasure. The sightseeing procession took to the shore road, made a turn into the golf club, another down lanes to Pleasant View and then on to Weekapugh. From there the Post road was followed to Westerly.

Returning from the delightful auto trip and following dinner, the business session was held, when these officers were elected for the coming year:

President, J. Ward Richardson, of Bridgeton News; vice-president, A. C. Studer, of Montclair Times; secretary, J. W. Clift, of Summit Herald, treasurer, W. B. R. Mason, of Bound Brook Chronicle; executive committee, D. P Olmstead, Perth Amboy News; W M. Dear, Jersey City Journal; J. W Naylar, Allentown Messenger; A. S. Crane, Elizabeth Journal; J. Z. Demarest, Tenafly Record; Charles H. Falwell, Mt. Holly Mirror; H. L. Berdan, Paterson Guardian; E. G. Runner, of Hackensack; Peter Wurflein and Edward F. Connelly, of Pennington, were elected to membership.

Following the president's address, these papers were presented:

"More Truthful Advertising-How it Can Be Accomplished," H. L. Berdan, of Paterson, read by W. A. Sweeny, of Red Bank; "The Agent's Commission," A. C. Studer, of Montclair; "The Press Agent-What Will We Do With Him," E. H. Tomlinson, of Morristown; "New York Theatre Advertising," Walter J. Lee, of Westfield.

The following obituaries were read: C. Van H. Whitbeck, Hackensack Record, by J. Z. Demarest, of Tenafly; J. R. Pierson, Morristown Jerseyman, by John W. Clift, of Summit; B. F. Ladd, Vineland Journal, by J. Ward Richardson, of Bridgeton; John E. Clarey, Madison Eagle, by A. S. Crane, of Elizabeth; David J. Carney, North Plainfield Review, by Charles Hamilton Frost, of Plainfield.

The annual banquet was held in the evening and proved to be a delightful affair. D. P. Olmstead was the toastmaster. Among the speakers were, Dr. John Champlin, a representative of the Westerly Board of Trade; John Handley, of Ocean Grove, the chaplain of the association; G. B. Utter, of Westerly Sun; Judge Adrain Lyon, of Perth Amboy; John O. H. Pitney, of Morristown. After Mr. Pitney's address, J. Ward Richardson, the new president, was installed. He thanked the members for the honor and briefly outlined the association's work. Following the banquet dancing was enjoyed. Yesterday the weather was muggy at the beach and the big fireplace of the Watch Hill House was found to be very comfortable.

COUNSEL APPLIES FOR JURY TRIAL FOR PAOLI

Jerry Paoli, of North avenue, who has been apprehended by the local authorities on two complaints, one made by the State of New Jersey and the other by the City of Plainfield, will be given a jury trial next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the District Court, the latter place being selected because of the facilities. Paoli, when arrigned for hearing this morning, was represented by John P. Owens, and Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., appeared as prosecutor in the case.

The defendant is charged with a serious offense, Belle Perrine, of West Third street, being the complainant. He was released for trial on $800 bail, $500 on the State complaint and $300 on the city complaint.

GEORGE ABEEL.

George Abeel, of Mt. Bethel, and for many years a resident of Jersey City, died last night at Muhlenberg Hospital, this city. He was about forty years of age.

COST BOYS $22.50 FOR THIS BANQUET

Barnyard Fowls Come High When Stolen From John Staat's Property.

Alleged to have enjoyed a duck and chicken "feed" with all the "fixin's" at the expense of "Count" Van Nest and John Staats, of Mountain avenue, Walter Jarbenski and Walter Sprague of the East End, were arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning and after relating how they satisfied their appetites with the stolen feathered tribe were placed in the custody of the probation officer. The boys were charged with robbing Van Nest's hen-roost and the duck yard of Staats and confessed their guilt to the court.

Testifying on the stand this morning Jarbenski told how the birds had been induced to leave the properties of Staats and Van Nest and how they cooked them along the brook. Besides chicken and duck the culprits secured a supply of side-dishes and eighteen bottles of the "merry mucilage" for their banquet. Judge DeMeza, in placing the defendants in charge of the probation officer, ordered them to pay Mr. Staats $22.50 for the fifteen ducks stolen from him and to reimburse Mr. Van Nest for two chickens. Mr. Van Nest, however, offered to give his share of the return fund for a local charitable organization and his gift was accepted by the court.

MAD DOG CREATED HAVOC ON STREETS

Six Bullets Required to Put An End to the Canine This Morning.

Six bullets were required to put an end to the wild ravages of a mad dog on Park avenue near West Front street shortly after 8:30 o'clock this morning. Before the frenzied animal had been dispatched by Patrolman Thomas Flatley and William Mernagh it stirred up considerable trouble in the business section and reports were circulated to the effect that the canine had bitten several pedestrians before being killed. This could not be verified this morning although efforts were made to locate the victims.

The animal, foaming from the mouth, leaped at several persons on Park avenue and finally selected Patrolman Mernagh as his prey. The officer was too quick for the dog, however, and shot him through the head. Flatley then appeared on the scene and the canine still showed fight after four bullets had entered its body. Writhing in pain it finally became exhausted and two more bullets were sent into its brain to make sure of death. One of the bullets went through the dog's body and striking the brick pavement it glanced up and broke a window in L. V. VanCamp's store.

F. C. IGLEHART, JR., WEDS MISS ELIZABETH S. BEALE

Ferdinand Cowle Iglehart, Jr., formerly of this city, and Miss Elizabeth Etearne Beale, daughter of Assessor and Mrs. Frederick A. Beale, of West Long Branch, were married at the home of the bride's parents Saturday afternoon, by Rev. Morton A. Barnes, who was assisted by Rev. Dr. F. C. Iglehart, father of the groom.

The bride was dressed in white crepe meteor and carried lilies-of-the-valley and roses. Miss Lillian Beale, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the groom's brother, Edwin Iglehart, was best man. After the ceremony the couple received congratulations and a wedding breakfast was served. The couple will spend a short honeymoon at the home of the bridegroom's parents at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., after which they will go to Akron, Ohio, where they will make their home.

Mr. Iglehart was at one time baritone soloist in the First Presbyterian church of this city and has many friends in this vicinity.

LAST MEETING OF YEAR.

The Plainfield Council of United Commercial Travelers, held its last meeting in their rooms in the Babcock building last Saturday night. A report was read by Fred Kirch, who attended the Grand Council Session at Paterson last week. The local council will not meet again till fall.

The Salvation Army will give a picnic to 250 children at Wayside Park on July 4. Contributions will be gladly received at the headquarters, 157 East Second street.

MAJOR MILLER CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known Citizen Succumbs to An Illness of Six Weeks' Duration.

WAS GALLANT SOLDIER

Served Throughout Civil War and Was Honored by President Lincoln for Meritorious Conduct—Wife and Five Children Survive.

Mayor William DeWitt Miller, a well-known resident of this city, died at 6:30 o'clock this morning at his residence, 309 East Seventh street, following an illness of six weeks. It was on Easter Sunday that Mr. Miller attended divine services in New York to which the New York Commandery Millitary Order Loyal Legion, was invited, it being an annual service, and the following Tuesday he was stricken with paralysis and never left the house afterward.

Enjoying a large friendship, Major Miller possessed a kind, genial disposition and was beloved and admired for his many admirable qualities. He was an earnest Christian, a kind husband and father and a gallant soldier. The nation is poorer when such men pass away.

Major Miller was born on Staten Island, his father being Rev. John E. Miller, pastor of the Reformed church at Tompkinsville, and his mother, Ann Kip, daughter of Isaac L. Kip, an old resident of New York. He was educated at the Pingry Institute, Fishkill, N. Y., and was engaged in the wholesale hardware business in New York residing in Brooklyn until the commencement of hostilities between the North and South in 1861.

Offering his services at once Major Miller enlisted as private in the 13th N. Y. State Militia, for three months service. On the return of his regiment, he assisted in raising the 66th N. Y. Vols., going to the front as a lieutenant, but was speedily assigned to duty on the staff of Gen. French, who commanded a brigade in the Second Corps of The Army of the Potomac; shortly after, he was promoted to the staff of Gen. Richardson, division commander in that corps. Major Miller was with that Army during the Seven Days' Battle on the Peninsula, the battle of Bull Run and during the invasion of Maryland, participating in the battle of Antietam with the rank of captain.

At that battle, General Richardson was mortally wounded while conversing with Mr. Miller; the latter immediately tendered his services to General Hancock, who was assigned to the command of the division, and was with him during the remainder of the engagement. Upon his return from Michigan, whither he had accompanied General Richardson's remains, he was offered a position on the staff of General Hancock, with whom he remained until he left the service. He was wounded in the left arm at Fredericksburg in December, 1862 was at Chancellorsville in May 1863 and was shot through the same arm and the abdomen at Gettysburg, on July 2, escaping death as by a miracle. Mr. Miller held a commission as Brevet Major, signed by President Lincoln and Secretary Stanton, for "gallant and meritorious conduct."

On returning home, he became a member of the firm of Miller & Houghton, ship brokers, on South street, assisted in organizing Bethany Chapel, Brooklyn, and was made an elder in the church on the Heights, in that city. In 1872 he married Miss Grace Waldron, and moved to Plainfield in 1879, and since then has resided continuously on East Seventh street. Major Miller was elected elder of Trinity Reformed church, this city, during the pastorate of Rev. A. V. V. Raymond, D. D.

At the time of his death he was a member of the Commandery of the Loyal Legion, at one time having been on the executive committee of that organization, and of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Waldron DeW. K. and Raymond V. V. Miller, three daughters, the Misses Anne, Emma and Theodora Miller, and by his brother Isaac L. Miller, of Watchung avenue.

"C. L." CONTRIBUTES $4 TO THE FUND

A Total of $54.50 Thus Far Received to Carry on Summer Work.

The King's Daughters' summer fund was increased today by a contribution from "C. L." who is a friend of this worthy charity, making the total amount received by the Daily Press $54.50. The city union sincerely hope that the people of the city and borough will not forget to send in their contributions before going away for the summer as the organization will need a considerable amount to successfully carry on this work during the warm weather.

Since the opening of the playgrounds in the rear of The Day Nursery last week, there has been a marked increase in the attendance of children and the little folks are enjoying the amusement centre to the fullest extent. The contributions received to date are as follows:

"Well wisher"	$20.00
Mrs. Louisa L. Riley	$10.00
Mrs. E. E. Parvin	$10.00
"A Friend"	$ 5.00
Mrs. G. S. Simons	$ 5.00

REUBEN CODDINGTON WEDS MISS VAN NEST

Miss Sarah L. VanNest, daughter of the late George VanNest, of Martinsville, and Reuben Coddington, son of Mrs. Christiana Coddington, of Mt. Horeb, and brother of Mrs. John G. Bicknell, of South avenue, were married yesterday by Rev. William Aten, now pastor of the Methodist church at Rockland, N. Y., but formerly of the Mt. Horeb M. E. church. The ceremony was performed at the home of the officiating minister. The couple was unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Coddington are both active members of the Mt. Horeb church and they are well known in that vicinity. Mr. Coddington is a prosperous farmer and is a member of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, serving on the following committees: Lunacy, collector's accounts and jail. The bride has lived at Martinsville all her life and Mr. Coddington was born and has always lived at Mt. Horeb. The couple are now enjoying a week's trip visiting Albany, Niagara Falls and other points of interest. They will be at home at Mt. Horeb after July 10.

NEWARKER HELD PENDING EXAMINATION OF CONDITION

Percy Reginald Whitehouse, claiming 43 East Park street, Newark, as his residence, was picked up on Greenbrook road, North Plainfield, Saturday night, by Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough police department, and is being held by the authorities, pending an examination of his mental condition. Complaints concerning Whitehouse have been received at police headquarters for the past week, it being stated that the man had been acting queer and kneeling as if in prayer on the streets. It has been difficult to locate Whitehouse owing to his constant wandering about after complaints had been telephoned to headquarters. When found by Chief Weiss, he was prostrate upon his hands and knees as if in prayer.

Whitehouse claims to have come to this country from England, arriving on the S. S. St. Louis in New York, on July 9, 1911. If found to be mentally deranged, it is very probable that he will be deported. Whitehouse has been loitering about the borough for the past week. He is being held at the North Plainfield headquarters until the authorities take action one way or another.

INFANT BAPTIZED.

Ellen Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Douglas, of Stoney Brook place, the borough, was christened yesterday afternoon at the St. Joseph's R. C. church, in the presence of many friends of the parents.

LADIES' SOCIETY MEET.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of St. Peters' Lutheran church, has arranged for a meeting to be held Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Abendheim, 118 Dunellen avenue, Dunellen, at two-thirty.

Mrs. E. J. Henry, of 23 Somerset place, has removed her office to 520 W. Front street, this city.

PRISONER TRIES TO END HIS LIFE

Charles, Alias "Patty" Lyons, in Double Effort to Strangle Himself.

GETS JAIL SENTENCE

Wanted for Assault and Battery in Dunellen He is Picked up by Sergeant Higgins on West Front Street.

After twice attempting to end his life by strangling himself in a police cell in the local headquarters early Sunday morning, Charles, "alias "Patty" Lyons, of this city, was removed to the Middlesex county jail last night, and when arraigned before Recorder Stevenson, this morning, on a charge of atrocious assault and battery, was sentenced to serve a term of sixty days in the county jail. Lyons has a varied carer in the municipal courts of every town in Central New Jersey and has served time in Elizabeth, Somerville and New Brunswick for fighting and intoxication.

Shortly before 12 o'clock Saturday night, a pedestrian passing Gallagher's Corner, near Dunellen, stumbled over the body of a man lying in a clump of bushes by the roadside. Upon examination it was found that the victim was a man who had evidently been lying there for some time. He was bleeding profusely about the head and face and had lapsed into unconsciousness. The report soon circulated that an attempted murder had been repetrated in the village and the finger of suspicion at once pointed at Lyons, who had been seen in that vicinity during the evening. Well known for his recklessness and fighting spirit, Lyons was singled out as a suspect and a posse consisting of between thirty and forty people was organized to run down the culprit.

With clubs and other implements the searchers beat down bushes and unearthed all of the hiding places in that section without finding their human prey. Had Lyons been found in seclusion he would have probably been lynched on the spot, so high did the feeling against him run among the villagers. When about to give up their search the posse was informed that a person answering to Lyons' description had been seen to board a trolley car bound for Plainfield. Word was immediately sent to the local headquarters and Patrolman Martin Welsh was detailed to take the suspect from the east bound car when it went through here.

In the meantime, Sergeant Maurice Higgins, who was enjoying a "day off," was informed of the quest for Lyons and while walking along West Front street picked him up near the corner of Madison avenue. Lyons had gotten off the trolley car near Grant avenue and walked the remainder of the distance to Plainfield.

When first accosted by Higgins the man was inclined to show a fighting spirit and was not backward in telling the police officer that he did not intend to go to headquarters without offering resistance. A crowd soon collected, however, and when Lyons saw that Higgins had the better of the argument he went to the police station without a rumpus.

Higgins left his man in a cell shortly before 1 o'clock. Leaving headquarters at 1:45 the police sergeant reached the railroad station directly across the street, when he heard terrified howls coming from the station-house. The yelling could be heard plainly for a radius of two blocks and Higgins decided to make an investigation. On his way back he met Roundsman Saffron, who was on duty in headquarters, looking for help, something having gone wrong in Lyons' cell. The two officers made their way to the rear of the cell room where they saw the body of Lyons hanging from the ceiling. He had fastened a leather belt around his neck and had leaped from the top bunk. As the men arrived the would-be suicide lapsed into unconsciousness and when the strap was cut he was black in the fact. At first it was feared that life was extinct, but the prisoner was later revived with cold water and other first aid remedies.

Questioned concerning the motive for his act, Lyons was sullen and refused to comment on it. The belt was taken away from him as were also several other articles which might be used by him for a similar purpose. Several hours afterwards the officers found Lyons in the midst of a second attempt to do away with himself, he having used a black knitted necktie in the second effort. A strict vigil was kept over him during the remainder of the night and until he was removed to New Brunswick yesterday. In a signed confession made in the local headquarters, Lyons implicated four other Plainfield

Somerville

Posts and rails have been placed along the Central Railroad at the foot of Division street. This was done for the protection of the public, as a few weeks ago an auto was driven over the tracks of the railroad at that point because of the unprotected condition of the street. At that ime an acciden was only averted by the narrowest margin.

Announcement was made Saturday at Elizabeth, of the marriage of Miss Agnes Isabel Meehan, of that city, to Frank E. Fountaine, of Bayonne. The ceremony was performed early in the week by Rev. Louis J. Bohle, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The bride was formerly a resident of Somerville, and was a sister of the late James J. Meehan, at one time prosecutor of Somerset county.

Miss Matilda Muller was tendered a family party on Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Fuller on Third street in honor of her marriage on Tuesday evening of this week to Frederick N. Whitney, son of Mr. and Mrs O. C. Whitney, of Prospect avenue. The lower part of the Fuller residence was beautifully and artistically decorated with festoons of red and pink ramblers which added much to the charm of the affair. The principal part of the evening's entertainment consisted of dancing and music and the artistic summer house of the host, attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns, proved a sweet haven of rest to the tired dancers. A dainty collation was served during the course of the evening and heartily enjoyed by all. Those present besides the host and hostess and the guest of honor and her intended were: Miss Emilie Muller, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Muller, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Muller and daughter, Miss Echo, of Bayonne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vliet, Walter Muller, Miss Gertrude Giles, Mr. and Mrs. O. Dickerman, of Binghampton, N. Y.

Goldson W. Smalley has been appointed inspector by the Freeholders of the bridge that the county is rebuilding across Bound Brook road.

There is a movement underway to reward the two boys, John Grindlay and William Russ, who heroically rescued Lucien Merle, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Merle, of Centre street, from a watery grave in New Market pond on Friday afternoon, with medals of honor. The place where young Merle was grasped by the young heroes just as he was going down for the second time is near the Washington avenue bridge and almost the identical spot where the young son of Mayor E. B. Latham and the brother of Willie Russ, one of the heroes, was drowned two winters ago by breaking through the ice.

The final performance at the Dunellen Theatre of the Boy Scout benefit week, was held Saturday evening. The theatre was filled to its capacity and the audience enthusiastically applauded the different numbers of the program. Maximus, Plainfield's strong man, performed his high-priced act without charge and while the local people have seen numerous exhibitions of strength they have never witnessed any feats which surpassed those of Saturday evening. The kindness and liberality of Maximus was appreciated. As a token of their appreciation the Boy Scouts and Boy Scout Cadets presented the strong man with beautiful bouquets tied with white satin ribbons. He remarked after the performance that these tokens had more than reimbursed him for his time and labor.

The Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian church has already received $1,000 representing one-half of the legacy left to the church by Mrs. Helen Brown, of Brown Hill. While no provision was made by the deceased to that effect it is very probable that a portion of the bequest will be used in the installation of a memorial window to the memory of Mrs. Brown.

An Extra Disposal of Used Pianos and Player-Pianos

In Time for the Fourth of July

This disposal is in addition to our regular half-yearly sales. It is specially arranged to fit in with Fourth of July celebrations. The instruments are of the quality we usually offer and the prices are as low.

Every instrument has either (1) been taken by us in exchange for a new instrument in the regular course of business, or (2) is one of our own fine instruments used for demonstration purposes.

Every one has been gone over, inside and out, and put into first-class shape, ready for immediate delivery; ready to begin its long term of usefulness in its new home.

TERMS—to suit; a little down, and a little each month.

STATE METHODS ANNOY AUTOISTS

One Speeder Complains of Way He Was Heckled.

CHANGES URGED BY CLUBS

Say They Haven't Any Objections to Laws or Their Enforcement, but They Object to "Cat and Mouse" Method Used to Entice Them to Speed—Ask Better Treatment.

Trenton, N. J., June 29.—An organized movement is on foot among members of several automobile clubs in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland to urge Motor Vehicle Commissioner Lippincott of New Jersey to make changes in the system of arresting motorists who break the speed laws of the state. These motorists have no objection to the laws or the enforcement of them, but what they do object to is the "cat and mouse" method used to entice motorists to break the laws, as they claim has been done.

"I believe I have reason to be incensed at the backwoods treatment accorded me by two New Jersey state inspectors who exercised their craftiness in the section which lies between Ledgewood and Lake Hopatcong. I have never been arrested before for speeding and have always lived up to the law, but human endurance can be taxed to its utmost if pushed in a way like that exercised by the two inspectors who arrested me for speeding.

"These men were garbed in citizens' clothes and drove their car behind mine in such a way as to indicate that they wanted me to speed. Several times they blew their horn as if to pass me, and when I pulled to one side they did not go ahead, but kept directly behind, literally pushing me to that annoying stage where there was nothing else for me to do but to increase my speed and get out of their way. Then I was stopped and was told that I was exceeding the speed limit and arrest followed.

"This method is enough to make any motorist desire to break speed laws to get out of the way of the annoyance of the inspectors, and if Commissioner Lippincott does not know about this practice every motorist, as well as others who believe in fairness to users of the highways, should inform him to stop this contemptible and uncalled for practice. Another thing: The inspectors should wear uniforms or else have their cars marked in such a way that they can be distinguished as inspectors' cars. Much better work can be done by treating motorists by fair rather than by sneaky methods."

CONVICT SHOOTS GUARD.

Insane Inmate Opens Fire When Plan to Escape Is Prevented.

Morristown, N. J., June 29.—Patrick J. Collins, twenty-seven years old, of 349 West Fourteenth street, New York, was shot and probably mortally wounded by William Wall, an insane convict in the State hospital at Morris Plains, near here.

Wall, who is twenty-six years old and lived formerly in Paterson, N. J., where he was arrested twice on theft charges before it was learned that he was insane, was attempting to escape when he shot Collins, one of the night attendants at the hospital.

NEW ESSEX PROSECUTOR.

Governor Fielder Names Man Said to Suit James R. Nugent.

Trenton, N. J., June 29.—Governor Fielder announced the appointment of Frederick F. Guild of Newark as prosecutor for Essex county, succeeding Louis Hood, resigned. It is said the new official is satisfactory to former Democratic State Chairman James R. Nugent.

Mr. Guild was admitted to the bar in 1878. He was a former district court judge in Newark and recently resigned as president of the Newark board of education.

STATE NOTES.

Ground was broken today for the new $460,000 high school to be erected by the board of education at Park and Chestnut streets, Montclair.

The farmers in the vicinity of Newton will start out today with shotguns and hounds to run down the wild dogs which during the past week have killed no less than a hundred sheep owned by stockmen.

With only a few days longer to wait to obtain a third of an estate valued at $300,000 Mrs. John H. McDermott, wife of an Orange policeman, died at her home, 16 Scotland street, following an operation for abscess of the ear. She had been ill for several weeks.

Frank A. Magowan, former mayor of Trenton, once a wealthy rubber manufacturer, has just been admitted to the State hospital in Trenton a physical wreck. Mr. Magowan was known both in New York and Philadelphia, having been a prominent promoter in the former place.

All of the plant of the Richardson & Boynton company in Dover except the shipping department building was destroyed by fire. The firm manufactured stoves and ranges, and its plant, which was Dover's largest industry, covered thirty acres of ground. The loss is $500,000, partly covered by insurance.

A VICTROLA On Wheels

Exclusively at Wanamaker's

It is so simple an idea—so much needed—that it is surprising that we did not think of it before.

The illustrations show better what this New Victrola on Wheels looks like than any word description we could write.

Wheel-Cabinet Victrola

can be wheeled from place to place as easily as you wheel your tea wagon. This added convenience to the Victrola gives it a far wider range of use than heretofore. Its small price—$75—puts it within the reach of everybody.

Its point of vantage is very plain—it makes your Victrola perfectly and easily portable.

You can always move it where you want it.

For example, suppose you are dancing indoors, where it is so warm that some one suggests dancing on the porch. You try it, but the Victrola is so far away from the window it can't be heard outdoors. Having this new Victrola on wheels you could not only move your Victrola up to the window, but out on the porch, or even down the steps onto the lawn.

Or perhaps you would like to have music with dinner. How easy to move the new Victrola on Wheels from the living-room in your apartment to the dining-room.

There are a hundred-and-one other times and occasions when you would like to move your Victrola from one place to another.

Wheel-Cabinet Victrola

This view shows the sound chamber and the cabinet for records opened. This outfit is, as you can see, a complete Victrola outfit.

You can secure one of these New Victrolas on Wheels for $75—payment for which may be made $5 with the order and until the full amount is liquidated. Come in and see the New Victrola on Wheels.

$5 a Month

"SAFETY FIRST."

"Pedestrians are fast coming to regard the streets as a railroad, at which they must 'stop, look and listen,' and upon which they are tolerated as a matter of grace," says the Atlantic City Review. "Most people are very good-natured about it—indisposed, perhaps to annoy automobilists with the disagreeable alternative of reducing their pleasant thirty to forty-mile gate or making pulp of a fellow-mortal. But would it not be well for us to pause before abandoning to a class a popular right so important as that of equality on the highway? What we abandon so lightly we may be a long time regaining."

So thoughtless did the people of Syracuse become recently that a movement was launched there by the business men with "safety first, Syracuse," as a slogan. The lesson taught by the serious accidents which occurred on the streets of that city, ending with one in which an aged woman was struck down by a speeding machine, awakened the merchants.

Do we in Plainfield want to wait until someone is killed before action is taken? The police have been going after the speeders lately, but is not some further action advisable? The plan odpted by the Syracuse voters might be a good one for Plainfield, if some concerted action could be started to bring it about, through the Board of Trade or other civic body.

When the campaign was started the Syracuse people moved not only with rapidity but with thoroughness. The Chamber of Commerce and Automobile Club started it; to their joint committee were added representatives of labor bodies, schools, churches, theatres, stores, newspapers, civic organizations, women's clubs and other branches of the city life. Sub-committees were named to have charge of street car advertising, newspaper space, Boy Scout work, railroads, churches, schools, electric signs and other means of publicity.

The entire movement was based on education. The committee undertook to educate every man, woman and child in Syracuse to avoid accidents by cultivating the habit of carefulness. Everything was planned in advance; on the morning of the first day of the campaign citizens found the safety signs staring at them from every conceivable angle. For an entire month, nothing was allowed to lag. Mass meetings, picture shows, church services kept up a rapid-fire agitation for personal carefulness. Boy Scouts patrolled the streets and handed reminders to every one who violated any one of the safety rules. Men with megaphones and in unique attire warned those who started to violate the rules. Safety mottoes were hung in all school rooms and the pupils wrote essays on the subject. And, best of all, Syracuse learned its safety lesson so that its citizens will never forget, so effectively was the campaign waged.

Plainfielders, perhaps, could not have so elaborate a campaign, because of the expense, but we know of no plan by which the Board of Trade could serve the whole people more satisfactorily, that by a "safety first" campaign, begun in the early fall, when the people have returned from the summer cottage.

ENGLISH AND EFFICIENCY.

A gain of from 20 to 70 per cent. in shop efficiency among girls who received training in the English language and the rudiments of a common education has been noticed in a New York factory. It has just graduated thirty-five young women workers from the first school for immigrants in a factory ever conducted in New York and possibly in the world under the auspices of a board of education. Here is something for American manufacturers and especially those employing alien labor to think about.

Dudley E. Sicher, senior member of the largest muslin underwear firm in the world, who evolved the idea and whose factory conducted the interesting experiment shows that earnings of ten girls who attended this shop school regularly 15 weeks rose from an average of 19.5 cents an hour to 22.2 cents per hour, while earnings of those who did not avail themselves of a chance to go to the school remained practically unchanged.

Instruction in the English language is industrial education, declared the superintendent of New York's public schools at the shop school commencement, because "without English the morals, limbs and life of the factory worker is in danger."

This commencement was one of the most remarkable ever held. It launched a brand new and workable idea of industrial education and a new scheme of workers' welfare, besides demonstrating to employers that wages paid out to an employe while attending school brought returns with interest to the employer. The history of the movement is brief.

Two years ago, Mr. Sicher allowed a few workers time off with pay to attend certain classes in the public school nearby. He noticed that these girls developed a greater expertness and a greater efficiency in their work. This caused Mr. Sicher last fall to request the public schools to give him a teacher to instruct employes in the factory. An experienced teacher was assigned to the work last October. Classes were held in the recreation room of the plant from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning, each girl who desired being given forty-five minutes instruction each day with pay for the time in school pro rata her average earnings. Twenty weeks ago, these girls could neither read nor write English; now they hold "certificates of literacy" tied with red, white and blue ribbons and, the best of all is that they are able to make more money for themselves and for their employers also.

130 ENTRIES FOR MONSTER ATHLETIC MEET SATURDAY

George M. Wriston, who is in charge of the athletic meet at Parker Field on Fourth of July, has received over one hundred and thirty separate entries from all parts of the State. This is the largest number that has ever entered a local meet and it will help to boost city athletics and also assure the success of the event next Saturday. Many of the best runners in New York and Newark are coming here to compete and the results are sure to be interesting.

The prizes are the best that have ever been offered and this is one reason for the large number of entrants. All of the judges have been picked and all is in readiness for the pistol.

PLAYING "STUNT-MASTER" BOY SUSTAINS BAD INJURY

Playing "stunt-master" at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs Peter Schneiderwind, of Prospect avenue, Dunellen, yesterday afternoon, eight-year-old Walter Schneiderwind sustained a broken leg in a fall from the top of a shed. The victim, together with several companions, was jumping from the top of the structure to a pile of hay in the yard, but miscalculated the distance and landed on the ground.

He was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital where the limb was set and today, it is said, that the youth is resting comfortably.

ANNUAL SOCIETY MEETING HELD IN MT. HOREB CHURCH

The annual meeting of the Epworth Leagues of the Somerville, Bound Brook, Raritan, Martinsville and Mt. Horeb churches, was held at Mt. Horeb Saturday afternoon and night. The afternoon entertainment was an athletic meet in a large field near the church. Miss Geraldine Bicknell, representing the Mt. Horeb M. E. church, was the winner in most of the events.

The annual meeting was held in the church at night and was followed by a social hour. Refreshments were served during the evening. The Mt. Horeb Society won the flag for the largest number of delegates present. The delegates went to Mt. Horeb by stages.

PASSENGERS SAFE.

London, Eng., June 29.—Wireless messages say that all the passengers on the S. S. California which went ashore on Tory Island off the northern coast of Ireland at 9:20 o'clock last night in a dense fog have been taken aboard the S. S. Cassandria. The officers and crew of the California and Cassandria assisted by men from three British torpedo boat destroyers.

SOME HORSE-PLAY IN SALE OF MULE

Stonewall Jackson the Victim and Police Locate Stolen Animal in His Barn.

A Pennsylvania mule, closely resembling the breed seen in Jersey, was taken from the barn of Stonewall Jackson, in North Plainfield this morning, by the local police following a request made by Captain Crymer, of the police of Cresson, Pa. According to reports received here the beast of burden was stolen from the barn in Cresson last week and had been traced to this city.

The abductor of the mule, for whom the police are now on the lookout took his four-legged loot to Johnstown, Pa., where it was sold at public auction to the borough man. In ignorance of the mule's pedigree and without knowledge of his previous environment, Mr. Jackson purchased the animal and had it tied in a stall in his barn this morning when a local bluecoat called to give him the "once-over." The Plainfield police exonerate Stonewall Jackson of any blame in the case as the North Plainfield man has receipts to show that he paid over a handful of hard shekels for the beast, which, by the way, is a nifty specimen of this type of domestics.

MANY ATTEND WEDDING IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Miss Bella Harte and John Hamill were married in St. Mary's church at 5 o'clock last night by Father B. M. Bogan. The ceremony was performed before a large gathering of friends and relatives and the couple left immediately afterwards for Boston where they will spend their honeymoon.

Martin Welsh acted as best man and Miss Kane was bridesmaid. Upon their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hamill will reside at 544 West Sixth street. Both are well known to a large circle of friends in this city where they have lived for a number of years.

LOCAL CHAUFFEUR SPENDS TWO DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

According to a despatch in a Staten Island paper of last week, Joseph, alias "Possum" Parsons, of this city, was arraigned in Port Richmond, and sentenced to two days in the county jail for automobile speeding. Parsons is a chauffeur employed by a taxi-cab owner at the North Avenue depot and, when arraigned he was fined $50. The latter sentence was reconsidered, however, following a telephone conversation between Parsons and someone in this city, which resulted in the introduction of the Plainfield party to the magistrate of Port Richmond. What was said over the 'phone is a mystery, but Parsons is willing to admit that it reduced his sentence from a possible sixty days to two days.

When apprehended the colored driver claimed that he was a chauffeur for Chief Kiely of the local police force. He has completed his term on the island and is now back in the Queen City.

C. B. FOWLER FOUND DEAD IN BOROUGH

Chief Marshal Weiss Discovers Body in a Barn on Chatham Street.

Charles B. Fowler, who has boarded at different places in the borough for the past year, was found dead this morning in a room over the blacksmith shop of Jeremiah O'Connor at Chatham and Warren streets, North Plainfield by Chief Marshal Weiss, of the police department. The condition of the body indicated that Fowler had been dead a couple of days, and had died of natural causes, in all probability, of heart trouble. The remains were ordered removed to DeMott's undertaking establishment on Somerset street.

Mr. Fowler was a veteran of the Civil War, and was about seventy-five years of age. As far as could be learned this morning, through the inquiries of the borough authorities, Fowler had no relatives, at least, not in this vicinity. Coroner Long, of Somerset county, was notified by the borough police department, and he will view the remains this afternoon and grant a permit for its interment.

Mr. Fowler was a printer by trade and was employed in local print shops for several years, having come to this city from South Jersey, where he had a number of relatives, whom the borough police are now attempting to locate. Mr. Fowler was at one time the editor of the 'Union,' a weekly newspaper published in this city. On investigation of the borough police department this morning, it was learned that Fowler had an account at the Hopewell National Bank, of Hopewell. He was made the beneficiary of the will of a relative of that place about three years ago. After receiving the money provided for by that document, he also secured a large sum as back pensions from the government. Mr. Fowler was released from Muhlenberg Hospital after having apparently recovered from the effects of an apopletic fit. It is believed that Fowler has several relatives in South Jersey in the vicinity of Hopewell and Princeton and the borough authorities are endeavoring to locate them.

LAST MUSICALE.

The quartet choir, of the First Methodist church gave its last special musical service of the season, last night, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, choir-master. The service was enjoyed by a large congregation.

SLIGHT FIRE IN ROOM.

The fire department was called to Plainfield avenue this afternoon about 3 o'clock to extinguish a blaze in a room of a house. The fire was put out with the chemicals and the damage was very slight.

SPECIAL MUSICAL SERVICE.

The quartet choir, of Trinity Reformed church, gave a special musical service last evening, under the direction of Arthur L. Titsworth, organist.

FIRST EXCURSION TO THE SHORE ON THURSDAY

The first excursion from Plainfield to Asbury Park this season will be that of the Crescent Avenue, Grace Episcopal, Holy Cross, St. Stephen's, Seventh-Day Baptist, New Market Baptist and Dunellen Presbyterian churches and Bethel chapel, Thursday. Following the recent excessive warm weather Plainfielders will welcome no doubt this opportunity to visit the Jersey shore and take a dip in the ocean and enjoy all of the many attractions at this popular resort.

The first section leaves Dunellen 8:04; Clinton avenue, 8:06; Grant avenue, 8:09; Plainfield, 8:15. Second section follows immediately, stopping at Plainfield and Netherwood. Returning the excursionists will leave the Park at 6:30 o'clock.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL GIVE ORATORICAL CONTEST

The Young Peoples' Branch of the W. C. T. U. will hold a prize medal oratorical contest and musical entertainment in the lecture room of the First Baptist church this evening. There will be no charge for admission but a silver offering will be taken. Quartet, solo and instrumental music will be rendered during the evening.

Those who will take part in the contest are the Misses Marjorie Cubberly and Aanna Sherwin and Horace Bunker, Robert Butler, Howard Parry and Randolph Stelle.

INFANT CHRISTENED.

Dorothy Ridout, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bennett, of Westervelt avenue, was christened in the Holy Cross church last night, by the Rev. Charles H. Kues. John V. Todd, of East Sixth street, and the Misses Ketch and Brenner, of Newark, acted as sponsors for the infant.

PRISONER TRIES SUICIDE

boys in the assault at Dunellen, Saturday, and three of the youths were taken to New Brunswick this morning. They were Patrick Finneran, Herbert Farling and John Day.

Further investigation into the identity of Lyons' victim brought out the fact that he was a hobo who has been living in that section for some time past. He gave his name as William Whitney. He engaged in a quarrel with Lyons, Saturday night, and the latter knocked him out. Both were arraigned before Recorder Stevenson, this morning, and were given thirty day sentences. Received at the Middlesex county jail at New Brunswick, this morning, Lyons was apparently none the worse for his attempts at self-destruction and appeared in a jovial mood when accosted by the warden.

SLAYING OF ARCHDUKE RESULT OF A BIG PLOT

ROYAL COUPLE KILLED.

Archduke Ferdinand, Austrian Heir, and Duchess of Hohenberg.

Vienna, June 29.—All Europe—in fact, the whole world—is shocked by the news of the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and his morganatic wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, who were killed when paying their first official visit to Sarajero, the capital of Bosnia.

Messages of condolence kept pouring in today from all parts of the world, including one from President Wilson, former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt, also from Pope Pius.

The killing, it is said, was the result of a concerted plan in which at least three men had a part.

Two attempts were made against the royal couple. The first was the throwing of a bomb. This failed of its purpose, but slightly injured two aids of the archduke. A young student then fired two shots, one striking the duchess and the other the archduke. A third man had another bomb ready, but, seeing the assassin's bullets were successful, threw his bomb away. The first two men were arrested.

The murders add another to the list of tragedies which have marked the life of Francis Joseph. The emperor's own wife, the Empress Elizabeth, was killed by an assassin in 1898. His brother, Maximilian, for a short time emperor of Mexico, was executed in that country. His only son died under mysterious and scandalous circumstances at Meyerling in 1889 and is generally believed to have been murdered.

The heir to the throne is now Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, eldest son of Archduke Francis Ferdinand's younger brother, the late Archduke Otto. The heir is now in his twenty-seventh year.

The aged emperor is reported practically prostrated by the shock of the assassination, and grave fears are entertained for him. The cabinet was immediately summoned and are in session.

The police had to intervene to save the assassin. After they had been put in jail a police guard was established.

The carriage in which the royal couple was driving had just left the railroad station when a journeyman printer named Cabrinovic hurled a bomb.

The echo of the explosion had not died away when a Servian student who had been banished from Bosnia ran toward the carriage. Each of his bullets took effect. The archduke was shot in the head and the duchess in the abdomen. They were carried into the palace, where they died within a few minutes.

The archduke, whose full name was Francis Ferdinand Charles Louis Joseph Maria, was fifty years old. The duchess before their marriage in 1900, after ten years of opposition on the part of the emperor, was Countess Sophie Chotek de Chotkowa et Wognin. She was five years younger than her husband.

To marry her Francis Ferdinand had to take oath she never would be proclaimed as empress and renounced the right of succession of any children which might be born to them. On their marriage the Emperor Francis Joseph made her duchess of Hohenberg.

Details of Assassination.

The assassination occurred while the entire city was en fete to receive the archduke, who was generally considered, through the emperor's growing disabilities, to be practically the ruler of the empire.

Sarajevo is a beautiful city, hill surrounded and with the blue waters of the river Milyatska flowing through its center. A large Roman Catholic cathedral and the sixteenth century mosque of Hasref Bey, with the ruins of an old Hungarian castle, dominate the older part of the city.

The city was overjoyed when the archduke and his wife promised to attend a celebration which was to be held to-day at the city hall. Before the time for the arrival of the train with the archduke and duchess a huge throng had gathered near the railroad station.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, as was his beautiful wife, was popular, the feeling of respect which the people had for the archduke as their future ruler being augmented by the story of his romantic marriage. Because of this no unusual precautions were taken to safeguard him on his arrival. The police and the military, as usual, kept the crowd at a respectful distance, and this was deemed all the precaution necessary to take to protect him from any annoyance.

On the edge of the crowd at a point at which the royal carriage would pass close to them were the Servian student and the printer standing in the first rank of the spectators. They were not many yards from the railroad station. The archduke and the duchess entered their carriage and, followed by their escort, started for the city hall along the flag decorated road.

Neither of the assassins moved until the carriage horses were abreast of them. Cabrinovic, the printer, was the first. He leaped out into the open road, hurling his bomb straight at the royal couple. He missed his mark, but the bomb, exploding, sent a hail of broken steel and lead among the archduke's attendants. Six of them fell.

As the throng shrieked in horror and fought to flee the lifting smoke from the bomb showed the archduke and the duchess sitting upright in their carriage, apparently unharmed. Francis Ferdinand, whose courage has been established in many a big game encounter, leaned forward as though to reassure the duchess. At that moment the Servian youth sprang forward.

The archduke apparently saw the glint of the heavy revolver and faced the youth, partly shielding the duchess. Before he could do more the student fired, the first bullet hitting the archduke in the face. Francis Ferdinand managed to remain upright a moment longer and then, as the second shot hit him, he fell back against the cushions of the carriage. So close now that he could almost touch the duchess, the youth continued shooting, the bullets taking effect in the abdomen. Each bullet he fired had hit a vital spot.

On the ground lay Count Boos Walleck, Colonel Merizzi and four others of the archduke's attendants. Inside the carriage lay the dying archduke and his duchess, unconscious. The Servian youth turned and stood with his empty revolver in his hand. He was nearly killed by the mob and later arrested.

The archduke and the duchess were taken to the palace, but it was seen that they were mortally wounded. They had scarcely been laid on beds when they died.

Koehler Sentence Stands.

Washington June 29.—President Wilson has approved the sentence of dismissal imposed on Major Benjamin M. Koehler of the coast artillery corps by a court martial. Major Koehler was in command at Fort Terry, Plum island, when sensational charges were brought against him. The trial was held in secret.

NEAF APGAR THIRD FOR STATE TITLE

Plainfielder Finishes Well in Championship Event at Asbury Park.

Breaking forty-eight out of a possible fifty targets, Charles T. Day Jr., of Newark, the only member of the Smith Gun Club to break into the winners' class in the individual shoot held in Asbury Park, Saturday, on the boardwalk, bore off the New Jersey State challenge cup offered as a trophy by Gatlin & Rand. Day also divided second high amateur honors with Dr. G. H. Martin, of Asbury Park, with a score of 145. The Newark gunner has held the championship on several different occasions.

Dr. W. H. Matthews, of Trenton, won the inter-State association shoot with a score of 95 out of 100 birds, being tied with Henry Powers, of Atlantic City, who withdrew and took second place.

A match between F. S. Tomlin, of Red Bank, and F. A. Phillips, of Baltimore, went to a tie six times, 126 birds being shot at before Phillips broke the deciding target for third place.

By his victory Dr. Matthews receives the silver trophy representing the inter-State championship and expenses to the grand American handicap to be held at Dayton, O., in September.

For the three days of the shoot Henry Harris, of Atlantic City, is high amateur, with 495 out of a possible 500 birds. E. Fred Slear, of Collingswood, gained high professional honors with 494, followed by Neaf Apgar, of Plainfield, with 488. Tomlin took second in the amateur class, with 483. George Lyon, an amateur from North Carolina, had the highest run of the shoot, smashing 136 targets. Slear captured the professional honors in this line by breaking 193 out of 200.

The two-man shoot held Friday was won by Camden. The three-man affair on Thursday was taken by Red Bank.

The election of officers of the New Jersey State Sportsmen's Association, which took place Friday afternoon, resulted in the re-election of George H. Pierce, Jersey City, to the presidency. The others elected were: A. L. Ivins, Red Bank, first vice president, F. J. Hineline, Camden, second vice-president; C. T. Day, rS., Newark, secretary. The trustees are Edward VanKattengell, Red Bank; John W. Mason, Newark, and Richard Young, Jersey City.

GREAT INTEREST IN CHAMPIONSHIP

There Are Many Closely Contested Matches in P. C. C. Tournament.

The second round for the golf championship of the Plainfield Country Club was played on Saturday, and aroused considerable interest among the members of the club. Of course, the greatest interest is centered in the first sixteen, the winner becoming club champion, while prizes will be awarded the winners in the defeated eight, second and third sixteens.

The results of the championship are as follows:

First sixteen—J. Whitney Baker beat A. J. Watson, 4 and 3; W. Lester Glenney won from Charles A. Reed by default; W. H. Rogers beat Frank O. Rinehart, 1 up; Will T. Glenney beat O. H. Fleming, 6 and 5.

Second sixteen—P. J. McKeon beat B. C. Kenyon, 2 and 1; G. S. Clay beat D. H. Rowland, 3 and 1; T. S. Wheeler beat G. S. Cooke, 3 up; D. O. Rogers beat H. G. Lapsley, 5 and 4.

Third sixteen—A. W. Kleinecke beat W. B. Tyler, 2 and 1; L.H. Gates beat J. M. Middledith, 3 and 1; E. A. Lyon beat J. F. Stevens, 4 and 3.

The point winners for the Golf Committee Cup were as follows:

W. Lester Gleney, 75, 5-70; H. G. Lapsley, 81, 10-71; H. W. Rapalje, 92, 19-73; L. G. Carman, 88, 12-76.

These scores were returned in the sweepstakes event:

H. G. Lapsley, 81, 10-71; J. E. Erickson, 88, 13-75; B. C. Kenyon, 96, 20-76; J. H. Brewster, 95, 19-76; L. G. Carman, 88, 12-76; T. S. Wheeler, 94, 17-77; J. P. Murray, 97, 19-78.

"SPORTDOM TIPS"

Wuxtra! Wuxtra! The Pets come back! Manager Dorflinger's rejuvenated club looked pretty good Saturday afternoon and the victory over the speedy Fort Slocum aggregation was far from being of the fluke variety. Now to clean up on Dunellen July 4 and Westfield in the near future. Whaddayamean another Central New Jersey championship?

Speaking of Dunellen, that village is due to furnish opposition for the Pets twice on the Fourth of July. We entertain them on Parker Field in the morning and take a trip to the little hamlet which Bob Fitzsimmons put on the map in the afternoon.

Tommy Mullin's re-entrance into semi-professional baseball Saturday afternoon was the cause for considerable enthusiasm. Mullin broke into the fold with a rush and had there been a league magnate on the grounds on that occasion Tommy would not have been lurking around the Queen City nooks this afternoon. Take a squint at the box score and give Mullin's busy afternoon the "once over." Those who saw the contest were loud in their praise of the little fellow who gobbled up scooters and Texas leaguers and clouted the ball in phenomenal style.

Coaching a championship schoolboy team has evidently put Mullin on edge and if he continues to show the form that he did Saturday it is one safe bet that he will be packing up his belongings ere long and beating it for the minors.

The Sunday School League's action in barring "Hub" Stine and George Townley from the exclusive set looks like a bull-headed piece of work. These two players were hard workers for the welfare of the organization last year and inasmuch as they have proven that they attended Sunday school up in Springfield, where they have been attending college, there is no good reason why they should be barred. We agree with Captain Pierson when it comes to enforcing the "spirit of the law rather than the letter." Where would some of these individuals be today if municipal ordinances were enforced to the letter?

One New Market sportsman wagered $75, even money, on Moran Saturday afternoon with a dusky admirer of Jack Johnson on North avenue. But then, he came from New Market and one has to make allowances in such cases.

But this enthusiast from the village by the pond hasn't a thing on the sport scribe who will give a pair of teams fifty-seven putouts in a regulation nine inning baseball game. Take a look at the "C-N" cub's account of the Elizabeth-Plainfield cops' game in Friday's issue. Some new freak makes his appearance every day in the year. Now we have a baseball writer who can't keep a box score. Yea Bo!

It's time to start exploring to find that new Sunday baseball field near the Plainfield Country Club. Next Sunday has been set for the opening game by Manager McDonough and the fans who delve in Sunday baseball might do well to give the new rendezvous "the once over and around" prior to that time.

Since the Plainfield Sunday baseball team quit South Plainfield that village has once more relapsed into its characteristic coma. We haven't heard a murmur from that place in two weeks. Even the boating on the two by four lake in that village isn't what it used to be.

It might be well to make a canvas of some of these Sunday school baseball teams doing business in the Queen City to ascertain just how many of the players adorn a Sunday school class room weekly. We have a hunch that at least one team is playing men entirely foreign to Sunday school topics.

By the way, what has become of those two All Star Interscholastic League teams our friend, the Cub, picked a week or so ago? He evidently took our little advice and accepted North Plainfield as the first choice and Plainfield as the runner-up. Hence the abandonment of his proposed contest between the "pickings."

Several of the ballists who adorned the lawyers' rank against the pill chasers are keeping in condition for future events of this nature by engaging in the strenuous game of quoits. Pitching quoits and pitching baseballs are two different sports, however. Why not chess? The latter is a "sport" in which brains play a prominent part and it might be well for some of these legal lights to inject a little "headiness" into their performance on the diamond.

Disgusted with the playing of his team mates, Eugene Lidgate, the Fanwood boy, threw up his job with the York Tri-State Leaguers last week. His lay-off only lasted for three days, however, for when he found an individual with an unpronounceable name wear his chest protector he again assumed the catcher's duties for the club. Liddy said he didn't want the "folks at home" to think he had been displaced by such a tongue twister as the substitute proved to be.

PETS HIT HARD AND WIN GAME

Local Team Has Easy Time With the Bronx Stars on Parker Field.

TOMMY MULLIN STARS

He Plays Perfect Game and Taps Ball for Homer—Final Score 8 to 3—Dixon Also Gets Circuit Clout With Two on the Bases.

The Plainfield Pets had an easy time defeating the Bronx Stars, who were substituting for the Fort Slocum aggregation that could not appear, at Parker Field, Saturday afternoon. The game was full of heavy hitting and the local batters were right there with the hits when they were needed. Hank Mathewson was on the mound for the Pets and pitched a fine article of ball, the visitors never having a lookin until the ninth inning, when he let up and they scored their only runs of the game.

The first innings was a blank for the visitors and the home team pulled over three. Coyle, the first man at the bat, walked and Tommy Mullin singled. Then Dixon hit the ball over the left field fence for a homer, clearing the bases. The visitors were blanked in the next seven innings while the Pets continued to pile up the tallies. In the third, Mullin made his second hit and scored when Stewart tripled to left. The fourth inning was a repetition of the first, and Nelson started with a pretty double. Stine made his first single and then Tommy Mullin placed the ball over the left field fence for a trip, sending two in ahead of him. The little shortstop came into the limelight again between second and short when he nipped a hot liner. In this inning Stewart saved the day by stopping a ball that would have been a home run. There were two on the bags and the local left fielder nabbed the ball with one hand.

The last run for the local team came in the sixth when Stine singled and crossed the plate on Coyle's double. In the ninth frame the visitors hit Matty for two singles and a double and, mixed with a passed ball, scored three times. Mullin led the swatters with a homer and two singles, with Stine a close second with three of the one base variety.

CLIFF RANDOLPH BUMPED HARD BY NEWARK TEAM

Cliff Randolph, the local ball player, who formerly pitched for Plainfield but who is now playing with the Perth Amboy team in the Atlantic League, was bumped hard on Saturday by the Newark Cubans who took the game by a 9 to 6 score.

Earlier in the season Randolph's great pitching beat the Newarkers and placed his team in first place in the league. Saturday they came back at him and in the eighth inning made four runs on three hits and three errors. He allowed thirteen hits and was given poor support, his team making seven errors.

TIME LIMIT EXTENDED.

The time limit for the entries in the Y. M. C. A. open tennis tournament has been extended until Saturday, July 4, when all entries will close with F. O. Dunning, 47 Mountain avenue, or at the association building. There have been so few entries handed in that the tournament will not be run off unless there are more. Only fifteen have been entered and the committee wants at least twenty-five so that the affair will at least be interesting. Any information can be secured at the Y. M. C. A. building.

MISS WILDEY LOST CHANCE FOR TITLE

Local Player and Partner Defeated in Finals for State Doubles.

By virtue of his hard-earned victory over Theodore Pell Saturday afternoon in the final round of the thirtieth annual Middle States lawn tennis championship on the turf courts of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club, Montrose, Carl Behr, an internationalist, ranked fourth among the nation's racquet wielders, will meet Gustave F. Touchard, the present titleholder, for a leg on the championship cup this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The classic tournament which has been in progress on the Orange club courts during the week will extend over into Tuesday. Besides the challenge round in the men's singles, the final in men's doubles will be contested today, leaving the doubles challenge round to be decided tomorrow. Only two championships have been decided to date, the women's singles and women's doubles.

A new woman champion developed Saturday afternoon in the person of Mrs. Louise Hammond Raymond, who is also metropolitan champion. In order to take the Middle States title, Mrs. Raymond has to conquer Mrs. Marshall McLean, the New Jersey State and former metropolitan champion, in the final round Saturday and later best Miss Edith Rotch, of Boston, the 1913 titleholders, in the challenge round. It was with little difficulty that the new champion won from both of her opponents. In the match with Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Raymond took the first set by a 6-love score and the second set, 6-3. The challenge round also went to Mrs. Raymond in straight sets, the count being 6-2, 6-3. It was the third time that Mrs Raymond had won the women's Middle States' single championship, but not in successive years.

Mrs. Raymond, teamed with Mrs. Charles N. Beard, of Montclair, are the new women's doubles champions. This title was gained through their defeat of Mrs. McLean and Miss Edna Wildey in the final round, 0-6, 6-2 7-5. This match was evenly contested and on two occasions in the third set Mrs. McLean and Miss Wildey were within striking distance of the match. Excellent work by the singles champion and her partner, however, won out for them.

Charley White and Stanley Yoakum are matched to box in Denver next month.

By knocking out Arthur Pelky, Sam McVey has become the heavyweight champion of Chicopee Falls.

Buffalo promoters have hooked up Jimmy Duffy and Sam Robideau for a clash the last of this month.

George Gunther proved to be a fi ver as a "comeback" in London the other night. George's stunt was crabbed by Harry Reeves in a 20-round bout.

Jack Dougherty, former manager of Al McCoy, declares that McCoy is a bloomer. Jack further states that McCoy is somewhat shy about tackling George Chip again.

J. H. HILLMAN WINS POINTS FOR GOLF CUP

Low Scores Returned in the Weekly Competition on Boro Links.

The only event at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, was the weekly competition for the President's Cup. There was a large field out and the play was spirited throughout. J. P. Hillman with a net score of 80 won three points for the cup, while H. H. Woodland and O. B. Hill with an 86 divided two points and Royle T. Phillips and Clarence J. Hand with an 87 divided one point for the trophy. These cards were returned.

J. P. Hillman, 105, 25-80; H. H. Woodland, 94, 8-86; O. B. Hill, 110, 24-86; Clarence J. Hand, 105, 18-87; Royle T. Phillips, 99, 12-87; Dr. H. K Carroll, 95, 8-87; H. L. Moodey, 104, 15-89; Harry DeMeza, 110, 20-90.

PETS' RIVALS UNABLE TO APPEAR SATURDAY

The management of the Fort Slocum baseball team, that was to have played the Pets last Saturday, wished it to be known that the reason for the team's non-appearance was because they could not get permission to leave. When the game was scheduled with Manager Dorflinger, the field day, that took place at Fort Slocum last Saturday, had not been arranged for and the team expected to get away.

However, when this celebration was arranged for that day, the officials at the Fort refused to let the team play. The manager, knowing that it would place the local team in a bad fix, sent the best team he could find to take the place of his. The Fort Slocum team has a good reputation and will probably appear here later in the season.

BASEBALL NOTES

The Texarkana team finished at the top in the first half of the Texas-Oklahoma League season.

Catcher Forest Cady, of the Red Sox, has a brother twenty years old who gives promise of developing into an all-around player.

Bob Bescher, of the Giants, is not showing so well in the art of base-stealing as he did when he was a member of the Reds.

Walter Johnson's speedy shoots seem to be soft-shell pie for the veteran Sam Crawford, the Detroit killer of fast ones.

Paddy Livingston and Jack Knikht, two former well-known big leaguers, are cracking out the safe ones in the American Association this season.

Roy Reeves, the personal representative of President Tener, is taking a swing around the National League circuit in order to give the "up and down'" to Tener's umpires.

Jack Leary is doing brilliant work for the Browns. Leary is the likeliest looking first baseman to break into the big show since "Stuffy" McInnis came into the limelight.

Bill Phillips' Indinaapolis team has certainly come to the front with a rush in the Federal League race. Bill has about the sweetest bunch of hitters in the Fed outfit.

The Eastern contingent of the American League did considerable damage to the pitching staff of the White Sox. And just when the Sox pitchers were being tuoted as unhittable.

The Boston Braves have released Luque, the Cuban pitcher, to Jersey City of the International League. With Long Branch last season Luque was the wonder of the New York-New Jersey circuit.

The Players' Protective Association has protested to President Johnson against the color of the flagpole at Fenway Park, Boston. They want it painted green. Any other color, they declare, is hard on the batters' eyes.

It's up to the St. Louis Feds to get busy if they expect to attract the attention of the Mound City fans. Both the Browns and Cardinals are sweeping along like a prairie fire, while the Saintfeds vainly try to couple up the hose.

DUNELLEN WON A HAIR-RAISER

EFFECTIVE TWIRLING

Home Pitcher Fans Fifteen of His Opponents But Weakens in Eighth Inning—Montross' Triple a Feature—Final Score 7 to 2.

Under the leadership of "Smiling Jimmy" Montross,the winning streak of Dunellen was continued Saturday afternoon, the "Railroaders" defeating the Westfield "Cubs" at Recreation Park, Westfield, by the decisive score of 7 to 2. Up to the eighth inning the game was a pitchers' battle betwen Percy Harney, the giant Dunellen twirler and Cowperthwaite, the Williams College boy, both sides having scored two unearned runs up to that session.

During the first four innings, Cowperthwaite was invincible, only twelve Dunellen men being permitted to face him during that period and half of those being retired by the strike out route. In the fifth inning the turning point of the battle occured, Alberts and Giddes singling in rapid succession, both crossing the plate later on an error and a passed ball, and equalizing the two runs that the "Cubs" had scored in the third. During the next two innings, while neither side was able to score, it was evident that the "Railroaders" were commencing to solve Cowperthwaite's benders and in the next inning the blowup came. Harney started things going for his side by a line drive to left for a sack. Lambertson got a scratch hit to short, sending Harney to second. DeNitzo also scratched a hit to short, bringing Wall, the heavy slugger, who had thus far fanned the ozone twice and grounded out, up with the sacks loaded. Wall made good, singling sharply to right and sending three runs across the plate with the assistance of Himmelberger's poor return of his hit. Alberts hit to shortstop, Wall beating the throw to the plate. Alberts stole second and third, from whence he scored on Giddes' sacrifice, Recorder to Green. The star plays of the game were a beautiful running catch by Alberts of Vallean's high fly near the left field foul line, a great catch by Hannon of Hunt's short foul fly and a one-handed catch by Lambertson in the seventh of Taylor's terrific line drive, doubling up Green, who had singled at first. Green played his usual spectacular game at first for the "Cubs."

INDEPENDENTS LOSE CLOSE GAME TO METUCHEN NINE

The Independents, of this city, went to Metuchen, Saturday, and lost an exciting game by the score of 12 to 11. The game was full of heavy hitting. The local aggregation had a strong team and gave their opponents a good rub for the deciding count.

The home team drew first blood in the initial innings on two singles, and when Smith was hit by a pitched ball. The Independents rallied in the third stanza and scored four times. Three doubles, a single and a pass did the trick, but the home boys came back in their half of the third frame and tied the score. The visitors took the lead in the next inning when they pulled one across by clean hitting.

With two on in the fifth, Dufford, right field for the local team, hit for a trip around the bases and scored two ahead of him. The home club took the game in the eighth when they hit the ball hard and pulled five runs over the plate, which gave them a one run lead. The Independents could do nothing in their half of the ninth.

OUR MERRY LITTLE WAR IN BASEBALL

President Gilmore, of the Feds, is a Kind-hearted, Sympathetic Fellow.

New York, June 27—"I could wreck the American and National Leagues in forty-eight hours if I signed all the players of these two organizations who have asked to be taken into the Federal League." Thus spoke General Gilmore, commander-in-chief of the Federal forces, as he toyed with a check for several hundred thousand beans which was to be used as bait for jumping ball tossers.

When Gilmore's bold assertion was repeated to Bancroft Johnson, the major-general of organized baseball, the M. G. said: "If there are any of our players who are ready to jump to the Federals I say let them jump, so we may know who they are and rid the sport of men who are in the game for purlely mercenary reasons."

That mercenary stuff of Ban's is the goods. It surely will snare any of the big leaguers who jump to the Feds,for then we shall know they are willing to play baseball for money. If that sore of thing keeps up it won't be long before the players will be just as eager for the mazuma as the magnates. And then what will become of the grand old game?

If that sort of thing keeps up it considerable increase in the number of star players now on their payroll it will be for the purpose of crippling the older leagues and not because the Federals need the players. A few well-known players added to the circuit would perhaps boost the gate receipts here and there, but if the Federals continue to stage the tight pennant race they have been putting up of late they are sure to get the coin with the present line-ups.

From the viewpoint of the fans a real pennant race is one in which every team in the league has a chance to cop the bunting. At the present time the Federals appear better able to furnish a race of this sort than either the National or American League. So why should the new organization load up with expensive players, many of whom have been in fast company a number of years and soon will be ready to take the down grade?

The experience of the American League in the matter of distributing the playing strength should be taken as a lesson by the Federals. When the American League was organized a small number of National Leaguers were induced to jump to the new league. With a sprinkling of big league talent among the minor leaguers then in the outfit the American League served up to the fans some of the hottest pennant battles in the history of the game.

Then came the wholesale raid on the National League and soon the American League circuit was clogged with big league stars. A short time later the stars began to fade and the Americans found themselves pretty much in the same fix as the old National League, with a circuit that each season comprised from two to four teams that didn't have even an outside chance for the pennant.

Perhaps the Federals can get away with the star-grabbing stunt, but even if they do it's dollars to doughnuts they never will be able to put up a more interesting championship struggle than they are staging right now.

HOPE TEAM LOSES TO BOUND BROOK

Victory Goes to Strong Y. M. A. Team by Score of 5 to 1.

The Y. M. A. team, of Bound Brook, was too much for the Hope Chapel team last Saturday, and the local nine was forced to swallow a 5 to 1 defeat. The game was well played throughout and there were only five errors made. The runs were made on clean hits, but both teams were weak in the pinches.

The local team started off in the first inning and scored their only run of the game. Schott held his opponents well in hand for the first three innings, but they found him in the fourth and made two runs. Again in the eighth the home team hit hard and crossed the plate three times. Matthews held the Hope batters at bay at all times and was always effective in the pinches. The Schott brothers were responsible for four of their teams five hits, and W. Matthews also smashed out a brace.

SAURER BALL TEAM EASILY WIN GAME

With Conshay Pitching Have no Trouble in Downing the Klinkers at Somerville.

The Saurer baseball team continued its winning streak last Saturday, when the fast Klinkers, of Somerville, *fell before the pitching of Con*shay to the tune of 8 to 5. The local pitcher was always supreme and it was not until the last inning that the home team played ball.

The local batters pounded VanPelt the home pitcher, in the early stages of the game and at the end of the fifth innings they had eight runs. They then started to play defensive ball and held their opponents at bay. The Klinkers scored one run in the first and third, and when Conshay let up in the ninth they found him for hits that scored three runs. The Saurer nine made only one error and the home team was guilty of two misplays. Saurers big inning was the fourth, when they hit the ball extra hard and knocked four runs over the plate.

BAPTISTS' VICTORY FIRST OF SEASON

Defeat the Monroe Ball Tossers by Score of 17 to 10.

The First Baptist baseball team, of the Sunday-school League, made its way to the average department of the league, Saturday, when the nine players who played for the brown and white jumped on Stillman and hit him all over the lot for twenty-three hits. The final score was 17 to 10. The game was loosely played and both teams hit the ball hard at times. McLaughlin opposed Stillman on the mound and was battered at times and was relieved in the seventh by Patterson.

The Monroe aggregation was blanked in the first two innings, but the home team started to hit when the first man faced the pitcher. Patterson was hit by the first pitched ball and took first base. Savidge singled and Barnes doubled, scoring two. Banks singled and Barnes crossed the plate. In the fourth the Monroe boys had a batting rally and scored four runs. The Baptists took the game in their half of the fourth when they made five hits and scored eight runs. Their opponents were never dangerous after that.

Banks led the swatsmiths with five hits out of as many trips to the plate, and Savidge was second with four. Smith, Downs and McLaughlin pounded out three. For Monroe, Gunzelman and Stillman were the best stickers.

PARKS WIN GOOD GAME FROM REFORMATORY NINE

The Park Avenue Baptist baseball team defeated the team representing the New Jersey Reformatory, at Rahway, Saturday in a five-inning game by the score of 9 to 6. Bowlby pitched stellar ball for the entire nine innings but was given poor support by his teammates who made nine errors.

The home team took the lead with two runs in the first but the local boys soon overcame that and scored in every inning but the first. The local pitcher allowed only three hits while the Parks collected seven. Tice banged out a homer and Moulton was credited with a three-bagger. Gash, the home slabman, was hit hard at times when hits meant runs. The score:

Wallingford In His Prime

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

Copyright, 1913, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

CHAPTER V.

The End of the Company.

WALLINGFORD called a board of directors' meeting.

On the following day a similar telegram came from the gentleman in Ontario.

Mr. Wallingford called a board of directors' meeting.

On the second day after that a similar telegram came from the gentleman in Arkansas.

Mr. Wallingford called a board of directors' meeting.

On the second day after that, again, Mr. Bezazzum himself came into the factory clad in the most violent silk sweater procurable.

Mr. Wallingford not only called a board of directors' meeting on this special occasion, but he spent an entire day in a taxi and brought them to it, limp and pitiful as they were.

Mr. Bezazzum, more violently inflamed than his unspeakable sweater, was a tornado of righteous wrath, whom Mr. Wallingford endeavored, with no success at all, to placate with soothing words and fond promises.

"No!" shrieked Mr. Bezazzum. "Oi'll have the law on yez, begob! You promised me delivery on a certain date. I have me 300 min engaged and no houses to put them in. I could have had the houses elsewhere. But, by cheminy, I blace my confidence een diss skinner concern an' they turn me down! I'm agin you—see? Tomorrow, by heck, I'll stack you up in front of a $200,000 damage suit, so help me! And that goes!"

Wallingford, in a panic at Blackie's audacity, but appreciating far less than Blackie how much the panic of his numbed board of directors could safely be trodden upon and jerked to bits and gorily juggled with, just did save himself from an attack of heart failure and drew himself together for his cue.

"But, my dear man," he expostulated; "my dear Mr. Bezazzum, you must realize that, as far as intent goes, we are entirely innocent in this affair. We delivered the goods to you on time, and we cannot be held for anything on that score. In a spirit of fairness, however, we will do this much: We will pay the freight both ways, take back the 300 portable houses and repay your 10 per cent advance deposit in cash. Isn't that fair, Mr. Bezazzum?"

"Hear, hear!" cried Rickey Saunders in a tone which tried to be exhilarating. "That's a sportin' offer, Mr. Bezazzum."

Mr. Bezazzum's answer to that sporting offer was immediate, picturesque and violent. He had a contract calling for the delivery of the goods to him within a certain specified time, and delivery to a carrying agent from which he could not obtain the goods upon the proffer of the agreed price for their release was no delivery to him, in fact, common sense or law. In the meantime, relying upon this company, he had in good faith hired a regiment of men for whose operations, in his behalf, these portable houses were necessary, and these men, under contract, looked to him for their pay. He had a good and valid claim for damages, sustainable in any court, for a sum so large that it staggered even Wallingford when Mr. Bezazzum had the careless impudence to mention it. Mr. Bezazzum intended to press his claim in the highest courts in the land, so help him Moses, and there was no possible compromise. Hold on, though! There might—that is, it was just barely possible that there might—be a way out.

Hope, dim, vague, distant, glimmering hope, the barest flicker and spark of hope blushed faintly upon the far distant horizon for five disconsolate gentlemen in trade. It might be barely possible that, if the Speckled Bass company, retaining its 10 per cent advance payment, were to relinquish the goods in settlement of Mr. Bezazzum's damage claim— Well, gentlemen, there you were, and what were you going to do about it or were you going to stand suit, buhgosh!

"Oi'll have the law on yez, begob."

"At last there's somethin' fairly sportin'," Rickey plucked up his spirits enough to announce. "Is it correct, gov'nor, that this gentleman will just take the 300 portable houses and go back home to Bezap, or Bezibber, or wherever it is, and never—er—never molest us again?"

"That's his only term," vociferated Mr. Bezazzum.

"Then it's perfectly easy," declared Rickey, so relieved that he could pluck with interest at the mustache which would not come. "We don't want the bloomin' bungalows, do we, fellows?"

The unanimous assent to this was a closely concerted groan, but the groan was emphatic.

"Then," went on Rickey, still brightening, "I vote, fellows, that we accept the bloomin' compromise and thank the gentleman from Bezam for having made this rippin', good, sportin' offer."

"Just a moment, gentlemen," warned Wallingford solemnly. "We are setting a dangerous precedent. We have customers in Ontario and in Arkansas who will be claiming the same terms."

"Move we let 'em all have the terms," returned Rickey promptly. "Move we let 'em all have 'em. That's sportin', eh, fellows? Somebody second the motion."

By some remarkable coincidence the attorney for the National company just managed to happen in upon them at this juncture. The attorney for the National company was very severe. He had just received fresh information regarding an infringement incorporated into the Speckled Bass product, but not mentioned in the Speckled Bass patent, and this infringement gave the National company an additional crushing legal weapon. The company he represented was not disposed to be harsh, however. It would give the Speckled Bass company its choice of two courses. It could continue business under a prohibitive royalty or it could quit business entirely and forever.

It took the board of directors just forty-three seconds to accept the proposition to go out of business entirely and forever, and immediately thereafter it departed in a body, declining even to take a parting drink in the hideous marts of trade.

"Well, Jimmy," said Blackie, after even the attorney for the opposition had departed, "let's crack a bumper and count the profits. You made $125,000 clear on the patents, which coin belongs to you individually, and we have 525 portable houses, free of all encumbrance, except freightage to points of good sale, and worth $212,000, which cost us $21,200. It was a fine and dandy revenge, Jimmy."

"Revenge!" half shouted Wallingford, leaning over suddenly and pounding upon the table with his big fist. "Would you call this piffling little amusement revenge? You're never serious enough, Blackie, to understand what that word means, but I do. Did you see me call young Benssy back? Well, I sent a message by him that will bring me a revenge worth while at 11 o'clock tomorrow. What are you laughing about, kid?"

"Never mind," said Toad, with a wave of his freckled hand, "I'm on. You two is too slick to rest well nights, but the booger man'll git you sure."

At precisely 1 Toad Jessop ushered into the office of the official manager a spare, nervous, leather faced man, whose beard sprang black an hour after a shave. He hung slouchily in his good clothes, and his step had no elasticity, but there was an unquenchable fire in his eyes, and a vast unnumbered army of men, from ditch diggers to millionaires, would tremble if E. H. Falls were to do so inconceivable a thing as to roar. He shuffled into Wallingford's office and sat quietly in a big chair, shrinking into his clothes, almost as if he were in dread of his antagonist—and he waited!

Wallingford proved the weaker man in the start, for he began the struggle.

"Well, I suppose your son has told you of the iniquitous manner in which he was robbed?" began Wallingford gloatingly.

"He did nothing of the sort," said Falls. "If he had been robbed he would have crawled under the porch and licked his own wound until it was well. I never yet heard Benssy whine. Was he robbed?"

"Well, I wouldn't just say robbed," returned Wallingford, with the ugly laugh of a man who sees his moment of revenge on the way and thirsts for it. "I wouldn't say robbed because that might be taken as a confession. He just proved himself a saphead, that's all."

The shrunken figure in the chair straightened up with surprising elasticity. "You'll kindly drop any mention of Benssy," he said, with a snap of his jaws. "I can put Benssy in a turning lathe, trim off a thousandth of an inch of careless artificiality, split him up and make of him six better men than most of his recent associates. I know what's in the boy, and I am highly pleased to allow him to be utterly care free and an outward fool if he likes, but if I ever need him I'll skin him and have a real man standing by the side of me. Now, what did you want to see me about?"

"The Lake Michigan and Pacific," blurted Wallingford surlily, for so far his attack had been a boomerang.

The eyes of Falls lighted with immediate interest. "So you are the one who has the balance of stock hidden away?" he commented.

"You bet I am!" declared Wallingford, leaning forward in sudden anger and holding his fist tensely upon the edge of the table. From that moment Falls lounged back in his chair and listened and never moved. "You bet I am!" repeated Wallingford. "Benssy, your unskinned man, let out to me when I first met him that you are actually going to build the connecting line between the Chicago and Manhattan and the Lake Michigan and Pacific railroads, and create the new Pacific trunk line upon which you made me lose the only real fortune I ever had."

Wallingford's face had reddened, and his voice grew husky with emotion as he went on. "Yes, you did! I came to you with a proposition to sell that connecting strip of land for stock in the two roads, which were bound to advance in value when they were consolidated, and you led me into a wild mess of margin speculation, which cost me $500,000, all I had in the world. Now, I'm going to get it all back, with interest. Do you hear me? With interest! The minute I found that you were actually going to slip this road through, which you had denied that you would ever build, I mortgaged everything I possessed, borrowed everything I could, raked and scraped together until I had a little over $300,000. With this I quietly bought outright all the loose stock I could find of the Lake Michigan and Pacific, knowing that you were doing the same, that you would not go into the open market for fear of boosting the price and that you felt your operations to be so secret that you had plenty of time to secure control."

Wallingford mopped his brow. He was hoarse now. Falls sat quietly regarding him, but did nothing so dramatic as even to light a cigar.

"Well, after I had invested all that I could I showed W. D. Fishbacker your order for 100 portable houses and called his attention to the points to which they were to be delivered and Fishbacker struggled with you for the rest. I notice that you ran up the price quite a bit before all the stock was shaken loose. There isn't a share of it to be had, Mr. Falls, except from Fishbacker or myself, and you know how much chance there is for you ever to do business on any basis with Fishbacker." His voice was very hoarse now, but even above the hoarseness it arose to a queer caricature of an angry shriek, and his face was purple with passion. "I hold control, which you must have, and you must come to me for it, and you must pay my price!"

There was a moment of silence, in which Wallingford tremblingly reached for a glass of water, and, finding the glass empty, set it down; then, still needing a drink, picked it up and held it foolishly. Falls crossed over the other leg.

"It seems that you have me," he pleasantly admitted. "How much do you want for your $300,000 worth of stock?"

"A million and a quarter," snarled Wallingford, leaning forward and looking closely into the eyes of the only man he had ever held as an enemy.

Falls produced a check book from his pocket, produced a fountain pen from another, wrote a check and arose. "There's your million and a quarter, Mr. Wallingford," he observed in so quiet and even a tone that there must either be hatred, contempt, or, worse than all, complete indifference behind it. "Deliver your stock to my office before the banks close, and you will find that check perfectly negotiable. When you get your million and a quarter go out and buy a cigarette with it and smoke it up and be broke again and start back working the county fairs. I know you'll do it, Wallingford, for a piker always finds his level."

"A million and a quarter," snarled Wallingford.

Somehow Falls emerged from Wallingford's office unanswered. The truth seldom meets with an adequate reply except in its own kind.

Well, Wallingford had the million and a quarter for which he had played; enough to give Fannie back her house upon the avenue; enough to furnish himself with all the luxuries and indulgences that he craved; enough to give back to Violet Bonnie her $15,000, with 200 or 300 per cent interest, but still he was not quite satisfied. Why? Because of one simple word. Falls had called him a piker and had proved it.

MADE A GREAT HIT WITH PRESS WOMEN READERS

A constant stream is coming to the office of the Press to secure one or more of the celebrated outfits of Imperial Patterns, which make embroidery transfers by a new process, an art that any girl may follow with profit and pleasure, in all the latest designs for the decoration of fabrics, lingerie, or any other articles that lend themselves to its application. Not only were the women in evidence as eager buyers, but young girls as well, of all ages.

As every woman knows that in the regular way an embroidery pattern never costs less than 10 cents, and often more, the enormous demand for the Imperial Outfit, which besides the largest assortment of designs, includes an all-metal patent spring hoop, and a booklet of instructions, will seem to her quite natural, and a foregone conclusion to be expected from an offer so unique and advantageous to every woman in the land.

Out-of-town patrons are required to add 5 cents to pay postage for the mailing of their packet, but this extra does not appear to affect the demand, as mail orders are pouring in, no doubt largely caused by the patent fact that the opportunity may never occur again by which over $10 worth of latest style embroidery patterns can be obtained for 48 cents.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

8121

A smart, attractive kimono blouse with duchess closing and a short gathered peplum, which may be used or not, as preferred, is shown in No. 8121. It has a full-length sleeve, which may be cut off at elbow length if desired, and a soft crushed girdle. One of the flowered crêpes, sprigged muslins or dimities could be used successfully with this waist or any of the soft washable silks. Although a trifle more expensive than most silks, crêpe de Chine is remarkably practical for such blouses as this; it washes well, does not shrink or fade and comes in all of the attractive new colorings. Since yellow is so much favored this spring, an excellent suggestion for this design would be yellow crêpe de Chine; the neck and sleeves might be finished with an organdy frill and a row of tiny black buttons might extend up and down the closing to give a touch of contrast; if these buttons were of bone it would not be necessary to remove them when washing the blouse.

This waist may be made in size 36, with 2⅛ yards of 36-inch material.

Pattern is cut in five sizes, 34 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

NEEDLEWORK

14660

For the simple reason that stenciling comes under the head of Arts and Crafts, many people are afraid to tackle this simple and fascinating method of decorating. Many beautiful and costly articles, as well as inexpensive materials, have been made more attractive by this method. It is true that it takes longer to get the materials ready for use than embroidery does but a pleasing effect is gained in much less time.

After the design has been cut from stencil board it should be firmly fastened with thumb tacks on the right side of the material, which has been spread over a smooth board. The oil paints should be mixed to the consistency of cream with gasoline or a mixture of turpentine one pint, acetic acid one ounce, oil of wintergreen one ounce, and this should be rubbed well into the material so that no surplus paint is left on the surface. The stencil board should be wiped off before arranging it for the next repeat.

The main points to be remembered are to always have a dry blotter placed beneath the fabric to be stenciled and to rub the brush almost dry before applying it to the material.

Explicit directions for stenciling will be found on the pattern envelope.

These designs are suitable for use on furniture, curtains, couch-covers, pillows and runners of crash, linen or pongee.

Guaranteed hot-iron transfer pattern, No. 14660, will be supplied for 15 cents.

Some Cookery Suggestions

MACARONI FOR SUMMER.

DINNER MENU.
Cream of Spinach Soup.
Macaroni and Meat.
New Potatoes. Green Peas.
Cucumbers With French Dressing.
Gooseberry Tarts.
Coffee.

IN summer many light dishes in which macaroni is used may be substituted for meat. Several of them are mentioned here:

Nice Breakfast Dish.

Macaroni With Egg.—Cook macaroni until tender, drain and pour over it a dash of cold water. Place a layer in a buttered baking dish. Then make alternative layers of egg yolk and macaroni for the top layer. Over all pour cream sauce, then sprinkle over the top dried breadcrumbs. Bake until a nice brown.

Macaroni and Meat.—Take cold roast beef or mutton and chop very fine, removing all the fat, fill a dish nearly full with cold boiled macaroni, leaving room in the center for the meat seasoned with pepper, salt, thyme and a little liquor from canned or stewed tomatoes. Pour stock or gravy over all, cover with breadcrumbs, add two tablespoonfuls melted butter and bake half an hour.

Prepared With Cheese.

Macaroni Ragout.—Take six potatoes, one cupful of macaroni, one cupful of milk; butter, size of egg; cream cheese, one-quarter pound; salt and pepper to taste. Boil the potatoes in their jackets. When cold peel and cut in dice. Boil macaroni thirty minutes and blanch in cold water. Set milk, butter, cheese and seasoning on stove until the cheese is melted. Mix potatoes and macaroni and put into milk. When thoroughly heated put in the oven and bake half an hour.

Baked Macaroni With Cheese.—Take one cupful best macaroni, one cupful milk, one cupful of grated American cheese, one teaspoonful of salt, dash of white pepper and a dash of paprika. Boil, drain and blanch the macaroni. Put into bake dish, which has been brushed with butter; pour over the macaroni the milk, dust with the salt, pepper, paprika and cover with the grated cheese. Cover and bake twenty minutes; uncover and bake until a light brown.

They Gathered the Roses.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Rose Festival of The Fairies.

EVELYN had a great big bowl of roses in her room.

"Those roses are so fragrant and so beautiful," said daddy. "It reminds me of the rose festival the fairies had the other day.

"The queen of the fairies told all the other fairies that they must gather all the roses they could and have them ready for a certain afternoon.

"So they did their best to gather all the roses they could. They got a lot of wild roses as well as quantities of garden ones.

"Every fairy had her roses in a basket made of straw and moss and held by pink ribbon.

"When the fairy queen saw so many lovely roses she cried out with delight:

"'Oh, little fairies, you always do my heart good! You have found some of the most beautiful roses I have ever seen, and I can't tell you how happy I am. And now we will begin our rose festival.'

"All the little fairies at this joined hands. The fairies took all the roses which they had twined into garlands and put them around their necks. Then they danced around and around, singing songs.

"After they had finished each fairy stood upon a little bed made of roses, each one a wee bit higher than the other, so that it made the fairies look like a lot of lovely rose fairies going up a rose stairway.

"At the very top of all the fairy queen stood, and then began the real part of the festival.

"She took all the roses that she had gathered and threw them down, making it look like there was a rose storm, and the fairies laughed as the roses fell on their necks and on top of their heads.

"Then they tried to throw some of their roses up to the fairy queen; but, of course, they would not go up in the air as easily as they had come down.

"After the rose storm was over the fairy queen said:

"'I hear some children going home from a picnic, and one of them is saying that her mother is ill, and that is why she must hurry back. Let's drop all our roses and run, for now we have had our festival, and these roses will be such a treat to any one who is ill.'

"So the fairies hurried away. The children came by, and, oh, how they exclaimed when they saw so many wonderful roses!

"'They will be lovely for your mother,' said the children to the little girl whose mother was ill, and they gathered the roses up in their arms.

"'I am sure the fairies must have been here,' said the little girl."

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. John Y. Brock, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will speak at the prayer service Wednesday evening on "Jesus and Controversy."

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel, will hold a special meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas G. Hendry, 925 West Fourth street, when matters of importance will be considered. A large attendance is desired.

Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, left this morning for his vacation. The pastoral affairs during July will be in charge of Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel.

The Christian Endeavor meetings of the Hope chapel society will be omitted during the next two months with the exception of the first meeting of the month, when the consecration services will be held.

The July communion service of Hope chapel has been postponed to the second Sunday in August. Hereafter the communion services of this church will be on the second Sundays of October, December, February April, June and August.

The organist and choir of the First M. E. church will have a vacation this summer during August. The music of this church during the absence of the choir, will receive due attention.

The trustees of the First M. E. church will hold their regular meeting next Sunday after the morning service. The official board of this church meets July 8.

Holy communion will be observed at the Congregational church at the hour of the morning service next Sunday.

Holy communion service will be celebrated at the First Baptist church next Sunday at the hour of the morning service. The quarterly business session of this church will be held July 8.

An oratorical contest will be held this evening at the First Baptist church, in which six contestants have entered.

Rev. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will report on the Northern Baptist Convention which he recently attended at Boston.

The Men's Conference Bible class of the First Baptist church, will hold a "feed" at Keller's Grove, North Plainfield, Thursday evening.

The last session of the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school for the summer was held yesterday morning. The sessions will be resumed in September.

The summer schedule at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church omitting the Sunday-school and afternoon preaching goes in effect next Sunday.

FORGOT WHITE HOUSE FLAG.

Negligence of Servant Revealed by Night Lightning Flashes.

Washington, June 29.—Vivid flashes of lightning that featured a heavy rainstorm in Washington revealed the stars and stripes flying from the top of the flagstaff on the White House. The flag is supposed to fly there when the president is in the White House, but only between sunrise and sunset.

Newspaper men who called up the White House and inquired the reason for the unusual display were promptly assured that the flag had been left up through the mistake of a servant. Five minutes later, when the lightning flashed, the flag no longer waved.

Weather Forecast.

Thunder showers today, followed by fair weather; tomorrow fair with moderate to fresh shifting winds, becoming northwest.

NOTICE TO ABSENT DEFENDANTS.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To William M. Harrison, Ella Harrison, Sarah Idell Smith and Louis Morreil, Jr.

By virtue of an order of the court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein J. Clark Prall is complainant and William M. Harrison and Ella Harrison and others are defendants. You are required to plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the fourth day of August next or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by William M. Harrison and wife to J. Clark Prall, dated May 7th 1909, on lands in the town of Westfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, and you William M. Harrison and Ella Harrison are made defendants because you own said lands and made and executed said Mortgage, and you Sarah Idell Smith are made a party because you held or now hold a mortgage on said lands and premises, and you Louis Morreil, Jr., are made a party because you filed a lien claim on the building on said property and claim some interest in the lands it is alleged. ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR THE SEASON

Playground Supervisor G. W. Wriston Has Fine Schedule Mapped Out.

CALL LEAGUE MEETINGS

Juniors and Seniors Will Convene This Week to Start the Ball Schedule Rolling for the Summer—Diversion Along Many Lines.

An extensive and elaborate summer program has been arranged for Parker Field by Supervisor George W. Wriston which will include baseball, track meets, tennis, strength and speed tests and basketball. The program is a fine one and surpasses that of other years. There will be something going on at the playground every day and the boys and girls of this city and the borough will be well taken care of. Mr Wriston has taken all classes and ages into consideration and has formed a schedule that has some activity for every one who desires to take part.

Two baseball leagues, the Junior and the Senior, which were so successful last year, will again be organized and a meeting of all the managers of the junior league teams will be held at Parker Field tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. At that time all plans will be made and a schedule arranged. The first game will be played next Monday. There is still a place for other teams in both leagues and those expecting to enter should go to the first meeting tomorrow. The Senior league meeting is called for 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and that organization will be started on Tuesday, July 7. Each league will be composed of six teams and there will be several games a week.

During the first two weeks of the playground season a series of strength and speed tests will be held similar to those that were conducted last year. These proved to be popular last year and most of the boys who took them were greatly benefitted. Track meets will be held from time to time between the teams of the two leagues.

A new feature will be added this season provided enough of the girls of the city take an interest in it, in the nature of a basketball league. Two tennis tournaments will be held on the Parker Field courts which are now in fine condition. The teams of the baseball leagues will need balls during the summer and anyone wishing to contribute these necessities should call or write to the supervisor at Parker Field.

MURRAY IS SOME SPRINTER, BUT THE CROOK BEAT HIM

Arriving in this city shortly after 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, after attending a gathering of the Scottish clans in Newark, Saturday night, Robert Murray, of West Front street, discovered a milk thief stealing a bottle of the fluid from the doorstep of his home in one of the Nagel flats. Murray, who has gathered some repute as a wielder of the hammer and a sprinter, crept stealthfully up on the night prowler and just as the man was preparing for a getaway, he pounced on him.

A scuffle ensued, Murray throwing his youthful quarry to the sidewalk. For several minutes the two matched their knowledge of toe-holds, neck grips and rib-squeezers but the thief finally managed to squirm away from his would-be captor and headed for Grove street. As the milk thief turned toward the mountains Murray sprang from his position on the sidewalk and a sprinting match was on. The fifty-yard handicap secured by the culprit, however, proved too great for Murray to overcome and he finally gave up the chase, reporting the incident to the North Plainfield police.

JOHN CONNELLY.

John Connelly, of 956 West Fifth street, aged sixty-seven year, died this morning after a lingering illness. Aside from his wife, he is survived by four daughters, three of whom are living at home, and a son, John, a telegrapher working at Chrome. Shortly after coming to this city from Hampton Junction, several years ago, Mr. Connelly was employed at the local plant of the Pond Machine Tool Company. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ODD FELLOWS ELECT.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., met last evening in regular session, and elected two officers as follows: Noble grand, Fred H. Becker; Vice grand, Charles Doeringer. These officers, together with others to be appointed, will be installed July 13.

ASSOCIATION TO PROVIDE LUNCHES

Mothers Given Permission to Extend Their Work to the High School.

TO MINIMIZE THE RATE

Open-air School Will Hereafter Be Controlled by Board of Education—Bids for Plumbing Work Received—Final Meeting Next Week

Representatives from the Mothers' Association appeared at the meeting of the Plainfield Board of Education, held in the High School, last night, making application to install their system of serving daily lunches in the High School during the 1914-15 term. They proposed to carry on the project on a scientific basis, supplying the lunches at a moderate cost and at the same time furnishing tasteful and nourishing food. The proposition met with the favor of the Board and it was voted to allow the women to carry out the idea in the fall. The lunches will cost from 5 to 20 cents.

The following local plumbers, last night, filed their bids to install plumbing fixtures in the local public schools during the summer recess: E. F. Bornman & Brothers, A. M. Griffen Company, George J. Tobin, Winn & Higgins, Emmons & McVoy, VanZandt & Doeringer, Den J. Galbraith.

Bids for furnishing school supplies for the coming year were received from J. L. Hammett Company, Peckham Little & Company, and Matthias Plum.

Announcement was made of the engagement of the following teachers for the summer school system of 1914, which will open at the High School next Monday morning, under the direction of Roy W. Lord, who will act as principal for the summer months: Grades—Sarah L. Warbner, principal; Rita Pond, E. M. Strong, Alice Brick, Nora M. Koons, and William C. McLellan; High School—Roy W. Lord, principal; P. J. VanArsdale, Helen Pearce, Lucy Whitford, Ralph S. Fatch and Pauline Denton.

A communication was received, last night, from the Anti-Tuberculosis League, placing the open-air school under the Board of Education after January 1, 1915, for use as an open-air school for tubercular and delicate children. The Board will assume the salary of a teacher, and the Anti-Tuberculosis League will heat the building, furnish meals and provide for the services of a nurse, as heretofore, until the close of the school year in 1915.

Attorney Isaac Runyon appeared before the Board in behalf of B. F. Tallamy & Brother, to negotiate the settlement of a disputed claim for erecting a fire escape on the Franklin School some years ago. Tallamy & Brother were sub-contractors under John Abbott. The matter was referred to the building committee, who will inquire into the facts for the purpose of arriving at an equitable settlement with the contractors.

Dr. A. F. VanHorn, the medical inspector of the schools, reported that he had, during the past school year, examined 3,758 pupils, and that there had been 1,386 cases which required medical attention.

The Board will hold its final meeting for the summer July 7 to settle such unfinished business as requires immediate attention.

CITY NATIONAL BANK DECLARES 100TH DIVIDEND

The First National Bank, of this city, today declared its one hundredth dividend. The bank has been doing business for the past fifty years and during that time has distributed, including today's dividend, $889,500 to its stockholders. It was incorporated in March, fifty years ago, and has been declaring two dividends yearly, which brings this one up to the century mark. The dividends have averaged about five per cent.

PHYSICIANS ATTEND.

The annual convention of the American Institute of Homepathy was opened in Atlantic City, yesterday, and will continue through next Saturday. This organization is the oldest medical society of the country. Among those of the medical profession of this city in attendance at the gathering, are Doctors T. S. Davis, Edward Rushmore, J. H. Cooley, Roger L. Cooley and F. W. Cornell.

BOARD RATIFIES RESULTS OF VOTE

Will Erect New School House on Harrison Avenue in the Fall.

NEW PRINCIPAL HERE

D. Fred Aungst, Successor to A. B. Vossler, Attends Meeting of the Boro Education Supervisors—Teachers Appointed.

Results of the special district school election of North Plainfield were presented to the Borough Board of Education at its monthly meeting held in the Somerset School last night and endorsed by that body. Preparations are being made to receive plans for the new graded school to be erected on Harrison avenue, in the section now known as "Prideville" and as soon as the type of building can be decided upon the Board proposes to advertise for bids. Indications at present do not assure the completion of the building prior to the opening of the fall term and there will probably be some change in the present routine of school work and the location of the various pupils.

The Board will purchase and cancel $9,000 worth of promissory notes of the district, now outstanding, issued October 1, 1913. The body will issue eighteen bonds in the denomination of $500 each. Eight bonds will be for twelve years and ten for thirteen years. During the summer months the Board of Education will expend a sum not to exceed $11,000 to remodel and repair the Somerset School and purchase some necessary furniture for the building. The Board will issue twenty-two bonds for this purpose of $500 each. Negotiations are under way for the purchase of the lot on Harrison avenue for the erection of the new school and it is thought that the property can now be bought for a figure lower than the one originally announced.

When first agreed upon by the Board it was thought that the property was a corner one, but it has since developedd that this is not the case. The maximum cost is set at $2,500 but it is thought that this amount will exceed by nearly $1,000 the minimum figure. Bids will be advertised for a school house, the cost of building and furnishing not to exceed $27,500. Sixty bonds of $500 each will be issued for this debt. Twelve of the bonds will be for sixteen years, twelve for seventeen years, twelve for eighteen years, twelve for nineteen years and twelve for twenty years.

Announcement was made last night by the teachers' committee of the appointment of the following teachers for the 1914-15 term of school: Miss Ethel H. Bernard, latin instructor in the High School; Miss Bertha Borham, eighth grade; and Miss Marjorie Robinson, secretary in the High School to succeed Miss Agnes Boxald.

D. Fred Aungst, the new supervising principal of the North Plainfield High School, who succeeds Arthur B. Vosseler, was present at last night's meeting and was introduced to the Board at that time. He will remove his personal effects to North Plainfield the latter part of the week and will remain in the borough during the summer months arranging his work for the opening of the fall term. Mr. Aungst comes to North Plainfield from Hamburg, N. J., where he was supervising principal of the Hardyton Township Schools.

LITTLE CHARITY WORKERS GAVE DANCE FOR NURSERY

Six little girls gave a lawn dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Holstein, of 1327 Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon, for the benefit of The Day Nursery. The event was made up of several novel features and the afternoon proved to be an enjoyable one for all who attended.

The young charity workers in charge of the affair were the Misses Ann Holstein, Frances Abbey, Mary Genung, Catherine Woodbury, Esther Vars and Dorothy Burke. Their efforts netted $2.25 for the worthy cause.

FAREWELL SERMON SEPT. 6.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire and family, now on their way to Europe, will return to Plainfield on Sunday, September 6, on which day, Mr. Maguire will preach his farewell sermon in the Park Avenue Baptist church. On the following Sunday, September 13, he will preach his first sermon as pastor in the Ruggles Street Baptist church, Boston.

BOROUGH COURT NOTES.

Samuel Goff, of Duer street, was arraigned before Recorder Fred Hand this morning on the charge of being helplessly drunk. A fine of $5 was imposed.

POSTMASTER BIRD RETIRES TOMORROW

Will Be Succeeded Following Long Service by Alvin E. Hoagland.

Postmaster Elias H. Bird, who has held that office for the past sixteen years, is serving his last day as a public official under the Federal Government today. Mr. Bird was appointed postmaster in 1898 during President McKinley's first term, being re-appointed each successive term. During his administration of the government's business at the Painfield office, Mr. Bird has made a host of friends, and is probably the best known man in the city.

With the ending of Mr. Bird's successful career as postmaster tonight, Alvin E. Hoagland, the recently appointed Democratic postmaster, will take charge of the office in the morning. Mr. Bird's departure from duties at the office also marks the close of the term of James A. Martin, assistant postmaster.

Mr. Martin, who is of a very retiring nature, is a close rival of Mr. Bird for popularity and length of service. Although Mr. Hoagland desired to retain Mr. Martin as his assistant, the latter preferred to end his service now. William B. Sharp, chief clerk of the office, succeeds Mr. Martin as assistant, and James Conklin becomes money order clerk.

SHE'S NO LONGER "SWEET SIXTEEN"

Miss Jubilee Rowley Tendered a Birthday Surprise Last Night.

Miss Jubilee Rowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowley, of Grove street, was tendered a surprise party at her home last night in honor of her seventeenth birthday. There were about twenty present and dancing and cards were the main features of the evening. The Victrola furnished music for the dancers on the large porch.

At midnight refreshments were served by the hostess' mother, who was assisted by Mrs. W. O. Taylor. Miss Rowley received many handsome and useful gifts. Those who were present are the Misses Lillian Spencer, Elizabeth Hilpot, Edith Richards, Madeline Martin, Marjorie Burtis, Jubilee Rowley, Lucile Ewart, Margaret Ewart, Ruth Day and Ralph Smalley, George Townley, Percy Bailey, William Taylor, Ralph Taylor, Duclos Van Mater, Franklin Lowe, Addison Newkirk, Franklin Rowley, Ronald Conroy, Ashley Burner and Frank Dunning.

MAY SPEND THREE DAYS IN BORO JAIL

Robert Carson Says He Does Not Intend Getting Dog License.

Robert Carson, of Belmont avenue, the borough, who was one of seven boroughites arraigned before Recorder Fred Hand, this morning, charged with failure to secure dog licenses, did not fare as well as the other six, who were released on suspended sentences upon their promise to comply with the law. Carson told the court that he did not intend to get a license for his pet canine and Recorder Hand promptly imposed a fine of $3. He was still obdurate and in case he fails to pay the fine he will be obliged to spend three days in the borough jail.

The others arraigned for failure to get licenses were Davenport Bellis, of Harrison avenue; J. E. Brown, of Somerset street; Mrs. Scarlett, of Fairview avenue; Charles Greder, of Jefferson avenue; James B. Conklin, of Pearl street and Chris. Lubeck, of Duer street. Albert Sutterlein, of Duer street, and Romel Sandford, of Mountain avenue, will be arraigned tomorrow on a similar charge. The activity of the borough police is having a good effect fr many residents who own dogs are losing no time in complying with the law.

WANTS MORE TIME.

Niagara Falls, Ontario, June 30.—General Carranza's formal reply asking for more time reached the Mediators today, being delivered to Ambassador Naon. Carranza asked delay on the ground that it was necessary for him to consult all his generals who signed the treaty at Guadaloupe, stipulating that the Constitutionalists must take Mexico City by force of arms.

JULY 4 PROGRAM AT PARKER FIELD

Local Athletic Center Will Be the Mecca for 150 Trained Athletes.

AN ALL DAY PROGRAM

Baseball in the Morning, Athletics in the Afternoon and Fireworks at Night—Best Schedule Ever Arranged.

All roads will lead to Parker Field next Saturday afternoon when the Playground Commission will run off what promises to be one of the greatest athletic meets ever held in this section of the State. Plainfield's recreation center will be the mecca of one hundred and fifty trained athletes, the cream of the track and field talent in the Metropolitan district, and some close and clever exhibitions of the various branches of sport are anticipated. Every New York athletic club of importance will be represented in the numerous events on the program and several Olympic stars will be "among those present."

Several of the country's famous performers have added Plainfield to their "calling list," principally because of the handsome array of prizes offered as awards in the running and jumping, and it would not be a great surprise to those interested to see some of the track records smashed to smithereens. Plainfield will have its best representatives on deck to keep some of the silver loving cups within the confines of the Queen City, and the chances for local men finishing one, two, three in some of the feature numbers are exceedingly bright. Among the Plainfielders who loom up as the most promising on the list are Jack Fritts and Ralph Runyon, who will compete under the colors of the Pastime A. C.; Jim Nash, of Temple University; Albert Brynariski, formerly of the Plainfield High School track team; Huston Durar, winner of the Y. M. C. A. five-mile modified marathon; John Gates, a sprinter; Morris Mann, jumper and sprinter, and William Peacock, another sprinter. All of these men with the exception of Peacock have been trying out daily on Parker Field and are in the pink of condition for the banner festival. Peacock is using the East Orange Oval, the finest athletic center in the State, as his training quarters and is getting in his daily drills.

Among the forty odd awards to be made for superior work are the Board of Trade, the Ritz and the Plainfield Daily Press trophies. The Board of Trade cup will go to the winner of the five-mile run through the city streets, the event finishing at Parker Field. The Ritz cup is offered for the first man to finish in the one mile event. The Plainfield Daily Press cup is of all around importance inasmuch as it will be given to the Plainfield athlete scoring the largest number of points in the various events. The winner must be a competitor under the colors of a local organization or must be entered independently. Plainfield performers running or jumping for New York or other New Jersey clubs are not eligible to compete for the trophy.

In the evening Parker Field will be transformed into a rendezvous for the display of novelty fireworks. Individual contributions from various public spirited citizens have enabled the commission to provide an excellent pyrotechnic program and the exhibition will be well worth witnessing.

In the morning a ball game between the Dunellen and Plainfield nines will be the attraction at Parker Field.

RECEPTION FOR BRIDE-ELECT.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thul, of 20 Howard street, tendered their daughter, Miss Mary Emma Thul, a reception last evening in honor of her marriage to John Carley, of Scranton, Pa., which takes place at St. Mary's church tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. There were about sixty guests present and Miss Thul was the recipient of many handsome presents, including several pieces of cut glass.

ABE DAVID WILL SIT.

District Court Judge Abe David, of Elizabeth, will sit in the local District Court tomorrow morning in the absence of Judge Walter L. Heteld, who is ill. During the remainder of June and the month of July, District Court will be held on Wednesdays instead of Thursdays as has heretofore been the custom.

GOING ABROAD.

Among those leaving tomorrow for Europe on the Aquatania, of the Cunard Line are Miss Nellie Gowgin, Charles Clarke, Stanley Pearson, Thomas Ward, and Walter Howe, all of this city. Passage was booked through Estil's agency.

LEFT ESTATE OF GREAT VALUE

Father of Henry W. Gennerich, of This City, Died Wealthy.

MADE MANY BEQUESTS

Estate Estimated to Be Worth $116,926.92—Son Receives $75 Gold Watch and One-Fifth of the Residue.

New York City, June 30—A report of the Transfer Tax State Appraiser, filed today with the clerk of the Surrogate's Court, on the estate left by Christian F. Gennerch, father of Henry William Gennerich, of Clinton avenue, Plainfield, shows that when the decedent passed away on December 28, 1912, he left an estate of $116,926.92 consisting of the following:

Real estate, $26,730; on nand and in banks, $1,382.06; insurance policies, notes, bonds and mortgages, $71,101.60; furniture, $1,084.75; securities, $6,200, and his business of buying and selling canned goods at 49 Harrison street here, $10,554.51.

Out of this sum, $116,926.92, however, there are expenses of $22,577.73—funeral, $1,401.30; administration, $2,500, and debts, $18,676.43—making the net value $94,349.19. This, under the direction of his will, executed April 20, 1908, passes over, as follows: To charity, $1,500; Anna Haderman, daughter, of No 700, West 178th street, and Wilhelmine G. M. Sparnicht, another daughter, of No. 208 West 184th street, each, $18,706.96.

John D. G. Gennerich, son, of Bronxville, N. Y., $18,495.09; Henry William Gennerich, the Plainfield son, a $75 gold watch and chain, and one-fifth of the residue, amounting to $18,395.09; Charles G. Gennerich, also, son, of Na. 226 West 78th street, $18,740.09.

John D. G. Gennerich, the son, and Frederick E. Haderman, son-in-law, and Ferdinand W. Haderman, are the executors, serving as such without commissions, as the will directed them to do.

DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE

Dr. Thomas W. Embley, of New York, Expires at Home of C. W. Holland.

Dr. Thomas W. Embley, of 22 West Eighty-fourth street, New York city, one of the best known homeopathic physicians in the Metropolitan district, died suddenly Sunday evening while a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Holland on West Seventh street. He and a friend had come to Plainfield to visit at the Holland home and had just completed his dinner in the evening when he was seized with an attack of heart disease and passed away almost immediately before medical attendance could be summoned.

Dr. Embley, who was forty years old, was a graduate of the Hahnemann Medical College, of Philadelphia, in 1896. He began the practice of his profession in New York and soon achieved distinction in homeopathic medical circles as a general practitioner. He was a prominent member of the New York Homeopathic Medical Society. He was also one of the visiting physicians of the Metropolitan Hospital, New York's Homeopathic Hospital on Blackwell's Island. He was a member of the Thirteen Club and of the Duchess County Club.

Dr. Embley was a bachelor and so far as known he left no relatives. His body will be cremated and the funeral service will be held at the late home tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Following the physician's sudden death arrangements were made at once to have the remains taken to his New York home.

ENGINEER WILL RECEIVE $18,000

Joint Sewage Committee on Contracts Recommends That Figure.

NO ADDITIONAL FEES

George W. Fuller Will Probably Be Engaged to Supervise Building of Trunk Sewer—Commission Meets Tomorrow Night.

The committee from the Joint Sanitary Sewage Commission having charge of contracts, met last night, prior to the regular meeting of the commission which will be held tomorrow night, and passed on a contract with George W. Fuller, the sanitary engineer, who was present. The form of contract which was drafted provides among other things that Mr. Fuller is to receive a flat sum of $18,000 and there are to be no additional fees whether the contract is completed within the specified time or not.

It is understood that Mr. Fuller agreed to the price named, but the contract must be approved by the representatives of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen before it will become effective. There does not seem to be any doubt but what this will be done. The committee had an understanding with Mr. Fuller that in case he gets the contract to supervise the construction of the joint sewer he is to employ Plainfielders so far as possible. It is also understood that definite arrangements were made regarding the salaries of the treasurer and secretary to the commission.

When the commission meets tomorrow night it is expected that everything will be in readiness to close the deal for the Darling farm where the disposal works are to be located and other details in connection with the work will be completed so that substantial progress can be made in starting the work.

If the work is started this summer it is the opinion of those in touch with the matter that the contract may be completed within two years. This probably can be done provided that there is no further litigation. It is the belief that the Borough of Middlesex will continue its fight against the proposition, and while it seems to be conceded that the project will be carried through successfully, further litigation will only serve to cause further delay. Justice James J. Bergen's recent decision in one action was so wide in its scope that it will doubtless have an important bearing in future decisions bearing on the case.

EXCLUSIVE RECEPTION FOR MEMBERS OF ELKS' CLUB

The reception and dance to be held in the Elks' Club on Watchung avenue, tonight, will be conducted exclusively for members and the entertainment has been planned for their benefit. Special features have ben arranged by the committee in charge and the affair promises to be an enjoyable one for all who attend.

Excellent music will be furnished for dancing which will be the chief feature of the evening and refreshments will be served in the roof garden which has recently been opened.

COURT ORDERS GREEN TO PAY FAMILY $5 A WEEK

David Green, of Plainfield avenue, was arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged with beating his wife, Stella Green. On the stand this morning the couple related a marital tale of woe that has existed for several months and both admitted having occasionally imbibed in the "cup that cheers."

Following his wife's refusal to take him back to their home and her insistance upon a separation from her husband, Green was ordered to provide $5 a week for the maintenance of his wife and four children.

THIEVES SCARED AWAY.

Night prowlers entered the drug store of Fred Zeller, at West Front and Grove streets, sometime during Sunday night but, as far as can be learned, nothing was taken. The police think that the thieves were frightened away before they had a chance to get any loot. Entrance was gained by prying open the window on the Grove street side. The store was formerly conducted by C. M. Nagel.

RIDING WITHOUT LIGHTS.

Henry Moncher and Jacob Sachar, two bicyclists, were arraigned in the city court, this morning, charged with riding their wheels without lights. Both offered suitable excuses for their deeds and Judge W. G. DeMeza suspended sentence in each case.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The Borough Council will meet in the Fanwood firehouse tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. There are several matters to be brought up for action, including the appointment of another night marshal and two special officers. Something will also be done about the placing of sign posts at the street corners.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ford, Jr., of Montague avenue, are the parents of a young son.

Mr. and Mrs. James Devine, of Tilliston road, are the parents of a young son, born Friday.

There will be no demonstration in either the borough or 'Plains this year to mark the Fourth of July. It was at first proposed to have a field day and all sorts of athletic games during the day and fireworks at night, but as no one has done anything to further the matter the proposition fell through. The second game of the series between the married and single men will be played on the Park avenue grounds. Many people from this place will attend the field day event at Parker Field, Plainfield, where several local youths are entered in the various events.

The members of the Lincoln Social Club and their families will enjoy fireworks on the evening of the Fourth of July in the field at the corner of North and Farley avenues. At the last club meeting a committee was appointed to buy the fireworks.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Martin have returned to their home on Terrill road after a week-end visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Terry, who are spending the summer at Asbury Park.

John Johnson has returned to his home in Bound Brook after visiting his sisters, the Misses Johnson, of Westfield avenue.

Mrs. E. J. Reeder has eturned to her home on Martine avenue after visiting her sister, Mrs. George Cuthbertson, at Westfield.

The Tuesday Afternoon Literary Club has discontinued its meetings during the hot months.

Miss Catherine Hann, of Montague avenue, is visiting relatives at Rahway.

On Fourth of July the locals will play a double header with "Ernie" Dorflinger's Plainfielders. The morning game will be played at Parker Field, Plainfield, and the afternoon game on Maurer Oval, Washington avenue and Third street. Whatever the outcome of these games the local fans needn't worry about the showing that their team will make, as Manager "Jimmy" Montross with the assistance of President George Voehl has got together as good a nine as has ever represented Dunellen on the diamond. According to the comment that has been heard about the borough the fans as a whole are just commencing to realize that fact and the indications are that slim attendances will be foreign to Maurer Oval from now on.

The officials of the Public Library will make another effort this evening to muster volunteers to sell tags for the benefit of that worthy institution on Fourth of July. All young ladies desiring to volunteer can do so by calling at the library rooms this evening.

A family dinner was tendered last evening to Miss Matilda Muller and Fred N. Whitney, on the lawn of the residence of Mrs. E. H. Dean, of Prospect avenue, in honor of their marriage at 7 o'clock this evening. After partaking of a repast the evening was pleasantly passed, dancing and music being the principal features. The porch was decorated with colored electric lights which added much to the charm of the occasion. Those present besides the guests of honor were: Mrs. Emilie Muller, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Muller, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Muller and daughter, of Bayonne, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vliet, Walter Muller, Miss Gertrude Giles, Mr. and Mrs. O. Dean and daughters.

Somerville

Joseph Gainor is spending a week in New York City, on business for D. R. Kenyon & Son, of Raritan.

Miss Adele Smith and Herbert Smith are spending sometime with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wyckoff, at New Brunswick.

Miss Caroline Clark left yesterday for Brattleboro, Vt., where she will spend several weeks. Miss Clark has resigned as a member of the teaching staff of the Somerville public schools and it is reported that she is to be married shortly. Miss Elizabeth Armstrong, another teacher, is spending her vacation at Milford, Pa. Miss Grace M. Voorhees is at her home at Woodbridge, N. J.

J. A. Flockhart, who went to Dover some time ago in the interests of the Cot-a-Lap Company, has again returned to Somerville.

Mrs. Mary Dugan, of this place, was severely injured last night while attempting to step from a trolley car at the corner of Main and Division streets. She fell heavily to the ground and her left arm was fractured and she received a number of wounds about the head. She was taken into Cron's drug store, where her wounds were dressed, and afterwards removed to her home.

A dog catcher has been secured, and he began rounding up stray dogs yesterday.

At a special meeting of the Borough Council, last night Mayor Steele appointed Councilmen Cline and Durling as a special committee, together with Counsel Beekman, to compel the Somerville Water Company to complete its contract with the borough. It is claimed that the company has never complied with its contract in a number of particulars, particularly in the matter of water pressure at the fire hydrants and the members of the Council fear that a similar result would happen to Somerville as that at Dover if the town should be visited with a big fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schindler, of Brooklyn, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Max Forster, of West Main street.

A sale of the store effects of the late J. B. Losey will be held next Tuesday.

Raritan

A. A. MacDonald, in charge of the greenhouses at Duke's Park, will sail on July 14, for a visit of several weeks to his former home in Scotland.

Thomas Cook, employed in the Pathe Freres plant, at Bound Brook, was severely injured about the head while at work there yesterday, and it was necessary to remove him to the Somerset Hospital for treatment. A singular coincidence may be mentioned in connection with the injury received by Mr. Cook. About a year ago a son of Mr. Cook was severely injured while riding a motorcycle with Edward McCarron, also from Raritan, and the latter was killed. John McCarron, father of the dead youth, was hurt a few weeks ago, when a heavy casting fell on one of his legs, breaking it, and he has since been undergoing treatment in Somerset Hospital, but he will be able to leave that institution in a few days. And now the father of the Cook youth had been taken there, suffering from injuries, which while not serious, are still very painful.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Reger have returned from Lake Hopatcong.

Certified Pure Natural Ice

98% to 99% Purer than the water from which it is cut

This was the result of experiments carried on by the Massachusetts State Board of Health.

Bodies of water from which Natural Ice is cut for commercial purposes, come first, under the power of the Health Boards and, second, never freeze up entirely. If it did the Ice could not be floated to the ice houses. There is, then, in all bodies of water, where ice is harvested for storage and sale a large, quantity of water which is not frozen and into which the ice crystals reject and discard the impurities if there be any.

Certified Natural Ice is Pure. Use It

HERE AND THERE

Living quietly for the last eight years and more, John McGuire, who was officially notified from Washington last week that he is the last survivor of the memorable naval battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac, is passing the closing years of his life at his home in Somerville, near the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, from whose service he retired almost ten years ago after more than forty years.

Mr. McGuire is now seventy-six years of age. He was born in Ireland, coming to this country when a young man. Although he feels the weight of years, he enjoyed comparatively good health up to a few years ago and is still able to get about town every day. When a Press reporter called on him he was working in the garden at the rear of his home.

Mr. McGuire during the civil war was a stoker on the Confederate battle ship Merrimac, and participated in the battle between that vessel and the Monitor in Hampton Roads in the spring of 1862.

Soon afterward Mr. McGuire began his employment on the railroad, and before his retirement at the end of the year 1905 had served for fifteen or twenty years as a passenger brakeman. He was retired on a pension of $21.50 a month, besides which he received a perpetual pass over all divisions and branches of the road.

Mr. McGuire walks erect and is remarkably well preserved for his years. He enjoys the annual gatherings of the veteran employes of the railroad, and always keeps in touch with the affairs of the road. While a passenger brakeman his quiet and unassuming manner won for him hosts of friends among the commuters. He never married, and now makes his home with the family of one of his old friends.

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

WILLIAM DeWITT MILLER.

In the death of Major William DeWitt Miller, whose long and honorable career came to an end yesterday, Plainfield loses a distinguished and exemplary citizen. Allotted far more than the three score years and ten of man, his whole life was replete with good works, and in his passing is left a void in our community, demanding yeoman work to fill.

In his early life, and in his country's time of need, a brave and valiant soldier, serving with distinction in the great war; in the many succeeding years, a pillar of the Christian church; always a searcher for the truth, the foe of evil and the ardent champion of right and purity in matters civic, he has gone to his reward, leaving a record which must ever remain an inspiration and benediction to those who knew and loved him.

Of Major Miller's life the words of the great Apostle seem nobly descriptive, for by reason of his fidelity to ideals, and his unfaltering trust in the God of his fathers, he too had earned the right to say, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

WATCH THE BEGGARS.

Hardly a week passes in this city that some one does not go through the business section begging funds for some charity, other than those in which Plainfielders are directly interested. It may be an alleged mission in Syria, or some kind of a home in another city, to which no Plainfielders are sent, and which aids needy local people not one bit. While our own charitable affairs are well handled by the many public spirited people who take charge of them, there is a lack of method in protecting the public against frauds in this kind of work. As the Trenton State Gazette said recenty:

The methods employed by the National Sunshine Society have been investigated by authorities of the State of New York, and they report that money has been loosely handled: that upward of a million dollars have been colected and spent without any attempt on the part of those persons who handed the fund to keep an orderly set of books showing how and for what the money had been expended.

The National Sunshine Society is a charitable organization. For a good many years it depended for support upon contributions, either solicited or unsolicited, but it recently asked for State aid, and, to some extent, received it.

The State now wants to know how the affairs of the organization are conducted, and it has the right to find out.

It appears that a clergyman, who is a "very nice man," managed the voluntary contribution department of the society. He prepared the little boxes into which small coins were dropped, collected their contents from time to time, and withheld 50 per cent. of the collections as compensation for his labor.

The women who are responsible for the society, have done their work ungrudgingly and unselfishly, believing that they were benefiting suffering humanity, but they have not given as much attention to the business end of the organization as it required and as they should have given.

A vast amount of money is paid over by the people of the United States for charity each year, and only in a few instances is it accounted for to the givers.

The day will come, perhaps, when all charities will be under State or municipal supervision. It can't come too soon.

If we are not mistaken the National Sunshine is one of the organizations which has sought money in Plainfield. Possibly the Charity Organization Society of this city could have told something about the body had inquiry been made regarding it. Surely they would have gladly investigated it had any requests for information been made.

There is a duty which every citizen owes to our local charities. That is to be sure that when appeals are made for financial help by organizations about which they know nothing, investigation should be made as to the merits of the case. The Charity Organization Society, through its staff at the Babcock building, is glad to answer questions which may be put to them regarding all who appeal for financial help.

We all owe it to society to be careful in the giving of alms. The idea of handing a few cents to some respectable looking beggar, just to get rid of him or her, may be all right, but are you doing your full duty to society by thus indifferently encouraging what may be a fraud of the worst type?

The day cannot come too soon, as the State Gazette says, when all forms of charity are placed under State or municipal supervision. Chief Kiely can testify to this because of the fakers that he has driven out of town in the past.

THE PETITION EVIL.

In the Middlesex county court Judge Daly recently rebuked a number of men who had petitioned the court in behalf of a self confessed keeper of a gambling house. Although the man had pleaded guilty, the petitioners called the attention of the court to the fact that he had "always conducted himself in such a way as to merit and receive respect."

The New Brunswick Times very justly criticises those who will sign any old kind of a petition which may be set before them. Time and time again men sign papers advocating the appointment of unfit candidates for office, merely because they hate to say no, and with equal abandon they will sign petitions asking clemency in cases when in their hearts they know it is not warranted. It is not an uncommon occurance to hear of a man who has previously signed a petition favoring a candidate for office, writing to the appointing power and criticising the very man he endorsed. As the Times says:—

The practice of asking people to sign a petition setting forth statements about which they know nothing is growing in this country. It is not confined to the criminal courts. It has been used time and time again in license cases. Men have readily signed protests alleging all sorts of law violations at some hotels and when placed upon the witness stand could not verify a single statement. Men have signed petitions in favor of license applicants certifying to assertions which they could not substantiate.

The petition has come into disrepute. But little weight is attached to it these days. The official to whom it is addressed may have received personal letters, advising him why the name of the writer is on the petition, when it should not be there. If he is a wise official he will know that many such names are there. It is time that the petition circulator ceased his activity.

"What do you expect for ten cents" is heard on all sides nowadays. It is true that some people are loking for something for nothing. They are the kind of citizens who expect Plainfield to grow and make headway and progress but they do not stand ready to spend even a dime's worth of energy to see their desires brought to a realization.

Many a man has gone down believing that every family had to have a black sheep. The East Second street philosopher says that they have failed to take time to figure out why they should be the black sheep.

Nathan Hale said, "I regret that I have but one life to give for my country." How much more appropriate the saying of the model citizen of today "I regret that I have but one life to live for my country."

It's some time since we've urged our readers to "Do it for Plainfield," but the opportunity is ever present.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Permit me space for the following extract from a letter of Miss Eva Ward which appeared recently in a New York paper, as it will be of especial interest to the members of the W. C. T. U.

Miss Ward's criticism of the value of promises made by Suffragists as to the use to be made by women voters of the ballot is more generally interesting, and should be accepted for more than temperance.

These promises as to women voting en masse for certain issues are indeed like the threats of women's revenge on public men who do not support woman suffrage "not worth a puff of smoke."

I think the letter of Mr. Boswell Rand, Jr., may be of interest since many of the leaders as well as many of those in the ranks of the Suffrage party in this country declare themselves in sympathy with Militancy.

Most of the men who are associated with the suffrage movement in this country find it impossible to believe that the women of it are in sympathy, but every movement must be judged by its leaders.

Those, therefore, who doubt "whether one per cent. of the American people who believe in suffrage approve of Militancy" I would beg to make a careful research of the threats made by them and the approval expressed by them of the British Militants and their work.

A notable example of this is to be found in the letter of Elizabeth Newport Hepburn, in today's issue of the New York Times.

Miss Ward says:

"Now, the Suffragists of the United States have quite definitely taken the stand that they are not affiliated with any political party or program whatsoever. Therefore, they stand neither for nor against the liquor interest. Even if they took a stand, what power would they have to pledge the votes of millions of unenfranchised women? They might 'pledge' such votes, but every one knows such 'pledges' would not be worth a puff of smoke.

"It would be nothing but impertinence for the Suffragists to take any other line than that quoted from the Nevada women, where they state: 'If we secure this privilege—namely, voting—we are bound by no promise and will exercise our right according to individual conscience'."

To the Editor of The Tribune:

Sir: Some of the utterances of the leaders in the vote chasing movement suggests to the minds of many that it might be well for the onlooker to heed the admonition set at railroad crossings, "Stop! Look! Listen!"

A business man, in conversation with an ardent Suffragist, was amazed to learn to what lengths the women are going in their endeavor to obtain the coveted ballot. I quote as nearly as possible her own words.

"I neither believe in God nor man, although brought up a Roman Catholic. The Church, in my opinion, has been the great agency in holding back women. The best thing ever done in England and the most hopeful sign in the suffrage movement is the burning of churches. Votes are not the whole of our scheme. They are but the means to an end. You American men think there is no Militancy here, but just fail to give us the vote in 1915, and you will see Militancy like in England."

Such sentiments are a danger signal to the indifferent, and to those who say, "Let them vote if they want to." Here in New York State we must consider well what it would mean to our commonwealth if erratic women like the one quoted above should be given a hand in lawmaking.

JOSEPH HURLEY WEDS MISS PURCELL

High Nuptial Mass Celebrated at St. Bernard's Church, Raritan.

Miss Sadie Farrell Purcell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Purcell, of Raritan, and Robert Joseph Hurley of Haverford, Pa., were married at 10:30 o'clock this morning at a nuptial high mass in St. Bernard's church, Raritan, Rev. Joseph J. Zimmer, the pastor, officiating.

The bride was gowned in cream satin, trimmed with chiffon lace from which hung a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valey and white silk ribbon. She also wore the same orange blossoms her mother had worn forty-three years ago and a hood veil.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Frank J. Smith, of Roselle Park, sister of the bride, and herself a bride of only five months. She wore a gown of shell pink crepe meteor, trimmed with chiffon and duchess lace, with cap to match. Haller's mass was sung by the brothers of the bride, and a feature was a solo, Rosewig's Ave Maria, by Edward Purcell, brother of the bride. John Hurley, of Wayne, Pa., was the best man, and the ushers were Fred L. Purcell, brother of the bride; Joseph D. Hurley, brother of the groom, and John Purcell, nephew of the bride.

The wedding march was played by the brothers of the bride. William, violin; Matthew, cornet, and Frank, bells, assisted on the organ by Edward L. Purcell, organist of the church. The church was attractively decorated with palms and cut flowers. The bridegroom's gifts to the ushers, choir and organist, were diamond and pearl scarf pins. The bride's gift to the matron of honor was a gold brooch set with pearls.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding luncheon was served and congratulations were offered. The bride received a large collection of gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Hurley will spend their honeymoon at Atlantic City, and on their return will reside in Raritan. The bride is a graduate of St. Bernard's School, class '03, and was a popular employe in the Raritan postoffice up to a few months ago. Mr. Hurley has been employed for some time on the Duke estate.

TROLLEYMEN HAVE ANNUAL OUTING TO PALISADE PARK

The annual outing of the employees of the local division of the P. S. R. was held today at Palisade Park on the Hudson. Several trolley cars of the employees and their families left early this morning and will return late tonight. The cars left the Bound Brook, Dunellen and Westfield car houses. The days amusements consist of all kinds of sporting events and a general social time.

FOUR MURDER TRIALS IN SOMERSET COUNTY

Extraordinary Session of the Grand Jury Ordered by Justice C. W. Parker.

Somerville, N. J., June 30.—By the order of Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Parker, Sheriff Charles P. Sebring summoned a Grand Jury yesterday to meet in extraordinary session on July 6 to take up the cases of four men now in the Somerset county jail on charges of murder.

Justice Parker has decided to spend part of the summer in trying the murder cases, the number of which is unprecedented in the history of Somerset county. The county, which formerly had a record of three murders in one hundred years, has recently had three murder cases within a month.

Stefano Rumige Ruggierie, 17 years old, is held for killing Jacoma Folgrant and seriously wounding Luigi Ragostino and Pasquale Tolzarano at Millington.

Raphael Carrdo is in the hospital ward of the jail with a broken wrist and a sprained ankle as the result of a leap from a second story window. It is alleged that before he jumped he killed Isidore Marsine, who had followed him from Brooklyn to Bernardsville after he had eloped with Marsine's wife.

Joseph Blanco and Giocomo Branco are charged with the killing of Nena Raccinimo, who was found murdered in the woods near Barrington.

—If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some earnest people in this city.

MEET TO CONSIDER ACTION ON DIVIDENDS

New York, June 30—Directors of the Associated Merchants' Company and of the United Dry Goods Company, will meet today to consider action on dividends, which are usually declared at this season. The former company controls most of the stock of the H. B. Claflin Company, now in bankruptcy, and the United Dry Goods Company controls the Associated Merchants Company. It is said that the stores in other parts of the country are operating at sufficient profit to justify a dividend, despite the Claflin failure.

This will be the first meeting of the two boards under the presidency of Cornelius N. Bliss, who succeeded John Claflin.

JOSEPH SHERRER PASSES AWAY AT DUNELLEN

Joseph Sherrer, aged sixty-six, died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Archibald R. Young, of Prospect avenue, Dunellen. Mr. Sherred had been failing for the past two years, and had been confined to his home for the past six months following a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Sherrer had been a resident of Dunellen eight years, coming to that town from Hampton. He had lived a retired life for sometime. The funeral services will be held Friday from the home of his daughter, with Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, officiating.

COMMITTED FOR OBSERVATION.

Percy Reginald Whitehouse, picked up by Chief Marshal Weiss, Saturday, for acting queerly on the streets of the borough, will be committed to the observation ward of the State Hospital today. Whitehouse was examined in the borough lockup yesterday by Doctors A. H. Dundon and J. Hervey Buchanan, who signed the committment papers. Whitehouse claims Newark as his residence.

FREDERICK ZIOR AND DAVID BODINE RENOMINATED

Trenton, June 30.—Democratic State Chairman Grosscup filed with Governor Fielder today his nominations for the appointments to be made by the Governor to the several county Boards of Elections. One Democrat and one Republican are to be appointed to each County Election Board to succeed those whose terms expire this year. Republican State Chairman Bugbee will file his nomination later.

Chairman Grosscup renominated Frederick Zior, of Elizabeth for the Union County Board and also renamed David Bodine of North Plainfield for the Somerset County Board.

SHAMROCK THE FOURTH DEFEATS OLD SHAMROCK

Torquay, nEg., June 30 (Central News Cable)—In a final trial today, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the American's cup, Shamrock the fourth, defeated the old Shamrock in a run overa six-mile course, by two minutes.

The weather was perfect, and the behavior of the new challenger exceeded all expectations, proving herself to be the fastest yacht that has ever sailed in home waters.

The yachts will leave for the Solent this evening, and preparations will be immediately commenced for the voyage to the United States.

EXEMPT PROPERTY FROM TAXATION

New York Realty of Electa Storrs Craft Escapes Levy.

WILL PROBATED HERE

Among Other Things Former Plainfield Woman Left $9,000 Brick Apartment House in Brooklyn, Which Will Be Taxed.

New York City, June 30.—By a decision handed down by Surrogate Hohalan yesterday afternoon, the mortgage property left by Electa Storrs Craft, of Plainfield, is exempt from taxation. Those consists of 1-3 interest in a $10,000 one covering 211 West One Hundred and Twenty Ninth street; 1-3 interest in a $25,000 one covering 17 Suffolk street, and 1-3 interest in a lease at 358 West Twenty Second street.

Mrs. Craft, also left a $9,000 four story brick apartment house, in poor repair, at 156 Ainsle street, Brooklyn, which, however, is subject to taxation by the State.

Henry Justis Storrs, decedent's son, was the petitioner. In his application for the exemption from taxation of the mortgage property he declared that his mother died a resident of Plainfied, on May 14, 1914; that her will, in Union County, was admitted to probate; that an exemplified copy of the document was admitted to probate here on June 12; that the only property that his mother left in this State were those already mentioned; that the lease on the 358 West Twenty-Second street property is of purely nominal value is not worth more than $500.00 because of the heavy expenses in keeping the property in repair, the lease which he alleges has 16 more years to run. Mrs. Craft, lived at 925 Kensington avenue, Plainfield.

HOUSE REPEALS OLD DISLOYALTY PENALTY

Southern Members Shake Hand of Northern Man.

Washington, June 30.—A remarkable scene was witnessed in the house when Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, Republican, advocated the repeal of a section of the revised statutes that provides punishment for those who were disloyal to the federal government at the time of the civil war. Practically every southern member walked over to the Republican side of the house, many of them showing great feeling, and wrung Graham's hand in congratulation at the conclusion of the speech.

At the beginning of the civil war and at its close congress enacted many laws intended to punish disloyalty. Among them was section 3,480 of the revised statutes, aimed at men who left West Point or the army to take up arms with the southern states. This section reads in part as follows:

It shall be unlawful for any officer to pay any account, claim or demand against the United States which accrued or existed prior to April 13, 1861, in favor of any person who promoted, encouraged or in any manner sustained the late rebellion or in favor of any person who during such rebellion was not known to be opposed thereto and distinctly in favor of its suppression, and no pardon heretofore granted or hereafter to be granted shall authorize the payment of such account, claim or demand until this section is repealed.

It was pointed out by Mr. Graham that among those against whom the statute operated were Fitzhugh Lee and Fighting Joe Wheeler, both of whom served in the war with Spain, and Stonewall Jackson.

The repeal bill was passed by a unanimous vote.

ANOTHER AMERICAN KILLED.

State Department Informed of Death of T. Farrell in Mexico.

Washington, June 30.—Tom Farrell, an American, has been killed in the state of Sonora, Mexico, the state department was informed by Consul Hostetter, who wired the information from Hermosillo.

Yaqui Indians are believed to be responsible for Farrell's death. He is reported to have been killed at Represo, a town a few miles from La Colonade, on June 26. The entire state is in turmoil on account of the depredations of the Indians. A number of robberies and murders have been reported, and five small towns have been attacked by the savages.

REPORT IS CONFIRMED.

WILD RIOTING FOLLOWS MURDER

Houses and Shops of Serbs Attacked.

FUNERAL TO BE FRIDAY.

Four Kings to Attend Obsequies—Bodies of Slain Couple to Lie In State in Vienna—Political Crisis Is Now Feared.

Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 30.—After a series of popular demonstrations against the Serbs, who as a race are held responsible for the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, martial law was declared both in this city and in the district of Sarajevo, after the troops had met with great difficulty in restraining the mobs which formed in the streets.

The outbreak began when a youth hurled a bomb into a shop owned by a Servian. The rougher element immediately took up the suggestion and marched up and down the main parts of the city, shouting imprecations against the Serbs.

The few Servians who were found were roughly handled by the crowd until they escaped. The mob broke up into several parts and went through the business part of town, stoning the windows of Servian shops, schools, clubs and homes and looting them. Each division of the mob carried a banner with the portrait of Emperor Francis Joseph and sang the Austrian national anthem.

Officials said that after Ferdinand received Prinzip's bullet through the neck and as he lay in the arms of his wounded wife his last words were:

"Sophie, you must live for the sake of our children." Then he died.

The bodies of the dead prince and his wife were embalmed by Dr. Dynes commander of the army hospital here He was assisted by Chief Surgeon Arenstein. It was because of the serious character of the anti-Serb demonstrations here that the emperor decided to have the bodies taken to Vienna

Martial law was proclaimed in the city, and Austrian troops took possession of all the strategic points after warnings with drum and trumpet were sounded through the streets.

Four Kings at Funeral.

Vienna, June 30.—In addition to the kaiser, the kings of Spain, Bavaria and Saxony are expected ot attend the funerals of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg. The bodies will be buried at the archduke's seat at Artstetten, about fifty miles from this city.

The bodies were removed from Sarajevo to Metkontch, in Dalmatia. They will be placed on a warship there and, under the escort of a squadron of naval vessels, will be taken to Trieste. From Trieste the bodies will be brought to this city, where they will lie in state for public view until noon on Friday. They will be taken to Artstetten at 1 o'clock that night, and the funeral will take place at midnight.

The Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, the new heir to the throne, will represent Emperor Francis Joseph at the funeral.

Fear that the peace of Europe is endangered overshadows the horror here over the double assassinations. There is no doubt in official quarters and in the public mind that the murders are definite proof of the determination of the Serbs to resist absorption into the Austro-Hungarian empire.

It is firmly believed here that Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, were killed as a result of the plot. It is thought that the organization had its headquarters in Belgrade. The Servian hatred of the Austrians has recently been inflamed by statements, writings and speeches made in a number of quarters. Scores of agitators have been stirring Servian students against the Austrians, and Belgrade newspapers have been filled with bitter articles attacking Austria for threatened legislation affecting Serbs.

If the attack was caused by a desire to frighten the Austrian legislators from passing measures designed to repress the Serbs it will probably have the opposite effect, for even now before the bodies of the victims have been interred the talk of the authorities here is of passing severe measures against those Serbs who live in Bosnia and Austria. This will further embitter the relations between the two countries.

CHINA APPEALS TO U. S.

Thousands Homeless and Destitute as Result of Flood.

Washington, June 30.—An unprecedented flood has stricken the southern provinces of China, destroying the crops and rendering 2,000,000 Chinese homeless and destitute.

Appeals have been made to the American Red Cross, the Christian Herald and all other benevolent institutions and organizations. This appeal was made by the committee of American missionaries in China through Mr. Cheshire.

Details of the flood have not been received, but it did not occur in the usual flood district along the banks of the Twai river.

IN THE SPORTING SPOTLIGHT

VETERAN MAY ENTER LOCAL TRACK MEET

Fanwood Man Tosses the 12-Pound Shot 47 Feet "Just for Exercise."

Fanwood has unearthed a real athlete in one Luke Pandick, of North avenue, who is an old times at putting the shot, boxing and other forms of modern athletics. He is short of stature but has a heavy build. Just for a little exercise last night he hurled the twelve pound shot 47 feet. Pandick was the man who coached Pat McDonald, the New York policeman, in putting the shot.

At one time the Fanwood man was connected with the N. Y. A. C. boxing department and was with the organization for a long period. He is also handy at throwing the weights and is a good wrestler. Pandick may enter the local meet next Saturday and if he should the spectators will probably witness a rare exhibition of shot putting.

JIM THORPE HERE JULY 4? NOT SO YOU CAN NOTICE IT

Reports circulated around town during the last few days to the effect that Jim Thorpe, the clever Indian athlete, would participate in the July 4 meet on Parker Field are erroneous.

The former world's champion track and field performer is barred from amateur competition and as the local affair is being conducted under the A. A. U. sanction his appearance is out of the question.

TOWNLEY GOT A SUPPLY OF MUIR'S FISH STORIES

George Townley, of the boro, who went on a fishing trip to Lake Hopatcong last Saturday, has returned home and reports that the fish are biting good in that vicinity. He went out two days and landed between twenty and thirty black bass and pickerel. Townley visited Tom Muir's camp while at the lake.

JOHNSON YELLS "NO FAKE."

Paris, June 30—Jack Johnson, when asked yesterday what he had to say in reply to Jack Adams' charge that his fight with Frank Moran was a fake, said: "It's an absolute lie. Adams' statement is false from beginning to end." McKettrick and Wolff, the managers of the two fighters, also emphatically denied the charges.

VICTORIOUS DOCTORS CHALLENGE POLICEMEN

The local doctors have decided to challenge the Plainfield police to a baseball game to be played on Parker Field, Saturday, July 11. The medical men are so elated over their great victory at the lawyers' expense, that they think they have a chance for the city amateur championship.

They are practicing continually so that if the cops do accept their challenge they will be ready for action. The bluecoats are no "bush" leaguers at that and, if they decide to play, will undoubtedly give their opponents a good run for the victory.

LOCAL TALENT WILL PLAY FOR THE SOMERVILLE FANS

With the disbanding of the Somerville baseball team James E. Parker, Somerville's baseball magnate, has decided to take charge of the Klinkers and make a representative team of it. It will be called the Somerville town team. Financial trouble was the cause of the big team's disbanding but the Klinker club is fast and has always put up a high-grade of ball.

One of the fine points about this team will be that it will consist purely of home talent even to the batteries. Mr. Parker is arranging a schedule for the team and will play some of the fast teams of this section. All of the players who have been with the Klinkers before will play and some good recruits will be added.

ROD AND REEL

Weakfish must be quite plentiful when the Shrewsbury eel fishermen can see them on the bottom while they push their boats along in search of eels. Captain Meade, of Water Witch, went out Thursday and caught thirty-one weakfish and didn't have one in the lot that weighed less than two and a half pounds.

Thousands of bluefish are reported off Seabright, where the hand-line fishermen are catching them through chumming and squidding. The fish run close to the five-pound mark and find ready sale in the markets and at the hotels.

Surf fishing for the channel bass begins at Corson's early in June and lasts until the end of July. During August, for some unaccountable reason, these fish are usually absent, to again appear in September and stay until the end of October, if the weather be reasonably fair. The red drum may be captured on the Florida coast all during the winter, then in the early spring they move up the coast to the Carolinas. This fish is known under various names, according to locality. It is a tropical fish and migrates northward in summer for food or spawning purposes.

A school of bluefish and weakfish came in at Keyport yesterday and fishermen who were on the grounds reported good catches.

WILL HAVE TO RE-PLAY SATURDAY'S S. S. GAME

The Sunday-School Baseball League seems to have become thoroughly mixed up in the last few weeks regarding the eligibility of players. The conflict started when two good performers returned home from college and, although they had attended Sunday-school regularly while away, were ruled out of the league at a recent meeting of the governing board and the one game in which they were put in by the captain was thrown out of the league standing.

Last Saturday at the weekly league game this same stunt was pulled off by Monroe Avenue, and a man who was not eligible to play was put on first base. Hendry, of Monroe Avenue, was the guilty performer. Although it was known at the opening of the game that this was the case, not a protest was made and after the contest the talk began.

WOLGAST BREAKS ARM.

Los Angeles, June 30—Ad Wolgast broke his arm yesterday, thus halting the Rivers-Wolgast twenty-round lightweight match which was to have taken place here on July 4. He will be forced to remain idle for two or three months before he can fight again.

FIRST SUNDAY BALL GAME AGAINST BRUNSWICK TEAM

The Plainfield Sunday Baseball Club will meet the team of the Knights of St. Peters' Club, of New Brunswick, at South Plainfield, next Sunday afternoon. This team is the representative nine of New Brunswick and plays some of the fastest teams of this vicinity. Manager McDonough expects to have the field in first class condition by that time so the teams that come here will have no kick as to the playing grounds. At the present time the infield is in rather poor shape.

The locals will present a strong lineup but it is doubtful whether Girard, the High Bridge twirler, will appear here, as he has signed up with some other team. The remainder of the lineup wil be, catcher, Nash, 1b, Garretson; 2b, Jaeger; 3b, Conti; ss, Mullin; lf Porter; cf, Alberts; rf, Grimes.

HOME ON A VISIT.

Eugene Lidgate, the Fanwood ball player, who is with the York team of the Tri-State League, caught the entire game for his team against Trenton, yesterday. He scored one run and smashed out a two-base hit. Besides getting five putouts and two assists he was hit by a pitched ball. "Liddy" was visiting his parents in Fanwood over Sunday and returned to Trenton to meet his team yesterday. The York team lost the game yesterday by the score of 12 to 6.

FORMER N. P. H. S. BATTERY WILL PERFORM FOR PETS

The Dunellen and Plainfield baseball teams will play two games next Saturday, the morning contest at Parker Field and the afternoon one at Dunellen. In one of the games the Dunellen batters will probably have a chance to knock a former North Plainfield High School battery out of the box if this can be done. It looks as if Manager Dorflinger would use two of his recruits in one of the games and give them the "once over."

Townley and Stine are the two men and they are anxiously awaiting a chance to show their style of playing. Stine showed up well at the bat last Saturday when he pounded out three hits out of four times at bat and was fast on the bases. Townley has not played any ball since he returned from Springfield, but is still in good form.

RED STARS PLANNING FOR BUSY JUNIOR LEAGUE YEAR

The Red Stars, the baseball nine that won the Parker Field Junior League championship last season, is planning to enter the race this year and expects to repeat its good work of last season and carry off the championship. The members of this team have played together for several years and should give any of the challengers a good fight for the title.

VILLAGE BOXER WINS.

"Kid" Baker, Scotch Plains' pride in the squared ring, defeated Mike Buckley of Newark, in a six round bout at the Central Boxing Institute, in Newark, last night. The local boy was the whole show, getting the decision in four of the rounds and drawing the other two. Baker showed good form and was never in danger of his rival's blows.

D. O. ROGERS THE WINNER.

D. O. Rogers won the sweepstakes event at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday with a score of 81, 10-71, and he also won two points for the Golf committee cup, with the same score. Through an error these honors were given to Howard G. Lapsley, who failed to return his card.

HAND WITH TRENTON.

"Nibs" Hand, formerly star backstop for the Scotch Plains baseball team, is now playing week-end ball with the fast traveling Trenton nine as a battery mate to Warry McLaughlin, known around these parts as the "old war horse."

ANNUAL CLAMBAKE.

The Royal Athletic Club, of Plainfield, will hold its annual clambake on Johnston's Drive, Sunday, July. 5.

BISHOP'S GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Albany, N. Y., June 30—If the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in this city was as large as St. Peter' in Rome it could not have accommodated the Catholics who gathered from all parts of the diocese today to attend the services in celebration of Bishop Burke's golden jubilee as a priest. Many eminent prelates were included in the distinguished gathering that participated in the ceremonies. Among the many congratulations received by Bishop Burke was a cordial message of greeting from Pope Pius X.

ALLOPATHISTS ARE SCORED BY FOES

Homeopathists' Head Says They Aim at Monopoly.

OPPOSED TO ANY REUNION

Dr. Wilcox Calls on Homeopaths to Withdraw From American Medical Association—Asserts He Is Convinced That Old School Was Passing Into Political Machine.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 30.—There was no evidence that the breech between the old school of medicine, called the allopaths, and the new school, homeopaths, is on the verge of being bridged, as so often predicted, from the vigorous address of Dr. Dewitt G. Wilcox of Boston, president of the American Institute of Homeopathy, which opened its seventieth annual meeting here.

Dr. Wilcox called upon all the homeopaths to withdraw from the American Medical association, as he announced his own resignation, stating that he was convinced that the old school was passing into a political machine and was in unholy alliance with the medical departments of the army and navy, jointly working to control every medical college, university and hospital in the country with the object of getting into their grasp all the examining and licensing boards in the United States. He objected to any move looking toward a medical reunion between the two schools.

On sexology he said: "I do not believe that we are ready to have the subject of sexology taught in open classes from a text book, because we neither have the proper books or instructors. We are prepared though for the teaching of the younger children the fundamental truths of biology."

He denounced alcohol, which has no place in medicine, and whether food or poison, its consumption produced physical and mental degeneracy and that it was productive of criminality.

WEST ORANGE OWNS RAILWAY

First Municipality In State to Possess It's Own Company.

West Orange, N. J., June 30.—West Orange is the first municipality in the state to own a railroad, and incidentily the only rival in this section of the Public Service Railway company. Town Treasurer Edward A. McGuirk purchased the line in lieu of the failure by the company to pay $1,500 taxes on its personal property.

The power on the line, which is of the switchback type and the only road of its kind that ever successfully overcame the steep grades of the Orange mountains, has been shut off by the Public Service Electric company because of a bill for power. The amount is believed to be several thousand dollars.

An effort to have Thomas A. Edison lend or rent one of his storage battery cars for use on the road will be made by town officials, who may conduct the road for the town during the summer in order to satisfy its claim.

MUST JAIL DRUNKEN AUTOISTS

State Attorney General Says Law Requires Prison Term.

Trenton, N. J., June 30.—Imprisonment for a term of at least thirty days is the lightest penalty that can be legally meted out to a person convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated, according to a ruling by Attorney General Westcott.

In the past, apparently because of misunderstanding as to the requirements of the law, many automobilists convicted of driving while under the influence of liquor have been let off with fines instead of jail terms.

While the minimum mandatory term fixed by law is thirty days, drunken motorists can be sent to prison for six months.

CONDENSED STATE NEWS.

Clinton Sutton of Boonton gave several inches of skin to be grafted upon his five-year-old niece, Rachel Riker, who was burned a month ago in a bonfire.

Herman Koplow, owner of a small clothing store in Passaic, has received word that he is the heir to an estate of $30,000 left by his father, Monus Koplow, who died last month in Minsk, Russia, at the age of 101.

Richard Anderson was on his way to the police headquarters in Montclair to report a burglary at his home when he noticed a man wearing one of the coats stolen from him. He called a policeman and had the man arrested.

Detective Lieutenant John Hanley, formerly attached to the Sixth precinct in Jersey City, was acquitted in the Hudson county common pleas court of a charge of shooting Harry Lynch last March while trying to arrest him.

The hearing of the appeal of Professor Lafayette Talbot from his dismissal as a principal in the Hoboken public schools because of a charge of kissing a janitress was set for yesterday in Hoboken, but it went over until Sept. 11 at the request of his counsel.

REBEL CLASH IS EXPECTED SOON

Villa, In Rage, Moves Troops Near Carranza.

PITCHED BATTLE EXPECTED

Leading 25,000 Men to Torreon a Veiled Threat Against His Chief—Carranza at Monterey and Awaits the Outcome.

Juarez, June 30.—Another few days will witness a pitched battle between General Carranza and General Pancho Villa for supremacy in the Constitutionalist cause, unless Carranza himself manifests a complete change of attitude.

Flaming with wrath because the supreme chief positively refused to forward to him munitions sufficient to make the dash from Zacatecas to Mexico City, Villa and the flower of his army of 25,000 men are arriving at Torreon, which is only 270 miles from Monterey, Carranza's new capital.

It is believed to be his purpose, by withdrawing from Torreon, to show the first chief of the Constitutionalists that he will not carry further the campaign against Huerta unless allowed ready access to war equipment. At the same time, Villa is known to have received at Zacatecas a million rounds of rifle cartridges and machine gun ammunition from Torreon, enough, it is estimated, to enable him to make a strong offensive movement against Carranza should he so determine.

In the event that Villa moves against Carranza it will probably mean a quick entraining and a fast ride under full steam in order to effect the coup before any of the east coast generals whose allegiance Carranza claims can reach his assistance. In the event that it succeeds Villa will probably send Carranza out of the country and then claim the allegiance of the other revolutionary chiefs.

Villa Hopes For Adjustment.

Monterey, which is Carranza's seat of provisional government since the abandonment of Saltillo, is 270 miles from Torreon by railroad. An addition reason for accelerating any attack Villa may make will be furnished by the necessity for quick action to prevent the explosion of mines placed along the railroad for many miles by Carranza's soldiery.

Officers close to Villa said it is the rebel leaders hope that Carranza will realize instantly the folly of quibbling longer with Villa and will allow to be transported from Tampico whatever supplies the rebel army requires.

Villa communicated with Juarez today from a way station south of Juarez. He denied report of an active breach with General Carranza and said his return was occasioned by shortage of ammunition and the probable evacuation of Agues Calientes by its federal garrison. The denial was couched in the polished diplomatic phrases of General Felipe Angeles, chief of the artillery division, who was in the telegraph office with Villa.

It was evidently General Angeles also, under Villa's name, who further cast doubt upon the Saturday night statement of Carranza's secretary, Breceda, that Angeles was responsible for the rupture between Carranza and Villa.

"There is no evidence that Breceda, who is merely a clerk of Carranza's, speaks with any authority of his chief. It is not the manner of the first chief of the revolution to hide behind subordinates in making his declarations," said Angeles and Villa.

Closes Saturdays During July and August at 12:30. Closed All Day July 4

The Great GIMBEL July Clearance Sale

Will Begin Tomorrow Morning and Continue Through the Month

Our plans have been well laid to make this now famous occasion of greater public interest than ever before.

During this clearance month we go after, with no gentle hands, those stocks and odd lots which have lagged—routing them out at low prices such as they have not borne before, before stock-taking and the arrival of new Fall goods.

But Remember That This Sale Is Essentially A Sale of Desirable SUMMER Goods

for it is our Spring and Summer stocks that are being cleared, and with them many new, fresh lots from manufacturers for whom we are performing the same clearance service. For instance, you will find at price reductions frequently approaching half—

Women's Summer Suits, Dresses and Wraps.
Women's Summer Blouses, Millinery, Lingerie and other apparel
Boys', Misses' and Children's Clothing of every kind.
Men's Summer Clothing, Hats, Haberdashery and Shoes.
Traveling Requisites—Trunks, Hand Luggage, Leather Wares, Toilet Articles.
Summer Home Furnishings—s, Linens, Pictures, and all the rest.
Wicker Furniture, Floor Coverings, China and Crystals, Draperie

In short, all the great stocks of this store, close to $6,000,000 worth at retail, contribute their splendid share of bargains. And perhaps the best of it all is that

There Will Be Three Days of the Sale BEFORE the Fourth of July!

So that all the requirements of the holiday trip may be met with lessened demand on your pocketbook!

But plan NOW to be here at the store's opening on Wednesday morning, July 1st.

Closed Saturday Afternoon---July and August

Wallingford In His Prime

CHAPTER VI.

A Little Business Talk.

TOAD JESSOP, whose freckles were so strong that they made him look like a man, had tried all the seats on that side of the car except the one occupied by J. Rufus Wallingford when the wheezing and panting and rheumatic jointed old accommodation train stopped with no apparent provocation, and before Toad's very eyes appeared a lineman, descending a telegraph pole with alternate stabs of his splendidly spiked feet. The lineman, reaching the ground and picking up a few scattered tools, climbed into the car, leaving the scenery absolutely vacant except for some bare rolling hills on his side of the train and on the other some equally bare flatland.

Apparently finding the additional weight of one bony faced human being too much for its feebleness, the train presently heaved itself rid of some heavy machinery; then it puffed and quivered relievedly away, though not so rapidly but that Wallingford, gazing idly out the window, had ample time to read upon the largest machinery crate, "Dougalbobber Brothers, Dougalville."

In the meantime Toad Jessop was acquiring information as rapidly as the bony faced lineman could deliver it to him.

"Say, what was you doin' up on that pole?" demanded Toad, planting himself firmly upon his knees just in front of the seat the pole climber had taken.

The lineman sorted out Toad's blue eyes from amid his freckles and liked them. "I was up there straightening a kink in the wire," he answered.

"Why?" demanded Toad.

"It was gettin' the messages twisted."

"How?"

"Well, you see the 'o's' and 'a's' and 'e's,' the 'w's' and 'm's' and 'n's' and such letters as that slide right around a kink, but the 'k's' and 'q's' and 'y's' and 'x's,' especially the capital 'X's,' always stick."

This being a perfectly logical explanation and one which anybody could understand, Toad pursued that subject no further.

"What's all that machinery for they put off back there?" he next inquired.

"That's a calico mill," the man promptly responded.

Toad flattened his face against the glass in a vain attempt to look backward, then he hurried to the rear door. A curve and a hill hid the spot from view. "What kind of a mill?" he asked doubtfully upon his return.

"A calico mill," repeated the lineman. "Didn't you notice the acres and acres of calico grass around there?"

Toad, with another glance at the rear door, shook his head sadly and looked out the window in the hope that he might see a stray sample of calico grass. He was still at that vain and unprofitable employment when Wallingford walked past on his way to the smoking compartment.

"Say, boss," he hailed Wallingford, "do you know calico grass when you see it?"

"I'm afraid not, Toad," replied Wallingford, smiling. "Why?"

"There was so much of it back where we stopped," explained Toad with a troubled brow, "and I didn't see it. They put off the machines for a calico mill there, you know."

Wallingford turned with a puzzled expression to the bony faced passenger, who looked up at him and laughed.

"He's such a smart lookin' kid I couldn't help tryin' to see how much he'd stand for," the lineman pleasantly observed, and Toad wheeled instantly to bend upon him a clear and indignant glare.

"Ore crushing machinery, isn't it?" guessed Wallingford.

"Iron," replied the other with a nod, surveying with interest and approval the important looking big man, whose round pink face spoke so plainly of cheerfulness and good living.

"Much of a deposit?" inquired Wallingford, with the instant interest of a man commercially inclined.

"They say it's a wonder. The Dougalbobber brothers own it, whoever they are. They're hustlers. Next week a spur track is to be put in back to the mines." He paused and smiled over the magic of things. "Dougalville! There ain't a livin' soul back there now, but in a month it'll be a good sized town, out hustlin' for electric lights and trolley cars."

"Also it will have a real estate boom and six saloons," agreed Wallingford, and passed on to the smoker.

Toad followed him. "Say," observed Toad in a pained tone, "that man back there," here he pulled down Wallingford's ear and whispered into it, "why, he's a liar!"

J. Rufus Wallingford, respectable and prosperous real estate dealer, and his messenger boy, valet, companion and friend, Toad Jessop, finished their business in the northwest in four days. On the return trip Wallingford had mileage torn off as far as bleak barren Dougalville only. He had expected to stop between trains and survey the lonesomeness as mere raw material, but he found there a tiny telegraph station and waiting room which had been shoved off a freight car intact, apparently even to the operator, for that functionary was inside; he found a roughly built frame shack labeled "Kimbely mine—Office;" he found a gang of railroad laborers putting down a half graded, wabbly spur track, and up the ravine into which it was headed he saw, against a background of soiled little tents, a swarm of human ants setting machinery in place and another swarm digging an impressive looking hole in the ground.

From the same train by which Wallingford had arrived there descended a drove of clay festooned laborers, and as these, by common impulse, surged immediately toward the "office," Wallingford watched the accommodation creak upon its jolty way toward the happy land of taxis and bathtubs and push buttons. For relief from the intolerable landscape, which would not alter nor decay, but lay in its flat sterility forever and ever, he watched the sifting of the clay hung laborers, who were admitted into the office one at a time and came out again with little slips of paper in their hands, to trudge up the ravine toward the Kimbely mine and more clay.

When the last one had returned to his native element Wallingford walked slowly across to the office, but to his surprise he found it locked. Hearing loud voices, however, he stopped and listened in perplexity. Suddenly, from around the corner of the building there dashed two of the clay decorated callers, followed by half a dozen well muscled gentlemen who looked highly unnatural without striped clothing. These, howling a choice collection of epithets, expletives and blasphemies, and, stooping to pick up missiles by the way, were followed by a man with blood colored hair and big, flat, outstanding ears almost as red, who was so bow legged that a beer keg could have been rolled through his wicket. This man was evidently the general of the pursuing army, for he directed it not only with energy, but with rancor.

"Soak 'em!" he cried in a twanging voice. "Soak 'em, can't you! Soak 'em, soak 'em, soak 'em, soak 'em!" and he jumped up and down like a dancing hoop.

The two laborers had struck for the track, and were now headed due southeast, with an apparently steadfast determination to overtake the accommodation, dodging, by mere instinct, the specimens of rock ballast which were hurled after them.

"What's the excitement?" asked Wallingford of the violent haired one.

The man turned regretfully from the pleasures of the chase and surveyed Wallingford carefully, from silk hat to polished toes, and from shoe laces to satin cravat, where, upon the focusing point of a two carat diamond, his fish-belly-blue eyes came to a permanent rest.

"What excitement?" he sullenly inquired.

"The mob scene," returned Wallingford, endeavoring to smile in spite of his growing resentment.

The man considered that for a moment in careful silence. "What do you want?" he finally demanded, his eyes, however, still remaining at the diamond level.

"Civility!" snapped Wallingford. "Who's running this mine?"

"The Dougalbobber brothers," was the prompt and rather emphatic response.

"Where will I find one of them?"

This time there was a considerable hesitation before he replied:

"Well, I'm Alec Dougalbobber."

Wallingford inspected his man anew, and in spite of his habitual diplomacy he grinned. "Why, Alec, I'm ashamed of you," he bluffed, having estimated Dougalbobber to be the arrant coward that he was. "You never should allow such a peevish impulse to get the better of you. You should be cheerful and happy, as I am, and when you are in a pleasanter frame of mind I'd like to talk a little business with you."

"What do you want?" again demanded Alec, but this time in a much milder and more conciliatory tone.

"They tell me you own the land across the track there," and Wallingford waved his arm in the general direction of the flat desolation.

Mr. Dougalbobber, with a nod that tilted his ears upward and forward like the sweep of an aeroplane, admitted that such was the case.

"You expect to have a town over there by and by?"

The aeroplane tilted once more, its thin wafer of a fore rudder cleaving the way.

"The sooner it's there the better it is for your mine?"

Another tilt.

"Well, I own over 500 brand new portable houses. If you'll sell me that land at a reasonable figure I'll cut it up into building lots, have my 500 odd houses erected within two weeks, help you in your advertising, and there's your town ready made!" And by way of introduction he handed Alec his card.

Mr. Dougalbobber dropped his eyes to the card and let them rest there in cautious speculation. "I'll have to see Frank about this," he stated after mature thought. "We'd ought to see Ralph, too, but he's in the east." And, turning toward the ravine with a side glance to see that Wallingford was turning with him, he started in the direction of the incipient mine.

"Are you selling any stock?" asked Wallingford.

"A little," admitted Alec. "That proposition is too big for individual capital. That's Ralph's department."

Wallingford glanced at his companion and smiled. "No trouble to find investors, I suppose?" he ventured.

"Not very much," was the slow reply, as Alec shifted his gaze from side to side upon the ground. "You see, the proposition's too good. We got the government geological survey the minute it came out and bought up the best iron veins it showed. This is the richest iron field since the Mesaba range was opened. Look at this survey," and he produced a pocket worn, governmental, cross section map, showing an iron ore bearing stratum thick enough to take up half of the drawing.

"Some iron there, I guess," Wallingford admitted, passing back the paper.

"Enough to build all the engines, locomotives, dynamos, battleships and cannons in the world for the next fifty years," asserted Alec, pulling his eyes

"You see, the proposition's too good."

up to the cravat level again. "Our mining claims cover all the thick part of that deposit, and here's the assay we've had made of the ore."

Just then, rounding the rocky corner of a red streaked hill, they came face to face with Frank Dougalbobber.

Wallingford would have known him anywhere. With the exception of the hair, which in Frank's case was the color of well bleached hay, the brothers were so alike—ears, eyes, noses and mouths—as to be libelous caricatures of each other.

Alec found no difficulty in looking into his brother's eyes with earnest inquiry as he propounded Wallingford's plan.

"Well, I don't know," said Frank uneasily, shifting from one foot to the other. "We always like to get in on all the profits of everything we do."

"I'll make you more profit than you can obtain in any other way," asserted Wallingford confidently. "I'll have a good reporter for a press association come up here the day my portable houses are on the ground. He'll see a blank landscape with a few stakes driven into its expressionless countenance; he'll see an army of men juggling the complete walls, floors and roofs of houses; then he'll see a finished little city all ready to cook ham and eggs in 500 cheerful homes and preparing to elect a tomato haired mayor."

Both brothers smiled thinly, and Alec even almost bowed.

"And where do we get in on the real estate end?" insinuated Frank.

"Sell me the center. Twenty acres over there, solid, at $100 an acre and alternate acres surrounding that at the same price," offered Wallingford. "You can figure for yourselves the result of holding those alternate acres until the city grows up around them."

Once more the Dougalbobber brothers then present gazed deeply and earnestly into each other's eyes.

"I guess we'll consult Ralph about this," decided Alec. "We never do anything very important without all of us agreeing on it."

"You'll take a chance on Ralph or you won't have any proposition to offer him," declared Wallingford. "There's an express train thunders through here in about thirty minutes. I'm going to board that train and slam away from this morgue full of dead scenery before it gives me the willies."

The brothers again smiled thinly.

"If we don't stop to consult Ralph," ventured Frank after a vacillating hesitation, "we'll have to have a better price for that land."

"You'll find me on the station platform waiting for that answer," asserted Wallingford stiffly and left them alone to think it over. He was disappointed in not finding them more enthusiastic.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

That the simple house dress be trim and becoming is quite as necessary as it is for the afternoon gown. This design, No. 7820, closes down the front, has a small square collar and inset sleeves, and a three-piece skirt. There is a suggestion of fullness at the back of the skirt which may be laid in gathers or in plaits under the shaped belt. Checked or striped gingham, voile, crêpe or madras may be used with this design, and by way of contrast, collar, cuffs and trimming bands may be of another color.

For size 36, 5¼ yards of 36-inch material are needed for this dress.

Pattern comes in five sizes, 34 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

EFFECTIVE TRIMMINGS FOR DRESSES OR HOUSEHOLD LINENS,

Eyelet work makes a very effective trimming for both wearing apparel and household linens, and these borders are particularly attractive.

Solid work may be effectively combined with the eyelets in carrying out the narrow border, 14574. This design is 2¼ inches wide and is suitable for embroidering waists, dresses and children's clothes in white or a color. Three yards are contained in the pattern.

The wide border, 14573, is suitable for trimming dresses of linen, lawn or crepe. It is 4½ inches wide and 2¼ yards in the pattern.

Venetian ladder work should be combined with eyelets in developing border 14575, which is appropriate for use on pillows and sideboard-covers, 3½ inches wide, 3 yards in the pattern.

Guaranteed hot-iron transfers will be supplied to readers for 10 cents each.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CURRANT ICES.

DINNER.
Cream of Spinach Soup.
Nut Croquettes.
Fresh Asparagus, Cream Sauce.
Endive Salad.
Wafers.
Currant Sherbet.
Coffee.

CURRANTS, whether of the red or white variety, make delicious summer desserts. The slight acidity of the red currants aids in cooling the blood. They are exceedingly wholesome. Those who champion the fruit say that they have not only merits as blood cleansers, but that they should be eaten by all persons who have a tendency to rheumatism. For summer ices currants are especially nice.

Daintily Garnished.

Currant Ice.—Make some plain ice cream. Stem and wash a basket of red currants and pour over a cupful and a half of powdered sugar and let stand twenty minutes; then pass through a coarse sieve. To serve put two tablespoonfuls in a glass cup, add a layer of ice cream and finish with a tablespoonful of sweetened and strained raspberry juice. Garnish with clusters of fresh currants.

Avoid Oversweetening.

Currant Sherbet.—Squeeze and wash enough currants to make two cupfuls of juice and add two cupfuls of water and two cupfuls of sugar to make it quite sweet. It will be less sweet after freezing, so the mixture should be sweeter than one would wish if it were not to be frozen. When the sugar is dissolved stir in quickly the well beaten whites of two eggs. Turn the mixture into the freezer and pack with one part of coarse salt to three parts of finely chopped ice. Turn the crank until the mixture is stiff, then let stand until hard.

Frozen Custard.

Iced Currant Fool.—Beat the yolks of two eggs with one to two ounces of sugar until light and the whites of four eggs to a stiff froth. Have ready half a pint of currant juice, sweeten this slightly; then add to the eggs with a full gill of thick cream or new milk. Stir over the fire till it thickens to a rich custard, but without allowing it to boil. Put in a pail, cover closely and set in ice and freezing salt. For the currant juice put the currants after stemming into a saucepan and keep well stirred over the fire to make them render juice freely. As soon as they have done so pour off and use thoroughly chilled.

FICTION BUT CARRIES MORE THAN GRAIN OF TRUTH

In a certain Plainfield home there are five daughters, all young, marriageable and pretty. As a harmony of the proprieties, each has an eligible admirer, who calls on a certain night every week, and every suitor of the five has a certain night allotted him, from which order he is not expected to depart. Last week the one whose date was Monday called to see the girl of his choice, but the maid-of-all-work said she was busy and had given express orders that she was not to be disturbed. The Tuesday night young man called the next evening and got the same message concerning the lady of his preference. Wednesday night found the young man belonging to that date leaving his sweetheart's doorstep disappointed and disconsolated for a similar reason. Thursday night brought no better luck to the next in turn, and Friday was equally as unfortunate for the fifth admirer who was denied an interview with the girl he adored. He was just about to depart when his four colleagues in courtship, one by one, appeared. In a common cause they held a short indignation meeting on the lawn and resolved to get to the bottom of the horrible mystery right then and there. All five presented themselves at the door, brushed past the housemaid, and entered the living room, half expecting to secure some evidence that their respective objects of affection were untrue to them, but all they found was a group of five sisters, so busily engrossed in doing embroidery that one of the young men was obliged to let his umbrella fall to attract their attention. The young men were quite mollified when it was explained that they were taking advantage and making the most of the Daily Press offer through which they had each secured an Imperial Pattern Outfit of 160 stylish designs for one coupon and 48 cents. They were busy transferring the patterns and working them into the most beautiful articles suitable for such adornment, all of which they intended for their homes against the time each should marry. The five sisters were unanimous that Love must have a holiday while the embroidery proposition is on.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Usefulness Of Knowing How to Swim.

Back to the Bank She Swam.

DADDY thought that all children should learn how to swim when they were very young. Then they would never be afraid of the water afterward. He had a story to tell the children that proved his point.

"You must begin your swimming lessons," said daddy to Evelyn, "and Jack will help you, for he really is a fine swimmer."

Jack looked very much pleased to hear that, for he had only learned how to swim the previous summer.

"I heard," continued daddy, "about a little girl who yesterday saved her smaller sister because she could swim.

"This little girl's sister had gone with another small friend of hers to look for wild strawberries. They had wandered along through a field and had found a great many. The two children thought they would like to go down by the bank of the river where they had heard there were a great many berries.

"They found just as many as they thought they would and were having a beautiful time when they decided that they would take off their shoes and stockings and go in wading. This they did and enjoyed the cool water and standing on the slippery stones.

"Now, although this river was very narrow and looked very shallow, there were one or two places where there were deep holes, and for that reason both children had been forbidden to go in wading, but they thought it would be all right 'just for once.'

"Alas, one of them, the sister of the little girl I am going to tell you about, slipped from one of the stones and fell right into one of the deep holes.

"Luckily her sister was with another friend in the field of strawberries. When she heard her little sister's voice calling for help she went down the bank in a jiffy.

"Quickly she jumped into the river and with two good long strokes reached her little sister just as she was about to go down for the third time.

"And back to the bank she swam with her. Of course it was only a few strokes' work, but still she was able to swim, and so she saved her little sister's life. The other little girl had stood on the bank, screaming with fear, not being able to do anything.

"Other sports are lots of fun, but not much more fun than swimming. It is one of the most useful of all sports because of the safety it assures."

"Yes," said Jack, "and we will teach Evelyn to swim. We will not try to scare her, so she may learn more quickly. Oh, Evelyn, you will simply love it!" added Jack, with great enthusiasm.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy", for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.—Adv.

HOWARD PARRY WINS PRIZE MEDAL CONTEST

The Young Peoples' Branch of the W. T. C. U. held an oratorical contest and musical entertainment in the lecture room of the First Baptist church last night. All of the subjects were on temperance. The contest was won by Howard Parry who took for his subject "Sworn Off." There were five other contestants and all of the speeches were given exceedingly well. About one hundred people attended the entertainment. The room was decorated with palms and house plants which were donated by C. W. McCutchen. The judges who gave the decision in the contest were Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring and J. Henry Crane.

The winner was presented with a silver medal by Mrs. Lucie Rising, who was in charge of the entertainment. After the contest the audience enjoyed a musical program. A quartet composed of Miss Ida Inglehardt, Miss Marion Inglehardt, Hollis Cubberly and Howard Parry, rendered a pleasing song entitled "Hear My Prayer," Miss Ida Inglehardt and Howard Parry sang a duet and Mr. Cubberly sang a bass solo.

The Right Side of Paint

The practical painter says, there are two sides to every question, but the man who always uses H. W. Johns' Liquid Paint both inside and outside is on the right side of the paint question.

H. W. JOHNS' ASBESTOS PAINTS

are prepared in the right proportions which produces a paint unlike any other in durability, beauty and covering qualities. It resists the action of heat and cold to a wonderful degree; holds its gloss, too. Get a color card and paint advice from

WOMEN'S WHITE SHOES FOR THE FOURTH.

Exclusive styles that add immensely to your appearance, shapely lasts that fit your feet perfectly, kinds that are superior in workmanship and quality to many that cost much more elsewhere.

MEN'S RUBBER SOLES FOR THE FOURTH.

It's quite remarkable the number of men who are choosing rubber sole tan, black or white shoes for their July 4th outings.

Formerly these were only used for special purposes such as yachting and golfing, but now they are recognized as shoes of very satisfactory utility for all-around wear.

Closed all day July 4th. Open Friday evening.
